NUMBER 52

ORCHESIS MEMBERS Jackie Johnson, PEW Jr., left, and Colleen Ungeheuer, Mus Fr., glance through a program following the dance group's recital in the Auditorium last night.

Pleasing Dance Program Given by Orchesis Group

A varied and pleasant program was presented by Orchesis, the modern and creative dance group last night in the University auditorium. The dance concert was directed by Judith Hodge, instructor of women's physical education.

Highlights of the show are "Bachelor's Spree," "Folk Suite," "Lyric Moment" and "The Black Sabbath."

The choreography for the show displays talent and imagination. Attendance for the show was poor, which may have been responsible for the slight lack of enthusiasm of the dancers.

"Bachelor's Spree" represents a modern jazz style of dance. Billy Jones, MEI Sr., is outstanding in this number, which is set to a slow jazz tempo.

John McComb, BA '59, sings four songs from a folk suite, and accompanies himself with a guitar. The dances in combination with this vocal background are pleasing and appropriate to the lyrics of the songs.

"Lyric Moment" is a dance portraying "a place even better than heaven." This dance is especially rhythmic and graceful. The lighting contributes to the effectiveness of "Lyric Moment."

The "Black Sabbath" depicts the horror and panic which seizes a girl who believes in the spells cast by a witch who possesses knowledge of the dark book. Miss Hodge gives an outstanding performance in this number. "Black Sabbath" is an effective and impressive conclusion to the nicely presented concert.

The dance concert will be staged again tonight at 8 in the University auditorium. Admission is 75 cents.

'Trio' Tickets Still Available

Balcony and bleacher seat tickets for the Kingston Trio concert tonight at 8 in Ahearn Field house are still available. Tickets may be purchased at the booth in the Union until 5 p.m., and will be available at the door, which will open at 7 p.m.

The Trio, composed of Dave Guard, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane, are most famous for their single "Tom Dooley" and the albums, "The Kingston Trio," "Hungry I," "Kingston Trio," "Large" and "Here We Go Again."

Consistently in the top record polls with one of their albums or a single record, the group is also famed for its humor and hijinks during performances.

The Kingston Trio currently ranks as the top album selling group. Their latest, "Here We Go Again," is the top selling album in Manhattan. One local store reports only one or two albums left, an indication of the group's popularity.

Harrison Salisbury Will Be Speaker at K-State Monday

Harrison Salisbury, noted New York Times foreign correspondent, will speak to an all-University assembly Monday at 9:30 a.m. in the University auditorium.

Salisbury accompanied Vice President Richard Nixon on his recent trip to Russia and was chosen by the Times to cover Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

The veteran reporter wrote the Pulitzer Prize winning series, "Russia Re-Viewed," in 1954 which he later expanded into a book "American in Russia," published in 1955.

Salisbury recalls that he was the first of a succession of editors of the University of Minnesota student newspaper to be fired for an overzealous editorial policy. He became Moscow correspondent for the New York Times just 20 years after that newspaper carried a front page report of his firing from the editorship of the Minnesota Daily "for smoking in the library."

After receiving his bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota in 1930, Salisbury went to work for the United Press in Chicago and covered the tail-end of the gang wars of the Prohibition era. He was also assigned to the Al Capone tax evasion trial and the assassination of Senator Huey Long.

After being appointed director of European coverage for UP in 1943 the journalist made his first visit to Russia when he accompanied Eric Johnston, then head of the United States Chamber of Commerce, on a 6,000 mile trip through the Urals, Siberia and central Asia.

At the end of the second World War, Salisbury returned to the states to become foreign news editor of the UP and covered the inaugural conference of the United Nations at San Francisco.

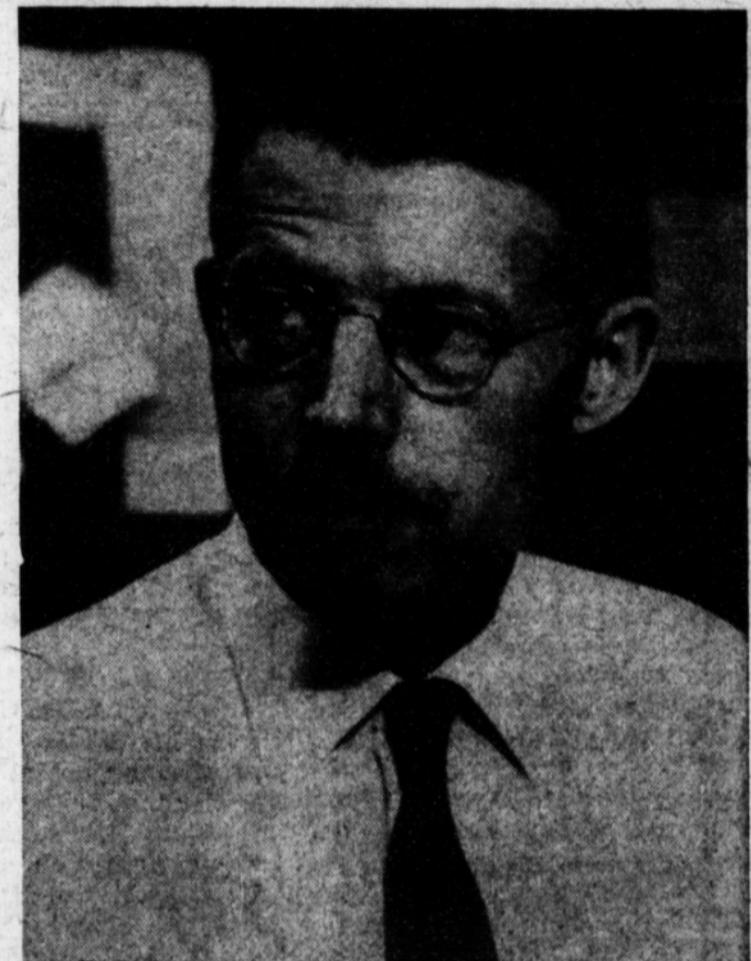

In 1949 he joined the staff of the New York Times and three months later he was in Moscow as correspondent in the Soviet Union.

In 1957 Salisbury made a fact-finding survey of the Soviet satellite countries and upon his return, was assigned to investigate the problems of juvenile delinquency. He subsequently wrote a series of articles on teen-age street gangs and their hangouts, schools and homes, and from his research, came his book in 1958, "The Shocked Generation."

In addition to his writing for the Times, Salisbury has published many books related in foreign affairs, some of them best sellers.

The usual schedule of shortened classes will be followed. The Coffee Hours committee will have a group discussion immediately following the assembly, in the main lounge of the Student Union.

MPC Date Reset For April 25-27

The date of the Mock Political convention has been changed to April 25, 26 and 27, it was announced at last night's National committee meeting.

The date was changed from April 4, 5 and 6 because several important state primaries are scheduled for this date, making it impossible to get qualified speakers for the convention.

Positions are now open for committee members on the Convention committees. Anyone interested is urged to contact the committee chairmen: Doris Miller, TJ Jr., publicity; Alan Keeler, MTc Sr., candidate clubs; Janice Goertz, Gen Fr., physical arrangements; Martha Steps, TJ Jr., program, business and editorial; and Nick Hudelson, AE Sr., sergeant-at-arms and credentials.

The $1,000 allocated the convention by the Student Council was budgeted into seven divisions: communications, $120; rent, $15; fees, $25; contract services, $280; supplies, $35; stationery and office supplies, $150; and other supplies, $375.

'Three Faces of Eve' Will Be Shown Monday

"The Three Faces of Eve" film will be shown at the Psychology club meeting Monday, December 7, in Holton 206 at 7:30 p.m. Jerry Phares, assistant professor of psychology, will moderate the film. The meeting is restricted to psychology majors with six hours credit.

Dance Slated After Game

A free jukebox dance in the Union Grand ballroom will follow the Kansas State-St. Louis university basketball game tomorrow night.

The Union Dance committee, sponsor of the dance, hopes to make the dance a regular feature after every weekend ballgame. Jeneane Hubert, Art Jr., chairman of the committee, said.

"The players and the cheerleaders have said they will attend. We think this is a good way to show support for the team and have fun, too," Miss Hubert said.

Ike Gets Warm Rome Reception LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

On 'Peace, Friendship' Mission

Compiled from UPI
By JAY CRABB

Rome—President Eisenhower arrived today in rain-soaked Rome on the first leg of an historic journey half way around the world to impress upon all nations his ideal of "peace and friendship, in freedom."

Italy gave him a warm welcome despite the lowering skies that displaced an early morning rainbow over Ciampino airport, the first official stop on a 22,370-mile journey that will take him to 11 nations on three continents.

The airport was cordoned off six hours before the President arrived and although even Italy's huge Communist party membership gave glowing praise to the mission of good will, the government was taking no chances on any incident.

Eisenhower was met at the airport by Italian President Giovanni Gronchi, the premier, the foreign minister, the defense minister, the presidents of parliament, the apostolic nuncio to Italy, the Italian service chiefs of staff and U.S. Ambassador James D. Zellerbach.

The warmth of the official welcome was outdistanced by the Italian people themselves who have millions of relatives in the United States and look with warm approval on Eisenhower and on his historic and ambitious journey.

Newspapers in Rome hailed him as a man of great courage who "instead of observing a cautious immobilism (a year before elections) . . . directly takes up all sorts of risks, extremely tiring efforts and unpredictable adventures."

The Communists who once demonstrated in the streets against Eisenhower's presence in Rome as supreme commander of the NATO forces hailed him today as a man seeking peace. For Eisenhower also carried with him the approval of the Soviet Union in lines with his "thaw-the-cold was offensive."

Upon landing the President reviewed an Italian honor guard and delivered a brief address recorded by more than 400 news, radio and television men and sent live across Western Europe and across the English channel to Britain.

A plane carrying U.S. press representatives landed an hour ahead of the President.

Then Eisenhower's motorcade,

KU International Students Form Amusing Ideas About Americans

By Margaret Cooper

INTERNATIONAL students at the University of Kansas have formed some amusing ideas about Americans that are worth thinking about.

"America is where the girl expects the first kiss the second time you take her out."

"America is where students have to read too much to be able to think about it."

"America is where student advisers are abundant. Why not establish a special adviser to advise the advisers on the advice needed from the advisers?"

AN INDIANA UNIVERSITY football fan has a souvenir from the IU-Purdue game—the white boot of Purdue's "Golden Girl."

A LIFE-SIZE CHESS game was played at the University of Detroit with ROTC men and DU theater members acting as chessmen. The Army and Air Force ROTC represented the chess pieces with a president and first lady as King and Queen, privates as pawns, pilots as knights, tanks as rooks and colonels as bishops. On the other side of the 24 foot square playing surface were the theater members dressed in full costume as king, queen, knights, bishops, rooks, and pawns. The DU chess club directed the moves of the ROTC men and a chess expert the moves of the theater members. Play was limited to 30 seconds per move.

THE HARDIN-SIMMONS university Brand, student newspaper has the answers to any and all problems in the column "Dear Magoo." For instance—

"Dear Magoo: Last week my husband left me and took all of my girdles with him. What should I do?"

Dear Confused: Sue him for non-support.

The crowds waiting to welcome Eisenhower peered anxiously at the skies. It has rained in Rome for five days and it rained this morning.

Crosby Brothers Disband

Montreal—The Crosby brothers, who vowed less than a year ago to stay eternally together in show business, split up early today and walked out on a $12,000 night club engagement.

The break-up was preceded by a heated argument in their dressing room shortly before their midnight appearance at the El Morocco, it was reported.

A spokesman for the club said the split-up "was due to internal strife."

He said the group still had seven more performances to go before fulfilling their contract.

The boys, Gary, 26, twins Dennis and Phillip, 26, and Lindsay, 22, have been known to have disagreements in the past. Gary, usually the spokesman for the group, was said to have a quick temper and the others were reported to resent his bossiness.

Gary announced last August that the brothers would make their nightclub debut in Las Vegas. At the time he said he and his father "just don't get along" and Bing did not show up for the opening of their act.

Confessed Killer in Clinic

Topeka—Diane Roberts, 15-year-old confessed killer of her parents, today began as an in-patient at the famous Menninger clinic.

The young Prairie Village, Kan., girl had been housed in the city jail here while undergoing observation for several weeks at the clinic. After each day's tests and examinations, she was returned to jail.

"We feel there is need for further evaluation and feel that this can be done best if she is an in-patient," Menniger's said. "A report will be presented to the court as soon as it is complete," clinic spokesmen added.

Monkey Tests Equipment

Washington—A seven-pound monkey named Sam was rocketed into space from Wallops Island, Va., today to test satellite escape equipment which may save the lives of future human astronauts.

The launching was carried out at 11:15 a.m. EST at the Wallops Island station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Space engineers at the station reported to NASA headquarters here that "the launch looked good."

It will be some time, however, before it is known whether all aspects of the test were successful.

Half of KSU Students Questioned Feels Tribunal Power Inadequate

By Bill Treloggen

A question recently asked several KSU students was, "Do you think the Tribunal has adequate power?" Of the group interviewed 35 per cent said yes, 50 per cent said no, and 15 per cent said they didn't know enough about Tribunal to give an answer.

LESLIE OGG, BAA Sr—"No, they're no more than a puppet. They should have the ability to make decisions of importance instead of just menial ones. Without this power they might as well be disbanded."

BILL SHULTZ, PEM Fr—"No, the Tribunal is supposed to be the rule of the school but since it has been over-ruled by Dean of Students Herbert Wunderlich, it should have more power so it could not be over-ruled."

SANDRA WALKER, TJ Soph—"No, I think the power should be divided equally between the faculty and the Tribunal."

CARL NEYLOR, CE Jr—"I don't think the Tribunal has any power. Dean Wunderlich dictates policy to them so why have a Tribunal at all. Even if the Tribunal had functional powers I don't think it would rule sternly enough."

JOHN KUPKA, PEM Soph—"No, I think it's almost a waste of time. If it's supposed to be upheld then they haven't got enough power. They just do what the administration says not what they actually want."

BOB PARRISH, GA Sr—"I think more faculty members should be placed on it so the decision could be final."

MIKE FICKEL, Ar 03—"No, I don't think they have enough power since their ruling apparently doesn't influence Dean Wunderlich's decision."

LEE ATKINS, Ec Jr—"I would say it has as much power as it is going to get. It should apply pressure to the faculty council of student affairs to increase its power over what it has at the present time."

LOREN HENRY, AgJ Sr—"Yes and no. Their experience in handling matters of dismissal of students is limited. I personally would not want to go before Tribunal and let a group of students determine whether I stay in school. I would rather have an older group of men determine whether I stay in school or get kicked out."

GENE OLANDER, SED Sr—"Yes, I think the Tribunal has adequate power. President McCain with Dean Wunderlich working under him has the responsibility of the school and its affairs, and therefore should have the final say."

Rome—The Rev. Gerardus Beekman, Episcopal rector of the church where President Eisenhower will attend services Sunday, describing the preparations for an expected crowd:

"The security boys said we have to reserve the pews surrounding Eisenhower, but the rest of the church will be open on a first come, first served basis."

K-State Dames Club To Sell Cookbooks

"Dishes and Degrees," a 100-page cookbook, is being prepared by the Dames club. The cookbook will go on sale at 8:30 a.m. in the Student Union Wednesday, and at Cole's department store in downtown Manhattan the evening of December 14, for one dollar.

The book will contain a favorite recipe from each Dames club member and from each K-State department head's wife, according to Carol Kugelman, head of the committee compiling the book.

The cookbook will feature a number of "Poor Student Dishes" as well as a variety of quick meals, main dishes, desserts, and others. "Dishes and Degrees" contain over 200 recipes.

Proceeds will finance activities of the Dames club. The 300 members meet once a week in activity groups for bowling, knitting, bridge, crafts, sewing, or swimming. Monthly meetings of the entire club are devoted to "household arts" such as flower arranging or gift wrapping.

Block and Bridle

Bryan B. Barr, AH Gr., was recently named winner of the Merit trophy award at the annual meeting of the National Block and Bridle club at the Stockyards Inn in Chicago.

Barr, representing the K-State chapter of the Block and Bridle club, was selected on the basis of his outstanding activities on campus and in the club, scholarship and awards and honors that he received while in school. This is the highest award that an individual can receive from the club.

Farrell library

Some of the Bibles and New Testaments to be found in Farrell library are being featured during December in a main lobby display case, Melvin J. Voight, director of libraries, announced recently.

Voight says that, with the exception of the English translation shown, all the Bibles and New Testaments are more than 100 years old.

Journalism Department

Ralph Lashbrook, professor and head of the technical journalism department, will visit Iowa State university at Ames, Iowa, December 13, 14 and 15, as chairman of the Accrediting committee of the American Council on Education for Journalism. The journalism department of Iowa State will be evaluated during this visit.

Alumni Association

A gold-headed cane of India grown ebony was presented last Thursday to Mrs. Ella Child Carroll of Manhattan as Kansas State's "Earliest Living Graduate."

Mrs. Carroll received her degree from K-State in 1877. At 103 years of age, Mrs. Carroll not only is the earliest living graduate, but also is the oldest living graduate.

"The purpose of the gift," says Kenney L. Ford, K-State alumni secretary, "is that the cane serve as a constant reminder of the living and continued interest of Kansas State in her graduates." Ford stated that the cane will remain the property of the University, but is to be "loaned" to the earliest living graduate for use in her lifetime.

The cane has a flared gold head with the letters, "KSU" inscribed in slightly illuminated lettering on the top of the head. Around the base of the cane head is the inscription, "Earliest Living Graduate."

The presentation was made by President James A. McCain.

Frank Follows Foot Steps Of K-State All-Americans

Wally Frank took a giant stride toward becoming Kansas State's third all-American selection in a row Tuesday night as the 6-8 senior led the Wildcat's to an 85-52 victory over South Dakota State.

Frank, trying to follow in the footsteps of K-State's latest all-Americans Bob Boozer and Jack Parr, tallied 16 field goals and three free throws for 35 points while seeing only 30 minutes of action.

His 16 field goals, coming on just 24 attempts, set a new all-time Kansas State individual game record, breaking the old mark of 15 set by guard Kent Poore against Oklahoma in 1955.

The 35-point output moved Frank into a seventh-place tie with Boozer for the most points scored in a single game by a Wildcat. Boozer holds the all-time best mark with 45 points scored against Purdue last season.

Frank also grabbed 17 rebounds, which along with his 35 points, are new career highs. His previous bests were 23 points scored last season against Indiana and Missouri and 15 caroms picked off against Oklahoma, also during the 1958-59 campaign.

A starter for the third straight year, Frank was named the Big Eight's outstanding sophomore in 1958 and was placed on the second team in all-conference selections last season.

No holler guy during game action, Frank is tabbed "a silent smoothie" by his teammates. He was just that against South Dakota State. He broke a sinking Jackrabbit defense with his favorite one-hand set from medium range and then finished off the evening by scoring in close.

Frank averaged 8.6 points per game his sophomore year and 13 as a junior.

"I've got two goals for this season," said Frank, "first to play on my third straight Big Eight championship team and second to make all-American." Those are two big goals, but with many more nights like he had against South Dakota State both are very possible.

St. Louis boasts one of the toughest, if not the toughest schedule in the nation, this year. The Billikens play Kentucky, K-State, Ohio State, St. John's, Kansas, Providence, Indiana and West Virginia. Five of these teams are in the top ten and the other three are rated in the top 15.

The Billikens enter this season with good hopes of matching or bettering their impressive record of last year, when they won 20 and lost only 6 games.

Pete McCaffrey, 6-5 senior forward, and George Burkell, 6-7 senior forward, were starters last season. They will team with junior center Bob Nordmann, 6-10, who understudied all-American Bob Ferry last year as a sophomore. Burkell and McCaffrey averaged 11.5 and 10.6 points respectively, in 1958-59 play with McCaffrey notching 39 points against Wichita for the all-time Billiken scoring record.

Rounding out the probable

Kansas State will face its first acid test tomorrow night when the Wildcats host the St. Louis Billikens in Ahearn field house. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

The game will pair two teams ranked in the top 15 teams in the nation. K-State is rated tenth and St. Louis 14th in the UPI poll.

The Wildcats will be seeking their second win of the season with a victory over South Dakota State already under their belt. St. Louis has defeated Abilene Christian college and St. John's of New York so far this year.

Billiken starters are a pair of 5-10 guards—Jim Dailey and Tom Smith. Both are seniors who held starting jobs last season.

The last time the two played was in 1948 at St. Louis, when the Billikens won, 51-45. This will mark the first meeting between the two at Manhattan since 1933, when the Wildcats took their last win in the series, 28-24.

AMERICAN LITERATURE: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Today, as a service to students of American literature, this column presents digests of two classic American novels:

THE SCARLET LETTER by Nathaniel "Swift" Hawthorne

This is a heart-rending story of a humble New England lass named Hester Prynne who is so poor that she does not have what to eat nor a roof to cover her head. But she is a brave, brawny girl and she never complains, and by and by her patience is rewarded: in the summer of 1859 she wins a football scholarship to Alabama.

Hard-working Hester soon wins her letter and everyone says she is a shoo-in for All-Conference honors, but along comes the War Between the States and football, alas, is dropped for the duration.

Everyone says she's a shoo-in for All-conference honors

Poor Hester goes back to New England. It is a bitter cold winter and poor Hester, alas, does not have any warm clothing except for her football sweater from Alabama, but that, alas, has a big scarlet "A" on the front of it and she can hardly wear such a thing in New England where Union sentiment runs so high.

Poor Hester, alas, freezes to death.

LITTLE WOMEN by Louisa May "Bubbles" Alcott

The Marches are a very happy family—and for no discernible reason. They are poor as snakes; they work from cockcrow to evensong; their dear old father Philip is away with the Union armies; and they can't do a thing with their hair.

Still, nothing can dampen the spirits of madcap Meg, jocular Jo, buoyant Beth, animated Amy, and crazy old Marmee, as the merry March girls laughingly call their lovable mother.

Well sir, one Christmas the March girls get an invitation to a ball. They are dying to go because they never have any fun at all except maybe a few chuckles during the hog-rendering season. But Beth reminds her sisters that they can hardly go traipsing off to a ball and leave poor Marmee all alone at Christmas time. The sisters swear a lot, but they finally agree with Beth.

Marmee, however, will not hear of it. "Land's sakes, little women!" she cries. "You must go to the ball and have some fun. There will be fruit punch and Toll House cookies and Early American sandwiches. Best of all, there will be morris dancing. Oh, how your father and I used to love that!"

"I never knew father could dance," cries Meg.

"Oh yeah?" cries Marmee. "You should have seen Philip morris."

"Was Philip a good morris?" cries Jo.

"The best!" cries Marmee. "Philip could morris in soft pack or flip-top box and was full of fine, fresh, natural mildness!"

The girls are cheered to hear this and go to the ball. Marmee stays home alone, but soon gets a wonderful surprise: Philip comes back from the war!

When the girls return from the ball, they find Marmee and Philip morrising, and they cry "Huzzah!" and throw their poke bonnets in the air, where they are to this day.

'CHAMPS' for fine food stores - service & values

And speaking of literature, in our book the best selection of cigarettes on the market today comes from Philip Morris Inc.—Marlboro filters; new Alpines, high filtration and light menthol—and, of course, mild, unfiltered Philip Morris.

Sigma Nus, Sig Alphs Roll

Two teams remained undefeated in the fraternity division of intramural basketball last night when Sigma Nu edged Sigma Phi Epsilon, 26-21, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon took a 52-28 win over Phi Kappa Theta.

Sigma Nu, now with three wins and one tie in their division, beat last year's division champs, the Sig Eps, to lead the division. Phil Wachman led Sigma Nu with eight points, Clint McDowell topped the Sig Ep scorers with 13.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon took an easy victory from Phi Kappa Theta to retain its 4-0 record and division leadership. Phi Kappa Theta scorer Engleton was the game's top scorer with 15. Ed McConwell and Jim Messer each scored in double figures for SAE with 14 and 13 respectively.

Fred Dellett scored a final free throw point in a Delta Sigma Phi upset over Acacia, 28-27 in overtime. Delta Sig had previously been looking for their first win of the second; Acacia held a 2-1 record. Richard Evers hit 10 to lead the Delta Sigs, John Stross hit for eight to lead Acacia scoring.

Farm House beat Delta Upsilon

23-15. Rodney Oliphant was top man for FH with 11. George Lesovsky scored 10 to lead DU.

Undefeated Tau Kappa Epsilon fell to Phi Delta Theta, 24-17. Clancy Norris led the Phi Delt attack with 11 points. George Sherer was high TKE scorer with six points.

East Side and the High Flyers are now tied 3-1 in their independent division play after the previously undefeated East Side lost to a score of 27-16. Harry Steinfort tallied seven for the East Side team. John Porter hit 11 for the winning High Flyers.

Goal Tenders edged Kasbah in a 25-22 contest. Gary Muhende scored 18 for the Goal Tenders, Wes Mathis hit 10 points for Kasbah.

Glen Hamilton led the Dunkers to a 32-16 win over OK House. Hamilton scored 12; G. Kramnian scored eight for OK House.

The lowest scoring game of the evening was AIS's win, 18-7, over the Crew. C. Gaede hit six points for AIA, T. Fredrickson monopolized the Crew's scoring with four points.

College Boxer Returns To Campus for Fight

Gene Fullmer, from the college of hard knocks, is an 8-5 favorite to keep his middleweight (NBA) crown tonight in an unprecedented university-campus fight with the very collegiate Ellsworth (Spider) Webb.

Their nationally televised and broadcast 15-rounder will be staged in the Utah State University field house at 10 p.m. (EST). Never before was a professional title fight held on a college campus.

Despite the odds on this return match, lanky Webb of Chicago predicted confidently today, "Fighting on the campus I can't lose—I can't let down my cheering section from Idaho State college."

Webb, who was outpointed by Fullmer in a non-title 10-rounder at Salt Lake City last year, trained for tonight's longer contest at Pocatello, in the Idaho

Big Rookies Make Good In College Cage Debuts

By UPI

Add Jerry Lucas and Bob Nordmann to the list of young giants who'll make college basketball rivals think Wilt Chamberlain never turned pro.

The season is less than a week old but it's already obvious that Lucas is going to make Ohio State a powerful challenger for the Big Ten championship and that Nordmann can make St. Louis university a strong contender for the Missouri Valley crown.

Lucas, a 6-9, 222-pounder who was hailed as an all-American before he ever played a college game, led Ohio State to a 94-55 rout of Memphis State last night while Nordmann, a 6-10, 270-pound junior was the key man in St. Louis' 76-69 victory over St. John's of New York, the National Invitation Tournament's defending champion.

Nordmann, who is trying to replace the graduated Bob Ferry at center, dominated the backboards and played a major role in a zone-defense that enabled St. Louis to overcome a 13-point St. John's halftime lead.

Your Costume, the Occasion Determine Type of Hat Worn

By JUDY JEANNIN

"When buying a hat, take plenty of time to look at yourself at all angles, front, side, and back, and also in a full length mirror," advises Miss Gertrude Lienkaemper, associate professor of clothing and textiles. A hat is a part of the whole costume and not just something stuck on the top of your head. A wise coed keeps this in mind when selecting a hat.

"One of the most common mistakes made in hat wearing is appearing in the wrong hat for the occasion," Miss Lienkaemper says. The first question to ask yourself is, "What do I have that the hat would go with and for how many of my 'hat wearing' activities would it be suitable?" Hats, when they are conceived by the designer, are planned to be worn with a certain costume and for certain specific occasions.

"The really attractive hat has a relationship to the shape of the face and head," she points out. A severe hat requires a woman with a pretty face to set it off. A girl with a round face is better off if she avoids round hats, severe straight brims, and stiff off-the-face toques. Women with long, thin faces need to beware of stiff sailors, close fitting turbans, or tall-crowned, narrow brimmed hats. Women with oval faces are the only ones that can wear a hat set straight on the head. Girls that wear glasses are better off if they avoid hats with sharply upturned brims which call attention to the "specs."

Small delicately colored hats are best suited to small women, and the large brightly colored hats are best worn by large women. Severe hats can only be undertaken by the person with lots of style and the ability to carry them off.

In latest fashions it looks as if ancient Egypt has had a decided effect on this year's collection of high-style hats. The hats are small in diameter and about three inches tall. The models in the fashion magazines wear them set on the center of the head at about the crown. The hair is pulled severely back from the face to go with these extreme hats. They come in all types of fabrics from Zebra fur to gold satin trimmed with jewels.

For cocktail and evening wear, a shorter version of this hat is shown in satin or some other luxurious fabric.

Also popular this season is one huge rose worn right on top of the head with a pouf or veil surrounding it for cocktail and formal wear.

SELECTING THE RIGHT type of hat for her costume and her oval face is Penni Hunton, EEd Jr. Women with oval faces are the only ones who can wear a hat set straight on the head.

SCIENTISTS AND ENGINEERS:

THE MEN BEHIND THE HEADLINES

NAA's On-Campus Interviews December 7

EARLY EVERY DAY you read of another advance in science... whether it's a space vehicle streaking toward Venus or a submarine gliding beneath the polar ice.

These are the events that make headlines... but even as they are announced to the world, engineers and scientists are planning new and greater achievements—and research shows them the way.

Scientific research always has had an important role at North American Aviation. Today, research projects are underway at more than 185 laboratories in the six North American divisions. They encompass the full scope of modern science.

Is air stiffer than steel?

Not all research has the headline appeal of a space ship or nuclear power. For example, research engineers at the Autonetics Division, which designs and manufactures space navigation systems, found new and different ways of building rotating bearings... and found that air is stiffer than steel for some purposes. Improved gyroscopes and magnetic recordings were important results of this research.

A cigarette's place in research

Even the ordinary cigarette has a role in scientific research. Scientists at the Aero-Space Laboratories, an organization within North American's Missile Division, use a burning cigarette in a still room to illustrate the difference between laminar flow and turbulence in the boundary layer, the very thin air space that lies along the outer skin of an aircraft or missile. This research is part of a program to find ways to protect missiles, satellites and space ships from burning when they re-enter the earth's atmosphere.

Toward the conquest of Space

The Rocketdyne Division has designed and built the bulk of today's operating hardware in the high-thrust rocket field. Explorer I, America's first satellite, was boosted into orbit by a Rocketdyne engine... and three-fourths of the power for Able IV-Atlas—man's first attempt to reach toward another planet—comes from liquid-propellant engines designed and built by Rocketdyne. Researchers at Rocketdyne delve into the chemistry of propellants, the physics of engine components and what happens within them, ignition of fuels, combustion of fuels, and the transfer of heat.

2,000 mph manned weapon system

The Los Angeles Division is the home of next-generation manned weapon system, the Mach 3 B-70 Valkyrie strategic bomber, and America's first manned space vehicle, the X-15. Research engineers in this division investigate manufacturing techniques, conduct studies in aerodynamics, materials and processes, and thermodynamics. They also work with physiologists, biotechnologists, biophysicists, and psychologists to solve design problems concerning human capabilities and limitations that arise from modern weapons and research systems.

Building better Navy aircraft

Analysis of aircraft carrier operation is a major research project at the Columbus Division. This division designed and built the Navy's T2J Buckeye jet trainer and the Navy's supersonic, all-weather A3J Vigilante. Research activities are diverse here—from how to illuminate an aircraft cockpit to developing unmanned vehicles and systems to perform within the earth's atmosphere.

Developing the peaceful atom

The work at the Atomics International Division of North American is part of a large national research effort aimed at the peaceful atom. Success in the development of economical power from the atom depends on thorough knowledge in every phase of atomic power systems and their materials of construction. Atomics International research reactors are in service in Japan, Denmark, West Germany, West Berlin, and Italy.

Opportunities for college graduates

Today at North American there is outstanding opportunity for young engineers who want to share the unusual creative problems that face science. You can rapidly build a sound engineering career by working on the top-level projects now underway. Visit your placement office where you'll find all the facts about a challenging and rewarding future with North American.

Dream Comes True With Annapolis Visit

"What class are you dragging?" That's the question three K-State coeds were asked when they attended the Army-Navy game over Thanksgiving vacation. They learned that when men at Annapolis asked this, they meant "In what class is the man you are dating?"

Karen Armstrong, EED Soph, Suzanne Taschetta, His Soph, and Kay Moyer, FN Jr, spent the Thanksgiving holiday weekend at the Naval academy. During the three-day visit they toured the Academy, attended two large dances and visited Washington, D.C., besides watching Navy beat Army 43-12.

The formal Thanksgiving Hop was at Hahlgrens hall on Thursday night. The entrance to the hall was lined by two large cannons and the room was decked with rows of colored lights and several thousand rifles.

Miss Armstrong and Taschetta spent Friday touring Washington, D.C. They climbed to the top of Washington's monument and visited the Capitol, White House, Smithsonian institution and the National Gallery of Art.

Just before the game Saturday, the Academy boys marched onto the football field together and gave a cheer. They stood all during the game and waved their white hats when the team made a touchdown.

The women wore cocktail dresses Saturday night to the cotillion ball at the Sheraton hotel in Philadelphia. The dance was from 6 to 12 p.m., and the men couldn't leave until it was over. Then they had 40 minutes to return to the academy. This was the first dance this year that the freshmen could attend.

Miss Armstrong summed the weekend up this way, "Going to Annapolis was just like a dream. I've often seen pictures of it, but I never thought it would happen to me."

By CHARLOTTE SOUTHERLAND

"Pledge sneaks are to unify the pledge class," says Margaret Lahey, associate dean of students. "Their purpose is not for performing juvenile pranks which will reflect adversely upon the sorority and university."

Pledge sneaks are a long-established tradition of the sororities and fraternities on campus. They usually consist of disrupting the actives orderly little world, and then going to dinner at the local restaurant for the sororities or going out of town for the weekend for the fraternities.

Popular dining spots for sorority pledge classes are Keck's, The Chicken House, and Jensens. The group is usually supervised by the house mother or an alumnus. Only one pledge sneak is permitted a semester.

Fraternity pledge classes generally go to Kansas City, Topeka, or Wichita.

Dean Lahey stressed that sorority activities, both outside and inside the house, on the night of the sneak, can be planned so as not to be degrading to the sorority. "This includes the activities of the active members as well as the pledges," said Miss Lahey.

Dean Lahey definitely advised against taking sorority pledges out of town and leaving them to walk back.

"Often neither the pledge class nor the active group realizes the type of public relations which is built up through pledge sneaks," explained Dean Lahey. "The public often hears only of these childish activities, which can wipe out the good reputation that has been established by the Greek organizations."

THERE'S AN IMPORTANT FUTURE AHEAD FOR THE MEN WHO WEAR THESE WINGS

The Air Force pilot or navigator is a man of many talents. He is, first of all, a master of the skies—and no finer exists. In addition, he has a firm background in astro-navigation, electronics, engineering and allied fields. Then, too, he must show outstanding qualities of leadership, initiative and self-reliance. In short, he is a man eminently prepared for an important future in the new Age of Space. Find out today if you can qualify as an Air Force pilot or navigator. Paste the attached coupon on a postal card and mail it now.

'Short Range, Long Range,' Salisbury Says

'Two Russian Motives To Affect U.S. Policy'

Diplomatic discussions with Russia this year will be more favorable for the U.S. than they have been since the beginning of the Cold War, said Harrison Salisbury, noted New York Times foreign correspondent, at the all-University assembly this morning.

"When we go into diplomatic

HARRISON SALISBURY, noted New York Times foreign correspondent, speaks to nearly 2,000 at this morning's all-University assembly.

discussions we'll be setting down with a Russia that wants the negotiations to succeed. We may achieve things which were impossible five years ago, and which may be impossible five years from now."

The two motives of Russia in these new negotiations were expressed in terms of a short range and a long range plan by Salisbury. "Russia plays their foreign policy very much like chess. If they make a move today you can be sure they've thought it out for ten years ahead," he said.

The first reason for change expressed in a Russian short range plan is in Khrushchev's policy, said Salisbury.

"The Russians are turning instead to the normal incentive system. They can't change overnight but Khrushchev is trying very hard to improve the conditions inside the country."

The Khrushchev dilemma is that Russia can't afford to improve internal conditions and at the same time stay ahead in the costly arms race. Therefore, Khrushchev will be more willing to negotiate with the U.S. in an effort to keep his promises to the Russian people, said Salisbury.

The long range plan is based on the Soviet-Chinese policy. "China shows everyday a new aggressiveness and you can see Russia and China competing in a naked, cold power struggle as two big powers do," said Salisbury.

The seat of the struggle lies in outer Mongolia, a backward country whose citizens are still nomadic. "The Chinese are trying to undermine Russia here, and I think they will succeed," he said.

Already Mongolia is drawing an east-west line between their country and the Soviet Union. "On one side they place themselves and China, 'the Light of the East,' and on the other side they include Russia and the U.S.," said Salisbury.

Khrushchev knows the Chinese strength of the future, and what it will be ten years from now, he said. "And as Khrushchev looks for a power to balance the power of China, he can see only the United States."

Big K-State Crowd Hears Kingston Trio

An enthusiastic audience of approximately 4,000 attended the Kingston Trio concert Friday night in Ahearn Field house.

The Trio of Dave Guard, Bob Shane and Nick Reynolds relied heavily on their best-selling records, but one number that was highly received by the audience and hasn't been recorded by them was "Goober Peas."

The audience's most enthusiastic responses were to the Trio's second big single recording, "Tijuana Jail," and the finale of the show, the spiritual "When the Saints Go Marching In."

"Naturally we're very pleased by the large number of people who attended the performance," said Dave All, BA Soph, chairman of the sponsoring Campus Entertainment committee.

Russian Rocket Scientist Will Be Guest Lecturer

Dr. Grigori A. Tokaty, former Russian scientist, will present two lectures this week in the Engineering lecture hall, in connection with the Guest Scholar Lectureship program of Kansas State.

His first talk, "Rocket Developments Outside the USA," will be Wednesday at 7 p.m. and the second, "The Philosophy of Modern Engineering Education," Thursday at 1 p.m.

Since 1949, Dr. Tokaty has lived in London, working as a scientist for the British government. In 1957 he became associated with Northampton College of Advanced Technology in London, a school similar to Princeton Institute in this country.

In 1959, he was appointed Head of the Department of Aeronautics at Northampton. At present Tokaty is a visiting professor of aeronautical engineering at the University of Kansas.

The scientist has had extensive industrial experience in aerodynamics and rocket dynamics. His academic and research posts in Russia included Research Fellow; Head of the Aerodynamical laboratory of the Soviet Air Force; lecturer, senior lecturer, reader and professor of Aerodynamics at the Zhukovsky Aeronautical academy and at the Moscow Engineering Institute; Deputy Chief Rocket Scientist of the USSR in Germany, and Head of the Long Range Rocket Design group of the USSR in 1947-48.

Position Available On KSU Tribunal

Any sophomore, junior or senior in the Engineering and Architecture school who wishes to apply for a position on K-State's Tribunal should turn in his application to the office of Dean M. A. Durland, E114, said Tribunal Chancellor Barbara David, HT Sr. A 2.2 minimum grade average is required to fill the opening, which was created by the graduation of Bill Mollohan this spring.

Thus far, approximately 10 applications have been given to Engineering and Architecture students interested in the Tribunal position, and about half of these have been returned to Dean Durland's office.

Music Is Inspiring At KSU Vespers

Inspiring music of Poulenc's "Mass in G Major," and Bruckner's "Ecce Sacerdos," a motet for mixed chorus, organ and three trombones, filled the University auditorium yesterday afternoon as the Kansas State A Cappella choir presented its annual Christmas vespers.

An estimated crowd of 700 attended the program.

The 83-voice choir interpreted very nicely "Mass in G Major," one of the more difficult numbers of the afternoon. The beautiful soprano strains were handled capably by Esther Aberle,

HE Sr, with Vera McGinnis, Soc Jr, as the featured alto voice.

The rhythmic spiritual "Lit'l Boy-Chile" and "Make We Merry" added a light touch to the otherwise solemn Christmas selections. Mary Hebrank, MGS Fr, presented the special soprano part of the spiritual.

Opening the program was an impressive candlelight procession with the choir singing "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful." Effective lighting of purple shades complemented the purple gowns worn by the group.

Soprano soloist Sharon Turen, MAI Sr, was excellent in her interpretation of "The Shepherds Had An Angel," with chorus background. Soft violin music by Bill Dick, MGS Soph, added to the effectiveness of the number.

Other songs presented by the group were "Gloria," "A Spotless Rose" with Bob Thomas, MGS Fr, as soloist; "Hodie, Christus Natus Est;" "The Angel to the Shepherds," and "Brazilian Psalm" featuring Kent Smith, Mus Gr. The closing number, "The Last Words of David," an anthem for mixed chorus and organ, climaxed the hour-long program.

Prints by David Bernard Now on Display in Union

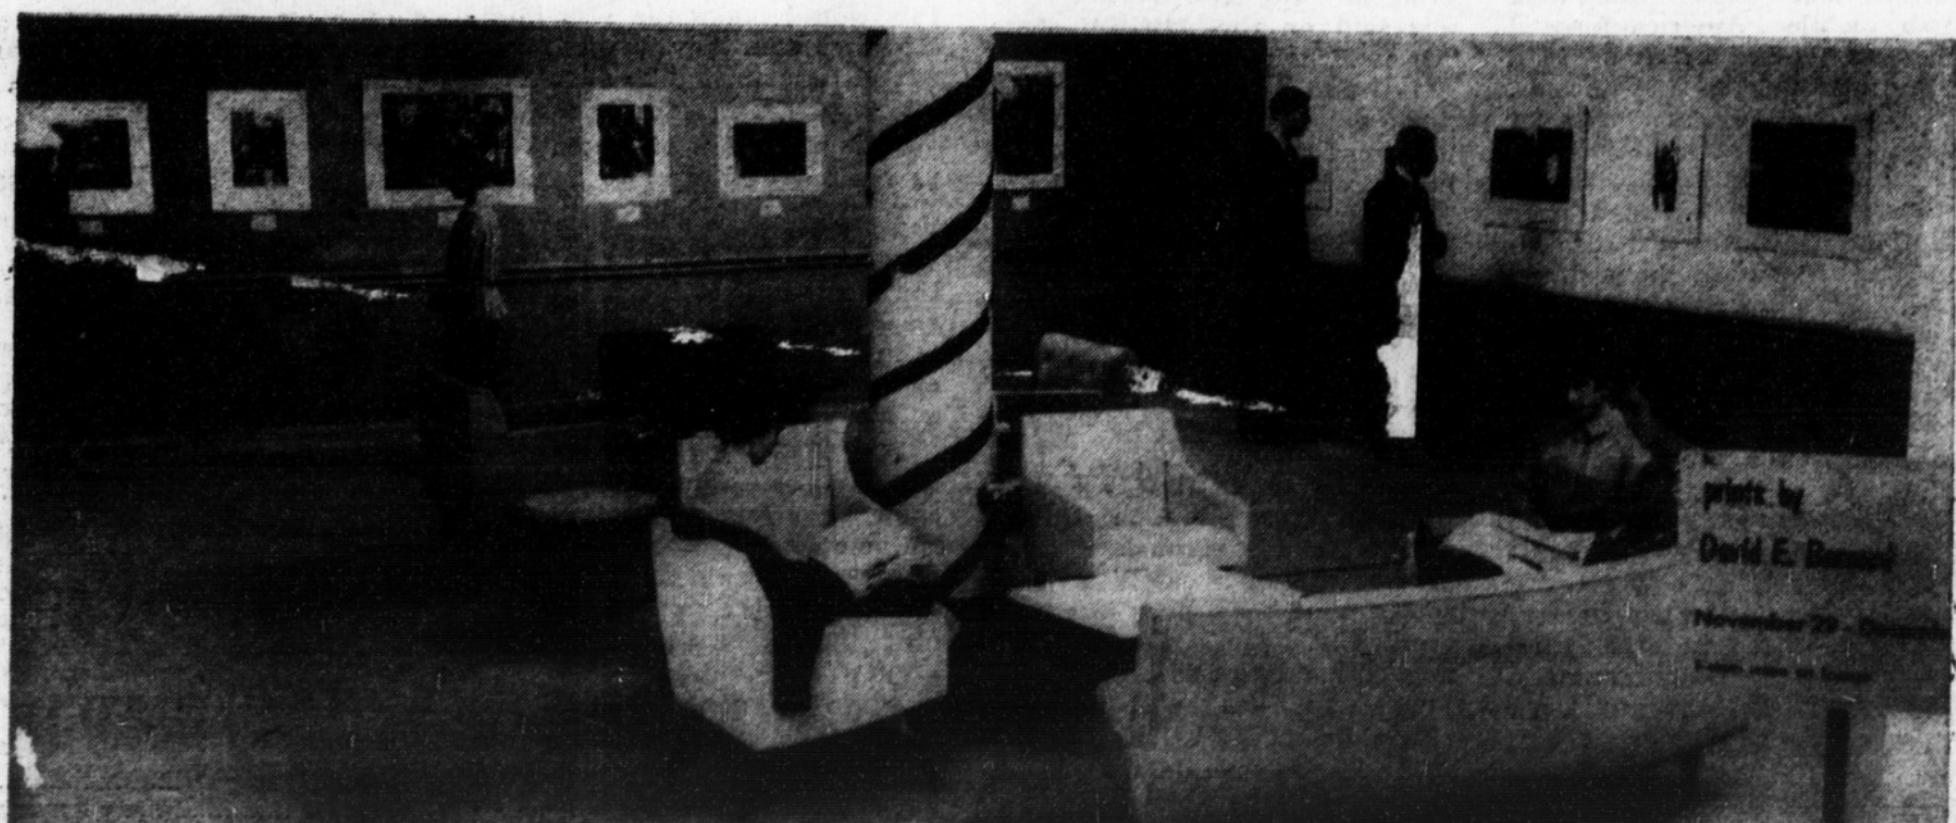

Twenty-nine prints of David E. Bernard, associate professor of art at Wichita University, are on display in the Union art lounge this week.

Bernard is one of the outstanding print makers in this region, said Sue Burgess, program adviser of the Union. His art is described as "having strength and speaking with conviction," showing contrast of value and of mood.

On exhibit until December 11, the prints represent engraving, wood-cutting, intaglio, color intaglio and color lithography.

Bernard received his bachelor of fine arts degree in art education from the University of Illinois in 1940. His study there included a year of commercial designing. He was a staff artist for K. B. Butler and Associates of Mendota, Ill., for two years, and has been an instructor in art departments at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., Iowa State University and the University of Wichita.

SOME OF THE STUDENTS in the Union art lounge are interested in the 29 prints by David E. Bernard, associate professor of art at Wichita University. The exhibit, on display until December 11, features engravings, wood-cuttings and color prints.

Kansas State Yet To Take Stand On Loyalty Oath of NDEA Loans

ALTHOUGH only a veritable handful of colleges and universities in the United States are making an issue of the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavit required by the government of individuals who borrow money under the National Defense and Education act, the noise this group is making is certainly beyond proportion.

At latest count, sixteen institutions have boycotted the loan program—eleven which originally took part in the program have withdrawn, and five universities refused from the stat to join the program. Many others have protested officially to the government about the stipulations.

Basically, the loyalty oath requires recipients of the fund to swear allegiance to the United States, and the affidavit requires them to swear that they do not belong to a group that advocates overthrowing the government.

AMONG THOSE SCHOOLS that have withdrawn from the program are Harvard, Yale, Oberlin, Amherst and Grinnell. The five that refused to join the program because of the stipulations are Princeton, Haverford, Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore and the University of Richmond.

National Defense Education act funds for student loans at Kansas State were recently exhausted—$153,839 of the NDEA funds have been loaned to 208 K-State students for the 1959-60 academic year. Since the act went into effect, 299 loans totaling $206,897 have been made. Dr. Chester Peters, director of the Placement Center, said that the University has notified the federal government that it could use more funds than allocated for the year.

Ralph Perry, K-State comptroller, said that no K-State student applying for the loans has refused to go through with the proceedings because of the oath and affidavit.

DEPENDING on which side of the fence you are on, therefore, Kansas State is either in an enviable or unenviable position in its refusal to take any action concerning NDEA loans.—don veraska

Eisenhower Receives Another Friendly Reception In Pakistan on Peace Mission to Eleven Nations

Compiled from UPI
By JAY CRABB

Karachi, Pakistan—President Eisenhower, jaunty and smiling despite the rigorous schedule of his 11-nation peace mission, arrived here today and pledged that the United States and Pakistan would work for a just peace for all mankind.

The President received another of the tremendous welcomes that marked his stops in Rome and Ankara, Turkey. He left Ankara this morning where he was received with a welcome he himself described as "stupendous."

Here a grateful Asian ally which has received a billion dollars in U.S. aid had prepared the biggest welcome it ever gave a visiting leader—in this case the first American president to visit Asia while in office. It was a predominantly military welcome but a great one.

As in every place he has visited on his historic mission—Italy, Vatican City and Turkey—the Presidents' opening remarks called for world peace. And as he said before leaving Washington, a just peace in freedom.

Eisenhower, wearing a dark blue suit and white shirt, stepped from his jet airliner and was met by Field Marshal Mohammed Ayub Khan, the President who seized power a year ago in October and has given Pakistan a firm but benevolent leadership since.

There was hardly a cloud in the sky as Eisenhower stepped forward and shook hands with Ayub while America-donated Saberjets flashed overhead in a military tribute to Eisenhower. His arrival was marked by a 21 gun salute and the playing of the anthems of both countries.

A stiff breeze whipped over the field, fluttering the American and Pakistani flags overhead. Eisenhower saluted an honor guard and then mounted a low dais where Ayub welcomed him to the country and Eisenhower replied that visiting Pakistan had been a "long felt ambition."

Eisenhower paid tribute to Pakistan, America's strongest ally in Asia, as a "new country trying to be a force for good in the world." Then he said Pakistan and the United States, "thinking alike, want to work for what is good, decent and just."

He said the two nations, both believing in God and true to the principles of their forefathers, are working so that "we will yet have a world in which just peace will be the lot of man."

President Ayub spoke warmly of the friendship between the "like-minded people of Pakistan and the United States.

He said he knew it was impossible for Eisenhower during his brief stay in Pakistan to see all the good which has been accomplished as a result of U.S. economic aid. Then he concluded his welcome speech by saying "I hope that you and your companions will enjoy your stay in our country."

After the ceremonies Eisenhower and Ayub mounted a throne-like seat in a convertible coupe for the 14-mile trip into the city.

Nixon Gets Challenge

New York—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged Vice President Richard N. Nixon yesterday to use the prestige of his office in an effort to settle the steel strike.

Rockefeller, a possible rival of Nixon for the Republican Presidential nomination, noted that President Eisenhower before leaving on his 11-nation tour called for intensified efforts to settle the strike.

"I hope the Vice President, in his position of high prestige as Vice President, will be able to contribute a solution to this problem," the New York Governor said on the ABC-TV show "Open Hearing".

He said the federal government must "face up" to unemployment caused by the 116-day strike which was halted by a Taft-Hartley injunction. "Once it gets to a point where it has overlapped the industry that's involved and affects the public, then I think the federal government has a responsibility," he said.

U.S. Plans World TV

Washington — The United States plans to launch a huge "radio mirror" satellite next spring that may pave the way eventually for instantaneous world-wide television.

The satellite will be an aluminum-coated balloon, as tall as a 10-story building. Radio stations will be able to bounce signals off it to other stations thousands of miles away.

Ultimately, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) expects to put enough satellites into orbit to create a space communications system for the world. This would make it possible for any community on earth to tune in on a TV broadcast from any other community.

In announcing the new project Echo yesterday, NASA made an exception to its long-standing policy of withholding information on such undertakings until after they have been launched.

Majority of KS Students Questioned Favor Entrance Qualifications Tests

By Bill Ryan

THE PROBLEM of increasing enrollments has brought suggestions of making entrance requirements more rigid scholastically, for Kansas high school graduates coming to K-State.

A recent survey of K-State students showed that most felt it would be better to determine the student's ability before allowing him to begin classes.

The question asked was, "Should there be more rigid entrance requirements for Kansas high school graduates planning to attend KSU?"

Although many students are for a scholastic ability test of some form, some are not, saying this would make the less intelligent person pay taxes for a school he cannot take advantage of.

Here are a few viewpoints expressed:

DARRELL ROSENOW, Agr Gr—"Yes, if the student is in the lower half of his graduating class he should be required to take a special exam because his chances for finishing school aren't very good."

RAYMOND EASTWOOD, Phy Sop—"Yes, there should be some requirement to limit enrollment some way. High requirements would take out those students which would otherwise quit later because of poor grades."

DENNIS DROUILLARD, ME Sop—"Since this is a tax-supported school, everyone should be able to take advantage of it.

There's no scholastic requirement to pay taxes."

JULIE BOND, CE Jr—"If they've got a high school diploma they're ready for college."

HAL BEIGHLEY, Ar Sop—"Yes, there definitely should be a line drawn somewhere with a higher enrollment expected. Students should have at least a 'C' average in high school."

GARY JOHNSON, EE Jr—"If the student doesn't have an ability to learn his chances of completing college aren't good. There should be a test of their ability to learn."

JERRY PORTERFIELD, EE Jr—"The average high school student can't get through college. There should be an entrance exam. This would cut down on GRANTHAM, ENGLAND—Albert Johnson, who flunked his military physical 10 years ago because of bad feet, yesterday claimed a new record among Britain's hiking enthusiasts.

He said he slogged 110 miles in 22 hours, 39 minutes, surpassing the record of Dr. Barbara Moore, who made the same distance last week in 26 hours, 25 minutes.

LONDON—The Bishop of Southwark admitted on a TV program yesterday that he was going to skip a discussion tomorrow on revising the prayer book.

The Bishop said he plans to attend the Oxford-Cambridge rugby match that day.

BRIDLINGTON, ENGLAND—Bridlington police broke into a house here yesterday after its vacationing occupants telephoned long distance and requested that someone turn off their electric blanket.

BERKELEY, CALIF.—Two University of California residence halls claimed a basketball record yesterday. Cloyne court defeated Deutsch hall 3,496 to 3,178.

ABOUT 400 players participated in the game, which lasted 45 hours. The players said the previous record—42 hours—was set by the University of Washington.

CROWDED CLASSROOMS during first and second semesters. A student should have at least a high 'C' high school average."

BOB REIST, IED Soph—"If this is a state supported school, it should allow everyone to attend. One way to cut enrollment is to make this a self supported school."

JOHN WILSON, EE Jr—"Yes, there should be some requirement, not too difficult, but one that would eliminate those who would otherwise drop out after one or two semesters."

ROGER CRAFT ME Jr—"A lot of times high school grades don't have a thing to do with college grades; low high school grades don't necessarily mean low college grades."

Farm Management Program In Extension To Be Expanded

Expansion of K-State's extension programs in the area of farm management will become effective January 1, according to Harold E. Jones, director.

He expects to announce the names of additional farm management association fieldmen and district farm management specialists within a short time.

"With the additional fieldmen it is our plan to increase the number of families in our farm management associations from the present 1,200 to a minimum of 1,800. Each fieldman will serve about 150 families instead of the well over 200 in some associations at present.

Jones said this expansion is made possible by shifting of personnel and funds within the Extension Service and through increased support from the farm management associations.

"The Farm Management association is a group of farm families who want to put their farms on a better paying basis and have a better living from them," he added.

"Records of families in organizations serve as facts on which we make practice recommendations, and their farms and homes are used as demonstrations in our educational programs," said Jones.

The purpose of the farm management program is five-fold: To help each family get a good record of the farm business and of its living costs; to help them study their farm and their records to find where improvements can be made in its organization or operation as a business; to provide each family with information and personal guidance in working out its plan for improving the farm and home; and to help the farm family interpret and apply marketing information, price forecasts, new production methods and practices and to assist in making out income tax returns.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Bill Dugan goes over work schedules with Chief Operator Merle Brauch in the Des Moines toll center.

Bill Dugan wanted responsibility. See how he's done in just four years.

When William P. Dugan graduated from State University of Iowa in 1955, he had a degree in business administration, a wife, and a firm resolution to get ahead in business.

Bill went to work with Northwestern Bell Telephone Company at Des Moines. "I wanted to work where I'd find real opportunities for advancement and get the training necessary to take advantage of them," he says. "I couldn't have made a better choice."

Ten months of diversified training taught Bill the "language" of the business and gave him the know-how and self-assurance he needed. He was transferred to the Traffic Department at Cedar Rapids where he gained experience in operating room procedures, force scheduling and training and in supervising operating personnel. He returned to Des Moines and in February, 1959, was promoted to District Traffic Supervisor there.

Today, Bill heads up an organization of ten supervisory people and about 230 telephone operators who handle approximately 42,000 calls each day. He is also responsible for auxiliary services such as Information and the Telephone Company switchboard.

"This is a booming business," says Bill. "There are new problems coming up every day to keep my job interesting and challenging. I don't know where a man can find more genuine opportunities to improve himself."

No Pressure On KS Now

There's only one consolation that can come out of K-State's 67-58 loss to St. Louis Saturday—the Wildcats won't have the pressure of a winning streak bothering them when they begin their eastern road trip this week.

K-State, now 1-1 for the year, will travel to Raleigh, N.C., for doubleheaders Friday and Saturday against North Carolina and North Carolina State. Kansas university will be the fourth team.

Saturday's defeat ended a 12-game winning streak for the Wildcats in Ahearn field house. K-State sailed through last year's season without a defeat on the home court. The last defeat prior to the St. Louis game came during the final home game of 1958 season against KU and Wilt Chamberlain.

The victory was St. Louis' third straight and its second upset over a nationally-ranked team. The Billikens defeated St. John's Thursday night, 76-67. St. John's and K-State were rated eleventh and tenth, respectively.

The game was decided in the final five minutes of play when Kansas State went cold. With K-State ahead, 54-53, the Billikens set to work and capitalized on two three-point plays to break into the lead, 59-54. On both occasions St. Louis made a field goal and then sank a free throw to build up a five-point lead.

Architecture Designs Are On Display

Paintings and photographs of architectural work of Bruce Goff, former head of the University of Oklahoma Architecture department, are on exhibit on the second floor gallery of Seaton hall through December 19.

"Goff's work is very imaginative and personal," stated Emil Fischer, head of the Architecture and Allied Arts department. "He especially expresses a liking for circular forms and unusual geometric shapes. Each of Goff's designs is quite distinctive."

Goff, an admirer of Frank Lloyd Wright, has been in private practice for the past three years, at Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

The exhibit consists of residences and churches which have been designed by Goff.

Some of his paintings may be exhibited in the Student Union in the future.

Steve Douglas, Gvt Sr, student body president, reported that only 350 males signed the ROTC petition yesterday. "At that rate we won't get enough signers to have a good showing," said Douglas.

The petition calling for the adoption of an optional ROTC program at K-State may be signed in the Union lobby through Friday.

7:30 in the Student Union little theater.

Each organization on campus is invited by the debate honorary to enter four contestants. Four finalists in each of the two divisions—men's and women's—are selected.

Points are awarded for the number of persons entered by each organization and 15, 10 and 5 points are awarded for first, second and third place respectively in the final judging to the organization those persons represent.

Finalists in this year's contest are Linda Roth, Sp Fr and Linda Krueger, Psy Fr, Southeast hall; Sharon Adrian, Eng Jr, Alpha Xi Delta; and Judy Hoy, Sp Jr, Pi Beta Phi, in the women's division;

George Hooper, BA Sr, and Dick Thyden, Gvt Sr, Sigma Chi; Jack Birkinsha, Ar 02, Alpha Kappa Lambda; and Jim Brene-

The two winners will be awarded plaques. The trophies will go to the organizations receiving the most points through the entire contest. Any group winning the contest for three consecutive years will have permanent possession of the trophy.

Judges for tonight's finals are Mrs. Sharon Bell, Mrs. Ron Minarini, Manhattan High School debate coach; Paul Barkley, professor of agricultural economics; Bill Davis of the Kansas Farm Bureau and Willis Jackson, director of the Disciple Student Fellowship.

Principals' Confab To Be Thursday

More than 150 principals and guidance counselors representing 100 Kansas high schools are expected to attend the eighth annual Principal-Freshman conference Thursday in the Union, according to Robert Anderson, assistant director of Admissions and Registrar.

Concerning the transition from high school to Kansas State, the meeting is sponsored by the Committee on Relations with High Schools and Junior Colleges. Dr. E. M. Gerritz, director of Admissions and Registrar, is committee chairman.

The conference will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m., followed by a get-acquainted coffee in the main lounge. At 9, President James McCain will address the group in the little theater.

Highlighting the day will be an hour-long meeting at 11 of the visiting principals and counselors with their former students, now attending Kansas State as freshmen. About 1,000 students will participate in the meeting, Anderson said.

Problems faced in making the transition from high school to university life, and the ways in which Kansas State has helped the adjustment will be discussed, the assistant director explained.

Luncheons for the campus guests will be prepared by K-State dormitories, sororities and fraternities.

An exchange of information between the principals and the University committee will take place in the little theater during the afternoon session. Problems of transition listed by the freshman in the morning meeting will be discussed by the group, Anderson said.

"Some of the problems may give us ideas for improving our present program," he suggested.

The conference will close with a 3:30 coffee in the Union main lounge.

RCC Changes Religious Week For Next Year

"The Religious Coordinating Council will sponsor a religious emphasis period, rather than a religious emphasis week next year," said Prof. William C. Tremmel, director of religious activities.

Tremmel explained that adopting a longer religious emphasis period would be more advantageous to the academic life of students. "Religious emphasis activities this year demanded too much of the students' study time," stated Tremmel. "Next year the same richness of program will be available to each student, but spread out over a month or six-weeks period."

Next year's religious emphasis period is tentatively scheduled for the latter part of October and the first weeks of November. The activities will begin with an address by a religious speaker. The Fireside Chats program will be continued next year.

"Area of Values" is being considered as a possible theme for the 1960 religious emphasis program. Value of the academic, social and political world would be discussed.

"Miss Scheherazade" will be elected by popular vote at a variety show sponsored by the Arab-American club. Scheherazade Night is sponsored by Arab-American clubs in more than 50 universities.

The variety show will include an Arabian dance, a typical Arab marriage ceremony and other numbers which are typical of the Arabian culture. The program will be followed by a social dance.

Loan Clause Warrants Careful Look by KSU

THE SIGNIFICANCE of the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavit of the government's loan program is certainly enough that consideration of the program's merits should be made by any institution receiving the loans. Yet at Kansas State, we have heard of no group taking such action.

Perhaps Student Council could eliminate a few committee reports, or shorten debate on the Fairchild Terrace parking problem and consider the issue. Certainly the loyalty oath merits at least a little honest discussion by some legislative group on every campus concerned.

Briefly, those who are against the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavit say that it is not worth the paper it is written on—anyone who would attempt to overthrow the government would not hesitate to sign an oath of loyalty. Several educators have said that a forced denial of beliefs such as the disclaimer affidavit calls for is a form of thought control.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT of the negative is the relationship between education and government. By placing conditions on loans, the government is linking federal educational aid to political stipulations of eligibility. This is a suggestion of danger to academic freedom in the future, critics say.

Those upholding the loyalty oath and affidavit say, "Why should a loyal American object?" Proponents observe that falsely signing the oath and affidavit is perjury, punishable by five years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both. They feel this will trip up many subversives who sign.

We'd like to emphasize that K-State need do nothing as drastic as to withdraw from the NDEA program, even if the University would decide to take steps. Minnesota university, we believe, is taking a sensible attitude by protesting through its state senators for an amendment to the act, while continuing to accept loan funds.

PERHAPS by not even considering the issue, K-State is inadvertently doing the right thing. But if it is, a careful look into the situation ought to bear out that fact.—don veraska

Cubans' Plan Guatemala Invasion Says Nicaragua's Army Staff Chief

Managua, Nicaragua — The chief of Nicaragua's army staff says 200 well-armed "Cubans and other revolutionaries" who plan to invade Guatemala have arrived by air in Honduras and 300 more are on the way by ship.

Col. Carlos Silva said yesterday the force moved in from Cuba "with the apparent tolerance of the Honduran government."

(Honduran President Ramon Villeda Morales denied the charge, saying his government maintains "rigid controls" to prevent invasion from its soil of any neighboring nation.)

(At the same time, well-informed sources in Tegucigalpa reported that the government has ordered three Nicaraguan refugees to get out of the country within 72 hours, presumably because they have been plotting against the Nicaraguan government.)

Silva's charge closely paralleled the accusation that Guatemala leveled at Cuba in Washington last week.

Guatemalan Ambassador Guillermo Saenz De Teada told the organization of American States that a force intended to invade his country was being trained in central Cuba under the supervision of Premier Fidel Castro's brother Raul and Argentine-born Dr. Ernesto (Che) Guevara. Cuba denied the charge.

Kansans Hear Johnson

Hutchinson—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told 1,400 Kansans last night that Midwesterners must seek their future with the Democrats because the Republicans have forsaken them.

He spoke at a fund-raising dinner honoring U.S. Rep. J. Floyd Breeding (D-Kan.). He was scheduled to address a civic club at Wichita today, then swing into Nebraska and other Midwestern states for more talks.

Johnson claimed that the Republican party is no longer a national party but that it has "one by one, region by region . . . closed its heart, closed its ears and closed its doors on those problems and concerns closest to the American people where they live."

At a press conference, Johnson told reporters he foresees no new farm program during the coming session of Congress.

"I rather doubt that we'll get a new farm program as long as we have Benson as secretary of agriculture."

He also said that if he had his way the United States would be going "farther and faster" in space.

The tall Texan said it would be wrong to conclude that he is opening a campaign for the Democratic nomination for Presi-

Secret of Popularity, Says ISU Daily Includes Enthusiasm, Forgetting Self

By Margaret Cooper

THE SECRET of popularity, says the Iowa State Daily, is to forget yourself, be enthusiastic about everything—especially people, and display good manners.

Then, to be really "IN" know that a handshake is the way a stranger determines whether he likes you—clutch the hand in grotesque affection or shake it violently, "as though it were being used to clean a spot out of the atmosphere," and you are "OUT."

As far as speech goes—talk easily? Then you probably talk too much. Have a vivid imagination? Your statements are often unreliable. Are you a man of silence? You're not likely to be the life of the party.

Consider yourself having read "Social Proficiency in a Nut (Shell)."

NOMINATION FOR the fast-disappearing act at the University of Oregon Emerald is the food from a dormitory breakfast line. Must be a lot of early risers at OU!

A CHRISTMAS tradition at Oregon State college of the sororities caroling the fraternities has been abandoned—the reason being the proverbial "too much time taken away from studying." Along with the farewell to caroling goes the cider and donuts the coeds enjoyed in the fraternity houses after the singing.

That one time fraternities got to call out, "It's a serenade," is "one OSC tradition that has not outlived its usefulness," according to the Daily Barometer.

"IN THE NAME of Francis

Scott Key" the Minnesota Daily is pleading that a better record of the "Star Spangled Banner" be played at home hockey games and other athletic events. The cracked record sounded pretty "foul," especially the day the Russians were visitors!

CONCERNING the football season the Daily Kansan from the University of Kansas prints: "Nebraska beats OU, Kansas beats K-State, and K-State skunks Nebraska. If consistency were a virtue, the Big Eight would be the biggest vice den in the land!"

A PLEA has been sent to the president of Missouri university to add an extra full day to the Christmas vacation. The student body feels that they will need this extra day to get back from the Orange Bowl in one piece without any broken bones from car accidents—anyway Mizzou doesn't go to the Orange Bowl every year. At least KU hopes not!

COEDS AT NORTH DAKOTA State college are fighting the "battle of the bulge" by performing exercises in the corridors every night with instructions coming from a record and appropriate music.

K-State Gymnastic Team Opens Season Saturday

K-State's Varsity Gymnastics team will be built around a group of young but talented athletes. The team, coached by Frank Thompson, will be made up of four sophomores, five juniors and one senior.

The gymnastics squad will host its first meet Saturday when K-State, Kansas and Fort Hays State tangle in a triangular in Ahearn gymnasium.

Ivan Loomis, captain and last year's top point producer, heads the list of returning lettermen. Loomis was an all-around performer last year, and is the only senior on the squad.

Mike Dziura, junior letterman, was second in scoring last year. Dziura's speciality is free exercise. He is this year's alternate captain.

Another top performer returning from last year's team which posted a 13-4 record is Bob Rector, junior letterman. Rector won a medal in all-around competition (six events) at the Southern A.A.U. meet at Dallas.

Other squad members include David Cudney, Donald Drasko, Roger Pine, all juniors; and Burt English, John Harris, Eldon Pickinbaugh and David Spence, all sophomores.

Last year's victory list included wins over Kansas University, Texas University, Baylor University, Louisiana State, Houston University, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M, Fort Hays State, Colorado State and Texas Tech.

Neal Sweeps Cage Contest

Jim Neal, ME Fr., won the first Roundball Pick by guessing the final score at 75-60 with St. Louis winning. The Billikens defeated K-State, 67-58. Out of 53 entries, only nine picked St. Louis to win.

John Rodriguez, TJ Jr., finished second with a score of 83-69, and Melvin McCall, BAA Jr., was third, 79-74.

Neal picked Wally Frank to be top scorer with 21 points he tallied 20. Rodriguez picked Cedric Price with 23 and McCall guessed Frank to score 22.

K-State Drops To 14th Spot; Jayhawks Given 9th Position

Kansas State, after suffering its first loss of the young basketball season last Saturday to St. Louis, dropped to the 14th position in the UPI poll. The Billikens, on the strength of two upsets, climbed from 12th to 7th.

The Big Eight is represented by Kansas university in the top ten. Kansas after winning its first two games over Northwestern and Texas Tech, is ranked 9th.

K-State's next two opponents, North Carolina State and North Carolina, are ranked 20th and 5th, respectively. The Wildcats will meet North Carolina State Friday night and North Carolina Saturday at Raleigh, N.C.

The Missouri Tigers knocked off the nation's 8th ranked team, Indiana, last night, 79-76. Kansas State will play Indiana Monday at Bloomington, Ind.

Cincinnati, the pre-season choice for the national championship, took an even tighter grip today on first place in the first weekly ratings of the season.

With all-American Oscar Robertson firing 45 points in his first game, 43 in the second and 36 last night, Cincinnati received the first-place votes of 25 of the 35 basketball coaches who comprise the board.

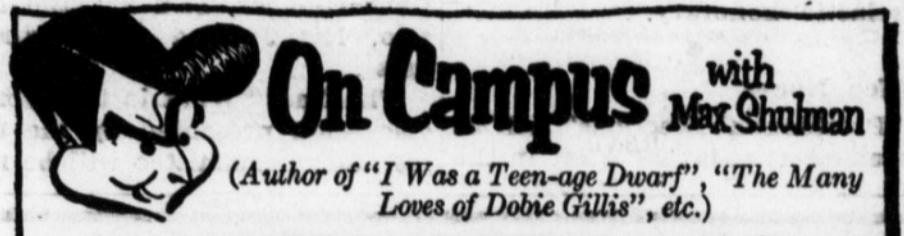

California, last season's N.C.-

A.A. champion, was second, just as it was in the pre-season poll. But Cincinnati, which had a 63-point lead in the pre-season balloting on a points basis, boosted that margin over California to 102 points this week.

West Virginia, fourth in the pre-season ratings, jumped to third.

The academic world has made its first tentative steps into television—a few lectures, a few seminars, a few lab demonstrations—but colleges have not yet begun to use television's vast capacity to dramatize, to amuse, to stir the senses, to unshackle the imagination. Like, for example, the following:

ANNOUNCER: Howdy, folksies. Well, it's time again for that lovable, laughable pair, Emmett Twonkey Magruder, Ph. D., and Felicia May Crimscott, M.A., in that rollicking, roistering fun show, American History 101... And here they are—the team that took the "hiss" out of "history"—Emmett Twonkey Magruder and Felicia May Crimscott!

DR. MAGRUDER: Howdy, folksies. A funny thing happened to me on the way to my doctorate. A mendicant approached me and said, "Excuse me, sir, will you give me 25 cents for a sandwich?" and I replied, "Perhaps I will, my good man. Let me see the sandwich."

* What-um You-um Want-um?

MISS CRIMSCOTT: Oh, how droll, Dr. Magruder! How delicious! You're a regular Joe Penner!... But enough of bading. Let us turn to our rollicking, roistering fun show, American History 101.

DR. MAGRUDER: Today we will dramatize the taut and tingling story of John Smith and Pocahontas. I will play Captain Smith and Miss Magruder will play Pocahontas.

ANNOUNCER: But first a message from our sponsor... Folksies, have you tried Alpine Cigarettes yet? Have you treated yourself to that fresh filtration, that subtle coolness, that extra-long, extra-efficient filter? Have you? Hmm?... If not, wake your tobacconist and get some Alpines at once!... And now to our grim and gripping story. Picture, if you will, a still summer night. An Indian maid stands by a moonlit brook. Suddenly she hears a footprint behind her. She turns...

MISS CRIMSCOTT: Oh! John Smith! You-um startle-um me-um!

DR. MAGRUDER: Howdy, Pocahontas. What are you doing by the brook?

MISS CRIMSCOTT: Just washing out a few scalps. But what-um you-um want-um?

DR. MAGRUDER: I came to see the Chief.

MISS CRIMSCOTT: You-um can't-um. Chief is leaving for Chicago.

DR. MAGRUDER: On what track?

ANNOUNCER: And speaking of tracks, stay on the right track with Alpines—the track that leads straight to smoking pleasure, to fun, to frolic, to sweet content... And now back to those two gassers, Emmett Twonkey Magruder and Felicia May Crimscott.

DR. MAGRUDER: Well, folksies, that's all for today. See you next week, same time, same channel.

MISS CRIMSCOTT: Stay tuned now for "William Cullen Bryant—Girl Intern."

ANNOUNCER: And remember, folksies, there was a time when you needed to smoke two cigarettes to get what you get from one Alpine—one cigarette for light menthol, one for high filtration. Today you can get it all in a single Alpine, which means you no longer have to go around smoking two cigarettes at a time, causing your friends to snigger, and violating the fire laws.

And speaking of TV, remember to watch Max Shulman's "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" on CBS every Tuesday night—presented by Marlboro Cigarettes, from the makers of Philip Morris and Alpine.

Mortar Board To Recognize High Scholarship at Banquet

The sophomore girl having the highest grade average during her freshman year will be honored tonight at the annual Mortar Board scholarship dinner.

The dinner, open to all women, will be in the Union main ballroom at 6. Tickets, which cost $1.50, are on sale in the Union.

The girl with the highest average will have her name inscribed on the scholarship plaque and the two girls having the next highest grades will receive certificates from the senior women's scholastic honorary.

Coffee Hours

"Presidential Elections" will be discussed at today's "What in the World" coffee hour from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the art lounge.

Points under discussion by the panel will be 1.) Nixon, Rockefeller or Who, 2.) What are the Chances for a Democratic President, and 3.) What are the Chances for a Catholic President. Other questions may be asked from the floor.

Members of the panel are Walt Mayden, ChE Sr, moderator; Dr. Louis Douglas of the History, Government and Philosophy department; Susan Miller, SED Jr; Gene Olander, SED Sr; Jim Carrico, His Jr and John Sunderquist.

The final "What in the World" discussion presented by the Coffee Hours committee will be next Tuesday. The subject will be "U.S.-Soviet Relations."

Panhellenic-IFC

The Foreign Students' banquet sponsored by Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council will be this evening at 6 in the Union. Undergraduate foreign students will be entertained with a reading, "The Littlest Angel," given by Laurel Lee Johnson, Sp Jr, and Christmas carols sung by a boys' quartet.

Greener pastures

for America's second largest telephone system

Nowhere in the United States is the economic "grass" greener than in the great agricultural areas of our nation. New farm equipment has increased productivity. New home conveniences have brought a higher standard of living, and demands grow for an even better way of life.

Part of this better living has been the demand for more and better Communications.

It follows that as these rural areas expand and prosper, so does General Telephone. For these are the areas we serve.

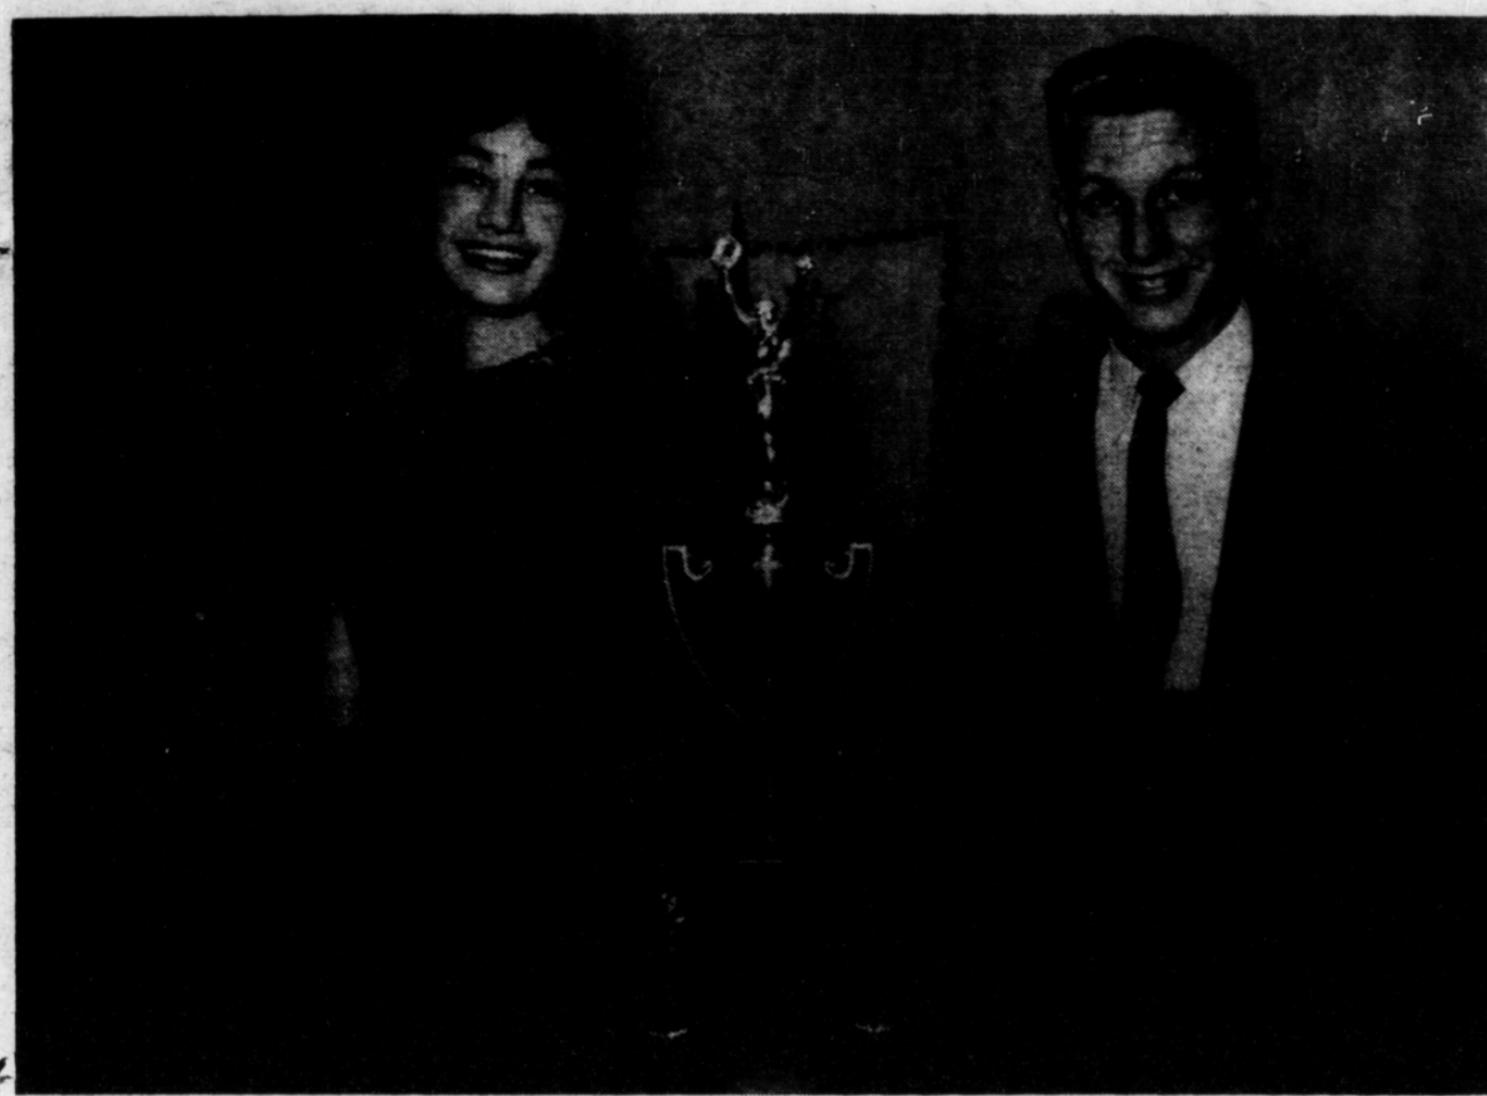

In Wisconsin, for instance, dairy farms are producing more milk of better quality from fewer cows. Wisconsin country homes are bright and up to date. Their standard of living is equal to or better than that of their city brothers.

In this one state, Gen Tel plans to spend more than $30 million in the next few years improving and increasing telephone services and facilities.

This is a typical example of how we strive not only to meet today's communications needs—but to answer tomorrow's.

Judy Hoy, Dick Thyden Capture Speech Plaques

Judy Hoy, Sp Jr., representing Pi Beta Phi, and Dick Thyden, Gvt Sr., representing Sigma Chi, were awarded the first place plaques in the Delta Sigma Rho speech contest finals last night. Southeast hall and Sigma Chi won the organization trophies for the second consecutive year.

Miss Hoy's speech was entitled "Reflective Thinking Versus Tradition." "Let us not accept tradition without questioning to see if it can be improved upon by our own clear thinking," she urged.

Thyden's speech, "Need for Awakening," urged American people to awaken to their responsibilities to the government. "Each of us should have within us the intense desire to take an active part in the affairs of our government," he said.

After being presented his plaque, Thyden declared, "Now I have an answer to people who kid me about my New York accent!"

The other participants in the contest were Linda Roth, Sp Fr., and Linda Krueger, Psy Fr., Southeast hall, Sharon Adrian, Eng Jr., Alpha Xi Delta; George Hooper, BA Sr., Sigma Chi, Jack Birkinsha, Ar1, Alpha Kappa Lambda, and Jim Breneman, Ar1, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Copies of the magazine will be sent to national magazines and publishers.

K-State's FM Radio Station To Start New Information Presentation Series

K-State's student radio station, KSDB-FM will inaugurate a new program series tonight.

Entitled "Outline," the series will be heard from 8 to 9 p.m. at 88.1 megacycles on FM radios in the Manhattan area. The program is a scheduled bi-weekly report.

"Outline" tonight will contain interviews with Pres. James A. McCain; Herbert J. Wunderlich, dean of students; Loren Kottner, director of the Student Union; and Mrs. Alice Venburg, supervisor of campus telephone service.

Other portions of the program will present Kansas "news of the month," dealing with K-State in the state news, a session of music including the K-State Singers, Men's Glee club and the A Cappella choir.

The program, planned for both semesters, is designed to offer the FM audience a "sketch picture" of university operation, personnel—student and faculty leaders—and recreation, said Don Johnson, Sp Sr., student director of "Outline."

The first part of the program will consist of interviews in which President McCain will discuss the general functions and significance of Kansas State; while Dean Wunderlich will explain the duties of the offices of the dean and his assistants.

Kottner will talk about the general organization tional setup of the Union, work of the Union Program Council and recreational facilities of the Union.

Mrs. Venburg will be interviewed on the work of the campus telephone system and reveal some of the trials of campus telephone operators—some of whom are considered information experts and student locators by a demanding public.

President McCain will also present a five-minute report on Kansas State university's recently started exchange program with the Justus Liebig university at Giessen, Germany, the first such affiliation by K-State with a foreign university.

The program has been in the planning stage for over a month, Johnson said. In addition to interviews and news there will also be "relaxation music" in the program.

"Outline" is under the general supervision of George Carroll, speech instructor.

KSDB-FM broadcasts daily except Sunday, and has a power of 10 watts.

Council Approves Bookstore Report

Student Council last night voted to support a report from the Union Governing board which recommended against incorporation of a bookstore in the forthcoming addition to the K-State Union.

The four-page report answered five questions about the bookstore proposal:

- 1) Would a Union bookstore save the students money?
- 2) Would it be more convenient to have a bookstore in the Union?
- 3) Would the students have better service due to better facilities and more space?
- 4) Would the educational and cultural benefits to the campus and the students be greater if a bookstore were incorporated within the Union?
- 5) What would be the business aspects of a Student Union bookstore?

The report, which was read to Council by Gil Veconi, Ar 5, of the Governing board, concluded that the disadvantages of such an undertaking would outweigh the advantages.

Council last night established the policy of having senior class elections no earlier than April 1 and no later than April 30 of the year preceding the candidates' senior year. "This will allow officers to draw up a better program," said Council member Lyle Clum, EE Sr., senior class president.

Council also passed a resolution to AWS that senior women's closing hours Monday through Thursday of Senior Week be extended to midnight.

Weber To Return to KSU From Ag Research in India

Arthur D. Weber, dean of agriculture and head of the second Indo-American team on agricultural research, education and extension work in India will return to Manhattan this week, possibly Sunday. He left India Monday.

Weber was one of the four Americans on the research team, and the only American team member who has served on the first Indo-American team which surveyed India's food problems last year.

In India Weber visited a new "rural" university, patterned after the land grant college system in the United States. The university is under construction near Rajendraneger.

This rural school is being built about 12 miles from Hyderabad. Here the Kansas State university technical assistance team has been headquartered since 1956.

A major recommendation by technical assistance teams from K-State and other land grant universities with ICA contracts to assist the Indian government has been to urge the consideration of such rural type universities.

The joint group of four Americans and a dozen Indians has spent the past two months reviewing the agricultural education, research and extension work in India. This group was guided by recommendations made by the first Indo-American team.

One major item for study has been the consideration of an agricultural research-education system which would include all elements of the USDA-land grant system in this country, but which would be patterned to the needs and cultural background of the Indian people.

Weber had returned to KSU in February of last year after spending three months in India, where he checked the progress of the members of the K-State technical assistance team, and reviewed K-State's participation in the International Co-operation administration's educational program there.

Scholarship Award Given Last Evening To Caroline Preddy

Caroline Preddy, SED Soph., was honored at the annual Mortar Board scholarship dinner last night for having the highest grades among freshman women last year. Miss Preddy maintained an "A" average for 32 credit hours.

Paula Oppy, BPM Soph., and Sara Hybskman, HT Soph., were awarded certificates for their scholastic achievements. Miss Oppy had a 3.912 average for 32 hours and Miss Hybskman a 3.906 for the same number of credits.

Lynn Martin, EED Sr., president of the senior women's scholastic honorary, made the presentations. Thomas M. Hahn Jr., dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, was the featured speaker. Miss Preddy is a member of the Arts and Sciences Honors program and belongs to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary.

Talent Show Auditions Scheduled for Monday

Auditions for the Big Eight talent show will be Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Williams auditorium.

Persons who wish to audition must sign up by 5 p.m. Friday in the Union activities center in order to compete.

The Big Eight talent show is an event of next spring. The exact date has not been decided.

Lack of Action by Integrity Party Should Benefit Future Platforms

IF PRESIDENTS of the two political parties at Kansas State would begin in the near future considering their party platforms, perhaps next year's winning party could avoid what has happened to Integrity party this year.

Let's check Integrity's nine-point platform, published February 27 of this year, and see exactly what has been accomplished.

1) SPECIAL representation by an International student on Student Council.

Results—This proposal of the Cosmopolitan club and the International Relations board was cut down by Council October 20 by a substantial margin. It must be noted that an international student is now on Council. He was, however, appointed by the Graduate Council to fill a vacancy in Council from the Graduate School. This is not special representation.

2) ESTABLISHING a permanent student bookstore in the proposed Union addition.

Results—After Union Governing board's report to Student Council last night, this proposal appears doomed. A lot of people were taken in by this proposal—it sounded good, but proved impractical.

3) ASSURING facilities and privileges at the Tuttle Creek dam for Kansas State students.

Results—Kenneth Heywood of the Endowment association spoke to Council at its November 17 meeting. The speech was a general discussion of the Tuttle Creek project—since then, Heywood said, he has not been contacted by Council.

4) EXTENDING spring vacation.

Results—A week vacation after the nine weeks was set up by Council April 15.

5) EXCHANGING liaison members between Student Council and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, to better relations between Kansas State university and the city of Manhattan.

Results—On November 3, Lud Fiser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Manhattan spoke to Council, outlining the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce. Mention was made not of an exchange of members, but of Council's buying either a $50 or $20 membership into the Chamber of Commerce. Fiser did promise, however, to ask the board of directors about an ex officio membership. Last week it was announced that the C of C did not want to give Council a free membership "for fear many other campus organizations would also want one."

6) RETURNING to a system of pre-enrollment.

Results—Dr. E. M. Gerritz, director of Admissions and Registrar, spoke to last year's Council March 9 on reasons for doing away with pre-enrollment. K-State is continuing its pre-advisement system of enrollment next semester. Any change in this system would have to be considered by the Assignment and Schedule committee, a subcommittee of the Academic Affairs committee of the Faculty Senate. This subcommittee has not talked of returning to such a system. Dr. Gerritz said Council talked about the pre-enrollment at Council's retreat to Topeka in September, but "no conclusions were reached."

7) ESTABLISHING a SGA column in the Collegian for better communications between student legislative groups and the student body.

Results—Council has made no definite proposal to the Collegian about such a column, although it did pass a resolution November 17 stating that a summary of Council's views on any controversial decision it reached would be sent to the Collegian. Nothing has been sent.

8) STRENGTHENING school councils, and encouraging curriculum evaluations, improvement of school visitation programs and the assumption of funds and drives responsibilities by these councils.

Results—Student Council has not discussed improving or strengthening school councils. Several Council members have, in fact, wondered out loud whether certain school councils existed.

9) ABOLISHING compulsory ROTC.

Results—A petition calling for the adoption of optional ROTC at K-State was made available to students Monday.

Of the nine proposals, one has been accomplished, an honest attempt has been made on one, two were definitely rejected, and of the remaining five, either nothing has been done yet, or they have been temporarily or permanently dropped without a definite answer being given.

WE HOPE next year's party platforms can improve upon this percentage, and contain planks that are not only appealing to the student body, but are practical as well.

Bookstore Feasibility Report

FOLLOWING in outline form are the factors in favor and those opposed to the establishment of a bookstore in the Student Union in the forthcoming addition:

IN FAVOR

1. Accessibility
2. Saving of 10 per cent in the form of a rebate. (This is not a certainty).
3. Helping create an atmosphere of scholarship.

OPPOSED

1. No large financial savings to the students, the prices in the Student Union Bookstore would be similar to those in the businesses in Aggierville.
2. The capital involved ($250,000-$350,000) would take one-third to one-half the money for the new expansion program.
3. The capital involved would be used for a facility already in existence and available to the students. We would be wiser to build and provide new services for the students rather than duplicate those already available.

The Union Governing Board does not feel that this report should be used as a final study for future additions. Changes in pricing, financial status of the K-State Union, changes in service, facilities, space and enrollment changes, etc., will all have a bearing as to whether or not a bookstore shall be considered for the next addition.

HOWEVER, the Union Governing Board feels that due to the facts presented in this study—mainly the lack of a financial saving to the students and the using of from one-third to one-half of the funds available for the forthcoming addition to duplicate what we feel are adequate facilities already available to the K-State students—that we would be wiser to build and provide new facilities and new services not presently available to the K-State students. We therefore recommend against incorporation of a bookstore in the K-State Union in the forthcoming addition.

Ike Stops in New Delhi For Visit on Asian Tour

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

New Delhi—President Eisenhower's triumphal tour of Asia carried him today to New Delhi where he promised Indians worried about war with Red China that he would work with their leaders in "our common quest for peace."

It was an uproarious, flower-garlanded welcome for the President on his fifth and so far most important stop on his 11-nation tour of Asia, Europe and Africa.

And it was an obviously emotional moment for him as he stood before a background of pink-tipped clouds in the setting sun and told an estimated 60,000 to 70,000 Indians massed at Palam airport that there must be peace because the alternative is "too horrible to contemplate."

The President broke protocol to go into the fringes of the crowd and exchange personal greetings.

The government all-India radio station said his reception could only be compared to the day in 1947 when India won and celebrated her independence from Britain.

Diphtheria Cases Halted

Great Bend—Mass immunization appeared today to have halted an outbreak of diphtheria in this community.

Barton County Health Director Dr. William Evans said last night no new cases of the disease had been reported and he believed the situation was under control.

However, schools remained closed and doctors continued to administer inoculations.

A 6-year-old boy died of the disease Monday and Barton County health officials have since reported one other confirmed case and three "very likely" instances of it.

Recent outbreaks of diphtheria have also claimed two lives in Oklahoma and two in Missouri in the past two weeks.

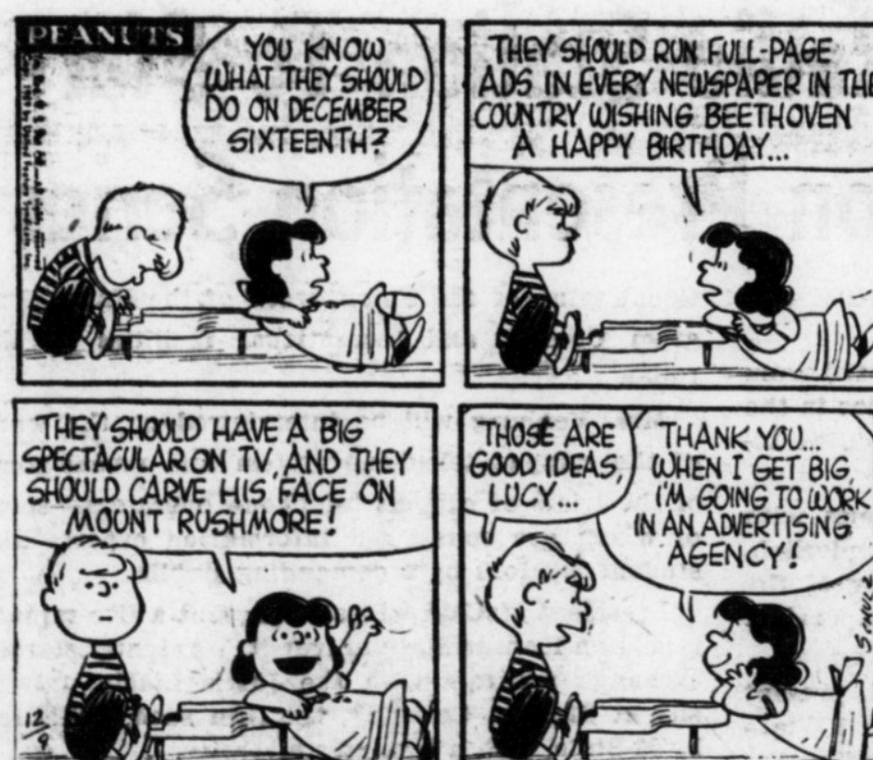

Gales Hamper Shipping

London—Winter gales today piled up powerful storm waves in the busy shipping lanes around the European coastline for the fourth day and new sinkings raised the death toll past the 100 mark.

For the first time since the storm began, Russian rescue crews were called out.

The storm's force swung to the north after battering Portugal, Spain, and France on their Atlantic coastlines. It hit the icy northern seas—the North, the Baltic, and the North Atlantic.

The death toll rose to 104 and others were missing, including five or six Americans somewhere in the Atlantic aboard a new Norwegian-designed yacht, the 60-ton Edward Grieg.

Prof Eye-Witness in Japan During Pearl Harbor, War

By MARGARET COOPER

"When the first bombs of World War II were dropped on Pearl Harbor 18 years ago Monday, it was a surprise to the Japanese people as well as to the Americans," said Dr. Clarence Hisatsune, assistant professor of chemistry at Kansas State university.

Dr. Hisatsune was in his third year of high school in Nakatus, Japan, on December 7, 1941. What was the reaction of the bombing where he was?

"The students all shouted, 'no school!'" replied Dr. Hisatsune.

This was the attitude of the young. The college students felt that if the difficulty between Japan and the United States were not worked out through negotiations, Japan had a big undertaking on her hands. And to the older people it was something going on in another part of the world and didn't directly affect them.

Three years later, after months of extensive bombing and innumerable air raids, the Japanese people were welcoming peace. They had fully experienced fear, said Dr. Hisatsune. Many of their cities had been destroyed.

"Seeing Hiroshima two days after it was bombed and again last summer on our trip to Japan to visit my parents has convinced me that it will take more than war to wipe out the human race," declared Dr. Hisatsune. "That city has been completely rebuilt."

Dr. Hisatsune came to K-State in 1956 after being at the University of Minnesota for two years. He is now working with the Public Health Service and the Air Force on the chemistry of the atmosphere, and air pollution.

Customs of U.S. Surprise Student from New Zealand

By SUE MORGAN

Visitors from other countries are often surprised at American customs.

Pamela Woodhams, DIM graduate from New Zealand and assistant dietitian at Van Zile hall says, "I was amazed to see tea bags and instant tea when I came to the United States. Tea is the national beverage in New Zealand and we make a stronger brew in tea pots and serve it with milk."

Eating hamburgers, hot dogs, pumpkin pie, and waffles was a new experience for Miss Woodhams. Pumpkin is served as a vegetable in New Zealand. Roasted mutton, lamb, and beef, and vegetables cooked in the meat fat are common. Sweet rolls and doughnuts are not served for breakfast in her country as they are here.

Table etiquette also differs according to dark-haired, dark-eyed Miss Woodhams. She explained that dessert is eaten with a spoon in the right hand and a fork in the left. Hot pie, cooked fruit with cereal or milk pudding, and steamed pudding served with a sauce or cream are common desserts.

When asked about the universities in New Zealand, Miss Woodhams replied, "Our universities operate on the quarter system with a three-week holiday in the spring and fall."

"Courses are taught the whole year instead of on the quarter basis," she explained. She used as an example the fact that she had had only one course in nutrition and it was taught the whole year.

There are no quizzes, but the students take comprehensive tests at the end of each quarter. In these tests the student is tested on what he has learned in the course and is given the opportunity to express his opinions on the subject matter. The student must pass each of these quarterly tests in order to take the final.

Miss Woodhams pointed out that more college preparatory work is carried on in the high schools in New Zealand than in the U.S. Then general education courses are taken in the five years of high school and are prerequisites to university entrance thus making necessary only three years of college. Students must pass entrance exams set by the university before entering college.

"The athletic scholarships offered here amazed me," said Miss Woodhams. "We don't have them in my country, nor do we have fraternities and sororities. As far as school work is concerned, New Zealand students are more independent. There is more straight lecture and discussion work and most of the work outside the classroom is left to the initiative of the student."

Dating starts later than is true here, said Miss Woodhams, and usually marriage also comes at a later age.

When asked what impressed her most about the U.S. Miss Woodhams answered, "Its large size and the number of cars."

West Virginia Wins Another; Rated Third Best in Nation

By UPI

Cincinnati and California rank 1-2 in the nation but at Morgantown, W. Va., they insist West Virginia and Jerry West are the best.

Ranked third by the United Press International board of coaches, West Virginia has reeled off three straight victories this season and last night extended two streaks with an 84-62 win over Richmond. It was the Mountaineers' 35th straight victory at home and their 53rd consecutive triumph in Southern Conference competition.

And, once again, it was the 6-foot, 3-inch 175-pound West who made it look easy for the Mountaineers.

Connecting on 11 of 18 shots from the field and adding six free throws, West tallied 28 points and also found time to pull down 16 rebounds. West Virginia led, 34-22 at halftime and then went on a 17-2 tear that opened a 52-29 margin that ended all doubts of the outcome.

Willie Akers, a 6-foot, 5-inch senior, shared honors with West by grabbing 16 rebounds and connecting for 16 points. Jimmy Warren had 12 and Jim Ritchie had 10.

California, the nation's No. 2 team, brushed aside San Francisco, 65-40, for its third in a row, and Georgia Tech, No. 15, scored its fourth win of this season and 11th straight over two seasons with a 69-53 decision over Alabama.

Center Darell Imhoff scored 16 points and spearheaded the Three Cop IM Group Titles

Three group championships were decided in last night's intramural basketball contests. Sigma Alpha Epsilon won its fifth straight game for its division championship in fraternity play; Westminster and the Fat Daddies each remained undefeated in their independent groups.

The Sig Alphas won over Lambda Chi Alpha in the evening's opener, 37-20, boosted by Scott Cochran's 13 points. High Lambda Chi scorers were Roy Shuttenhelm and Bob Brenton with six each.

Phi Delta Theta ruined Sigma Nu's chance for its group championship, at least for the night, with a 34-23 win over the Sigma Nus. Sigma Nu and Tau Kappa Epsilon are now tied, 3-1-1, in their group; each has been beaten by the Phi Delt squad. Ron Holman topped the scoring with 13 for the Phi Delt. Don Jaax hit for eight points to lead Sigma Nu.

The TKE's beat Delta Upsilon 37-24 behind Paul Sherer's 15 points. Larry Johnson topped DU scoring with 11.

Rounding out fraternity play, Sigma Phi Epsilon edged Farm House, 21-19, in the closest contest of the evening. Darrell Johnson led FH with nine points, Willis Adams topped the Sig Ep team scoring with six.

The Fat Daddies-DCC contest was the lowest-scoring game of the evening. Fat Daddies won, 14-9. Dave Masters scored on free throws to lead the Fat Daddies with five points. Don Mach hit a field goal and a free throw to be the leading DCC point man with three.

Newman Club edged the Math squad in another close game, 29-25. Marx led Newman club with seven, McLaughlin led Math with eight.

The Playboys took a decisive win from the Vets, 40-24. Larry Janssen hit 10 for the winners, Grady Gherer scored half of the Vets points, 12.

Westminster cinched its group championship, beating La Citadel 57-21. Three Westminster scorers hit in double figures, Duane Shaw with 18, Al Hamilton with 13, and Lee Cook with 10. Marion Karr hit 13 for La Citadel.

Signa Phi Nothing won a forfeit from the Sharpshooters.

Royal Leads Pro Scoring

Jack Twyman scored 33 points last night to regain the N.B.A. scoring leadership from Wilt Chamberlain and lift his Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association's western division cellar as the Royals defeated the St. Louis Hawks, 105-101.

The Boston Celtics handed the New York Knickerbockers their eighth loss in ten games, 121-105, in the second half of a New York double-header.

Twyman scored Cincinnati's last five points as the Royals escaped from the basement for the first time since November 13. Wayne Embry pitched in with 18.

DON DARTER, junior letterman, will represent Kansas State, in the heavyweight division Saturday, when the Wildcats open their 1959-60 wrestling season in Ahearn field house in a four-team tournament. Darter was also a tackle on the K-State football team.

Syracuse Wins All

By UPI

The ease displayed by his team in clinching the national championship Saturday earned for Ben Schwartzwalder the honor of United Press International coach of the week.

The selection of Schwartzwalder, the second time this season UPI has thus honored the former paratrooper, came a day after his undefeated Orangemen were named the UPI national champions for 1959.

Going into Syracuse's final game of the regular season, against UCLA, it was generally conceded that a strong victory would cement the collegiate championship for the Orange. The Bruins, a fast-finishing team after a slow start, had earned themselves the title of giant-killer for the way they downed Southern California several weeks earlier. At the time Southern Cal was undefeated and ranked second in the country.

KS Wrestlers To Host Three In Tournament

Kansas State's wrestling team opens its 1959-60 season here Saturday when the Wildcats face South Dakota State, Omaha university and Northwest Missouri State in a four-team tournament.

The preliminaries start at 1 p.m., and the finals at 7 p.m. Both sessions will be held in Ahearn field house.

Heading the list of Wildcat wrestlers Saturday will be heavyweight Don Darter, fourth place finisher in the last year's NCAA finals. Darter, a junior, posted an 8-2 season mark a year ago.

Rounding out Fritz Knorr's mat crew will be John Dooley, 123-pound class; Darrell Huggins, 130-pound class; Larry Word, 137-pound class; Dee Gard, 147-pound class; Wayne Stanley or Charles Couch, 157-pound class; Larry Byers, 167-pound class and Jerry Allen in the 177 pound class.

Last season Kansas State dumped South Dakota State, 24-8, in a dual meet. The Jackrabbits return five lettermen from that squad and boast a strong crop of sophomores. K-State did not meet Omaha or Northwest Missouri State last season.

Despite a mediocre 5-10 overall record of last season, K-State finished fourth in the Big Eight conference meet behind Oklahoma State, Iowa State, and Oklahoma. The Wildcats return seven lettermen.

O-State Stars Sign Contracts

Two Big Eight football standouts, Don Hitt and Tony Banfield of Oklahoma State, signed contracts Tuesday with the Houston Oilers of the new American Football League.

Hitt, a center, was captain of the Oklahoma State team this year. Banfield, a halfback, scored 66 points and led the Cowboys in pass interception with six.

Gil Fears Yankees Plotting Big Trade

By UPI

Gil McDougald admits it's not very pleasant reading about yourself being used as "trade bait" after spending nine seasons in the New York Yankees' infield.

"But it's consoling, at least," he says, "to learn that some of the other clubs want you. The time to worry is when the others don't want you."

Chatting in a mid-town restaurant today, the versatile 31-year-old Gil said he wasn't "too surprised" to read that he was on the trading block after hitting only .251 this year and .250 last year—far below his average in the high .280's during his previous play with the Yanks.

"I haven't the slightest idea what caused those two off-seas sons at bat," said the freckled, snub-nosed, curly-haired infielder. "I feel fine, young and able. No injuries, no illness. And I haven't lost a bit of my speed, precision and accuracy on the field."

The brown-haired man in the brown suit gazed somewhat dolefully at his orange juice and declared that batting slumps—short or long—were the most baffling things in the world. Nobody knows for sure what causes them, he said.

Even if he were to remain at one position, instead of from second to short to third, he wasn't sure that would help.

"But something's gotta give and I'm sure my slump can't last much longer," Gil stated optimistically. "I'm confident I'll start hitting again next season. If I wasn't confident, I wouldn't play."

No, Gil said, he didn't blame the Yankee front office for considering trades and mentioning him as bait because the Yanks—after four straight pennants—had dropped to third place.

He added, "I'm not surprised at the reports, although I personally believe the club has a great personnel and that the players they've got will snap out of it next season and come right back to the pennant."

If he were traded, would he have any preference about where he went?

"No," he answered, "a player has no control over where he goes. Naturally, I'd prefer to stay with the Yankees because I've made so many friends. Of course, I guess I'd make friends in whatever city I went to. But it would be hard on my family. I couldn't be home as often as I am now. We have our home in Tenafly—my wife and four children, two boys and two girls ranging from seven years to 11."

"Besides, I have my business in Tenafly, a building maintenance firm."

Rugby Fans Like Dawkins

All-American halfback Pete Dawkins came through his first major British rugby test yesterday with flying colors. Standing firm in the face of strong Cambridge pressure, he helped Oxford win a 9-3 triumph in the annual classic against Cambridge.

Some 60,000 fans packed the Twickenham Bowl for the game—and thousands who came to scoff at the Army star stayed to cheer him off the field.

He didn't exactly star, but he never made a wrong move with foot or hand throughout the entire 80 minutes. In the last five minutes, especially, as Cambridge threw everything at him in a desperate effort to pull back the Oxford lead, he coolly played himself out of trouble to continuous roars from the Oxford supporters.

His throws from the lineouts (out of bounds) were superbly placed and he handled and kicked safely without a tremor. Some of his catching was outstanding also.

Dawkins admitted before the game that he was on edge.

Congratulations were offered to Richard Wheat, Ar 4, when Sue Tanner, EEd Jr, received his Beta Sigma Psi fraternity pin last Wednesday night. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and is from Salina. Richard is from Kansas City.

Dix-Bock

The engagement of Duane Bock, Ar 2, Trenton, Mo., to Barbara Dix was announced at the Delta Upsilon fraternity house last Tuesday. Barbara is a '59 graduate of Manhattan high school and is employed here in town.

Broyles-Doyle

Grade Averages Determine Food Eaten at House Dinner

Coeds will dress in Bermuda shorts, school clothes, and formal as they attend Alpha Chi Omega's scholarship dinner tonight. The girls wearing apparel will be determined by last semester's grade averages. Even the choice of stew or steak will be determined by the grade average increase or decrease. Recognition will also be given to the girl who made the biggest grade average improvement last semester.

A delegation of fifteen Kappa Sigma fraternity men represented the K-State chapter at a Founder's Day banquet in Kansas City, Mo., last Friday night.

President and Mrs. James A. McCain and their daughter will be among special guests at Northwest hall's formal Christmas dinner Thursday evening. Also on the guest list are David Adams and Harry W. McLaughlin, graduate assistants in math; Mrs. Keith Peters, assistant dorm director; Mr. Peters, Eng Jr; and Bob Sutler, EE Sr, fiance of Miss Kay Wilson, dorm director. "Hors d'oeuvres" will be served in the living room before dinner.

Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Sigma Phi will have an exchange Thursday night.

Members of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity had an exchange dessert Tuesday evening with Kappa Delta sorority. The evening was spent dancing and playing cards at the fraternity house.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity will have an exchange with Alpha Chi Omega sorority Thursday evening.

Coeds decorated the Christmas tree in the living room of Northwest hall last Thursday evening at the dorm's annual tree-trimming party. An ornament for decoration was furnished by girls in each room of the hall. At the close of the party, residents gathered around the piano to sing Christmas carols.

Tree trimming and a gift exchange will highlight the Women's Graduate house traditional Christmas party next Monday night. Egg nog and homemade fruit cake are planned for refreshments. Members of the house will provide the entertainment.

Phi Kappa Theta fraternity will have its annual Christmas party this Saturday night.

The members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and their dates will carol the sorority alumnae Sunday evening. Refreshments will be served at the sorority house afterwards.

Santa Claus will visit the Alpha Gamma Rho house during their annual Christmas party Saturday night at the chapter house.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity had a coffee hour for members and their dates after the K-State-St. Louis basketball game Saturday night.

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi sororities went to Fort Riley as a group Monday night to carol.

New pledges of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity are Don Watt, EE Fr; Robert Oldefest, NE Fr; Robert Hering, EE Soph; and Jerry Dalrymple, TJ Fr.

Proper Telephone Manners Appreciated

By Switchboard Operators Taking Calls

By MAUREEN GOBEL

"Good afternoon, Walther Hall!"

With this cheerful greeting, the switchboard operator at Walther Hall is ready to ring a desired number. She and the other girls at the hall take turns in operating the switchboard.

This procedure is followed in the other dorms on campus, and in the sororities and fraternities. In many of the organized houses, specific members take turns answering the phone each night. Therefore, some of the students answering the phone are not as experienced in phone procedures and may require more patience.

This could be considered as lesson number one in the art of telephone manners. Are you guilty of exhibiting a bad temper when the operator or the one answering the phone accidentally cuts you off or gives you the wrong number? Remember, she's human, too, and chances are, if you were in her place, you'd make the same mistakes.

Since the business of telephone conversations is such a popular one, every person could use good manners over the phone. The guy or gal calling will appreciate being able to talk without a lot of background interference — this means turning down the radio, and asking consideration of your roommates or the ones nearby for the duration of the call.

Another consideration is length of call. If you are asked by the operator at a hall to limit your call, such a request is for a good reason. With only one or two outside lines, two people are not being fair by tying up the phone for any length of time.

If a call must be made at mealtime, apologize for the necessity of doing so. It's polite to ask first if a person is busy before having him or her called to the phone for a casual chat. This saves time for both, and occasionally avoids hard feelings. Organized houses, however, will generally not excuse members from dinner except for long distance phone calls.

When a promise is made to call at 5 p.m., a good idea is to call at that time. The other person is taking you at your word and you are inconveniencing him if you don't.

Having your facts ready before using the phone will save time on everyone's part. Know the name and room or apartment if possible before you call — this, too, makes your call faster.

To avoid any embarrassing moments, place your hand carefully over the receiver when calling a person to the phone. A casual remark such as "It's him again!"

can cause quite a stir. Or for in calls, the receiver can be placed on the hook without cutting off the call.

Perhaps the best way to cultivate good telephone manners is to put yourself in the place of the other person — and be considerate!

Queen Hopefuls Selected for Duad

By JEAN HODLER

Six queen candidates have been chosen by Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon members for the annual Duad formal and Orgy activities scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Candidates elected by Pi Kappa Alpha members are Linda Ate, Sp Soph; Pat Roberts, HEN Soph; Judy Young, Psy Jr; Jean DeForest, HE Fr; Linda (Erickson) Adams, EEd Fr; and Sara Lewis, Sp Soph, will be representing Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Several alumni of both fraternities and selected Manhattan merchants will interview candidates and chose the queen at a banquet Thursday night at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house. The women's escorts and representatives of both fraternities will also attend the dinner.

The queen will be announced at the Duad formal Friday night and crowned by John Stone, BA Sr. She will receive a trophy and a bouquet of roses during the ceremony. The National Guard armory will be the scene of the formal with a Junction City dance band providing music.

The Orgy productions, the first presented, will begin Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the National Guard armory. Original skits, ten minutes in length, with a Greek or Roman theme and costumes, will be presented.

Sororities competing for first, second and third place plaques are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi. A traveling trophy will be awarded the winning sorority.

The Roman Orgy costume party Saturday night at the armory will conclude this year's Pi Kappa Alpha—Sigma Phi Epsilon Duad activities.

Independents Choose 'Tree' Party Theme

"Christmas Tree Lane" will be the theme for the semi-formal dance sponsored by the Independent Students' association Friday night in Nichols gym. Matt Bettin's combo will provide music for the dance. Refreshments will be served.

Tickets may be purchased at the Union lobby this week for $1.50 a couple, or at the door that night.

President James A. McCain will crown the queen during intermission. One of the following five will be elected by votes cast at the door: Joan Anderson, BAA Jr, representing Van Zile hall; Doris Miller, TJ Jr, Van Zile; Vivian Brown, HE Jr, Waltheim hall; Susan O'Bryan, Mus Fr, Clark's Gables; Celia Pincus, Eng Fr, Northwest hall; and Kenna Barnes, Mth Fr, Southeast hall.

Chaperones for the evening will be President and Mrs. James McCain; John P. Murry, assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences; Mrs. Murry; Robert J. Quinn, assistant band director; Mrs. Quinn; Wendell R. Kerr, assistant to the housing director; Mrs. Kerr; Loren Kottner, Union director; and Mrs. Kottner.

SE Dorm Crowns Judy Leach Queen

"It's a Heavenly Christmas" was the theme of Southeast hall's Christmas formal Friday evening. Pine boughs decorated the stairs descending to the dining hall where the dance was given. The dining hall was adorned by a white Christmas tree with blue lights, blue and white choir angels, and blue and silver stars.

The crowning of the queen of the formal, Judy Leach, EEd Soph, and the singing of the dorm choir under the direction of Scharl Schrock, MGS Soph, were the intermission highlights.

Chaperones were Miss Gladys Grace, dorm director, Mr. and Mrs. Max Bishop, Miss Kathryn Ekstrom, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Denning. Mrs. Bishop and Miss Ekstrom are assistant dorm directors at Southeast hall and Mr. Denning is a speech instructor.

Tommy Lee's orchestra provided the dance music.

Members of Clovia sorority will have their annual Christmas party and dessert Sunday afternoon at the chapter house. The group will exchange gifts. Several guests will attend.

K-Staters Good Risks; Loan Defaults Slight

"Kansas State students are better financial risks than the people banks deal with," declares Kenney Ford, Alumni office secretary. "Losses by the Loan Fund have been very small—around one per cent."

Last year, students were granted more than $100,000 on short and long term, and emergency loans. $1,000 is the maximum amount that can be loaned to any student at one time. Most of the loans plus the 3 per cent interest are repaid within a year following the student's graduation.

Applications are to be made through the Loan Fund Committee of the Alumni Association. "Very few students are refused loans," said Ford. "Loans are based on financial need, and on whether the student has the determination and ability to indicate graduation."

More Than 3,000 K-Staters To Interview This Semester

More than 3,000 students will be interviewed by company representatives during this semester's recruiting season, said Dr. Chester Peters, director of the Placement Center.

Approximately 2,750 student interviews have already been made by 150 firms visiting the campus, and 30 more visits will be made before the end of the semester, Peters said.

The present recruiting season has brought an increase in the number of firms staying two days on campus—this semester 40 firms arranged to remain more than one day.

"Some organizations which normally interview have dropped out of the market this year, but others have taken their places, and it is expected that the total number will be higher this year than last," the director estimated.

Peters also noted that additional firms are moving into a centralized recruiting program and more organizations are following up their screening interviews with a second campus visit during the same semester.

Preliminary offers received by students indicated that starting salaries will increase from two to four per cent over a year ago.

Organizations affected by uncertain labor situations did not interrupt their recruiting program this fall. "There is a continuing demand for more and more educated people and higher and higher talents. This demand will continue regardless of minor shifts in the skilled and unskilled laboring force. Scholarship still plays a very important role in the selection of students as they move into the employment market," Peters declared.

"Almost all students have been very cooperative and have handled themselves well in their contracts with business and industrial recruiters. The attitudes of student toward employers and the interviewing situation have a great effect on the respect which is paid Kansas State university by those organizations seeking our educated talent," the director said.

Required basic science courses include botany, zoology, psychology, political science, economics, bacteriology, genetics, entomology, geology, chemistry and physics. The K-State curriculum in agriculture will be based on one or more of those fields of science.

After students finish the basic sciences they must take at least one course in each of the broad areas of agriculture: soils, plant science, animal science, agricultural engineering and agricultural economics.

Enrollment Period To Be Shortened

February 4 and 5 have been scheduled for second semester registration, said Orval Ebberts, assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

The enrollment period has been shortened from the usual three days to two. This means that students presently enrolled must have their advisement completed in advance, since there will be little time for advising them on the registration floor.

"We are announcing early advising to make sure that students are aware of their responsibilities in this important part of academic program planning," he explained. If a student is not preadvised, he may have to wait until February 6 to enroll. This will mean contacting the departmental office, since registration facilities will not be extended in Ahearn field house for more than the two-day period.

The advising procedure for students include these steps:

- 1) Make appointment with adviser at earliest possible date.
- 2) Secure dean's card from dean's office and report for appointment.
- 3) Prepare list of approved courses to present at registration time. This list should be signed by the student's adviser (or advisers if in secondary education.)

4) Present signed advisement slip at registration as ticket to enroll.

The School of Home Economics has set Thursday, January 7 at 4 p.m. as the time for group meetings for second semester preadvisement, said Dean Dorinda Hoffman.

Each adviser will meet her advisees at a specified place. Students will be informed by Dean Hoffman as to the time and place of meetings, and notices will be mailed on January 4. Each student should bring her dean's card and a line schedule to the meeting.

"We feel that much can be accomplished in a group meeting, thus reducing the amount of time required of each adviser at this period," Dean Hoffman said.

K-State's Library Will Remain Open January Sundays

Farrell library will be open Sunday nights, January 10, 17 and 24, said Melvin J. Voigt, director of the Library, following a meeting with the Student Library committee, headed by Kay Moyer, FN Jr., and Marilyn Hansen, HEX Jr.

The 2:30 to 10 p.m. hours are for a trial period only and even if the program is successful it does not mean it will be permanently adopted, Voigt pointed out.

Funds are needed to operate the Library these extra hours. Only if these funds are obtained will the Library be open on Sunday nights throughout the second semester, he said.

"The entire Library will be open," said Voigt, "because many students come to use the books in the Library as well as to study. Also additional arrangements would have to be made to have sections of the building closed."

Peters Quintet To Play At Beat Hour in Union

The Keith Peters Quintet will be featured at the last Beat Hour of the semester tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 in the dive. Members of the quintet, which won the Big Eight Jazz Festival last year, are Keith Peters, Gen Jr., tenor saxophone; Art Hobson, Phy Sr., trombone; Corny Pasquill, Psy Sr., piano; Glenn Axelson, MEI Sr., bass fiddle; and Owen Sherman, Sp Soph., drums. The program is sponsored by the Union Jazz committee.

Senate Okays Changes in Curriculum To Raise Ag School Academic Quality

Faculty Senate yesterday okayed a plan whereby students entering K-State in the School of Agriculture after next September will prepare for professions in applied science.

The curriculums in agriculture have been revised to upgrade the academic quality of education and to meet the rapid changes taking place in the agricultural industry, Dr. C. Pears Wilson, director of the school, explained.

The new curriculums will prepare students for service in agriculture in its broad sense, including the provision of goods and services used in farming and the production, processing, marketing and distribution of farm products to consumers.

Specialized curriculums are provided in feed technology, flour milling, dairy manufacturing, agricultural education and landscape design.

Required basic science courses include botany, zoology, psychology, political science, economics, bacteriology, genetics, entomology, geology, chemistry and physics. The K-State curriculum in agriculture will be based on one or more of those fields of science.

After students finish the basic sciences they must take at least one course in each of the broad areas of agriculture: soils, plant science, animal science, agricultural engineering and agricultural economics.

To produce what the University hopes are "educated graduates," students must also acquire competence in such fields as the humanities, English or mathematics.

Doctor Wilson said that rapid technological change in methods of processing and marketing agricultural products and rapid changes in farming itself requires an educational program which emphasizes an understanding of the principles of science and their application to agriculture which graduates can use in later life.

Transition to KSU Is Discussion Topic

Personnel services for new students were emphasized at the eighth annual Principal-Freshman conference this morning in the Union.

Objective of the meeting is coordination of the two levels of high school and college education, to form a continuous educational experience for the student, said E. M. Gerritz, chairman of the sponsoring Committee on Relations with High Schools and Junior Colleges.

The group was welcomed to the campus by Pres. James A. McCain at a 9 a.m. address, following registration and a get-acquainted coffee in the main lounge.

Rounding out the morning were meetings between principals and former students, now freshmen at K-State. More than 1,000 students participated in the confidential interviews, the largest number in the conference's history, said Gerritz.

The meetings concerned transitional problems from high school to K-State. The students discussed what the University has done to make the adjustment easier and what the high school had prepared them for.

This afternoon, an exchange of information will take place in the little theater between the principals and representatives from every department in the University. The problems introduced by students this morning will be considered. "We believe students are more likely to unburden these problems with their principals than they would with us," Gerritz explained.

The committee will review any unfavorable comments made by the students, and try to correct them in future enrollment plans. "We've had complete endorsement of our pre-enrollee plan for new students from both principals and students," he said, "so I think we're on the right track."

DISCUSSING THE PROGRAM of today's Principal-Freshman conference at K-State's Union are principals L. C. Crouch of Conway Springs and Lester Paul of Hill City.

UGB Deserves Praise For Bookstore Report

WE'D LIKE to commend the Union Governing board and its committee that drew up the bookstore feasibility report for consideration of Student Council.

We agree with Student Body President Steve Douglas' comment that this report was the most complete to come out of any SGA body in some time.

THE RESULTS of this report show the effects of such a complete and well-written endeavor. Student Council, which has campaigned for the proposed bookstore in the past, voted unanimously to accept the results of the report after hearing it read. The Collegian has carried several editorials or editorial comments backing the proposed bookstore. We now would have to go along with Council and the UGB.

The report and Council's decision don't actually rule out a bookstore, but merely against its practicality at the present time. This allows a latitude for future developments, should they occur. So we don't anticipate that student opinion will be against the decision.

Storm Over Atlantic Sinks Two More Vessels, Coastal Areas Report Abatement in Fierceness

London—One of the worst Atlantic storms in memory sank two more vessels today and left scores of fishing boats in distress from Gibraltar to the Arctic.

The storm was in its fifth tempestuous day. It left European seas almost deserted of smaller vessels while officials counted up to 130 lives lost on land and sea.

But for the first time since Sunday, reports from coastal areas indicated an abatement in the fierceness of the storm. It was only on the seas that gale winds and squalls continued without let-up.

The storm-battered British ship "Janet Helen" early today sprang a leak in its engine room and was abandoned to sink off the Holland coast. All crew members were rescued from lifeboats by the ship "Warduke" standing by.

Two ships, the German "Brunswick" and the Dutch, 421-ton coast vessel "Flamingo" collided on the river Elbe in Holland and the "Flamingo" went down. Its five crewmen were picked up from a lifeboat by the coastal vessel "Ali."

At least five Danish fishing cutters were in trouble in the North sea off Esbjerg, Denmark and it was feared 20 men aboard them might lose their lives. The Danish Air Force sent a flying boat to the distress area and asked for two more search planes from the Kinloss, Scotland, Air Base.

Army To Move Troops

Washington—The United States announced today that 1,200 American army troops stationed in Iceland will be withdrawn during the first six months of next year.

Approximately 4,000 Air Force and Navy personnel will remain in Iceland.

The Army said its forces—a battalion combat team—are being withdrawn in a "normal redeployment."

Airborne troops will be ready in the United States to reach Iceland in a matter of hours if necessary, the Army said, but no Army troops will remain in Iceland.

The Army's assignment of "guarding military installations" will be taken over by the Air Force and Navy.

The Army denied that the move constitutes a withdrawal of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces. It pointed out that U.S. troops were stationed in Iceland under a separate 1951 agreement with the Icelandic government.

FCC Hears Witnesses

Washington—Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, was among witnesses slated to tell the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today what's wrong with the broadcasting industry.

The FCC is trying to determine at hearings whether it has power to crack down on such practices as rigged TV shows and payola or must turn to Congress for new laws.

The FCC investigation, billed as a comprehensive review of national broadcast policy, resumes after a one-day recess yesterday. Some 20 witnesses already have voiced opinions, both in criticism and praise of the industry.

Besides Cousins, today's witness list includes: Prof. Gilbert V. Seldes of the University of Pennsylvania and Profs. William Y. Elliott and Paul Lazarsfeld, both of Harvard.

A spokesman for the American Civil Liberties Union also was expected to testify.

Eisenhower Renews Call

New Delhi—President Eisenhower renewed his call today for controlled world disarmament but warned Communist China the United States stood ready to protect its friends against an "alien philosophy backed by great military might."

Eisenhower addressed a joint session of Parliament minutes after a meeting with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru at which he was reported to have offered U.S. military aid should a shooting war develop from Red China's attacks on India's northern borders.

Eisenhower appeared fatigued after his busy day that began when he laid a wreath on the tomb of Mohandas K. Gandhi, hero of Indian independence, but he brightened when great crowds lining the streets of New Delhi cheered and screamed their aproval of his peace mission in a repetition of yesterday's tumultuous welcome.

His health appeared good in contrast to that of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, who was suffering from a cold and persistent cough but continued her unofficial duties.

The galleries of Parliament were packed hours before Eisenhower arrived to warn the world that if there is not peace "there may be no generations to follow us." Only a world campaign of peace can win peace, he said, and he called on India to help lead it.

The galleries of Parliament were so jammed it was obvious visitors had been issued more passes than its normal seating capacity of several hundred.

The Indian government put stringent security measures in force, even greater than those invoked when Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev and then Premier Nikolai Bulganin visited Parliament in 1955.

Unsaturated Fats, Oils Not Preventative Of Heart Attacks, Strokes FDA Says

By UPI

Washington — The Food and Drug administration (FDA) advised the public today not to believe any claims that use of salad oils, shortenings or oleomargarine would prevent heart attacks or strokes.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick warned that the government considers any such health claims by sellers of such "unsaturated fats and oils" as violations of the federal misbranding laws. It said food experts felt the only result of eating more of the products would be increased weight.

The agency said "addition of unsaturated fats and oils to the otherwise unchanged ordinary diet will not reduce blood cholesterol and prevent heart attacks and strokes."

Representations to the public that salad oils, shortening, oleomargarine and similar products have value for these purposes are false and misleading," the FDA announcement said.

It dealt with the subject in a statement of law-enforcement policy, which said, in part:

"The role of cholesterol in heart and artery diseases has not been established. A casual relationship between blood cholesterol levels and these diseases has not been proved. The advisability of making extensive changes in the nature of the dietary fat intake of the people of this country has not been demonstrated."

K-State Professors Attend Meetings

E. E. Leasure, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, addressed the Nebraska Veterinary Medical association during its annual convention at Lincoln December 1-3. He is in Chicago today for a meeting of the Board of Governors of the American Veterinary Medical association.

Laurel Anderson, associate professor of agronomy, is in Winnipeg, Canada, where he is to present a paper on weed control in corn at the North Central Weed Control conference. Anderson is a member of the board of directors and the research committee.

Orville W. Bidwell, associate professor of agronomy, and Robert A. Bohannon, associate professor of agriculture specialization, appeared on a program of the Great Plains Soil Survey conference December 1 and 2 at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Among the group of K-State staff members attending the American Society of Animal Production meeting in Chicago November 27-29 were F. W. Boren, assistant professor of animal husbandry; Ed F. Smith, associate professor of animal husbandry; B. A. Koch, assistant professor of animal husbandry; J. D. Wheat, associate professor of animal husbandry; and G. B. Marion, all of whom presented papers.

William F. Koch, assistant professor in English, spoke on and presented "Occupational Folk Songs of Early Kansas" at the Southeast Kansas Folklore meeting sponsored by the Kansas Folklore society and the language and literature departments at Kansas State College of Pittsburg, November 21.

A series of book reviews by Paul Schmidt, associate professor of English, has appeared recently in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

C. C. Burkhardt, assistant professor of entomology, was at Oklahoma State university November 23-24, attending a conference of scientists studying small grain insects. Prof. Burkhardt was also elected secretary of the North Central Regional Technical committee on the European corn borer at its November 17-18 meeting in Chicago. At the meeting he presented Kansas data for the past five years.

Student's Stories Depict Characters of Old West

By MAUREEN GOBEL

How did Jesse James really die? Rich Mach, TJ Fr, says the famous outlaw wasn't killed by Bob Ford in 1882, as the history books relate. Mach maintains that he died in 1951, at the age of 107, in Hood County, Texas.

For the past eight years, the Narka freshman has been doing research on the James legend, and for four years has been corresponding intensively with Jesse James III of Manitou Springs, Colo., grandson of the original outlaw, and a dozen other members of the James family. He is also a member of the Texas State Historical Association, and has visited in Hood County.

Three years ago Mach was encouraged by the grandson, an author himself, to write on his research findings. "He said with the knowledge I had accumulated through my research, I just as well put it down on paper."

Mach writes non-fiction stories on the Old West, Jesse and Frank James, and the infamous Daltons, Youngers and Billy the Kid. Six of his stories, about 3,000 to 5,000 words in length, have been published by Real West, and eight articles have been printed in the Denver Post and Manitou Springs Gazette.

"The pay isn't too good," Mach protested. "I only received one cent a word and two and a half cents a word from two different magazines," he said and the newspaper articles were "just donated." About a week is consumed in composition of a story. His method is to outline his material, then write and rewrite until he's satisfied.

The freshman became interested in the outlaw when his brother, who had visited James' headquarters of the 1870's at Meramec Cabin, brought back a book entitled "The Truth About Jesse James."

The James family and a few close friends have dedicated much time to proving the fact of James' death in 1951, according to Mach. "I'm just lucky to be one of those close friends," he replied.

After much piecing together of facts, the young author has his story down pat: "Jesse James, assuming the alias of J. Frank Dalton, revealed his true identity in 1947 at Lawton, Okla., because he wanted to die under his rightful name. A man named Charlie Bigelow was actually shot in 1882 by Jesse James himself, in a plot to hide James forever and keep the treasure he had accumulated through his raids. At the time, there was some question as to whether the dead man was really James, and so the reward of $10,000 was never collected. It still stands."

Mach has collected a pile of some 500 letters so far in his search for information on

Jesse. He plans to resume his writing this summer, but "can't afford to now with studies."

His desire to write led Mach to enroll in journalism at Kansas State. He hopes to become a free-lance writer, "definitely continuing to write about the Old West." His folks approve of his future plans, but his mother has some misgivings. "She's always afraid I'm going to get sued for something I write," he quipped.

"It's amazing how many people really don't believe that James, alias Dalton, was killed in 1882. I've interviewed several men who knew James in the old days, and they said that this Dalton was the real Jesse James," Mach said. "When the topic of Jesse James comes up, though I don't say anything—most people look at it differently!"

Every Suit Requires Minimum of Two Ties

By B. A. RYAN

Ties are probably the most inexpensive accessories to a suit which can change its appearance and style.

A minimum of two ties for each suit and sports coat is a must, and with Christmas shoppers searching for gift ideas, a good looking, a stylish tie would be a good choice.

For the gals who wonder about which style tie to buy their admirers, fore-in-hands are a good bet. The most widely-bought trend are the 2 to 2 1/4 inch wide. Continental type. Bow ties are also popular with some men now.

Model and deep tones are the popular color compositions now being put on ties. Dark olive goes with several styles and shades of suits without being too contrasting in tone.

Other popular colors and shades are dark brown and dark grey, following the general clothing trend. The wise man buys blue-greys, golds, and combination colors with a particular suit or occasion in mind. Colors may change dress from semi-formal to casual or sport.

Content of ties are dacron, wool callis, and silk. Silk ties are usually patterned after shirt styles, with foulard patterns or small, diagonal stripes. Plain color ties are not currently as popular as prints, but remain a favorite selection of some men.

There is a good selection of all popular styles, colors, and patterns in Aggierville and Manhattan stores, giving women shoppers a wide variety to choose from. In selecting the right one, the buyer can take notice of how the wearer dresses — moderately, conservatively, or otherwise, and choose with this in mind.

ALREADY TO GO in suits and ties are Don Mach, AH Sr, and Rolf Osland, Ar 4. Various shapes of ties are popular this season, and Don prefers the bow tie to Rolf's long thin type.

Perfect Gifts Are Discovered By Observation, Investigation

By MARIA DIANA PHILLIPS

There's a perfect gift for everyone on your Christmas list. If you know a person well, you're one step ahead of the game. A gift for a casual acquaintance is harder, but you can still find out what he or she would like. Here are some ideas that have solved gift list problems on campus.

What can I give that "special one?" Perfume is the most flattering gift a girl can receive. To find out what fragrance she likes, ask her roommate or best friend. If you want your gift to be more lasting, give her a piece of jewelry for a dress that you like, to have her wear. A feminine wallet, cigarette lighter, and key case set will go with her throughout the year.

Does she like books or poetry? How about a book of Chinese love poems or "A Child's Christmas in Wales" by Dylan Thomas? A special record for her collection will be a big hit with most any girl.

Does your beau have a hobby? Give him something he needs or wants for this special interest. A cufflink and tieclasp set with a design showing his favorite sport or a monogrammed belt are good gifts for most any man. Records or books on pet subjects are favorites with the men too. Cater to his taste. For the very personal gift, why not knit him a sweater or a pair of socks?

A stuffed wildcat would be great for your roommate or pledge sister. A piece of jewelry or a big bottle of after-bath lotion gives that personal touch for a special friend. A small traveling sewing kit is a must for any college girl and a gift that will be useful for years to come.

Is she the frivolous type? Give her a fancy perfume atomizer or an embroidered satin traveling case for her jewelry.

For the fraternity brother or pledge, a cigarette lighter or shaving accessories are always in order. If he prefers a pipe, choose among the large selection available in any department store.

A monogrammed belt or wallet suggests a personal touch for a special friend. A subscription to his favorite magazine is also an excellent gift.

For the record collector, male or female, a new record by the favorite vocalist or orchestra is really the perfect gift.

Your housemother might enjoy a subscription to a magazine. A silver candy dish or a "Revere" pewter pitcher would be a lovely complement for her sitting room. If she has any hobbies or special fields of interest, you might find an idea there.

Your resident assistant's roommate can tell you if there's a particular record or a magazine subscription her "roomy" would like. "Mademoiselle" or "Vogue" are good for the girl who designs her own clothes. A roommate can also give hints as to the RA's taste in lingerie, sweaters, or blouses.

Is she far away from someone special that she won't see for Christmas? Why not give her the money for a long distance phone call?

Many of the fraternities and sororities are having gift exchanges and then giving the toys to the children's home. When choosing a toy, remember that simplicity is important. Try to pick toys that will not come apart after two days.

Greeks Get Into Christmas Spirit with Parties

Just one weekend until Christmas vacation: Organized houses on campus are putting up Christmas decorations, buying gifts, and most important of all, planning parties.

Acacia has planned a buffet dinner followed by dancing and a gift exchange for Friday night. An exchange of toys among the members will be donated to an orphanage. Gifts will also be presented to the members' dates.

The pledges of Alpha Chi Omega sorority have planned "Silver Bells" as their theme for the Saturday evening Christmas dance. Other entertainment will include skits, singing, and gift giving to the dates.

Alpha Delta Pis have scheduled their formal dance for Friday night with members presenting a skit for entertainment. The annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange will be next Tuesday night.

Alpha Gamma Rho members are inviting their dates to an informal dance Saturday evening at the chapter house. Gifts for the dates will be handed out by Santa Claus.

The Skyline club will be the scene of Alpha Kappa Lambda's formal dinner-dance Saturday evening. Members and their dates will return to the chapter house for more dancing and for passing out of gifts by Santa. The Tommy Lee orchestra has been engaged for the annual dance.

Alpha Tau Omega plans a party of dancing, singing and skits Sunday evening. The men and their dates will decorate the house during the party. Gifts will be given out to the women by their escorts.

Santa Claus will pass out the gifts to dates Saturday evening during the Alpha Xi Delta dance. A skit and card playing will add to the evening's festivities.

Beta Sigma Psi will start its Christmas party at 9 p.m. Saturday evening with dancing, card playing, and caroling.

An informal stag party next Wednesday evening will be the Beta Theta Pis way of celebrating the Christmas holiday. Members will exchange gifts.

Members of Chi Omega sorority entertained their dates last Sunday night with dancing and card playing at the chapter house. The couples trimmed the tree and afterwards the coeds gave their dates Christmas stockings stuffed with amusing gifts. The pledges provided the entertainment.

Clovia will have its annual ball Saturday night in the Union ballroom. The formal dinner-dance is for members, dates and friends. An eight foot Christmas tree of napkins will decorate the dance floor, carrying out the theme "Treasure Trees." Dates will be given gifts by the members.

Delta Delta Delta members decorated the house last night for a formal dance Friday night. Members will exchange gifts at a dinner next Wednesday night. Following dinner, the coeds plan to sing carols to Manhattan alumnae.

Members of Delta Sigma Phi plan to go caroling next Wednesday evening. The evening will begin with a dinner and gift exchange of toys to be given to the children's home.

Gifts for the housemother and cooks were presented by Delta Tau Delta members at a dinner last Wednesday night.

Delta Upsilon members plan to celebrate Christmas Saturday night with Christmas caroling, dancing, and bridge playing for entertainment.

Gamma Phi Beta will sponsor a party for children of the alumnae next Wednesday evening followed by the annual party and gift exchange for members. Next Thursday evening the women will have a Christmas dinner with their dates as guests.

Junior actives have planned a skit for the Farm House Christmas dance Saturday night. Funny gifts are to be given to the dates.

Santa Clause will be kept busy at the Kappa Delta house Saturday night reading individual poems and handing out gifts to all the members' dates. Dancing and card playing will also be included in the entertainment for the house party. Pledges decorated the house last Saturday for the party. Alumnae and patronesses will be honored at a dessert and gift exchange in their honor next Wednesday night following dinner.

The pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma are giving a party for the actives Friday night, but it's all a big secret!

Eggnog, gifts, carols and dancing will put members and their dates in the Christmas mood for the Kappa Sigma party Saturday night. Members are planning to decorate the house in the traditional Christmas theme.

Celebrating the holiday season also Saturday night will be the Lambda Chis with a dance and gift exchange.

A gift exchange with dates Sunday evening will highlight the Christmas season for Phi Delta Theta members. A party for the underprivileged children has also been planned. This party is to be combined with a sorority exchange, but plans are not complete.

The pledge class of Phi Kappa Tau is in charge of the Christmas dance to be given Saturday evening. A funny gift and poem for each date will provide entertainment for the evening.

"The Twelve Days of Christmas" will be the theme of the Phi Kappa Theta dance Saturday evening. The pledges are preparing a skit. Gifts exchanged are to be given to the children's home.

"Pine Cone Paradise" will be the theme of the Christmas party at Pi Beta Phi. The tree is to be decorated with pink pine cones and the invitations made along this theme.

Christmas dinner with all the trimmings is planned for Pi Kappa Alpha members next Wednesday evening.

Thirty underprivileged children will be guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Kappa Gamma for Christmas dinner and a visit with Santa Clause Thursday evening. Gifts are planned for all the children.

Sigma Chi fraternity will play

Santa Clause to underprivileged children also Wednesday evening by entertaining a group of children at dinner. Santa will be on hand to give gifts to all the children.

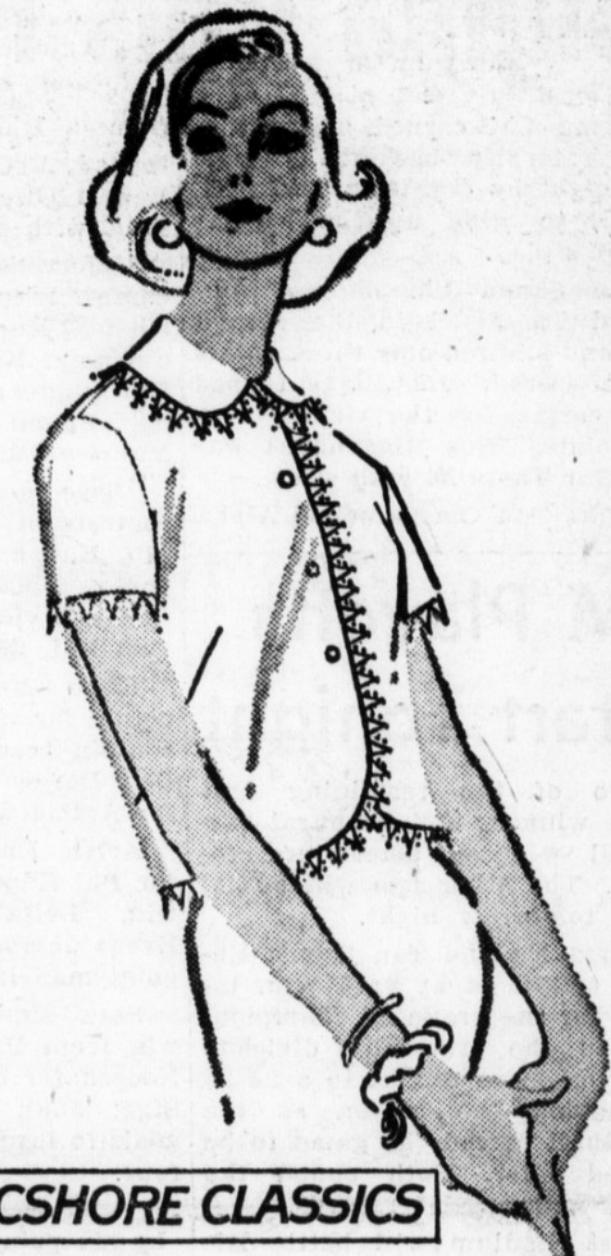

Sigma Phi Epsilon members will exchange gifts at a Christmas dinner next Thursday evening. The gifts will go to the children's home.

"Red Lion Inn" will be the theme of the Tau Kappa Epsilon's party Saturday night. House decorations representing Christmas in old England will set the stage for the annual dance and gift exchange.

Theta Xi fraternity will have a semi-formal dance Saturday evening at the chapter house. Amusing gifts will be given to the

IM Playoffs Start Tonight

Two of the remaining four group winners in intramural basketball will be determined tonight. The other two will be decided tomorrow night.

Sigma Nu and Tau Kappa Epsilon will meet at 6:45 p.m. tonight for the group IV championship in the fraternity division. The two teams fought to a 25-25 tie during the season as the time limit forced the game to be decided later. Both ended the season with a 3-1-1 records.

West Stadium will battle Hi-Fi for a group I championship in the independent division at 6:45 p.m. Both ended the season with 3-1 records.

In the other playoff games tonight, the Road Runners will meet Jr. A.V.M.A. at 6:45 p.m. and A.I.A. will play the Hi Flyers at 7:35 p.m.

The winner of the Road Runners-Jr. A.V.M.A. game will play the Belmont Blazers Friday night for the group III championship, while the winner of the A.I.A.-Hi Flyers game will face Eastside for the group I title.

Gamma Rho, 19-18. Dan Vogel topped ATO scoring with eight; Bernie Owen was high man for AGR with seven.

Kappa Sigma won another close contest with a 28-23 victory over Alpha Kappa Lambda. Jerry Coffman, Ken Smart and Chuck Downing each scored six for Kappa Sigma. High AKL was Maurice Schrag with eight.

Two more evenly matched contests in fraternity play were Pi Kappa Alpha's 28-22 win over Acacia and Phi Kappa Theta's victory over Delta Sigma Phi, 26-22.

Kent McConnell tallied 11 points for the PiKA's, helping to contain Acacia's second half rally. Don Dawes was high point man for Acacia with nine.

Arlyn Engelken scored seven for Phi Kappa Theta in its 26-22 win. Delta Sigma Phi's Dick Evens dumped in 11 to rate high point man in the contest.

Beta Sigma Psi took a 34-6 win from Phi Kappa Tau. Gary Neuschafer had nine for the Beta Sigs; John Park hit two field goals to lead Phi Kappa Tau with four.

A.S.C.E. clipped the Jokers by six points, winning a 28-22 contest in independent play. Heaston Ferris scored eight for A.S.C.E., Jim Dailey was high with six for the Jokers.

Hi-Fi remained in a tie in its group, beating Power House, 37-13. Wayne Brent of Power House

College Spotlight on Raleigh For Weekend Doubleheader

The college basketball spotlight will be focused on a pair of doubleheaders this weekend at Raleigh, N.C., where Kansas State and Kansas University will attempt to gain some national prestige for the Big Eight conference.

The Wildcats will meet North Carolina State Friday night and North Carolina Saturday night, while Kansas University will tackle North Carolina Friday and State Saturday. KU will play in the opener both nights.

North Carolina is presently ranked in the number five spot in the nation by the UPI. The Tar Heels are favored to win the Atlantic Coast conference.

Last year, North Carolina State shared the conference title as both ended league play with a 12-2 record.

The Tar Heels returned a number of experienced ball players from last year's squad but have been slowed by injuries and eligibility problems. Doug Moe, top scorer and a fine rebounder, turned up ineligible for the first semester but will be in the lineup second semester.

North Carolina's tallest regular, Dick Kepley, 6-8, suffered a severe ankle sprain during pre-season work outs but is listed as a probable starter for the doubleheader. He was not expected to be ready until after the Christmas holidays.

The Tar Heels have an average height of just under 6-5 for the starting lineup. Lee Shaffer, 6-7 forward, combines with Kepley to give North Carolina rebounding strength.

At North Carolina State, meanwhile, the outlook is not quite as bright, although coach Ev Case seems to always come up with something.

Four regulars are gone from last year's nationally-ranked team with only Dan Englehardt returning from the starting lineup.

Coach Case will have to use his wealth of talented sophomores who posted a 13-4 record last year. John Key, 6-8 sophomore center, leads the group of newcomers. Key and George Finnegan, 6-0 guard, will be two sophomores in the starting lineup for North Carolina State.

The starting team for State will average 6-4.

North Carolina State has dropped two of its first three games. South Carolina edged the Wolfpack Tuesday night, 71-70, on a last-second shot.

Wildcats Fly To Carolina

K-State's basketball team left this morning at 6 a.m. enroute to Raleigh, N.C. for a weekend doubleheader against North Carolina State and North Carolina. The team flew to Kansas City where it then took a commercial flight to Raleigh.

A 12-man team made the trip. Included on the traveling roster are Bill Guthridge, Glen Long, Larry Comley, Mickey Heinz, Wally Frank, Cedric Price, Mike Wroblewski, Richard Ewy, Phil Heitmeyer, Pat McKenzie, Sonny Ballard and Steve Douglas.

K-State will remain in Raleigh until Sunday morning. The Wildcats will then travel to Bloomington, Ind. for their game with Indiana University Monday evening. The Wildcats will return Tuesday.

K-State, KU Gymnasts Meet in Dual Tomorrow

K-State's varsity gymnastic team will compete in its first meet of the 1959-60 season here Friday when the Wildcats host Kansas university in a dual meet beginning at 3 p.m. Fort Hays State was originally scheduled to compete Friday, but eligibility trouble and injury forced it to cancel.

The meet will be staged in Ahearn gymnasium. No admission will be charged.

K-State won two of three meets from KU last year. The Wildcats swamped KU in the first meeting, 77-27. The Jayhawks came back to edge K-State, 52-50, later in the season when two K-Staters were sidelined because of injuries.

Captain Ivan Loomis will lead the Wildcats in Friday's meet in four events—trampoline, hi-bar, flying rings and tumbling. Loomis, the only senior on the team, was K-State's high point man last year.

Mike Dziura, alternate captain.

Dietzel Calls Cannon Tops

"Cannon is the finest athlete I've ever known or seen," Paul Dietzel, L.S.U. football coach said last night at a dinner in New York honoring Billy Cannon, winner of the Heisman Trophy.

Cannon, who was voted "Player of the Year" by UPI and was again a unanimous selection for all-American, was awarded the Heisman Trophy by Vice President Richard Nixon.

"Billy Cannon is not just an ordinary cannon—but an atomic cannon in the awesome arsenal of coach Paul Dietzel," Nixon said. Cannon may take a crack at professional football, although he couldn't openly declare his intention with a bowl game still to be played. He has been drafted by the Los Angeles Rams.

will also enter four events—free exercise, parallel bars, flying rings and tumbling.

K-State entries:

Trampoline—Loomis, Don Krasko and Burt English. Side Horse—David Cudney, David Spence and Eldon Pickinbaugh. Free Exercise—Dziura, Cudney and Bob Rector. Parallel Bars—Dziura, Rector and Spence. Hi-Bar—Rector, Loomis and Krasko. Flying Rings—Loomis, Dziura and Rector. Tumbling—Spence, Dziura and Loomis.

St. Louis Plays Big One Tonight

By UPI

After a week of preliminary sparring, seventh-ranked St. Louis entertains fourth-ranked Ohio State tonight in college basketball's first collision between top-ranked teams this season.

The game also will feature a duel between two strong all-America candidates—big Bob Nordman of St. Louis and Ohio State's Jerry Lucas.

Although only a sophomore, Lucas already has lived up to his press notices as the most publicized court star since Wilt Chamberlain left Philadelphia for Kansas. The six-foot-nine center averaged 25 points a game as the Buckeyes trampled Wake Forest, Memphis State, Pittsburg and Butler in their first four outings.

Nordmann, a ponderous, 6-10 junior center, captivated New York fans last week when he led St. Louis to an upset victory over St. John's, the 1959 National Invitation Tournament champions. The Billikens also whipped Abilene Christian and Kansas State in recording a 3-0 early season record.

IVAN LOOMIS, captain of this year's varsity gymnastics team, will be a key figure in tomorrow's opening dual meet against Kansas university. Loomis, the leading scorer last year, will enter four events.

Oklahoma Wins Again; Colorado Suffers Defeat

In Big Eight action last night, Oklahoma remained unbeaten by downing Texas Tech, 56-43. The victory marked the Sooners' third straight win of the season.

New Mexico State defeated Colorado, 77-69 to complete last night's schedule.

Iowa State entertains Utah State tonight.

Dykstra Is Home For Six Students

By LINDA HITCHCOCK

"The phone at the Dykstra Veterinary hospital rings on the average of five times a night," commented Roy Hand, VM Sr, a resident in the quarters above the veterinary hospital. "There are six of us students who live here and take care of emergency calls that come in between 10 p.m. and 8 a.m."

"When an animal is brought in, we examine it, arrive at a tentative diagnosis, and then call one of the clinicians associated with the hospital," Hand went on to say.

The six men living there all are juniors or seniors in veterinary medicine. Two more are expected at the beginning of second semester. Students living there now are Hand; George Meyer, VM Jr; Stan Johnson, VM Sr; Joe Cukjati, VM Sr; Roger Rankin, VM Jr; and Gene Dressler, VM Sr.

Any single junior or senior vet student may live at the hospital upon acceptance of his application. Two years is the maximum amount of time he can live there.

By working a certain number of hours, the students pay for their rooms. "From an experience standpoint," said Hand, "it is a good deal. We have regular duties which help pay for rooms and we get extra pay for doing odd jobs around the hospital. We can get an idea of what life will be like once we establish our own practices."

Some of these jobs include feeding the dogs, taking care of the ambulatory equipment and making sure it is ready for use, doing general cleaning, taking care of patients, locking doors, and answering the telephone. Someone stays at the hospital all the time—even during vacations.

The resident quarters consists of a dormitory containing 10 beds, which are used by the rotating senior clinic students who intern there for two-week periods as well as for the students who live there, and five dressing and study rooms. These rooms, with gray tile and green walls, contain two double closets, desks, and dressers.

SU Schedules Smorgasbord

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, December 10, 1959—8

The annual Christmas smorgasbord of the K-State Union will be in the main ballroom December 15, 16 and 17, it was announced today by Myrna M. Zeigler, Union food director.

The event, given in the traditional Scandinavian style, has become a highlight of the pre-Christmas season on campus.

Among dishes planned by Mrs. Zeigler are rollmop, a pickled herring with sweetpickle rolled in it; Swedish meat balls; potato sausage; lutfish; and all kinds of Swedish cheeses and cookies.

Advanced reservations must be made with the Union information desk.

Journalism Department

Ralph Lashbrook, head of the Department of Journalism, is to be chairman of the accrediting team which will inspect the Iowa State university journalism facilities and curriculum December 14 and 15. The accrediting team will be representing the Association for Education in Journalism.

SAB

Two campus groups have been approved by the Student Activities board as campus organizations and two other clubs have been suspended for inactivity.

The new groups approved are the United Student Christian council and the Putnam Scholarship club. Conservation club and Kappa Beta are the two organizations suspended.

The Board has also ruled that all religious groups, previously exempt, must now have the Student Activities board's approval for fund-raising projects.

Alpha Phi Omega

The Midwest Sectional conference of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, at the University of Kansas last weekend, was attended by Richard L. Kice, PrD Jr; Don H. Baldwin, CE Soph; William Channon, FT Soph; and James W. Taylor, HSp Sr.

Dr. H. T. Gier, professor of zoology at K-State and Kenneth Fox, Pawnee District scouting representative, also represented the K-State chapter at the meeting.

Hazlett Scholarship

Florence Benninghoven, Gen Fr, has been awarded a $250 Robert H. Hazlett Memorial scholarship to K-State, Max W. Milbourn, chairman of K-State's general scholarship committee, announced recently.

The scholarship honors Robert Hazlett, who was president of the El Dorado National bank for many years. The scholarship is based on achievement, character and need, and is renewable for four years.

Union Addition Construction To Begin Within 18 Months

Within the next 18 months, construction will begin on an addition to the Student Union at an estimated cost of $750,000 to $800,000, Union Director Loren Kottner, has announced.

"We're still in the planning stages and aren't sure exactly what will be included," Kottner said. Working with a Union Governing board committee on future planning, the director and students on the committee have approved several ideas they feel should be considered.

Tentative plans for the building include completion of the third floor; revision or extension of the food service facilities, increasing the potential volume of the cafeteria and state room, more bowling alleys, and additional meeting and dining room space.

"We are considering moving the activities center to the third floor to provide more space for student activities and setting up a student conference area within the center," Kottner said.

A crafts shop might be included, with classes in silver-work, weaving and similar skills. If this is done, an elevator may be installed at the east end of the building. "This is still unsettled. It's quite expensive and we'll have to see how far our money will go."

Money for the proposed addition will come from the student building fee, which is included in the regular enrollment fees each semester. Although it is now short of the estimated need, that amount should be obtained by the construction date.

Additions to the north and south sides of the present building would be made, if the final plans include extension of the state room and kitchen area. The completion date will depend on the number and extent of additions and the remodeling required in the original structure. Construction could probably be finished in a year of work.

In another month written descriptions of the desired additions will be turned over to Seitz and Jones Architectural firm of Ellsworth, which will draw up plans and specifications. Once the bid is let, construction can begin.

Orchestra Concert Scheduled Sunday

The University-Civic orchestra, under the direction of Luther Leavengood, head of the Music department, will present a concert Sunday afternoon at 3 in the University auditorium.

The three numbers to be played are an orchestral transcription by Leo Weiner of "Toccata Adagio and Fugue in C Major" by Bach, "Partita for Flute and Violin Solo with String Orchestra" by Paul Creston, a young contemporary composer, and "Symphony No. 4 in G Major" by Dvorak.

The soloists will be George Leedham, violin instructor and concert master of the orchestra, and Joseph Zverow, a flute instructor in the Music department.

This concert is sponsored by the Friends of Music, a group which provides music scholarships at Kansas State University. Students will be admitted with their activity tickets, high school and grade school students will be admitted free and adults will be charged 35 cents.

Arab-American Queen Will Be Named Tonight
The first Scheherezade Night, sponsored by the Arab-American club, will take place in the main ballroom of the Student Union, tonight at 7:30. The main event of the evening will be the crowning of Miss Scheherezade, who will be elected by popular vote. The Arab-American club will present a variety show.

Kilts, Bagpipes Invade KSU Campus

Bright kilts and the eerie wail of the bagpipes have invaded the K-State campus in the persons of James Fraser, EE Soph from Abilene and Lloyd Helms.

This year the two went to the ROTC department and asked to be allowed to march with the band, a suggestion that was greeted very enthusiastically. The two marched in the AFROTC review and were scheduled to march with the Army ROTC band until that event was cancelled.

Helms had a set of pipes when he was in high school and picked up further knowledge and playing ability with the Air Force Blue Raiders.

Fraser, who professes an interest in all "odd" musical instruments, first became interested in the bagpipes when he went to Nova Scotia in 1956. After seeing them played there, he began taking lessons on the instrument from a teacher in Wichita.

"The great pipes are very difficult to play and the playing of them is a very honored ability among the Scottish people. A person needs a lot of air and a good sense of timing and should have 'nervous' fingers instead of muscles," Helms declared.

Fraser's pipes were purchased in Nova Scotia and Helms' come from Ontario. "There are distribution centers in California, one in Kansas City, Pennsylvania, New York and perhaps one in Florida. When the pipes are brought into the United States they have to be entered as articles of war. It sounds funny, but that was their original purpose," Helms said.

The kilts that the two wear are Campbell, which technically are supposed to be worn only by members of the Scottish royal family. However, the Royal Stewart tartan is the official kilt of the St. Andrew Society, an organization for people of Scottish descent, to which the two belong.

Each kilt requires about 8 1/2 yards of cloth and the plaid, the GESTURING as he describes the Osmot tribe of Dutch New Guinea, the Rev. Charles Preston speaks at a discussion seminar in the Union main lounge yesterday.

Minister Terms Guineans Cannibalistic Thieves

"Highly superstitious, cannibalistic, chronic liars and thieves" is the way the Rev. Charles Preston described the Osmot tribe of Dutch New Guinea at a discussion-seminar in the Union main lounge yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Preston has operated an interdenominational mission in one of the Osmot villages the past three years.

"These people," the Rev. Preston declared, "are so far away from religion that they have no word in their language for God. One redeeming point, however, is that they still possess a conscience. If we point out a sin to them, they will admit it is wrong."

The Osmots, the minister said, are taught that they must revenge the death of a relative. Each family has a totem pole which lists members of the family who have not been revenged. One theory for the reason they eat people is that they are afraid the dead person's spirit will come back to haunt them or cast an evil spell upon them.

"All of the spirits of the tribe are evil ones," said the Rev. Preston. "They recognize no good ones. They are so highly superstitious that if one is hexed by a witch—all of their witches are women—they hurry home to await the penalty. These hexes really work. If a witch places a curse of death upon someone, that person goes home—and dies."

The Osmots also practice polygamy and often trade their wives. "Our ultimate objective is to bring them to Christianity, with the result that such practices as I have named will stop. The work, of course, is very slow, but we do have about 100 converts in one village and about 50 in another," Rev. Preston said.

Principals Okay Program Of Pre-Enrollment at KS

Approximately 160 principals and counselors representing 101 Kansas high schools gave full endorsement yesterday to K-State's pre-enrollment program for new students at the annual Principal-Freshman conference in the Union.

"Both student reports to their principals, and the principals' discussion with K-State faculty indicated what we have heard in the past—that we have an exceptionally good program for new students," said E. M. Gerritz, director of Admissions and Registrar.

The visiting school officials, here for the eighth conference on transition from high school to Kansas State, were particularly impressed with the hour meeting with former students, and with the luncheon prepared for them by organized houses, Gerritz observed.

President McCain, in his morning address to the group, emphasized that "Our education is individually centered." The President declared, "Even in these times of expressing our need for scientists, educating the student is for his individual development and not for his potential contribution to the state."

Ike Opens U.S. Display at Fair; Tells Indians of Food for Peace'

Compiled from UPI
By JAY CRABB

New Delhi—President Eisenhower launched today a global campaign to free the world of hunger and said "food . . . family . . . friendship . . . and freedom" were mightier than armies and bombs in bringing peace to the world.

Eisenhower said a successful "food for peace" campaign would bring full and prosperous lives to families and replace the threat of war with friendship among nations, ending forever the fear and suspicion that breeds wars.

It was the second global campaign he outlined today as part of his mission half-way around the world to convince India and the world of America's peaceful intentions. In a speech at Delhi university he called for a world interchange of students to build peace upon a platform of youth.

Police prepared for mob scenes today at the fair grounds where Indian President Raendra Prasad opened India's first international agricultural exhibition and Eisenhower in turn opened the impressive and sprawling American pavilion. Hundreds of thousands had jammed the street and additional thousands surged toward the fairgrounds themselves.

The theme of the American exhibit was "food—family—friendship—freedom" and Eisenhower hailed them as words which united Indians and Americans under "the banner of human dignity." He called them words that "lift the souls of men to a high plane of mutual effort, sustained effort, the most rewarding effort, that can be proposed by mankind."

Cubans Recapture Young

Havana — Cuban authorities said today they are holding Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan on charges of "involvement" in Austin Young's escape from prison Wednesday, even though the reporter was in Miami at the time.

An army spokesman said Buchanan was arrested yesterday as he entered the room in Havana's St. John Hotel where Young had been recaptured earlier. He said the Miami newsman was carrying iodine and bandages, presumably to treat the minor injuries Young suffered in his dramatic prison break.

Young and Buchanan are being held at military intelligence headquarters here.

Two other U.S. newsmen, NBC cameramen Carlos Santos and Luis Rives, were arrested and held briefly in the western town of Consolacion Del Sur, where they were filming the army's house-to-house search for Young.

Santos and Rives were released last night after being questioned by intelligence agents. It was not immediately certain whether they were allowed to keep their film.

National Guards Used

Albert Lea, Minn. — Grim-faced National Guardsmen in full battle dress rolled into strife-torn Albert Lea today to put the town under martial law and prevent further violence at the strike-bound Wilson and company meatpacking plant.

More than 50 citizen-soldiers, routed from their beds early this morning by a proclamation from the statehouse, began arriving shortly after 7 a.m. EST. They wore green fatigue uniforms, steel helmets and had bayonets fixed on their M-1 rifles.

A jeering crowd of about 300, many of them striking meatpackers, watched from across the street as some of the troops took up positions around the plant, ordered closed by the National Guard.

A National Guard officer, Maj. George Roobe of Austin, Minn., stood guard outside a gate turning away non-union production employees reporting for work.

Maj. Gen. Richard Cook, Redwood Falls, Minn., commanded the National Guardsmen ordered here by Minnesota Gov. Orville L. Freeman.

Freeman ordered Albert Lea and surrounding Freeborn county placed under martial law to preserve order between strikers and non-union employees at the Wilson plant.

Bargaining Talks Recess

Washington—Steel bargaining talks were in recess today just one week after President Eisenhower called on the union and companies to seek a settlement by round-the-clock negotiations.

Federal mediation chief Joseph F. Finnegan suspended the talks yesterday. One reason was to allow Steelworkers President David J. McDonald to sit in on aluminum contract negotiations in Chicago.

McDonald hopes to write new contracts with the three biggest aluminum makers — Alcoa, Kaiser and Reynolds metals—that he feels will increase the pressure for a steel settlement.

In breaking off the steel talks, Finnegan said "no progress of substance has been made." He indicated he would reopen the bargaining sessions in a week or 10 days, depending on what happened in the aluminum negotiations.

McDonald said separate discussions were required under the Taft-Hartley back-to-work injunction which halted the 116-day strike November 7. McDonald said bargaining with Cooper and his aides has been useless.

Chief management spokesman R. Conrad Cooper, meantime, would not comment on McDonald's call for company-by-company bargaining between the union and 95 steel firms, including the 11 largest companies involved in the top-level negotiations.

There were no further developments.

STUDENTS AT the University of Minnesota had a chance to visit Santa Claus when he was at the Union—passing out candy and cigarettes to all St. Nick fans attending a Christmas sing.

ANOTHER ST. NICK fan from the University of Oklahoma wrote his Christmas letter to the North Pole. Printed in the Oklahoma Daily it read—

"Dear Mr. Claus, I wanna bicycle, a drum, a monkey, a girl friend, a red car, a six-pack, a magic carpet and a roommate who is not in journalism.

I have been a good boy this whole year with only a few exceptions. I brush my teeth, eat all my food and go to class on Thursday."

Oh yes, I would also like a cage for the rhinoceroses I carve out of soap!"

It really takes very little to satisfy some people—any of these wants fit those on your Christmas list?

TRAFFIC WAS jammed, drivers were irritated, policemen were officiating in vain, and the students at the University of Kansas thought it was a pep rally. Noise and cheers—"Beat Texas Tech"—started coming from passer-bys as a result of someone calling to a basketball player standing on the sidewalk. Everyone was jeering the driver of a stalled car thought to be from Texas Tech. But no! The driver was only a harassed coed from KU trying to get home in her car which had stalled three times, causing the confusion.

Wonder if she is still a KU basketball fan?

EATING PLACES at the University of Arizona had a shortage of hamburger meat during the lunch rush hour. One of the coeds, according to the Arizona Wildcat, couldn't have her hamburger, so she ordered a cheeseburger!

There wasn't any meat in the request.

A NEW coffee shop opened near the University of Kansas, an espresso shop serving caffè espresso at 50 to 75 cents a cup. Caaffè espresso is an imported coffee brewed by steam forced through a special grind. Chocolate, whipped cream and lemon peel are a few of the accessories added for flavor.

A little elderly lady stopped to ask the owner what time the Beatniks came in—she had some out-of-town friends who wanted to see a real Beatnik.

THE ARIZONA Wildcat reports that many fraternity pins are in the shape of a diamond. Could that be because they are a girls' best friend?

New York—Mrs. Nicholas R. Jones, chairman of the custodial board of the Jumel mansion, Washington's headquarters-in-retreat in 1776, discussing the results of a furnace breakdown in the mansion:

Dear Editor,

We the undersigned realize that this letter of protest will probably not reap any favorable results this semester but are in hope that it might be an indication to the administration as to how the students feel in regard to the issue in question. In all fairness it would seem that a graduating senior, regardless of the semester he or she graduates, be treated to the same privileges.

Due to the new policy, of holding graduation exercises in the spring only, the administration feels no need to require the grades of degree candidates to be turned in the day preceding final week. According to the new policy, degree candidates will be expected to participate in final week just as they have done for the past four or five years of schooling. From the administrative viewpoint this is a blessing but from the graduating seniors viewpoint it is a foul blow.

Many of us have watched graduating seniors enjoy this blissful occasion, that occurs only once in a lifetime, for the past four or five years. We have looked to this big occasion when we spend those last few days with our former classmates discussing the past, bragging about the finals we have just got out of, and pointing our fingers at struggling underclassmen saying, "there go I but just a semester ago." Many of us have accepted job opportunities and expect to be employed within a week of the semester's end. If there was a course in question and a degree candidate should fail to pass the requirements for graduation he would have to quit his job, pack his belongings, and return for an additional semester.

Perhaps this is selfish reasoning on our part but to suddenly find ourselves without reward, ceremony, or even a diploma after going this far seems like brutal compensation for four years of study. A vast majority of us will not be able to return here for acceptance of our diplomas to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," and will have to resign ourselves to accept it through the services of the United States Postal Service. All we ask is the privilege of a so called "Senior Dead Week" for fall graduates.

Work Day Projects Planned By KSU Alpha Phi Omegas

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, has planned a work day tomorrow at K-State.

The main project to be worked on is repairing and refinishing the chapters' portable bulletin boards on the campus. This special care is needed to keep the bulletin boards in good condition.

Actives and pledges of the organization will meet in the chemical engineering building at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Another project of the chapter will be to provide a magazine rack for the new student hospital. Since the opening of the new hospital there has not been a rack for magazines in the lobby. Alpha Phi Omega provides the magazines for the K-State student hospital.

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan club has planned a Christmas party for 7 p.m. Monday, December 14 at Nichols gymnasium.

Music for dancing will be provided by the Latin Americans, a student group at Kansas university. Other members of the International club at Kansas university and students from other colleges will attend. Other entertainment will be provided by Cosmopolitan club members. A short talent show has been planned as part of the program.

An exchange of gifts of 30 cents or less will help create a Christmas spirit.

Dames Club

Diane Sanborn was elected president of Dames club Wednesday night at the general meeting of the club. Other officers are:

Judy Sellers, vice president; Bobbie Brent, secretary; Imaire Patton, treasurer; Joyce Bishop, program chairman; Frances Wimble, historian; Marilyn Dimmitt, publicity; and Mary Beth Hoffman, hostess. The officers will be installed at the January meeting.

Slides of unusual and well known madonna pictures were presented by Mrs. Carl Wylie. Special guests of the club were Mrs. Don Hoyt and Mrs. Thomas Evans, wives of faculty members.

Jewelry Display

Sterling jewelry made by members of Miss Alice Geiger's jewelry class is now on display in the second floor Anderson showcases. The display includes rings, pins and pendants.

The jewelry will be on display until December 18.

Muchnic Foundation

The endowment for the Muchnic Foundation Scholarships for engineering at Kansas State university has been increased to $20,000.

Kenneth M. Heywood, director of endowment and development, stated that the most recent gift of $2,500 was given from the Muchnic Foundation of Atchison.

The Foundation established its scholarship program with an original gift of $10,000 in 1956, and it has been increased every year since.

Scholarships were established to encourage excellent academic work by men in the K-State School of Engineering who plan to enter industry after their education is completed. The financial need is also a factor considered.

A recipient must have completed at least two years of academic work at K-State. He will be selected by the Kansas State general scholarship committee.

Ag Econ Club

Election of officers was the main business of the Agricultural Economics club Wednesday night in Waters hall.

Elected were Samuel G. Unger, AE Jr., president; Robert E. Rippe, AE Sr., vice president; Kenneth L. Streets, AE Jr., treasurer; Melvin Hubbel, AE Sr., recording secretary; and Frederick Clemence, AE Sr., corresponding secretary.

Scholarship Grant

A $2,500 scholarship and cost of education grant from the Tile Council of America to the K-State department of Architecture and Allied Arts was announced yesterday by Emil C. Fischer, head of the department. This fund will be available for three years.

Christmas Is a Season Of High-Pressure Sales

By MAUREEN GOBEL

Christmas is a high-sales-volume time in stores, and unless student shoppers beware, they may wind up with two empty pockets and gifts "they really shouldn't have bought!"

If a student waits until five minutes before closing time on Christmas eve, he is asking for a "high pressure sales job" from the sales personnel, who regard his incomplete shopping list a perfect opportunity for more sales.

To avoid such situations, it's better not to ask clerks for suggestions on gifts—they're sure to have some expensive ones. Make out the list at home, and know what gifts to buy beforehand. Sales people regard the Christmas shopper as an "easy sale" in most respects, since he often makes personal sacrifices to buy a gift—"doing without" so others can be happy.

Most Christmas buyers are in a festive mood; good targets for the sales pitch of spending just a little bit more for the best quality money can buy—Christmas quality. Selling phrases often used to justify the purchase of better quality are: "This better quality will last longer."

"You will have a more distinctive gift in this top quality."

"I'm sure you'll want to buy the best for your gifts."

Salesmen and women operate on three major rules for top Christmas sales:

Rule No. 1) The clerk's suggestion of buying better quality gifts with reasons why. Such questions as "Can you give me an idea for a gift for a . . . ?" or "I'm looking for something different. What would you suggest?" gives the sales person a head start in his campaign for volume.

Rule No. 2) A Christmas special for every customer. A clerk sees each customer as a hesitating buyer—and she hastens to reassure the choice of gifts. One of their time-tested methods for clinching the sale is to offer the customer a choice between two things, assuming that the shopper is going to buy at least one.

Rule No. 3) Close the sale quickly by giving the buyer other special offers. This means presenting a choice of time of delivery, method of payment, choice of wrapping, as well as selecting between two gifts.

rather than contrast. Vests in a variety of colors and styles are being worn more frequently with suits and sport coats.

To and from parties, overcoats and ivy trenchcoats are prominent. Also, hats of various types and versions are being sported by the male, with the alpine tyrolean leading in present popularity.

For the casual get-together, sport shirts and sweaters are the most popular form of dress. Ivy league and continental shirts with stripes, checks, and prints are the favorite. Bulky sweaters are still popular, but the zipper front and the cardigan are coming in strong.

Gloves Have Their Proper Place, Time Depending on Occasion, Color of Dress

By ROSALIE WARD

Emily Post declares that when a woman is wearing a riding habit, her gloves "must be of heavy leather and two sizes larger than those ordinarily worn." Most of us have never had to stop and wonder what style of glove is exactly proper for a horseback ride in the city park, but almost all of us have been puzzled at some time over a glove problem. If your worries have included anything from getting motorcycle gloves with a "no-slip grip" to wearing the correct gloves to a formal dance, you haven't been alone. Gloves are worn on many occasions and for many purposes other than keeping your hand warm.

A woman, according to good etiquette, never takes off her gloves to shake hands. In fact, at a formal dinner or dance it is considered improper to shake hands without gloves, particularly in the receiving line. This is true for the hostess as well as the guests.

It is correct to wear gloves in church and on the city street, and on any occasion when the dress would be appropriate for church. Gloves are always correct for a formal dinner or dance. The only time that a woman is expected to remove her gloves is while she is eating. And when it is necessary to take off or put on gloves at the table, it is best to do so as quietly and easily as possible, keeping her hands below the table.

Length and color in gloves vary according to the changing styles. At the present, gloves for formal wear are elbow length or longer, or wrist length.

Bracelets are never to be worn over gloves.

During cold weather a man usually wears dressy leather gloves with an overcoat, but the only times he is expected to wear gloves for dress are when he is wearing a tail coat to a ball or to an evening wedding if he is acting as usher. In both cases white kid evening gloves are proper.

Delt Field Secretary Visits Chapter House

Jack McClenney, field secretary of the national chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, was a guest at the Delt house Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. During his stay, he discussed problems and activities of the local chapter with the members.

Rushees were entertained at Beta Sigma Psi fraternity last weekend.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity paddle party will be Saturday night at the chapter house. The party is given by the pledge class in honor of the graduating seniors.

Rushees, members and their dates danced and played cards at the Delta Tau Delta house party last Saturday night after the K-State-St. Louis game. Richard Sawyer, assistant professor of air science, and his wife acted as chaperones for the party.

A white Christmas tree decorated with silver, gold and blue ornaments will set the theme of Delta Delta Delta's annual Christmas formal Friday night. Dancing will be to the music of Bill Heptig's band at the chapter house. In the receiving line will be Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Tri Delta housemother; Maryanne Keller, TxC Sr, chapter president; Bud Annan, BA Sr, Maryanne's escort; and Captain and Mrs. M. L. Coy, special guests.

The members of Delta Delta Delta had a Christmas house decorating party last night.

New pledges of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity are Wallace Wolf, PrV Fr, Ed Kimbell, Ag Fr, and Bob Wingert, PrV Fr.

"Treasure Trees" will be the theme of the annual Clovia Crystal Ball Saturday evening in the Union ballroom. Music will be furnished by Randy Coon of Salina. Sponsors for the evening will be Mrs. Eleanor Griffin and Joan Engle, home economics extension instructor, and her date.

The Rev. Warren Rempel, minister of Wesley Foundation, and Mrs. Rempel were dinner guests of Van Zile hall Thursday night. Following dinner, Van Zile members decorated the dorm.

Delta Upsilon fraternity will have its annual Christmas party Saturday night.

Dan Annis, BA Fr, and Gary Corns, ArD Fr, are new pledges of Sigma Chi.

Fellowship Group Attends Baptist Student Meeting

Twelve delegates from Kansas State university's Roger Williams fellowship attended the sixth annual Kansas Baptist Student Movement Conference in Pittsburgh last weekend.

Lyle Clum, EE Sr, president of the student movement for this year, moderated the conference which was attended by 135 American Baptist students from colleges and universities in Kansas.

"We were fortunate to have two of the American Baptist Convention's most dynamic leaders as our conference speakers," Clum said.

Dr. Jitsuo Morikawa, Director of Evangelism for the American Baptist Convention, spoke Saturday afternoon on the subject
"The Renewal of the Church."
Sunday Dr. Morikawa spoke on the subjects, "Conformity or Decision," and "A Radical Ministry."

Don Mabry, Mth Jr, was elected treasurer of the organization. Officers from other universities also participated in the conference.

Leading the conference song fests and addressing the delegates at their Saturday night banquet was Dr. Charles E. Boddie, field secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

"THE WORM TURNS!"

Shakespeare said it this way:
"The smallest worm will turn, being trodden on."
But Miguel de Cervantes beat him to it in "Don Quixote", Part II, Book 3:
"Even a worm when trod upon, will turn again."

"MUSIC HAS CHARMS"

The 17th Century playwright, William Congreve, was the first to set down this classic metaphor concerning the powers of sound and rhythm.
You'll find the whole quote in "The Mourning Bride", Act I, Sc. 1:
"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast,
To soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak."

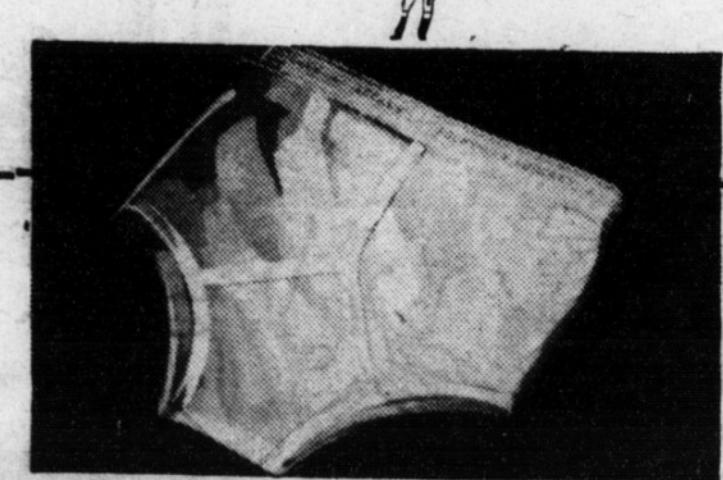

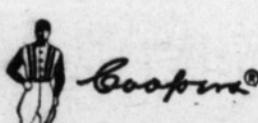

"RHYME OR REASON"

Edmund Spenser, 16th Century poet, expected a pension. He didn't get it. So he wrote this rhyme:
"I was promised on a time/To have reason for my rhyme;/From that time unto this season,/I received nor rhyme nor reason."

Cats, Hawks Invade Carolina

With a chance to make a big leap in national ratings, Kansas State and Kansas University tackle two perennial basketball powers tonight at Raleigh, N.C. KU will open the doubleheader against North Carolina at 6:30 p.m. K-State will meet North Carolina State in the second end of the twin bill.

And tomorrow night, KU will play North Carolina State in the opener and K-State will face North Carolina in the nightcap.

The road trip will mark the Wildcats' first appearance of the young season away from home. K-State defeated South Dakota State in the opener, but was then defeated by St. Louis last weekend.

Only previous basketball meeting K-State has had with either foe was last season's thrilling 69-67 win over North Carolina State in the Sunflower Doubleheader in Ahearn field house.

Coach Tex Winter said he did not expect to juggle the Wildcat lineup for the heavy weekend action.

"We don't feel a change of starters is called for right now," said the Wildcat coach, "despite the fact that four of them are not playing up to their potential. Wally Frank appears to be the only one who is playing the quality ball he is capable of."

Frank, who has scored 35 and 20 points, respectively, in the two games to date, has exceeded early-season expectations the Wildcat coach held for him.

"I think we can safely say that we have never attempted a tougher schedule this early in the season than what we face this year," Winter said. "You can bet that there will be a lot of national attention focused on this four-team series, since it involves two big basketball areas."

Following the two-night stand at Raleigh, the Wildcats travel to Indiana University where they will face the Hoosiers, picked to win the Big Ten crown, in a Monday night tilt.

North Carolina State, minus four starters from last season, won its opener against Penn State, 62-53, then dropped a 73-59 game to Wake Forest and a 71-70 verdict to South Carolina.

ers from last year's team that rated among the nation's best, drubbed South Carolina in its opener.

The last meeting between North Carolina and Kansas was at the close of the 1957 season when the Tar Heels defeated KU, 54-53, in triple-overtime to win the NCAA championship.

Coach Dick Harp was not optimistic as he herded his club into a plane at Kansas City yesterday morning. Using Carolina's offense, the freshmen ripped the varsity badly in the final stiff practice and Harp grimaced "that we just haven't had time to get ready for a fine team like North Carolina."

Harp was most concerned over what he termed "defensive laziness" and lack of rebound support for center Bill Bridges and sophomore forward Wayne Hightower. Bridges averaged 22 rebounds through the first two games and Hightower 11. But the next man on the list, forward Al Donaghue, can show only 3.5.

North Carolina will field the tallest of the four teams in the two-day affair. The Tar Heels' starting lineup will average 6-5, while Kansas State will average 6-4 1/2. Kansas and North Carolina State will both open with starting lineups averaging 6-4.

Each team boasts one starter who is 6-8. The four big men include Wally Frank, Kansas State; Wayne Hightower, Kansas; Key, North Carolina; and Dick Kepley, North Carolina.

K-STATE GUARD Steve Douglas will be in the starting lineup tonight when the Wildcats meet North Carolina State at Raleigh. Douglas was a starting member of last year's team that posted a 25-2 record. He is one of three seniors on the Wildcat starting lineup.

Lucas Sparks Buckeye Win

By UPI

Jerry Lucas passed the acid test—and now there's no doubt that Ohio State will be in the running for the national basketball championship all the way.

The heralded 6-9 sophomore proved his ability in out-dueling

6-10, 270-pound Bob Nordmann last night and leading Ohio State to an 81-74 victory over St. Louis. It was the fifth straight win for third-ranked Ohio State and the first loss for seventh-ranked St. Louis.

Lucas won his personal duel with the rival giant easily. He poured in 13 field goals and four free throws for 30 points while holding Nordmann to seven field goals and three free throws for 17. Nordmann did lead a Billiken drive late in the first half but St. Louis' chance for victory went out the window when he later fouled out trying to guard Lucas.

Ohio State got out in front and piled up a 36-22 advantage midway through the first half before the Billikens rallied to cut the margin to 44-38 at the intermission. St. Louis also took a one-point lead twice early in the second half but Lucas and Larry Seigfried led a counter-drive that clinched matters for the Big Ten power.

Seigfried shared honors with Lucas by scoring 22 points while George Burkell had 20 and Pete McCaffery 18 for St. Louis.

Georgia Tech remained unbeaten with a 70-64 triumph over South Carolina, North Texas State shaded Hardin-Simmons, 92-89, Western Kentucky whipped Seton Hall 78-69, Detroit romped over Iona College, 85-67, Vanderbilt topped Rice, 82-79, and Wake Forest beat Davidson, 90-55, in other top games.

Georgia Tech hit on 50 per cent of its shots to score its fifth straight win of the season and 12th in a row over a two-season span. Dave Kenton scored 21 points and Roger Kaiser had 17 for Georgia Tech while Art Whisnant hit 23 for SC.

Tiger Basketball Star Listed As Ineligible

Missouri basketball star Al Abram has been declared ineligible for Big Eight participation next semester.

Abram, who has seen only limited service in Missouri's first three games this season, is the fourth player in Tiger basketball history to score 400 points in one season.

Big Eight faculty representatives, athletic directors, business managers, head football and basketball coaches met yesterday and ruled that Abram's eligibility ends with the close of this semester because he entered the University in February, 1956.

That means Missouri will play half its 1959-60 season without Abram.

In other action at the meeting:

Exceptions were made to the 10-semester residence limitation for Leon Cross of Oklahoma and Fred Hageman of Kansas University;

Gave Oklahoma State permission to participate in an indoor track meet in the new sports center at Los Angeles;

Approved a plan for two baseball games on Fridays and one on Saturday if conference teams wish to change the old format of one game on Friday and two on Saturdays;

Announced the Big Eight indoor track meet next spring will not be filmed;

Approved competition by Big Eight seniors in the annual Blue-Gray football game;

Changed the number of swimmers who may compete in the conference championship swimming meet from 10 to 20 participants from each school.

KU GUARD Bob Hickman, a two-year letterman, will direct the Jayhawks' offensive patterns tonight against North Carolina. Hickman is one of two seniors on the Kansas starting lineup. Forward Al Donaghue is the other senior on the first unit.

Syracuse Lineman Given Top Honor

By UPI

Roger Davis, a scrappy standout even on such a talented line as national champion Syracuse's "sizeable seven," today was named by United Press International as college football's "Lineman of the Year" for 1959.

Davis, a six-foot, three-inch 228-pounder, took the honor in a nationwide poll of 343 sports writers and broadcasters by only two votes—nosing out his fellow all-America guard, Billy Burrell of Illinois.

Davis received 58 votes to 56 for Burrell. Tackle Don Lanphear of Wisconsin was third with 32, followed by controversial guard Mike McKeever of Southern California with 30 and guard Zeke Smith of Auburn with 25.

Other leading vote-getters were guard Mike McGee of Duke with 19, end Monty Stickles of Notre Dame with 13, guard Marvin Terrill of Mississippi with 11, end Cris Burford of Stanford with 10 and "lonely end" Bill Carpenter of Army with nine. The remaining 80 votes were divided among 33 players.

Davis, a senior, leads Syracuse into a Cotton Bowl game against Texas on New Year's Day and is expected to announce shortly thereafter that he is turning professional. He was the No. 1 choice of the Chicago Bears in the National Football League player draft and also was picked by Denver in the draft of the new American Football League. So far he's given no hint of which way he'll turn.

Pro scouts who have watched Davis this season are convinced that he can make the grade in the pro ranks "either way," offense or defense, and that's a rare thing among rookies.

On offense Davis plays guard. Last year he was almost exclusively on the weak side of an unbalanced line. This year he is likely to turn up on either side. On defense he's either a linebacker or a tackle, depending on the type of offense he faces.

Orchestra Concert Attended by 300

Approximately 300 attended the Kansas State University-Civic orchestra concert yesterday afternoon in the University auditorium.

The program was one of the most ambitious performances attempted under the leadership of Luther Leavengood, head of the Music department. Audience reception indicated a slight preference for Paul Creston's "Partita," an arrangement for flute, violin and string orchestra, featuring soloists George Leedham, concert master of the orchestra and first violinist of the K-State Resident String Quartet, and Joseph Zverow, faculty flute instructor.

Clothesline Art Sale To Begin Tomorrow

A clothesline art sale, sponsored by the Union Art committee, will be held in the Union art lounge, tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Wednesday, December 16 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Items for sale will be students' art work in various media; charcoal, pencil sketches, water color, oil and others. All work is original and moderately priced.

The work was put on display Saturday, to give the public a chance to view the items before the sale.

KSU Debaters Seventh At Intercollegiate Tourney

K-State's entry placed seventh at the 30th annual Invitational Intercollegiate Debate tournament at Southwestern college in Winfield this weekend. The event, entered by 49 schools, was won by Pacific university.

Linda Roth, Sp Fr, was awarded the first place trophy in the salesmanship division of the tournament. The senior debate team of C. J. Austermiller, IE Jr., and Virginia Baxter, Gvt Jr., were among the top 16 as was the women's team of Kathleen Bryson, Sp Soph, Deanna Atkinson, Psy Soph, and Gracella Lane, Sp Soph, in the extemporaneous speech division.

Other K-Staters who entered the tournament were Richard Mistler, ChE Soph; Steve LaBerge, Sp Fr; Stan Clowers, Phy Fr; Toni Vieux, Sp Fr; Mary Richardson, SED Jr.; and Joanne Russell, Sp Soph. Faculty members J. G. Robbins, Bill Hiett and Anita Taylor accompanied the squad.

This year a traveling trophy in honor of the originators of the tournament, Dr. LeRoy Allen and Dr. J. Thompson Baker, was awarded. The Southwestern college tournament was begun in 1923.

ISA, Arab-American Club Elect Queens Friday

Vivian Brown, HE Jr., of Waltheim hall, was crowned queen at the semi-formal dance sponsored by the Independent Students' association Friday night. Approximately 85 couples attended the dance in Nichols' gym.

Miss Brown received her crown and a bouquet of red roses from President James A. McCain during the dance intermission. Her attendants were Joan Anderson, BAA Jr., representing Van Zile hall, and Kenna Barnes, Mth Fr, Southeast hall, who received corsages of red roses.

Runners-up were Doris Miller, TJ Jr., Van Zile; Susan O'Bryan, Mus Fr, Clark's Gables; and Celia Pincus, Eng Fr, Northwest hall.

Miss Brown and President McCain started the queen's dance following intermission, with the attendants and their dates joining later.

Carrying out the theme "Christmas Tree Lane" were blue streamers decorated with miniature trees sprayed with silver sparkle. The throne of the queen and her attendants featured blue streamers and large white snowballs.

Matt Betton's combo provided the dance music.

NUMBER 58

Indian Trip Scheduled Jan. 1 By McCain, Regent Member

Pres. James A. McCain and Board of Regents member Whitley Austin, Salina, will fly to India January 1.

President McCain and Austin, editor of the Salina Journal, will join presidents and regents from three other midwestern universities in India. They will consult with high Indian officials on the progress of the economic assistance program administered there by the schools under contract with the International Cooperation Administration.

Presidents David D. Henry of the University of Illinois, Novice C. Fawcett of Ohio State university, Elmer Ellis of Missouri university and regents of these institutions are others making the trip.

The invitation was extended by the Indian government and the United States State department. The trip is financed by ICA.

Each president and regent will spend two weeks visiting ICA projects administered by his university. The group will spend a week in New Delhi with Indian, ICA and U.S. embassy officials, including Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

K-State is engaged in a $1,800,000 contract with ICA to provide technical assistance aimed primarily to increase food production in India. The contract is in its fourth year.

McCain and Austin will visit K-State projects in the Indian states of Bombay and Andhra Pradesh in central India. A staff of specialists, six men and one woman, responsible to the University is stationed full time in this area. Dr. George Montgomery, head of the Economics and Sociology department, is the head of the K-State region. The other six members of the team are from the School of Home Economics, Veterinary Medicine and Department of Agronomy and Poultry.

Six Indian students are studying at K-State this fall under the contract with 22 scheduled to enroll for the spring semester. All of these students are working toward advanced degrees.

KSU Talent Acts Audition Tonight

Eleven K-State acts have signed-up for Big Eight Talent show auditions tonight at 7:30 in Williams auditorium in Umberger hall. At least two, and perhaps three acts will be selected by the three judges.

One or two additional acts may be picked to perform when the show is on the K-State campus, said Campus Entertainment committee member, Jerry Boettcher, NE Soph.

Those who are scheduled to audition tonight are Kurt Werner, MAI Soph, piano; Derril Peabody, Sp Fr, pantomime; the Three Coachmen, vocal trio; Elaine Clark, HEA Fr, acrobatic dance; Judy Morris, Sp Fr, modern jazz dance; Judy Whitesell, HE Fr, vocal; Jeanette Gamba, Sp Fr, comedy monologue; Colleen Ungeheuer, Mus Fr, vocal; Jane Wulschleger, HEN Fr, comedy monologue; Nasty Nine, vocal group; and Paul Priefert, Agr Jr., and Rick Bayles, Eng Jr., vocal duet.

The University of Nebraska has charge of the show this year and final arrangements will be made by that school.

The Coeds singing group and the duo of Arnta Otte and Ken Pierce represented Kansas State in the Big Eight Talent show last year. The other schools who entered the show then were Kansas university, Nebraska university, Oklahoma State and Iowa State.

Charlene Murphy, EED Soph, Gamma Phi Beta, reigned as Miss Scheherazade over the first Scheherazade Night, Friday. The queen was chosen by popular vote during a variety show sponsored by the Arab-American club.

Approximately 800 attended the program which was in the grand ballroom of the Union. The variety show featured music from both American and Arabian cultures.

Fareed Khalil and Dakhi Eunik Hakina, a duet from Wichita, played several Arabian songs on a lute and an Arabian percussion instrument. They were especially well-received by the audience and played the last number on the program in honor of Miss Scheherazade.

Orchesis presented an American folk suite under the direction of Judith Hodge, instructor of women's physical education. Carol Bliss, EED Sr, was the choreographer and presented a solo dance to start the production. John McComb, BA '59, played and sang the ballads for the suite.

Scheherazade Night is the highlight of Arab-American clubs on United States campuses.

A social dance followed the program.

Nice Weather Fraud; Dead of Winter Near

DON'T LET the warm weather fool you one bit—it's getting along toward the dead of winter. If you're skeptical, just look around at all the wildlife that is slowing down or stopping entirely—rabbits, opossums, wildcats, Student Council...

Despite this fact, there is some activity around the campus. Construction workers, for instance. Construction workers are those men in overalls and boots you see standing near fires in the early chill of morning. They are easily confused with agriculture students. There is a way of differentiating, however. Ask directions to the Animals Industries building. The construction workers won't know. The ag student will not only know, he will thank you for asking and saunter off, his faith in humanity restored.

Other active groups are the international students and the Independent Students association. Both groups are now obviously on the way up. Both groups had dances over the weekend, and elected queens. This is a sure sign, is it not, of their rise to prominence?

AND SPEAKING of the weather, we think Integrity party should take credit in the party's platform next spring for this wonderful fall and winter we've been having. And there is a line of reasoning that could support this. After all, Integrity did not conduct any form of atomic tests during its tenure of office. At least not yet. But it wasn't on Integrity's platform, so you can't really tell.—don veraska

Eisenhower Visits Iran, Greece

On Mission of Peace, Freedom

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Athens, Greece — President Eisenhower paid a 5 1/2-hour visit to Iran today and then carried his peace-with-freedom campaign to Greece which threw off the threat of Communist domination with a three-billion-dollar U.S. aid program in recent years.

In the snow-covered Iranian capital of Tehran he received a royal welcome along streets paved in his honor with Persian rugs. He pledged continued U.S. military aid against Communist threats and praised Iran for its firm stand against its hostile neighbor, Russia.

After five days of 80-degree temperatures in India Eisenhower left New Delhi in the chilly dawn, arrived in Tehran in sub-freezing temperatures and drove through cheering throngs in an open convertible. In Athens the weather was in the 60s with a threat of rain.

Eisenhower addressed the Iranian Parliament and observers noted his voice was hoarse although he appeared ruddy and healthy in the glare of television lighting.

Greece, too, prepared a magnificent welcome for Eisenhower, whose world-wide appeals for peace drew great cheering crowds wherever he has stopped on his 11-nation tour.

In India he drew the biggest crowds. They sometimes stretched as far as the eye could see.

Eisenhower planned to spend 21 hours in Greece before boarding the cruiser U.S.S. Des Moines for a restful cruise to Tunisia and France. In that brief time Premier Constantin Karamanlis was expected to urge the necessity for controlled disarmament.

Greece was not expected to ask for further aid—it receives 60 millions a year for defense and 20 millions for economic recovery—but informed sources said Karamanlis would outline a program of aid for the underdeveloped Mideast nations to save them from Communism.

Herter Addresses NATO

Paris — Secretary of State Christian Herter assured NATO today that American defense forces will remain in Europe at present strength at least until the end of 1961.

But he and Under Secretary C. Douglas Dillon told France and the other allies the United States expects them to start carrying their fair share of the Western defense burden, according to informed sources.

Herter was moving in on a major NATO squabble before the family spat could mar the forthcoming Western summit meeting.

KS Prof Says Wages, Work Rules Hamper Settlement in Steel Dispute

By MAUREEN GOBEL

"Two crucial issues—wages and work rules—have so far hampered the steel settlement, and beyond the general observation that there is plenty of blame to go 'round, it is difficult to say whose responsibility it is that no agreement has been reached."

Such opinions are held by Wallace Nelson, assistant professor of economics and sociology, who has followed closely the progress or lack of it—in the labor-management dispute.

"The lack of objective, unpartial facts, particularly true of the work rules issues, but extending into the wage dispute as well, makes an assessment of the situation difficult," Nelson declared.

"Accepting available facts, however, and assuming that an important public interest is involved, I would assess the situation in this way:

"Wages: Steel industry wages are already among the highest in manufacturing, and evidence suggests that wages have outrun productivity for at least a part of the post-war decade. If one accepts, as I do, the criterion that wage increases should not as a rule exceed productivity increase, the union must accept a large share of responsibility for failure to reach an agreement on this issue.

"Work rules: What the industry proposes here is that it be granted the right, without interference, to change or do away with work rules established through collective bargaining over the past 20 years. Protecting work rules and "job rights" is the primary reason for unions in the first place. They can no more reasonably be expected to give up this prerogative than management can be expected to renounce profits."

Nelson advocates the change of obsolete work rules by mutual agreement, not by unilateral dictation by one side or the other. "Mr. Cooper, chief negotiator for the industry, proposed at one point to submit this question to arbitration. Mr. McDonald's rejection for the union of this proposal, without adequate consideration, was most unfortunate," the professor pointed out.

Two facets of the dilemma—the tendency to project complex collective bargaining issues into the public and political arena, and the tendency to write free collective bargaining off as an effective means for settling industrial disputes—are disturbing, says Nelson.

"To make these issues understandable to the lay public, and particularly to make them political issues, requires that they be oversimplified to the point of becoming misleading. To eliminate collective bargaining may be giving the government reason to find more effective tools for dealing with real national disputes," he explained.

"Both labor and management clearly prefer free collective bargaining to the dictation of terms by outsiders—but if it is to be retained, both sides will need to display less concern for their private, selfish interests and more concern for the public welfare—than either the steelworkers or management have shown to date."

The economist feels that an agreement will be reached before the 80-day injunction period expires January 26. "The fact that the industry itself suggested putting the work rules problem in arbitration is a basis for settlement," he remarked. "The pressure upon both sides is tremendous."

Provisions in the Taft-Hartley act affecting steel—the fact-finding board appointed by the President, and the injunction—seem to be unequal, with labor getting the worst end of it, Nelson observed. "It penalizes the steel workers more severely than management. It has forced them back to work under conditions they initially rejected, at a time when diminishing steel stocks was causing enough pressure on the companies to bring about some sort of agreement."

As to the final outcome, Nelson replied that both sides, and the public, will benefit from the compromise. "The union will probably receive substantially less than they demanded in wage increases, and management will not gain the right to change work rules on their own terms," he said.

Cats Battle Indiana Tonight; Must Break Losing Streak

It seems strange, but K-State's junior guard, and Frank Radovich, senior forward, to make up the three returning starters from last year's team. Gary Long, junior guard, was the fourth leading scorer on the team last year but was not a starter.

The Wildcat's first stop of an eastern road trip was a disastrous one. K-State dropped a 66-59 decision to North Carolina State, Friday evening and then North Carolina defeated K-State Saturday, 68-52. The Wildcats were beaten by St. Louis previous to the doubleheaders at Raleigh.

Kansas university managed to split in the two-day affair. The Jayhawks defeated North Carolina State, 80-58, Saturday but dropped their game with North Carolina Friday night.

And breaking the losing streak tonight will not be an easy chore.

Indiana, a team that Kansas State defeated last year, 82-79, in overtime, returns its four top scorers off last year's team that finished fifth in the Big Ten with a 7-7 record.

The Hoosiers will bank most of their hopes on 6-11 junior center Walt Bellamy. Bellamy averaged 17.4 points a game last year as a sophomore and was also a standout on defense. He made the second team all-Big Ten squad and was all-American honorable mention. Bellamy had the highest shooting percentage in the conference with a .525 mark last year.

Bellamy joins Herbie Lee, junior guard, and Frank Radovich, senior forward, to make up the three returning starters from last year's team. Gary Long, junior guard, was the fourth leading scorer on the team last year but was not a starter.

Lee, who is only 5-11, averaged 13.6 points a game last year while Radovich, 6-7, had a 12.5 average, and Long 9.0. Lee is the key to the Hoosier offense, being a fine passer and ball handler.

Radovich is Indiana's top rebounder. He pulled down 223 rebounds last year for the Hoosiers.

K-State and Indiana have each won six from each other in a series that started back in 1937. The Wildcats, though, have defeated the Hoosiers three straight times.

Coach Tex Winter, on the other hand, is still trying to get a working combination in the game. In Saturday night's loss, Winter used 11 of the 12 available play-

Gymnasts Defeat KU

Ivan Loomis led Kansas State's gymnastics team to a 71-40 victory over rival Kansas University, Friday, at Ahearn gymnasium.

Loomis, captain of the squad, placed first in trampoline and rings competition, and second in the high bar event for 17 points. Mike Dzirua opened the meet with first place in free exercise and placed third in three other events for 15. David Spence had 13, Bob Rector had 12.

Spence finished first in two events, the horse and tumbling. Rector captured a first place in the sixth event, the hi-bar competition.

Kansas placed first in only one contest, the parallel bars, winning first and second. Bob Lockwood led the Jayhawk squad with one first, one second and a third place.

K-State started the contest with a 12-4 lead and remained ahead through the seven events. After four events, Free exercise, trampoline, horse and hi-bar, the Cats were ahead 44-20, before the Jayhawk team took the parallel bar competition.

Weaver Named Grid Coach

Doug Weaver, line coach at Missouri university, was named head football coach at K-State this weekend.

The 29-year-old former Michigan State player, who has been first assistant at Missouri the past two seasons, has been given a four-year contract at Kansas State, effective January 1, H. B. Lee, K-State athletic director, announced. No salary terms were revealed.

Weaver coached two seasons at Michigan State, serving there as head freshman coach in 1956 and as varsity assistant in 1957, before joining the Tiger staff for the 1958 season.

At Kansas State he replaces Bus Mertes who resigned the post November 23, after five seasons.

"Doug was our choice over a field of top candidates, all of whom possessed the qualities for which we were searching," explained Lee.

"I am enthusiastic about his selection because I am confident that he has what it takes to build our football program on a sound basis which will realize immediate respectability and eventually will provide Kansas State with a title contender," the Wildcat director added.

"I'm honored and thrilled to have been chosen, and I am anxious to go to work," Weaver said when notified he had been selected. "I have always had a real admiration for Kansas State. It is an outstanding university and the Big Eight is a great conference."

Weaver will be given full authority to name four assistant coaches to work with him at Kansas State. Ed Dissinger, Wildcat head freshman coach, has been retained as a permanent member of the football staff.

A native of Goshen, Ind., Weaver linebucked on Michigan State's nationally-ranked teams in the 1950, 1951 and 1952 seasons under Biggie Munn. He was a member of Michigan State's national championship team in 1952, and helped preserve an undefeated season by intercepting a pass on the Spartan three-yard line in a 14-7 win over Purdue. During his three seasons as a Spartan regular, Michigan State lost only one game.

DECK THE HALLS

When you think of Christmas gifts you naturally think of Marlboro cigarettes, leading seller in flip-top box in all fifty states—and if we annex Wales, in all fifty-one—and if we annex Lapland, in all fifty-two. (This talk about annexing Wales and Lapland is, incidentally, not just idle speculation. Great Britain wants to trade Wales to the United States for a desert. Great Britain needs a desert desperately on account of the tourist trade. Tourists are always coming up to the Prime Minister or the Lord Privy Seal, or the Thane of Glamis, or like that and saying, "I'm not knocking your country, mind you. It's very quaint and picturesque, etc., what with Buckingham Palace and Boovil and Scotland Yard, etc., but where's your desert?"

Before I forget, let me point out that Scotland Yard, Britain's plain-clothes police branch, was named after Wally Scotland and Fred Yard who invented plain clothes. The American plain-clothes force is called the F.B.I. after Frank B. Inchcliff, who invented fingerprints. Before Mr. Inchcliff's invention, everybody's fingers were absolutely glassy smooth. This, as you may imagine, played hob with the identification of newborn babies in hospitals. From 1791 until 1904 no American parent ever brought home the right baby from the hospital. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

(But I digress. England, I was saying, wants to trade Wales for a desert. Sweden wants to trade Lapland for Frank B. Inchcliff. The reason is that Swedes to this day still don't have fingerprints. As a result, identification of babies in Swedish hospitals is so haphazard that Swedes flatly refuse to bring their babies home. There are, at present, nearly a half-billion unclaimed babies in Swedish hospitals—some of them well over eighty years old.)

But I digress. Marlboro is, of course, an ideal Christmas gift for your friends and loved ones who enjoy filter cigarettes. If, on the other hand, your friends and loved ones like mildness but don't like filters, then you can't go wrong with a carton of Philip Morris. If your friends and loved ones like a subtly mentholated cigarette that combines refreshing taste with high filtration, then buy a carton of Alpines. (Alpines, incidentally, are named after the late Albert G. Pine. Al Pine worked all his life to invent a cigarette that would combine light menthol and high filtration, but alas he never succeeded. As by-products of his research he did manage to invent the atom, the gooseneck lamp and the cocker spaniel, but the lightly mentholated high filtration cigarette, alas, never. Now this dream is realized, and what could be more fitting than to pay tribute to this gallant man by calling this cigarette Alpine?)

KS Music Groups Will Sing Handel's Christmas 'Messiah'

Portions of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented by the K-State choral organizations Thursday at an all-University assembly at 9:30 a.m. in the University auditorium.

The Messiah chorus, numbering approximately 300 students, is composed of the A Cappella choir, both units of the men's glee club, the women's glee club and the University chorus. Selected members of the University-Civic orchestra will accompany the chorus. Luther Leavengood, head of the department of music, will conduct the performance.

The four featured soloists are Manhattan residents. Miss Jean Sloop, a new member of the music faculty, will sing the soprano recitative and aria. Miss Sloop is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and conducts the University women's glee club.

Contralto soloist is Mrs. Charles R. Bissey, a graduate of the University of Wichita. Mrs. Bissey has been soloist with the Wichita Symphony orchestra, Wichita Choral society, the University of Wichita Symphony orchestra and A Cappella choir.

For the third year, Ben Duerfeldt will sing the tenor role for the assembly performance. Duer-feldt received his Master of Science degree in Music Education from K-State a year ago.

The bass for this year's presentation is Paul Lefever, minister of music at the First Methodist church of Manhattan.

Only 1,500 male students have signed the petition advocating the adoption of a program of optional ROTC at K-State, said Mark Johnston, BPM Jr, who was in charge of circulating the petition.

At least one-half of all male students' signatures—2,502 names—were needed before the petition could begin the process of consideration by the Faculty Senate, President McCain, the Board of Regents and the State Legislature.

The petition was available in the Student Union lobby last week for signing and was also circulated through the fraternities.

The fate of the petition—whether it will be made available for more signatures or dropped, will be decided at tonight's Student Council meeting in SU 208 at 7 p.m. Steve Douglas, Gvt Sr, student body president, will present the ROTC petition problem to the Council.

The Council will select two of its members to serve on the Campus Development committee in other business tonight, said Sid Jones, VM Jr, Council chairman. These committee appointments are being made at the request of President McCain in an effort to "better coordinate the committee's activities."

Journalistic Role Of KS Mentioned

The role of K-State as a pioneer in journalism education has been pointed up in an article written for the 50th anniversary issue of Quill magazine. The Quill is a monthly magazine devoted to journalism published by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

In his article on journalism education, Mitchell V. Charnley of the University of Minnesota School of Journalism points to three periods in the history of this field. The first was characterized by trade-school training; in the second there was an emphasis on the journalist as a social instrument; while the third, still partly beyond the horizon, aims at full professionalism.

Charnley notes that K-State was one of the first to offer instruction in journalism soon after the turn of the century when the Department of Industrial Journalism was organized.

The purpose of the first course in industrial journalism, offered in 1910, was to "give a larger use of English with particular reference to the demands of newspapers, farm publications and magazines in disseminating information concerning agriculture and the industries generally."

The Journalism department, then as now, is concerned with developing journalists who have a specific subject matter specialty—who know journalism and agriculture, or journalism and home economics or journalism and business.

Two Are Awarded Union Memberships

A former K-State faculty member and an alumnae of the school were presented life membership cards to the K-State Union by Director Loren Kottner last night. The memberships, showing deep appreciation of unsolicited contributions, were awarded at the Union Governing board banquet in the Union.

The two recipients are Nellie Aberle, former professor of English and head of the English Proficiency program, and Mrs. Ivy Fuller Olds.

Jeanette Gamba, Nasty Nine Selected To Represent K-State at Talent Show

Jeanette Gamba, Sp Fr, and a vocal group, the Nasty Nine, will represent Kansas State in the Big Eight Talent show, tentatively scheduled to appear on campus February 12 in the University auditorium.

Alternates are Colleen Ungeheuer, Mus Fr, and the Three Coachmen, Ken Streets, AE Jr; Neil Howell, PrL Sr, and Bob Austin, Sp Sr.

Judges Mrs. Richard Rogers, organist of the Manhattan Presbyterian church and Dave Jackson, a KMAN announcer, selected the top four numbers from the 11 acts which auditioned last night in Williams auditorium in Umberger hall.

Miss Gamba will present a comedy monologue portraying her orientation as a freshman at Kansas State, a number similar to her act in the freshman talent show last fall.

The Nasty Nine, a Sigma Alpha Epsilon group, is composed of Bob Sanders, Mus Sr; Jerry Boettcher, NE Soph; Gene Derk, FT Jr; Ed Derk, PrV Soph; Roger Coulter, ME Jr; Jon Weigand, Gop Sr; Tom Colaw, BA Jr; Ron Finney, BA Soph; and Dave Chelesnik, BA Jr. "Funny Valentine," "Rowing Home" and "Wimoweh," an African hunting chant recorded by the Kingston Trio, are sung by the men.

"Wimoweh" is also one of the songs presented by the Three Coachmen, who pattern their singing style after the well-known Kingston Trio. Miss Ungeheuer chose as her entry the song "Stormy Weather."

Miss Gamba and the Nasty Nine will go on the talent tour, and one of the alternates, to be selected later by the judges, may join them, said Boettcher, a member of the Campus Entertainment committee. This will depend on the number of acts from the other participating universities, he explained.

The variety show will tour only three of the Big Eight schools—Nebraska university, Kansas State university and Missouri university.

Extension of Hours Okayed by AWS

The extension of senior women's closing hours to midnight during Senior Week was approved by AWS at its regular council meeting last night. The approval of the Associated Women Students makes the proposal of the Senior class officers official.

AWS announced the Women's Scholarship house, which will house 50 women, will be completed by next fall.

The Library committee reported that Farrell library will be open on the nights of January 10, 12 and 24, on an experimental basis.

The American Association for University Women will sponsor a tea for senior women January 9, to interest senior women in the graduate organization.

Few Tickets Left For Smorgasbord

Reservations for tonight and tomorrow night at the annual Union Christmas smorgasbord are sold out, with only a few left for Thursday, the final night. Reservations are $2.

Service will be from 5:15 to 6:30 p.m. in the grand ballroom. Recipes and decoration ideas came from various books and magazines and from persons of Swedish ancestry on campus, Mrs. Merna Zeigler, head of the Union food service, said.

"The true Swedish smorgasbord began as sandwiches and appetizers, but here in America we have corrupted it to include hot dishes and desserts," related Mrs. Zeigler.

Between 50 and 75 items are included in the meal which features such Swedish foods as Swedish meatballs and brown beans, Lingonberries, cheese pudding, fresh salmon and pickled herring.

"We try to include only Swedish foods, but some overlap so that the menu includes many American dishes," Mrs. Zeigler said.

Castro Speaks for Seven Hours; Renews Death Demand for Matos

Compiled from UPI
By JAY CRABB

Havana—An all-night talkathon by Premier Fidel Castro transformed the treason trial of Maj. Hubert Matos into a free-for-all debate on the merits of Castro's revolutionary regime.

Castro spent more than seven hours at the microphone, acting sometimes as a witness and sometimes as a prosecutor. He testified, he questioned witnesses and he read dozens of letters and other documents into the record.

He heatedly denied Matos' charges that his regime has been infiltrated by Communists, denouncing his former comrade-in-arms as a "counter-revolutionary plotter."

Matos, Education Minister Armando Hart, and half a dozen pro-Castro army officers also participated in the debate, hurling charges and countercharges back and forth across the improvised courtroom.

At one point, the president of the court had to order a knot of officers who were wrestling each other for a chance at the microphone to return to their seats.

After Castro had declared that "history will condemn" Matos and his codefendant, Maj. Jorge Felgueras—the regular prosecutor of the "revolutionary tribunal" hearing the case—renewed the government demand that Matos be sentenced to die before a firing squad.

Archbishop Wins Election

Nicosia, Cyprus—Greek Orthodox Archbishop Makarios ran up a better than two to one commanding lead over Communist-rightist candidate John Clerides today. He appeared certain to become the first president of this island when Cyprus becomes independent next February 19.

By late morning, Makarios had 60,000 votes to 26,000 for Clerides as counting continued in yesterday's first national election.

Makarios needed 107,500 of the 215,000 votes cast for victory.

His triumph seemed so certain that an official of the leftwing-backed Democratic Union party forecast Clerides' defeat long before the ballot count was completed. The official said his party was content with winning 40 percent of the vote.

Eisenhower Goes To Sea

Amherst, Mass.—Pianist Steven Lacy, of New York, forfeiting $25 bond on a malicious damage charge but explaining in a letter to Amherst police why he hit the keys of a nightspot piano so hard they shattered:

"It's a crime to expect a professional musician to play on it, it's three half-steps out of tune."

Little Rock, Ark.—Gov. Orval Faubus, commenting on the U.S. Supreme Court's upholding a lower court that struck down the two laws he used to close Little Rock public high schools last year:

"They usually rule on things without knowing what it's about."

San Quentin, Calif.—Convict author Caryl Chessman, vowing to keep up his 11 1/2 year fight against execution despite the U.S. Supreme court's refusal to hear his latest appeal:

Eisenhower and his party, including daughter-in-law Barbara Eisenhower, one of the few women ever to travel aboard an American warship, left Athens in a helicopter that swung them past the Acropolis and other glories of ancient Greece before setting them down on the cruiser's after deck.

Eisenhower's trip to Greece was another of the triumphs he has scored in every nation he has visited. However, left-wing members of Parliament greeted him with stony silence this morning when he praised Greek "valor and heroism" in the struggle against Communism.

Greece fought a bitter civil war with the Communists after World War II and won with U.S. support. There is still a small but vocal minority of Communists and they made themselves felt several times although Eisenhower was cheered by hundreds of thousands of Greeks.

Today the members of the Union of Democratic Left (EDA), the successors to the outlawed Communist party, led cheers which turned into a standing ovation when Eisenhower said he made his trip for "peace and friendship and freedom."

Shoppers, Merchants Successfully Keeping Church Out of Christmas

To all my friends,

I am not sending Christmas cards this year, and though I realize I am fighting a long tradition of giving something and getting something in return, I still feel that I can no longer do it.

Any more the Christmas slogan seems to be, "Keep Christmas green." I see Santa Claus with his sack full of soft drinks, cigarettes, and probably, sooner or later, beer. It wouldn't surprise me to see him smoking a "thinking man's" cigarette or to see tatoos on his hands this year. His reindeer will probably be traded in to an automobile company that makes the lowest bid on a new station wagon. And the very essential part of him, the age-old feelings of a true Christmas, will probably be exchanged for a coin changer and a barker's hat.

Last week it was brought to my attention just what Christmas means to most of us. And the more I thought about it and the fighting, pushing, screaming, grabbing crowds that fight for the Christmas-time bargains in stores piled high with all sorts of things for every member of the family except Christ; the more I felt as though I could not bring myself to even buying cards. I cannot and will not fight crowds of shoppers and grinning, purchase-totaling merchants who are trying most desperately and too successfully to keep Christ and the church out of Christmas.

I have said enough. Perhaps I have made you angry or perhaps I have spoiled the holiday season for you. But I wanted to share this with you and hope that you feel as I do.

Best wishes for a joyful Christmas season and may all good things come to you.

Sincerely,
Dick McGuire, Eng Jr.

Student Paper at Indiana U Suggests Term Papers Instead of Final Exams

By Margaret Cooper

HOW TO GET rid of the pain of final examinations? The Indiana Daily Student suggests having term papers instead of final exams. The term paper "would be the student's effort of carefully thought through and presented material and would indicate what the student has learned in the course." It wouldn't be dependent on the student's frame of mind during a tense two or three hours. And who would cram on a term paper?

TO AVOID the long lines on the day of pre-enrollment the students at the University of California may pre-enroll by mail, says the Daily Californian. The check for the registration fee is mailed along with the registration cards. Now students just have to stand in line to pick up their registration cards which they then mail to the University.

"SENIORS CONSUME 11 Gallons of 'Beer'—This was the headline in the Oregon State Daily Barometer. The article was a follow-up on the "Mug Clug" party where 270 seniors drank 11 gallons of root beer and ate four cases of pretzels. Wonder how many times that headline would have fit the party where the drink was minus the root?

CHRISTMAS vacation at Indiana university is only 11 days long in order that students won't have to go to school later in the spring. Students are objecting to the shortened time because of travel and job problems. An alternative to the 11 day vacation would have been to have Saturday classes, but 39 out of a survey of 40 students did not want Saturday classes at any expense. One student suggested having five months class, a month-and-a-half of vacation, and repeat the sequence. One problem—there aren't 13 months in a year.

IN THE Northern Star from Northern Illinois university is a comic picture of a tall, lanky, perspiring basketball center standing in front of wildly cheering fans and worriedly looking down on the official who is saying,

"Time has run out, but you have two free throws. If you make one there will be an overtime period; if you make both of them the victory celebration will start immediately; if you miss both of them there's police protection at the side exit."

FIRE DRILLS at Oregon State college are a pleasant sight for the fellows—that is when the girls come traipsing out at night in their open flung coats. It was suggested that the housing arrangement were altered—men occupying odd numbered floors and women even numbered floors—they would become used to each other and the problem would no longer exist. Any more suggestions??

Indiana Adds Fourth Defeat To String; Road Trip Ends

Kansas State ended its winless eastern road trip last night by dropping its fourth straight basketball game. This time it was Indiana, 67-58. North Carolina State and North Carolina defeated the Wildcats during the weekend on the first stop of the trip.

The Wildcats appeared to have the Hoosiers solved in the first half when they built up a 34-26 lead at halftime. But Indiana came back with a 58 per cent shooting average in the second half to pull the game out. K-State hit 37 per cent both halves.

Coach Tex Winter's squad also aided to the Hoosier rally in the second half by committing nine errors. K-State was guilty of five during the first half.

K-State came out after intermission and played an indifferent-type game and scored only two free throws in the first five minutes while Indiana was hitting everything.

Sonny Ballard, senior, was K-State's leading scorer with 20 points, followed by Wally Frank with 18. Frank's performance last night was a big improvement over his play at Raleigh where he scored only 15 points in two games.

Indiana's 6-10 1/2 center Walt Bellamy was the biggest problem for K-State. Bellamy, only a junior, scored 23 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. He connected on 10 of 20 field goal attempts.

In other Big Eight games last night, Kansas University dropped an overtime decision to Kentucky, 77-72, at Lawrence. Sophomore Wayne Hightower, KU forward, was the game's leading scorer with 33 points. Hightower fouled out during the overtime period.

Rifle Team Wins Another

The undefeated Kansas State varsity rifle team won its 15th match of the season Saturday at Stillwater, Sergeant-Major Everett Horton, coach of the KSU team, said.

The Wildcats defeated nine other teams: Arlington State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Baylor, Arkansas, Panhandle A and M, Camron State and Oklahoma Military Academy.

Kansas State won with a score of 1,440 out of a possible 1,500. Arlington State took second with 1,426, and Oklahoma State was third with 1,412.

Kansas State swept the first two individual places. High point man was Charles Eustace, with 295 out of a possible 300. Behind him, with 293, was captain Bill Davis.

The other members of the Kansas State team were Douglas Er-way with 287, Fred Kohman, 286, and Ronald Horinek, 279.

The KSU freshman team, defeated Leavenworth high, Saturday, 932-924. High man for Kansas State was Bill Noble, with a score of 190.

As sure as little apples, Newton knew that what goes up must come down.

But when it comes down to a really pleasurable filter cigarette, it's what goes up—in front of the filter, that is—that makes the difference!

And there's where Winston had an inspired idea—Filter-Blend! Winston specially selects choice, mild tobaccos, then specially processes them for filter smoking. The result: Filter-Blend up front of a modern filter. That's what makes Winston a complete filter cigarette.

Filter-Blend also makes Winston America's best-selling, best-tasting filter cigarette. Take it from Sir Isaac:

"You don't have to be hit on the head to know that Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!"

Dr. Davis To Present Ballad Program at KS

Dr. Earle Davis, head of the English department, will present a program of ballads today at 4 p.m. in the browsing library of the Student Union. The ballads will mainly be of American origin. Songs recently made popular by entertainers such as the Kingston Trio and Harry Belafonte will be included in the program.

Interdorm Sing

Residents of the four women's dormitories will join together to sing many of the favorite Christmas carols at the Interdorm Christmas Sing Thursday at 7 p.m., according to Joyce Banks, FN Jr, chairman of the sing. The carolers will stand in a bell formation on the lawn in front of Van Zile, Northwest and Southest halls.

Carolyn Buck, PEW Jr, will lead the singing. The girls on the outer edge of the bell will hold lighted candles so the formation will be visible to spectators.

Cattle Show and Sale

K-State is hosting a cattle show and sale today in the Animal Industries building.

Angus breeders in Kansas and surrounding states have nominated 193 cattle for the Kansas State Association of Angus Breeders show and sale. Thirty-five herds are represented.

This year, for the first time, those showing cattle will be required to offer at least some of their animals for sale today.

About 100 of the cattle shown will be sold.

Veterinary Medicine

James D. Smith, DVM and instructor in the School of Veterinary Medicine at K-State, will spend three days in Chicago attending a meeting of the American Equine Practitioners. The convention, composed of men interested in practice related to horses in the United States, opened yesterday.

The president of the organization, Gen. Wayne Kester, retired commanding general of the USAF Vet Corps, is a Kansas State alum.

The subject of orthopedic surgery, as well as the treatments of various diseases of horses, will highlight the program.

'Educational Aid Key to India's Problem'

BEHIND MEMENTOS of the Orient on his desk, A. D. Weber, dean of the School of Agriculture, comments about food production problems in India.

India faces a food crisis—but a program of educational assistance undertaken by Kansas State university in conjunction with four other land grant colleges in the United States is attempting to help avert such a disaster.

This word comes from Arthur D. Weber, dean of Agriculture, who returned Saturday from a nine-week trip to India as a representative of the five land grant institutions on the second joint Indo-American team. Other schools are the Universities of Missouri, Tennessee and Illinois, and Ohio State university.

Weber said, "The key to increased and more efficient food production is a coordinated system of agricultural education, research and extension that is suited to the unique characteristics and requirements of India's cultivators."

Such a plan is being carried out under the Inter-Institutional contract program between the five universities and India. The team on which Dr. Weber served was to evaluate the progress of the work in the three fields for the past five years.

According to Dean Weber, the 13-man team developed recommendations for these three fields of activity. Special reference was placed on the Indian government's third five-year plan of educational advancement in agriculture. They also reviewed agreements concluded in 1955 between the five universities and India, stating whether these agreements should be continued. Reports of the team probably will be published in January by the Indian government, Weber said.

The contracts include three phases:

- 1) To improve administrative, professional and physical features of agricultural and veterinary colleges;
- 2) To coordinate teaching, research and extension of the participating institutions;
- 3) To increase numbers and capabilities of college graduates who will contribute to the increased productivity and better utilization of agricultural products in India.

This is being accomplished, Weber said, by sending American professors to India to teach, training staff members from Indian colleges at K-State and the other four universities, and providing equipment and books for instructional and demonstration purposes.

One of the most significant developments resulting from the program, Weber observed, is the organization of Indian colleges along the lines of American land grant universities.

"Substantial progress has been made in obtaining the objectives of the program," the Dean said.

Petition for ROTC Will Be Scrapped

Student Council last night defeated a motion to continue circulating the petition calling for the adoption of optional ROTC at K-State.

The petition, which was available in the Union last week and circulated throughout fraternities, was signed by 1,500 K-State males. The signatures of more than half—or 2,502—of the males at K-State were needed.

Council, however, did not entirely close the issue. A committee was formed to investigate ways of continuing and furthering interest among students.

Council also passed a recommendation "to the proper authorities" that senior finals be moved up one week, as has been done in the past.

This semester, for the first time, due to the discontinuation of graduation ceremonies at the end of fall and summer sessions, seniors' finals have been scheduled until January 29, instead of being completed a week before. It was offered that this might be a hardship to seniors, as they would not know until after they had accepted jobs or moved out of living quarters whether they had completed graduation requirements.

Building Starts Next March On New Smurthwaite House

Construction on the $200,000 Smurthwaite Scholarship house for women is tentatively scheduled to start in March, Miss Margaret Lahey, Dean of Women, has announced.

The structure, to be completed by September, will be located on college land east of Manhattan Avenue and north of Legore Lane. The living and dining rooms, kitchen and housemother's quarters will occupy the main level, with a two-story wing for the study-bed-rooms.

Approximately 50 women will reside in the house, with facilties expandable to accommodate 60, Dean Lahey said.

The Home Demonstration Units of Kansas are financing the house in honor of Miss Georgiana Smurthwaite, head of the Extension Home Economics department for many years. Miss Smurthwaite is now retired and lives in Manhattan.

The Units have raised approximately $80,000 to date, Dean Lahey said, and "are now engaged in a very active campaign" to obtain $100,000 by January 1. If this is accomplished, construction will begin in March. The Units will continue to raise money for the remainder of the costs, she explained.

About five years ago, according to Dean Lahey, the women in the Home Demonstration Units felt a need for low cost housing for high school and college women of excellent academic standing, but found dormitory and sorority costs beyond their means. The women decided to finance a cooperative housing project. "This expresses the concern Kansas women have had for women's housing at the University," Dean Lahey said.

The women residing in the scholarship house will do their own housekeeping and managing. It will probably not be charged more than $50 a month for their room and board, the Dean estimated. Costs per month for dorms is about $69 and for sororities, $75 to $85.

A number of campus organizations have donated proceeds to the scholarship house. The AWS sponsored Penny-A-Minute Night for the past two years has added $365 to the fund. Panhellenic Council has specified an amount for the building in their budget, and Interdorm Council will donate proceeds from a money-making project this year.

Tentative plans are being made for the presidents of AWS, Interdorm Council, Motar Board, Chimes and Panhellenic Council to serve on an advisory board to work out the organizational structure of the house. This will include constitution, suggestions for planning the work, and selection of women to live in the house.

Dean Lahey stressed that any woman interested in living in the scholarship house next year should apply for residency after January 1, or see her for further information.

KS Guest Scholar Will Speak Today

John Ise, professor emeritus of economics at Kansas university, will speak at 7:30 tonight in the little theater of the Student Union. His subject is "Are We Headed for Second Place in the World?"

A second talk, to be delivered tomorrow morning at 10:30 in the little theater, is entitled "No Time To Live."

Professor Ise is an authority in the fields of economic theory and natural resources. His talks here are under the sponsorship of the K-State Endowment association and the Guest Scholar program.

He will be a guest of K-State's chapter of the Order of Artus, honorary economics society, preceding tonight's address.

Nation's Folksongs Sung by Professor At Union Program

"The ballad has become an art form," stressed Dr. Earl Davis, head of the English department. "Americans have added sophistication to many of the traditional songs." This point was illustrated in the American interpretations of "Molly Malone," and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

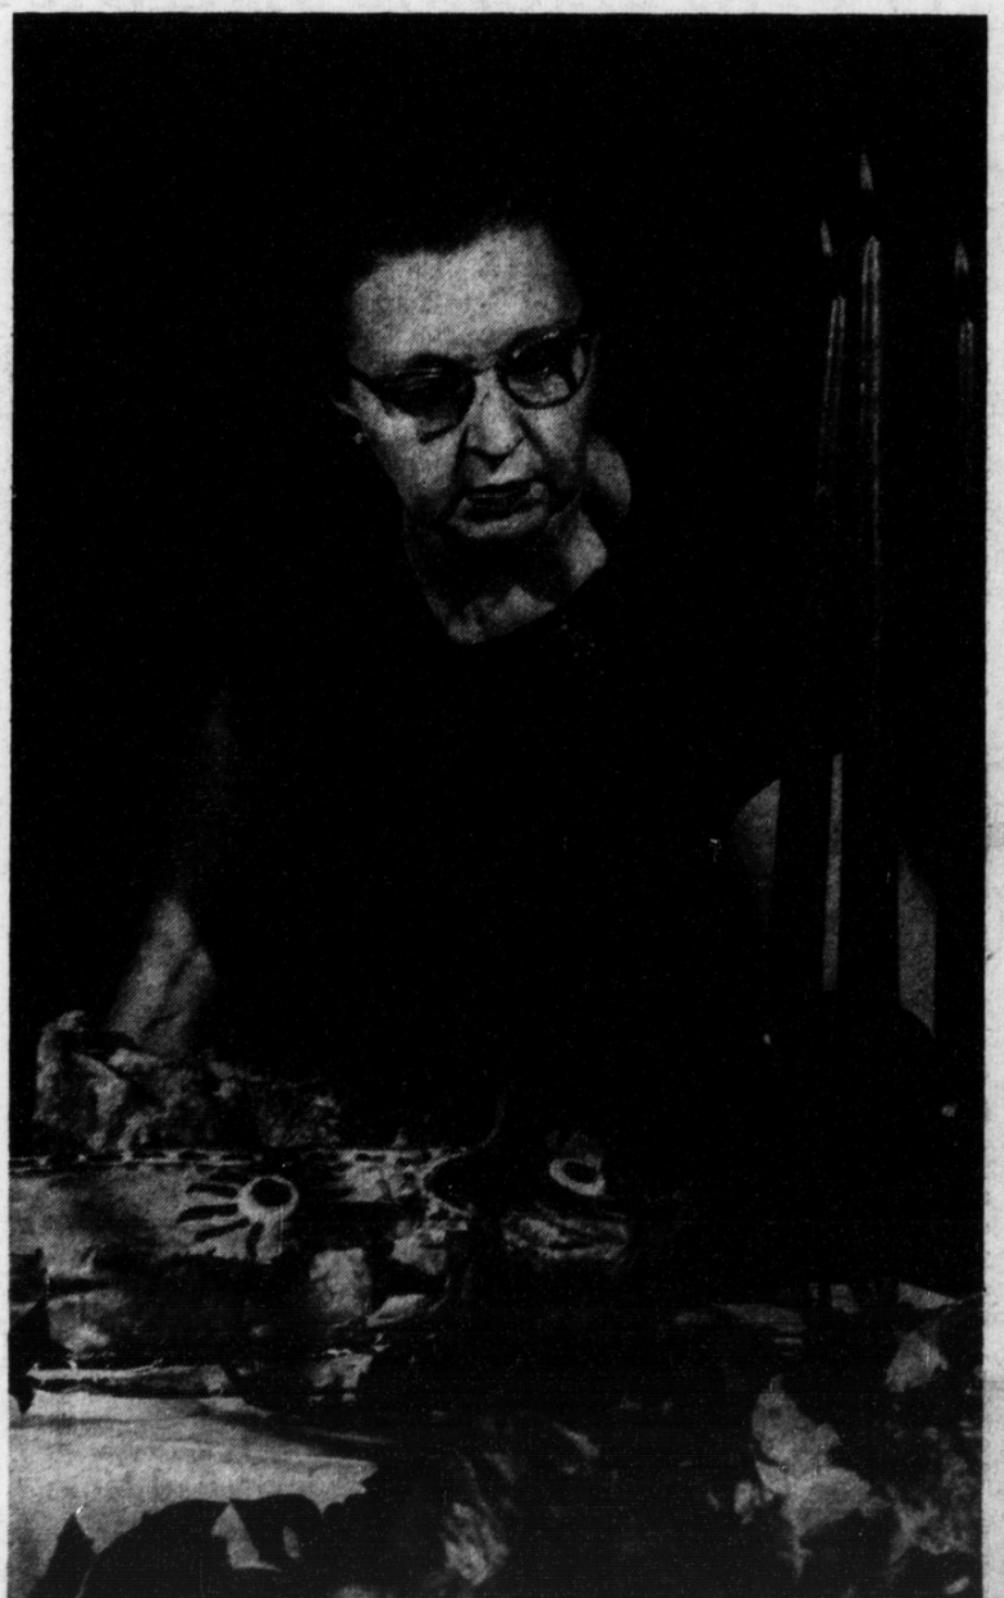

Dr. Davis presented a program of ballads in the browsing library of the student union yesterday.

The audience especially enjoyed Davis' rendition of political songs of the Republican and Democratic parties.

A medley of Kansas folk songs, "Wandering," and "Under the Bridges of Paris," were included in the program.

FOOD, FOOD EVERYWHERE—Mrs. Merna Zeigler, head of the Union food service, straightens candles on a table of food for the Swedish smorgasbord last night in the Union grand ballroom. The smorgasbord will also be served tonight and tomorrow night.

ROTC Petition Fails; Another Apathy Sign

FAILURE OF THE ROTC PETITION to get even more than three-fifths of the required number of signatures is a development that we hadn't foreseen.

Only 1,500 signed the petition—2,500 were needed to assure any sort of validity.

Even the most conservative estimators conceded that a two-to-one ratio favored the change from the present compulsory system to an optional system.

Student Body President Steve Douglas suggested that the petition be dropped, but that the issue not be closed. After a lot of debate, this suggestion was passed by Council.

"It wasn't a substantial enough outcome for further action," commented Douglas, "and certainly not enough to carry any weight to Faculty Senate or President McCain."

TWO POSSIBILITIES obviously exist why the petition was not successful. The first is that the petition did not represent the view of the majority of K-State males. The second may be attributed to those tired old words—student apathy.

A third alternative was raised by Douglas. He said that there was plenty of opportunity for students to sign the petition, but that in addition to disinterest and opposing views, many underclassmen refused to sign for fear their grade in ROTC would suffer.

WE'D TEND TO DISMISS the first and last possibilities, accept the popularity of optional ROTC, and put the blame squarely on apathy.

Many people at K-State are obviously too shortsighted to look ahead far enough to see anything that does not or will not affect them directly.

We don't know where the blame for the apathy lies. Perhaps it was with the Collegian for failing to give the petition adequate publicity. Perhaps it was the fault of former Councils, which did not allow the petition to come up before the public sentiment that was obvious two years ago died out.

AT ANY RATE, the proposal is at the moment dead, and we don't feel its death represents the wishes, or shall we say "subliminal" wishes, of our apathetic student body.—don veraska

President on Mediterranean Cruise;

Works on State of Union Message

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Aboard U.S.S. Essex in Mediterranean — President Eisenhower, refreshed by 10 hours sleep in the comfortable flag quarters of the cruiser Des Moines, worked today on a draft of his state of the union message he will deliver in January.

The Des Moines, part of a task force of the U.S. Sixth Fleet, was sailing placidly westward toward a salute at sea this afternoon by the British Mediterranean fleet. Press Secretary James Hagerty aboard the Des Moines radioed news of the President's activities to reporters on the escorting aircraft carrier Essex.

Dr. Malcolm Moos, administrative assistant to the President and a passenger aboard the Essex, was transferred by helicopter to the Chief Executive's ship during the morning and the two were holding a message-writing session before lunch.

Moos has been working on the state of the union message for weeks.

Convention Opposes Tax

Chicago — Delegates to the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation yesterday voted unanimously to approve a proposal to repeal the individual federal income tax.

The proposal, sponsored by the Wyoming delegation, now goes to the organization's resolutions committee as an amendment to its recommendations.

The amendment was proposed by Reuben Anderson, a Wyoming rancher, and backed by Donald Hanson of Kaycee, Wyo., who led his state's drive for the repeal. "It wouldn't impoverish the government one bit," Hanson said.

"The federal government takes the money it gets from the individual income tax and uses it to participate in the areas that should be left to private enterprise," he said.

"Government employees who lack the incentive of the 'profit motive' and who are subject to mistakes by the very nature of their business then proceed to lose about 10 billion dollars a year through their inefficiency," said Hanson, a 52-year-old father of six who owns three Wyoming and South Dakota ranches.

Hanson said government operations would go without the income tax because the Wyoming plan calls for a three-year period of "adjustment" before repeal, during which the nation "would have caught up with money lost in previous years by government inefficiency."

Heartaches by the Numbers' Reigns As Local Favorite on Record Lists

GUY MITCHELL'S "Heartaches by the Numbers" rules as the top record on the local scene this week. The tune was number one in record sales last week but wasn't among the top ten on the jukeboxes.

"Don't You Know" remains on both lists as number two on the jukeboxes and number six in record sales, but long-time favorite "Mack the Knife" has slipped out of the ratings in both categories.

JOHNNY MATHIS' "Misty" appears in the top ten for the first time this week as the number three song in record sales. The only other new songs also appear in record sales—"Come Into My Heart" by Lloyd Price and Toni Fisher's "Big Hurt."

Ernie Fields' "In the Mood" has moved up to the number three position on the jukeboxes and Brooks Benton's "So Many Ways" is the runner-up in record sales.

Residence Coeds To Group For Interdorm Council Sing

Coeds living in K-State residence halls join forces tomorrow night at 7 for a Christmas caroling party.

They will group in a bell formation on the front lawn of Van Zile hall, with the girls on the bell's perimeter holding lighted candles so the formation will be visible to spectators.

Chairman of the sing is Joyce Banks, FN Jr. Leading the singing is Carolyn Buck, PEW Jr. Others working on the plans are Deanna Degnan, EEd Soph; Kathy French, Gen Fr; and Diane McGauhey, HE Fr.

The sing is open to the public, and is sponsored each year by the Interdorm Council.

Feed Conference

New developments in animal nutrition, management, and formula feeds will be presented at the Kansas Formula Feed conference next month.

About 300 representatives and salesmen from feed companies, county agents and researchers are expected to attend.

According to T. B. Avery, head of the Department of Poultry Husbandry, management information will be stressed.

Sam Fine, chief of the Kansas

City district of the Feed Dealer's Association, will speak on planned activities of the Food and Drug administration.

Journalism Department

A book by a K-State staff member was included in a recent American book store exhibition sponsored by the Japan Publications Trading company in Tokyo.

The book chosen was "Yearbook Editing and Management," by C. J. Medlin of the Department of Technical Journalism. The book was published by the Iowa State University press.

Masonic Club

The December meeting of the KSU Masonic club will meet Thursday at 6:45 p.m. in SU 203.

Royal Purple pictures will be taken at 7:30 p.m.

All degrees of Masons are encouraged to attend.

KSU Library Lists Hours During Coming Vacation

During Christmas vacation, Farrell library will be closed the Christmas and New Years week ends but will be open on weekdays.

The schedule: Saturday, December 19, 8 a.m. to noon; Sunday, December 20, closed; Monday, December 21 through Wednesday, December 23, 8 a.m.

to 5 p.m.; Thursday, December 24, 8 a.m. to noon;

Christmas Day through Sunday, December 27, closed; Monday, December 28 through Thursday, December 31, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; New Years Day through Sunday, January 3, closed.

The Library will begin a trial period of remaining open Sunday night until 10 p.m. on Sunday, January 10 and the two following Sundays. Melvin J. Voigt, director of the Library has stressed that even if the program is successful, it may not become a permanent procedure. However, Voigt said he plans to seek funds if the new Sunday hours plan receives the acceptance of the students.

Voigt said there is a possibility that a program of later Sunday hours may be started toward the end of the second semester—a time with the most apparent demand for extra library time—even without an added fund allocation.

Bannister's Record Mile Run Rated Top Story of Decade

By UPI

The top sports story of the "Fabulous Fifties" occurred on May 6, 1954 when barrel-chested Roger Bannister stunned the athletic world by breaking the four-minute barrier in the mile run.

That was the verdict announced today in a poll of United Press International sports writers on the top 10 sports stories of the decade just drawing to a close.

Here's how the UPI writers rated the 10 biggest events from 1950-59:

1. Roger Bannister breaks four minute mile barrier (1954).

2. Don Larson's perfect pitching in World Series (1956).

3. Major league baseball expansion to west coast (1957).

4. College basketball scandals (1952-53).

5. Russia beats U.S. for summer Olympic team title (1956).

6. Bobby Thomson's homer wins pennant playoff for Giants (1951).

7. Ingemar Johansson knocks out Floyd Patterson (1959).

Bannister's historic mile run was a sports shot heard round the world. Competing for the British Amateur Athletic Association in a dual meet against Oxford, the blond British medical student climaxed a long, secret training campaign by flashing across the finish line in three minutes, 59.4 seconds for the mile run.

The miracle mile was a feat that had eluded the world's athletes so long that many wondered if it were humanly possible.

Oscar Nears Mark

Oscar Robertson, who already holds seven Missouri Valley conference individual scoring records, can add two more Saturday night at Louisville.

The Cincinnati all-American needs only 29 points to erase the career scoring record of 2,162 points set by Cleo Littleton of Wichita university in 1951-53.

Robertson also can wipe out the 761-career field goal record of Littleton with 15 two-pointers. He has scored 745 field goals in two years and has tallied 2,134 points.

Robertson is the Missouri Valley's leading scorer in the young 1959-60 season. In four games, he has tallied 172 points—an average of 43.0 per game.

Runnerup to Robertson is sophomore Chet Walker, Bradley, who is averaging 37.0 points in three games.

Other scoring leaders: Jim Mudd, North Texas State, 26.5; Jim Guydon, Drake, 20.8; Gary Phillips, Houston, 20.2; Al Tate, Wichita, 20.0; Dave Terre, Drake, 17.5; Bob Nordmann, St. Louis, 16.6; Ralph Davis, Cincinnati, 16.3; and B. L. Goodall, Tulsa, and Dan Smith, Bradley, 16.0 points.

Wildcat Tankers To Meet NU

Kansas State's swimming team will travel to Lincoln tomorrow where the Wildcat tankers will meet Nebraska university in their second meet of the year.

The swimming team, coached by Gordon Harper, will be looking for its first win of the season as the Wildcats dropped their opening meet last weekend to Kansas.

"We're off to a slow start this year because of illness and an injury, but we should be stronger as the year progresses," Harper said. Harper, a three-year letterman at K-State, is in his first year as coach of the swimming team.

Mike Pritchard was sidelined because of illness and will not be available until second semester. Pritchard was being counted on as one of the leaders of this year's squad.

Four lettermen form the nucleus of the swimming team. They include Jerry Fitzgerald, senior; Dave Hindliter, Craig McNeil and Chuck England, all juniors.

Other squad members include Ralph Peluso, senior; James Callen, Bruce Smith, Raymond Bentz, Mike Seaton and Ronald Converse, all sophomores.

K-State's first home meet will be January 9, with Emporia State.

All Wildcat home meets will begin at 2 p.m.

Probable entries at Nebraska:

THE MESSIAH, Handel's most successful oratorio, was presented during the all-University assembly in the Auditorium this morning. Over 2,000 attended. The four soloists were Jean Sloop, soprano; Rose Bissey, contralto; Ben Duerfeldt, tenor; and Paul Lefever, bass.

Line Schedules Available

Line schedules for second semester are now on sale at the Union Information desk. Price is 25 cents. The schedules list classes that are to be available for the spring term.

Annual Rig-a-Twig To Honor McCains

The annual Rig-a-Twig party honoring President and Mrs. McCain will be conducted this afternoon at 3:30 in the main lounge of the Union.

The sponsoring Coffee Hours committee of the Union Program Council has sent invitations to the different organizations on campus. Those who wish to help decorate the Christmas tree will bring their decoration to the party today.

The President and his wife are expected to attend, said Becky McMahon, EEd Soph, chairman of the Coffee Hours committee. The tree will be presented to the McCains after decoration and delivered to their home after the party.

Christmas carols will be sung and the Nasty Nine, Sigma Alpha Epsilon singing group, will perform.

"So far, the Smorgasbord has been a huge success," said Jean Turner, HEE Sr. Miss Turner helped supervise the serving of the Smorgasbord, as home economics education majors are required to work a minimum of six hours at Union banquet service.

Approximately 600 attended the annual event which has been described as the Union Food Services Christmas treat for the campus.

Miss Turner pointed out that the Union doesn't profit by the Smorgasbord, as the food presented is expensive and takes a good deal of time to prepare.

Between 5 and 75 items were included in the meal which features such Swedish foods as Swedish meatballs and brown beans, Lingonberries, cheese pudding, fresh salmon and pickled herring.

An entire frosted salmon decorated one table at this traditional Swedish dinner.

The Smorgasbord will be presented for the final time this year tonight from 5:15 to 6:30 in the grand ballroom of the Student Union. Tickets are $2.

Vocal Groups Give Messiah Concert

The annual Christmas assembly, a massed chorus of 300 students singing the Messiah, was presented at the University auditorium this morning. Over 2,000 persons heard the oratorio.

The four soloists for the production were Jean Sloop, soprano; Rose Bissey, contralto; Ben Duerfeldt, tenor; and Paul Lefever, bass.

Four K-State music groups, the University A Capella choir, University chorus, Women's Glee club, and Men's Glee club, made up the chorus. Selected members of the University-Civic orchestra, under the direction of Luther Leavengood, head of the Music department, accompanied the vocalists.

The musicians gave 16 selections in the oratorio generally designated as the "Christmas" portion.

The Messiah, Handel's most successful and best-known oratorio, was composed in 1741 in 24 days. It was first performed at a concert given for charitable purposes at Dublin, Ireland, on April 13, 1742. Handel conducting the performance in person.

Beginning with the year 1743 Handel brought out the Messiah every year in London with great applause; in course of time he made various alterations in certain numbers, set several new ones to music, transcribed a few arias for different voices, but left the work as a whole unchanged, both vocally and instrumentally.

No musical work has had such long, continuous and enduring popularity as the Messiah.

The tradition of the audience's standing for the Hallelujah chorus came by way of a mistake. At a performance in London before King George II, his enthusiasm for the music and the performance was so great that he stood and applauded. This was a signal for the audience to do likewise. Since that performance the audience has always stood for the singing of the Hallelujah chorus.

Chicago Police Start Investigation Into Slaying of Prohibition King

Chicago—Police launched an intensive investigation today into the shotgun murder of Roger Touhy, one of the nation's best known prohibition era mobsters, and the wounding of his bodyguard, a retired police sergeant.

The investigation included questioning of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, longtime Touhy adversary, who happened to be in town when the pint-sized ex-beer baron was gunned down last night in oldfashioned gangland style.

Touhy, 66, bled to death 37 minutes before midnight (CST) just 23 days after he was let out of Stateville prison, where he had served 25 years for kidnaping Factor. Touhy claimed he was framed on the kidnaping.

Touhy, who had lived and thrived through a decade of rum-running violence, was shot a little after 10 p.m. CST on the steps of the west side home of his sister, Mrs. Ethel Alesia, where he had been living since his parole.

Touhy's bodyguard, Walter Miller, 62, who was a star defense witness at Touhy's kidnaping trial, was critically wounded in a gun battle with two men, at least one of whom fired six .12 gauge shotgun shells.

Touhy and Miller collapsed on the steps leading to the porch of Mrs. Alesia's home shortly after stepping out of a car. Touhy was shot only in the left leg but lost life blood on the way to a hospital.

Demo Senators Lash Out

Washington—Two Democratic Senators today challenged the administration's claim that the United States leads the Soviet Union in means of delivering nuclear weapons.

Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) disputed the statement of Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates that this country leads Russia "both with respect to nuclear weapons and the means of their delivery."

Gore said that Gates, who gave the assurance yesterday to the NATO Council of Ministers in Paris, seemed "to overlook two things."

The Tennessean, a member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said in an interview that these two points were "Russia's lead in rocketry" and "the effectiveness of anti-aircraft weapons against planes."

"Both of which operate to Russia's advantage," Gore said.

Gore said he was "inclined to believe that the Secretary was right in his assumption" that this country is superior to Russia in stockpile and quality of nuclear weapons.

"However, that is an opinion," he said. "Neither he nor anyone else in the government has any exact knowledge of the stockpile or quality of Soviet nuclear weapons."

Mansfield, in a radio interview, said he "would doubt" the Gates statement. The Assistant Senate Democratic leader said "the Russians are ahead of us" in the fields of Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles and space rockets.

"If we do not wake up, we are in danger of becoming a second class nation," Mansfield said.

Demo Hopefuls to Speak

Washington—All eight major Democratic presidential hopefuls will speak on the same platform for the first time at a $100-a-plate fund raising banquet here Jan. 23, the Democratic national committee announced today.

Former President Harry S. Truman also will attend the affair, billed as the kick-off dinner of the 1960 presidential campaign.

The potential nominees who will speak are Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (Texas), Robert F. Kennedy (Mass.), Stuart Symington (Mo.), and Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Govs. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, and twice-beaten candidate Adlai E. Stevenson.

All the hopefuls except Johnson spoke at a banquet honoring Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in New York City Dec. 8.

Editor Explains to Castro

Washington—The President of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) has told Cuban Premier Fidel Castro that jailed reporter James Buchanan was acting solely as a newsman on his recent trip to Cuba.

In a telegram to Castro yesterday society President J. R. Wiggins, executive editor and vice president of the Washington Post and Times Herald, expressed hope that Buchanan would be released "when you are fully informed."

Buchanan, a reporter for the Miami Herald, was jailed by the Castro regime on charges of withholding information about unlawful elements.

Senior Accounting Students at KSU Begin Internships with Firms Dec. 28

Twelve senior accounting majors will begin a six-week internship December 28 with nine public accounting firms in the Mid-West, according to W. J. Clark, associate professor of accounting, who is in charge of the program.

The men will complete their first semester's work December 19, and will work as junior accountants from December 28 to February 6, returning to the campus in time to start second semester classes February 8.

Robert Baer has been assigned to the firm of Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery of Rockford, Ill.; Dale Bowersock, Roland Floberg and Larry Kruckenberg to Haskins and Sells of Chicago; Larry Bowser, Breisford, Gifford, Hardesty and Batz of Topeka; Virgil Brunner, Touche, Niven, Bailey and Smart of Kansas City; Robert Friedrick and Douglas Ward, Arthur Anderson and company, of Kansas City; Darwin Klein, Price Waterhouse and company, of Kansas City; Leslie Ogg, Peak, Marwick and Mitchell of Kansas City; John Simmons, Kennedy and Coe of Salina; and Robert Straub, Moberly, West and Jennings of Wichita.

The training period is part of the course, Internship in Accounting, for which students must have permission of the instructor to enroll, Clark said.

A faculty committee considers each of the students on the basis of grade point average and personality before assigning them to a firm. "Public accounting is a highly selective accounting area," Clark pointed out. "You could say these students are the cream of the accounting crop."

As junior accountants, the students will be concerned with auditing, income tax statements and cost studies—areas in which certified public accountants work.

The men will receive wages slightly lower than that of a junior accountant, Clark said. "They'll come home with enough money to pay their second semester fees and some left over." Because January is the busiest month for public accounting firms, the students will have an opportunity for many overtime hours.

Final grades for the course will be based on an evaluation check list filled in by the firm and the student's report on the entire internship experience, the professor explained.

Several accounting firms promoted the program four years ago as a good method for improving the caliber of professional training, Clark said. "They feel the students make a definite contribution to the firm during the six-week period."

A threefold purpose is achieved by the program, in that the seniors experience actual accounting work, see the general operation of the firms, and make contacts with employers who will be hiring graduates.

One of the seniors, Dale Bowersock, pointed out the strong points of the program as giving students an idea of what will be expected of them in public accounting, and preparing them better for their future employment.

"The accounting firms told us we would be working during the busiest month of the year," Bowersock remarked, "and not to judge them too harshly if they work us long and hard!"

Los Angeles—A man appeared at the locked front door of market owner Alex Papalexis' store yesterday and Papalexis told him, "come back at 9:30—opening time." The man did and, producing a .45 caliber automatic, robbed Papalexis of $706 and a loaf of bread.

St. Michael's Mount, England—Lord St. Elevan yesterday reported a giant seagull has been attacking his castle, snatching hats off himself and his friends.

New Cassel, N.Y.—"Give us them bags of money," demanded one of three gunmen yesterday. Plant cashier William Schaefer, returning to Dugan Bros. bakery from a bank, unhesitatingly handed over a bank bag and a paper one. After all, he noted later, all the bandits got was a lot of Christmas club books they could not use and 12 apples.

Petoskey, Mich.—Hunters George Parker and George Weaver proudly told today of their successful rescue and treatment of a half-drowned doe.

They pulled out the doe, which had fallen through river ice, and gave it a healthy slug of brandy. The doe shivered to its feet and weaved off into the woods.

WAMPUM BELT and blanket once belonging to Geronimo are displayed by Barbara Detrick, Ed Fr. Barbara received the items from her grandfather who knew Geronimo after his capture at Ft. Sill.

Coeds' Knowledge of Indians Aided by Relics of Geronimo

By JEAN HODLER

A blanket and wampum belt which once belonged to Geronimo are now owned by Barbara Detrick, Ed Fr., adding tangibility to her knowledge of Indian lore.

Barbara's grandfather, Charles Detrick, was an interpreter on the Ft. Sill, Okla., Indian reservation during the 1890's. He became a personal friend of Geronimo, leader of an Apache band of "hostiles" terrorizing New Mexico and Arizona territories before his capture in 1887.

Geronimo was jailed at Ft. Sill from 1894 until his death in 1909. He gave Detrick a blanket he'd used during the Apache wars, and one of his headed leather wampum belts, both of which Barbara has with her at K-State.

"I could write a book about all the Indian stories grandfather told me," Barbara said. "Probably because of his soft-spoken and genial manner, grandfather was freely accepted and became a close friend of the Apaches and Comanches at the reservation. But he was never adopted as one of their own because the Indians feel the white men inferior to them."

Charles Detrick was born in Gettysburg, Pa., in 1871. The family moved to Abilene, then to Caldwell where they founded a grocery-general store which Barbara's father now owns.

A dictionary of the Comanche language, written by him, is in the Oklahoma university library.

Geronimo's blanket, not the only one he had, Barbara points out, is woven of black wool-like material. It is about the size of an ordinary bedspread. According to a note by Barbara's grandfather, the cloth had been woven in England and purchased for $24. The Indians wove the material lengths together with a narrow striped pattern, and bound the edges with a red, inch-wide binding.

Barbara's family has beaded moccasins, vests, deerskin dresses, and many other items personally presented to Charles Detrick by the Indians during his stay at the reservation. These trunkfuls of Americana and the Indian legends behind them—will someday be passed on to future generations by Miss Detrick.

KS Investigates Bacteria

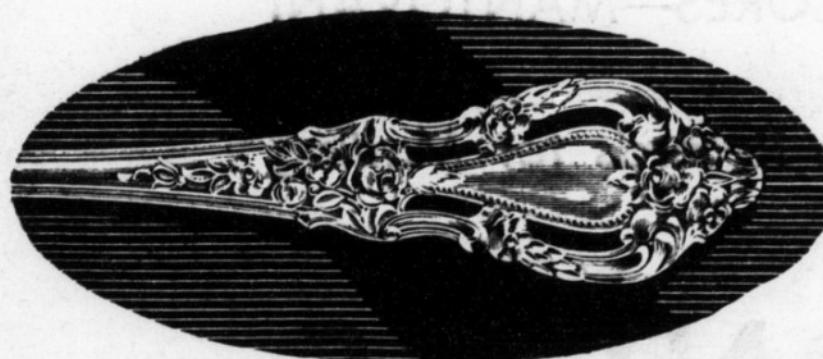

Research being conducted under a new National Institutes of Health grant awarded K-State may give answers to seemingly inexplicable outbreaks of staphylococcal disease.

The $19,000 grant is for a three-year study to determine if staphylococci are widely spread in man and animal and may find their way into food. The more pertinent danger lies in the fact that if these bacteria get a chance to grow in foods, these foods may be involved in food infections and food poisoning.

K-State researchers investigating this problem, V. D. Foltz, bacteriology, and Ross Mickelsen, dairy husbandry, will spend three full years on the project. They will check the operation of various facilities of the dairy industry to study procedures.

Eight School Systems To Interview Students

Eight school systems in Kansas, Colorado, California, Oklahoma and New Mexico will be on campus during January, February and March to interview students in education, said Roland Swaim, assistant director of the Placement Center.

The schools and dates are:
Jefferson County, Colo.—January 7

Wichita—January 12
Topeka—January 13
Santa Clara, Calif.—February 8
Abilene—February 11

Tulsa, Oklahoma—March 2
Albuquerque, N.M.—March 7
Denver, Colo.—March 7, 8

Representatives from Lawrence will also meet with students, but a time has not been arranged, Swaim said.

Participating students may schedule interviews at the Placement Center in Room 8, Anderson hall, by signing the lists of the schools in which they are interested. An interview schedule containing the name of the school and the majors representatives wish to see will be posted three weeks in advance of that school's visit in the entrance-way of the center.

Three teaching contracts have been signed this season for second semester positions. Recipients of the contracts are Wendy Gray, SED Sr; Monne Smith, EED Sr; Barbara David, HT Sr; Karen Herthel, EED Sr, will teach in a Manhattan elementary school, but will not assume her position until next September. "This is highly unusual to receive an offer so far in advance," Swaim said.

Judy Young Crowned Queen At Sig Ep-Pike Roman Dual

Judy Young, Psy Jr., was crowned queen of the Sigma Phi Epsilon-Pi Kappa Alpha Daud formal Friday night. John Stone, BA Sr., crowned the queen and presented her with a trophy and a bouquet of roses during the ceremony. Judy was selected from six candidates all of whom are pinned or engaged to Sigma Phi Epsilon or Pi Kappa Alpha members. The judges for the queen contest were alumni of both fraternities and Manhattan merchants.

Chaperones for Friday night's formal were Sgt. William C. Robinson, instructor in military science; his wife; William R. Fischer, associate professor of music; his wife; Mrs. Ruth Johanssen, Sigma Phi Epsilon housemother; and Mrs. R. M. Dannenberg, Pi Kappa Alpha housemother.

Gamma Phi Beta won first place and a traveling trophy in the Orgy production Saturday afternoon with their skit "Ceasar Was a Teaser, but Achilles Was a Heel." The second place plaque went to the Pi Beta Phis with "Royal Roman Orgy Training Corps," and the third place plaque to the Kappa Deltas with "That Ain't the Way I Heard It."

Large white columns and a bathtub full of fruit decorated the Lee grade school gymnasium where the Roman Orgy costume party was given Saturday night. The pledge classes of both fraternities presented skits for entertainment. The Sig Ep pledge class gave "Sword Smoke," and the PiKAs, "The Prophecy of Oedipus."

Chaperones for Saturday night's party were R. S. Cochran, instructor in statistics; Mrs. Cochran; Elton Green, instructor in physical education; his wife; and the fraternity housemothers.

Silver Bells Ring At Van Zile Party

"Silver Bells" was the theme of the Christmas formal dance at Van Zile hall Saturday night. Bud Prestwood's band from Manhattan provided the music for dancing. Other entertainment included a pantomime "All I Want for Christmas is My Two Front Teeth" and a quartet singing "Silver Bells."

Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Steltzen, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tunison. Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Tunison are the directors of Van Zile and Mrs. Steltzen is the dietitian.

JUDY YOUNG, Psy Jr., new 1959 Sigma Phi Epsilon-Pi Kappa Alpha Daud queen, receives a bouquet of roses and a trophy from John Stone, BA Sr.

Delt Seniors Present Skit At Fraternity Paddle Party

A skit by the graduating seniors of Delta Tau Delta fraternity was presented to members and their dates at the Delt paddle party at the chapter house Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Keller acted as chaperones for the party.

Couples danced to the music of Matt Betton and his orchestra at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Bell ball Saturday night in the Terrace room of the Wareham hotel.

"Kappa Dreamland" was the theme of the Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge party last Friday night. The guests were greeted by a big snowman in the hallway before they entered the house for the semi-formal dance.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity had its annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange last night.

Oscar Sanburg, national traveling secretary of Delta Upsilon fraternity, was a house guest of the chapter from Friday until Tuesday.

Dorm Door Winners Get Breakfast in Bed,

Coeds do not rate breakfast in bed served by dorm directors very often, but seven Northwest hall residents did Friday morning. Misses Kay Wilson and Faye Pritchard, directors, carried trays to these girls as prizes for having the best decorated doors in the Christmas decorations contest. Winners were Michael Hurt, EED Fr.; Diana Betton, SED Fr.; and Jan Caldwell, Gen Fr., for the prettiest door; Pat Rinker, EED Fr., and Kay McAninch, HT Fr., for the best religious theme; and Susie Young, BiS Fr., and Mary Ellen Malmberg, Ar 1, for the cleverest idea.

K-State, Kansas To Host Western Pair in Twinbill

Kansas State and Kansas university will attempt to better last weekend's doubleheader performances when the two host Brigham Young and San Francisco in the third annual "Sunflower Doubleheaders."

Kansas State will tackle Brigham Young in the opener at Lawrence tomorrow and will play San Francisco in the nightcap at Manhattan Saturday.

BYU's Cougars were the only team to hand the Wildcats a regular-season defeat last year, upending them, 77-68, at Provo. This season the Cougars have suffered alongside the Wildcats, like K-State finding early-season opponents too rugged. Heading into this third annual Sunflower quartet, BYU has only one win—that a 54-52 defeat of Washington U. in the season opener. After that they have been tumbled by three teams—Washington U. (60-52), UCLA (62-42) and Southern California (79-61).

San Francisco got on the winning track with a 68-62 win at Denver U. last Tuesday night, after absorbing five losses.

Kansas will open doubleheader play Friday with a 3-2 record, showing impressive wins over Northwestern (76-67), Texas Tech (85-71), and North Carolina State (80-58). The Jayhawk losses have been to North Carolina (60-49) and to Kentucky (77-72), the latter a narrow overtime affair at Lawrence Monday.

Kansas State, dropped by four major powers since its opening win here Dec. 1, has led all but

Valley Teams Notch Wins

By UPI

St. Louis and Bradley are knocking off those Eastern tourists like clay pigeons, but they're saving their best ammunition for top-ranked Cincinnati, their Missouri Valley neighbor.

The bouncing Billikens, ranked sixth in this week's United Press International basketball ratings, rallied in the second half to defeat invading Providence college, 65-61, last night and avenge their surprise loss to the Friars in last season's National Invitation Tournament.

Eighth-ranked Bradley, which scrambled to a 57-55 victory over Providence Monday night, enjoyed easier sledding against Fordham. Al Saunders and Dan Smith totaled 39 points between them in leading the Braves to a 74-54 triumph over the touring New Yorkers.

Bradley will face its third straight Eastern rival tomorrow night when it entertains Boston university and then opens its Missouri Valley conference schedule at Cincinnati next Tuesday night. St. Louis, though, won't get its first crack at the Bearcats until January 13.

Providence was far from disgraced in its battle with St. Louis. The New Englanders led at halftime, 32-31, but cooled off shortly after the start of the second half when St. Louis scored 12 straight points to gain command.

Pete McCaffrey scored 14 points for the Billikens, who will carry a 5-1 record to Kentucky.

one foe at halftime only to see the lead get away in late action. The Wildcats were toppled, 67-58, by St. Louis UU. here ahead of a three-game road swing against North Carolina State, North Carolina, and Indiana. The upcoming doubleheaders will be K-State's last action ahead of the Pre-Season Big Eight tourney at Kansas City, starting Dec. 26.

In the two earlier Sunflower Doubleheader events Kansas State has been all-victorious, defeating Washington and California universities in 1957-58, and St. Joseph's and North Carolina State last season.

Loop Teams Shuffle Records; Missouri on Top; Cats Last

This year's Big Eight standings to date look like the finish of last season's final standings—only in reverse order.

Missouri, the team that finished in the cellar last year, is currently setting the pace in the Big Eight with a 4-0 record. The Tigers only need three more wins this year to surpass last year's number of wins for the entire season—six.

Included in these four victories are such teams as Indiana, Wisconsin, Arkansas and Washington, Mo. Joe Scott and Charlie Henke have been the big guns for the Tigers so far this year.

And currently on the bottom of the conference standing is last year's champion, Kansas State. The Wildcats breezed through the schedule last year with no conference defeats and only two non-conference setbacks. But K-State has already dropped four games—all in a row since taking an easy win from South Dakota State.

St. Louis, North Carolina State, North Carolina and Indiana have all claimed victories over the Wildcats this year.

The Oklahoma Sooners are the only team that is performing according to schedule, in comparison with last year's standings.

Oklahoma is still in second place. They have won four games this year with their latest victim being SMU. A few new faces in the Sooners' lineup have made them a contender for this year's title.

Kansas university, the team picked by conference coaches to win the Big Eight in a pre-season poll, is presently in the number six position. The Jayhawks have dropped two games to Kentucky and North Carolina—but show a good scoring attack. Sophomore Wayne Hightower scored 33 points against Kentucky and has been the spark during the young season for the Jayhawks.

Tonight's schedule includes Rice at Missouri and Michigan State at Nebraska.

K-State and Kansas will host Brigham Young and San Francisco in a pair of doubleheaders this weekend to highlight pre-tournament activity.

Colorado will travel to California this weekend to tackle last year's NCAA champion—California university. Oklahoma will be at Iowa, Oklahoma State at Air Force, Nebraska at Oregon State, Iowa State at Washington, and Missouri at Minnesota.

The first conference game will follow the Big Eight tournament, January 9.

The Big Eight standings:
Missouri	4	0
Oklahoma	4	1
Iowa State	2	1
Nebraska	2	1
Colorado	4	2
Kansas	3	2
Oklahoma State	4	3

Cold Periods Haunt K-State

Fighting frigid second-half shooting which they have suffered in three games and still lacking top play at center, Kansas State heads into a two-game test against Western opponents this weekend. The Wildcats pair with Kansas U. in hosting Brigham Young and San Francisco universities in Friday-Saturday "Sunflower Double-headers."

K-State meets BYU at 7:35 p.m. in Friday's twin-bill at Lawrence; and faces San Francisco at 9:15 p.m. here Saturday. Kansas plays the other half of each pair.

The Wildcats have lost four straight for the first time since the 1956-57 season, but all have been against nationally-ranked teams. The last was Monday's 67-58 loss to Indiana at Bloomington, after the Wildcats led 34-26, at half.

"We were encouraged by our play at Indiana," said Coach Tex Winter. "We played our best basketball of the season.

MU Braces For Georgia

Missouri university's football team, preparing for its Orange Bowl battle with Georgia New Year's Day, has scheduled a full-dress rehearsal tomorrow. Coach Devine said his first and alternate units will face the reserves in the scrimmage tomorrow. The lineups will be about the same as those he had been using most of the year.

The backfield includes Phil Snowden, quarterback, Mel West and Donnie Smith at halfbacks, and Jim Miles at fullback.

But we are still undecided on our line-up, since we are hurting at center."

The Wildcat coach explained that Cedric Price, 6-5 1/2 junior center, has been plagued with injuries that have held him way below his potential.

"Price has been playing well in some games, but he hasn't been able to put out at full speed in practice," Winter explained. "First he was held up by the shoulder injury he received in football; then a back injury sidelined him from full-speed work, and now he is nursing a hurt knee. He appears to be injury prone."

Mike Wroblewski, 6-8 sophomore center, hasn't played up to expectations to date, leaving the Wildcats with a lean talent list at the pivot. Winter hinted that a Wildcat forward might be pressed into center duty in the weekend doubleheader, pointing to Larry Comley, 6-5, and Phil Heitmeyer, 6-4 1/2, as possibilities.

The KSU coach said he would continue shuffling the starters until he came up with a combination "which can work together in practice."

"Lack of progress in practice is hurting. We need to work together, long and hard, on our mistakes. We need five starters in top physical condition," Tex added.

Fans to See Lineup Shift

Both K-State coach Tex Winter and Kansas coach Dick Harp have hinted lineup changes for the doubleheader tomorrow and Saturday night.

In the Wildcat lineup, 5-10 guard Bill Guthridge is listed as a probable starter in place of Steve Douglas who is scheduled to start at a forward position for Larry Comley.

For KU, Harp said that Jim Hoffman, 6-3 senior, will start in place of 6-5 senior Al Donaghue.

Syracuse Presented Trophy By UPI for Top Selection

The United Press International trophy, emblematic of the 1959 National collegiate football championship, was formally presented to Syracuse university last night.

Leo H. Peterson, UPI sports editor, presented the trophy to Syracuse coach Floyd Schwartzwalder as the highlight of an annual banquet tendered the team and its coaches by the varsity and touchdown club of Syracuse university.

Known as the "U.P.I. Cup," the huge trophy is awarded each year to the team chosen best in the nation by the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press International board of coaches. The ratings by the coaches have become generally accepted as the most authoritative in the field.

Syracuse guard Roger Davis also was presented the UPI's "Lineman of The Year" award by Peterson. Davis was named for the honor in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Mexican Movie Will Be Shown

"La Casa Colorado" ("The Red House") will be presented by Cinema 16 at 7:30 this evening in the Union little theater.

The movie is supposed to be one of the best motion pictures to come from Mexico in recent years. Its story concerns the down-to-earth Mexicans of small towns and country, and of their trials and tribulations during the war-torn period of the Mexican social revolution of 1910-1920.

Pedro Armendariz gives a striking portrayal of mental unbalance in this tense film, projected against the background of the Mexican revolution. The story is taken from the prize-winning novel of the same name by Jose Moya Sarmiento.

Flight Training Program Offered to ROTC Cadets

"Army aviation, a comparatively new field, is expanding and growing to perform a major function in the Army in the near future," said Major John F. Gerrity, military science instructor at K-State.

The army flight training program now in effect at K-State is one of the few being carried out in the United States. This program accepts applicants to flight training on the basis of rigid tests and grades.

After being accepted, the training program consists for the individual of 35 hours of ground school and 36 1/2 hours of actual flying time. Flying time is divided into 19 hours and 15 minutes of dual flighting and 17 hours and 15 minutes of solo time. After having completed these hours, and taking a written examination the trainees will be granted a pilots license.

Six K-State seniors have successfully passed the written examination for a pilots license this semester and will be awarded their license upon completion of flying time in January. The students who will be receiving their license are Paul Faidley, AEd; Jim Lisher, BA; Dean Lowell, Psy; Gary Luck, IE; LaVern Rollet, ArE; and Engle Scott, Geo.

K-State's six students will upon completion of college spend one year in flight school plus two years in regular army and will be trained for one of six missions. They are observation, troop movement, rapid movement of critical supplies, reconnaissance, communications and casualty evacuation.

"Our training program is definitely an asset to the school and

Artists' Ingenuity Earns Big Dividends

Ingenuity on the part of a K-State art major and the wife of an architecture student has earned them an estimated $55 in the past three days.

The two women, Marjorie Norton, Art Soph, and Lois Cowley, wife of Gerald Cowley, Ar 5, have sketched portraits of more than 90 students, helping to stimulate interest in the clothesline sale of original art work by students and faculty in the Union art lounge.

They started their "sidewalk artist" business Tuesday, after Mrs. Cowley mentioned the possibility of sketching portraits to Mrs. Sue Burgess, Union Program director.

Miss Norton chose to draw profiles because of the simplicity and rapidity with which they can be sketched. Drawing the nose and making sure the head was the proper size were most difficult, according to the art sophomore. "When you do things like this, you have to exaggerate the outstanding features, but not too much, or you'll lose the likeness entirely," she explained.

In the 11 hours of drawing, Miss Norton earned about $18, charging 50 cents for each student. She sketched approximately 35 students during the three-day period.

Her profit was cut a bit short when one student demanded another sketch. "I heard him say he didn't want the picture to look like him, so I made him handsome and debonaire," she replied. The irate gentleman returned the next day, picture in hand, suggesting she do another one.

Miss Norton, who would like to teach art in a junior college in the northeastern United States, realized at least one thing during her three-day stretch as an artist—"If I were ever away from home and had the price of a sketch pad and box of crayons, I'd be able to make some money!"

KS Students' Cars Damaged in Wreck

Major damages were inflicted on the 1952 sedan driven by Mike McDonald yesterday when he ran into the 1957 convertible of Marvin Mustard, BA Fr.

The accident occurred on Vatier drive east of Anderson hall at 2:30 p.m. Damage to McDonald's car was estimated at $250 and the damage to Mustard car at $50.

The Campus Patrol report stated that Mustard stopped suddenly to pick up a friend and McDonald was unable to avoid crashing into the rear of Mustard's car. Witnesses said McDonald was not crowding the car in front and he maintained he was not speeding. No charges have been filed, said investigating officers Sgt. J. E. Parkins and Officer Fred Graybeal.

head of the English Proficiency program—brought tree decorations to the Rig-a-Twig party honoring President and Mrs. McCain yesterday afternoon.

Under the direction of the Coffee Hours committee of the Union Program council, the party was in the Main Lounge of the Union. UPC chairman Larry Bingham, BAA Soph, called the name of the organizations, and a representative of the group placed the bright bauble upon the tree, which was presented to the McCains at the end of the ceremonies.

"To Larry and all the organizations I wish to express my very great and heartfelt appreciation for myself and my wife Janet," the President declared.

"We are, and always have been, very proud and pleased to be associated with the students at K-State, and have always found the Rig-a-Twig party very moving. We have saved the decorations for the last several years and this year we may need two or three trees to place all those decorations upon."

Larry Foulke, NE Sr, led the large crowd attending in singing traditional Christmas songs and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon singing group, the Nasty Nine, performed.

Top Choral Group To Appear at KS

The Roger Wagner Chorale, hailed by critics as the United States' finest singing group, will appear at Kansas State as the second feature of the 1959-60 Manhattan Artist Series. The concert will be presented at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, January 10 in the Auditorium.

The Chorale, founded by French-born director Roger Wagner a little over a dozen years ago, is currently on tour across the United States and Canada for the fifth time. This year's itinerary also took the group to South America for the first time.

The Chorale made its first public appearance in the Los Angeles City Hall in 1946. Since then it has given a performance in the Hollywood Bowl each summer.

The Wagner Chorale's versatility has been demonstrated by performances which range from Verdi to "Salute to Disneyland." They have appeared in concert halls, on radio and television, and record for Capitol Records.

Five of their latest records, Holst's "Planets" sung with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, "House of the Lord," "Sea Chanties," "Starlight Chorale," and "Virtuoso," have been released by Capitol in stereophonic as well as monophonic versions.

The Chorale's ten-country August-through-October tour of South America was under the sponsorship of President Eisenhower's Special International Program for Cultural Presentations administered by the American National Theatre and Academy.

The 24 choristers—12 men and 12 women—are augmented by a chamber orchestra, also under the direction of Roger Wagner. The chorus and orchestra travel together as a unit.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the music office in the Auditorium. All seats are reserved. Admission for students is $1 with activity ticket.

Local Students Destitute After 'Con Man' Strikes

"It's a relief. All I have to do is go home, pick up my fountain pen and I'm packed," Duane Miller, Sp, laughed sarcastically.

Miller, along with roommates Tom Blakely and Dick Donovan, students at Manhattan Bible college and K-State, are rather destitute after a con man hit them Wednesday, taking about $700 worth of clothing and other personal belongings.

"He seemed like a very fine fellow," Miller said yesterday. "It wouldn't have been so bad if he had broken in and gotten the stuff, but we all had such confidence in him."

Miller and his friends weren't the only ones taken in by the man. The student said that members of a Hiawatha church had been sending money to its guest all week long.

The minister of the church introduced the man to the students Sunday. "He called himself Fred Abbott," Miller said, but "the Manhattan police told us it was an alias."

"Abbott" moved in with the students Sunday evening, and spent Monday and Tuesday with them. He left Wednesday.

"He timed it right," Miller said. "We had planned on moving out this week, and he used this as an excuse when our landlady caught him with a lot of our belongings. He told her he was helping us move."

Leaving his own clothing at the house, "Abbott" took almost all of the three men's clothing, an electric typewriter, razors, radios and three dollars in loose change. He called a cab, and left town by bus.

The men didn't notice anything was missing until Wednesday evening when they began dressing for a party. One by one they saw their trousers, white shirts, coats and razors were gone. It didn't take much longer to figure out what had happened.

"Abbott" told his hosts that he was a professional gambler, but had become tired of it.

"Abbott" had been the guest of the Hiawatha minister for several days before he came to Manhattan. According to Miller, the man seemed greatly interested in religion. He attended church in Hiawatha, and read the students' books on religion, seemingly with interest.

France Gives a Huge Welcome To Former Hero and Liberator

Compiled From UPI
By JAY CRABB

Toulon, France — President Eisenhower arrived today in this security-conscious naval base city and received another tremendous welcome by vast crowds which lined up hours in advance to cheer him on his 30-minute car ride from ship to train.

The President arrived aboard the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Des Moines and transferred to President Charles De Gaulle's super-luxurious gold and silver trimmed special train for the ride to Paris and the start tomorrow of a Western Summit conference.

All predictions were the noisy reception would be one of the greatest Eisenhower had received in France since his liberating armies landed in 1944. He had been in Paris frequently since then but this was his first visit to the South of France in years and the welcome showed it.

Flag-decked French warships in the harbor boomed a 21-gun salute across the bay as the Des Moines arrived in port escorted by other units of the U.S. 6th Fleet and by the French Cruiser Colbert and seven destroyer escorts which had met the cruiser half an hour off the coast to give Eisenhower his first French salute.

The streets were jammed with French soldiers and sailors in full dress uniforms and with thousands of dockworkers and civilian arsenal workers who had been given an extra hour off for lunch to watch as Eisenhower drove from the Quai D'Honneur to the railway station.

Heavy security precautions were in effect. French Navy frogmen searched the bottom of the harbor today for mines and other hazards and checked the pier where Eisenhower stepped ashore. Two thousand sailors were marshaled along the route of the presidential motorcade, and a pilot train was preceding the presidential special to Paris.

Another 2,000 soldiers and marine riflemen were lined up along the half mile from the naval base to the train station in the center of this seaport city which dates back to Roman times.

Police Search for Clues

Chicago—Homicide detectives today pored over massive files of Chicago's underworld history and searched the littered basement of a home for clues to the assassins of mobster Roger Touhy.

But the investigation, one of the most intensive in a long line of gangland slaying probes, had revealed little more than that the 61-year-old prohibition beer baron could have been slain by organization mobsters or someone who held a personal grudge.

Federal investigators contend that Touhy and his bodyguard, Walter Miller, 62, were gunned down Wednesday night by the Mafia, international crime organization, to "seal their lips forever."

But the Chicago police investigation proceeded on the assumption that either hoodlums from Touhy's underworld past or gunmen of Chicago's current crime syndicate blasted the pair with shotguns.

Miller, a longtime friend of Touhy and a defense witness at his parole hearings, remained in critical condition at a hospital with shotgun pellets in his legs, buttocks and back.

Investigators' best clue so far was the finding of a basement hideout across the street from the home where Touhy had been living since his parole from prison only 23 days before he was shot.

Police believed the killers kept watch over the home of Mrs. Ethel Lesia, Touhy's sister, for perhaps 10 days, watching Touhy's comings and going to determine when best to cut him down.

Two gunmen apparently hid out behind the hedges near the Lesia home Wednesday night, police said, and ambushed Touhy and Miller shortly after 10 p.m. as they returned from a business engagement in the loop.

A retired Rabbi, Harry Zinn, 70, owner of the building in which the "lookout" basement was located, told police he found a strange man there one day last week.

The stranger told him, "I'm just checking up on my son. He's running around with a girl in this neighborhood."

But police were certain the man must have been spying on Touhy. One pane of glass in a three-pane window was wiped clean of dirt and the floor showed evidence of cigarette butts and food remains.

RFE Plotters to Go Free

Vienna—Austrian authorities indicated today they plan no immediate investigation of U.S.

Army charges that a Red Czech vice-consul attempted to poison employees of Radio Free Europe.

Interior ministry officials added, however, that they would be glad to order such an investigation if it were formally requested by the United States or West Germany.

They said any police action would be facilitated by the fact that Vice Consul Jaroslav Nemec, the alleged mastermind of the poison plot, cannot claim diplomatic immunity.

Nemec himself could not be reached for comment. An official at the Czech consulate in Salzburg, where he is stationed, would say only that "he will not be in the office until later today."

Chou Proposes Meeting

London—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai said today he is prepared to agree to an Indian proposal to withdraw all armed forces from disputed areas as a "partial solution" to the border crisis between the two countries.

He offered to meet Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in China or Rangoon, Burma, on December 26 to discuss the dispute.

Chou's offer was made in a note to Nehru, broadcast by Radio Peiping and monitored here.

STUDENTS at Fort Hays State have problems too. Of 163 students taking the English proficiency test this year, 36 flunked, and 29 were asked to contact the English department. This means that less than 60 per cent of the students wrote acceptable papers. Remind you of anything?

Christmas Scenes Varied, Colorful

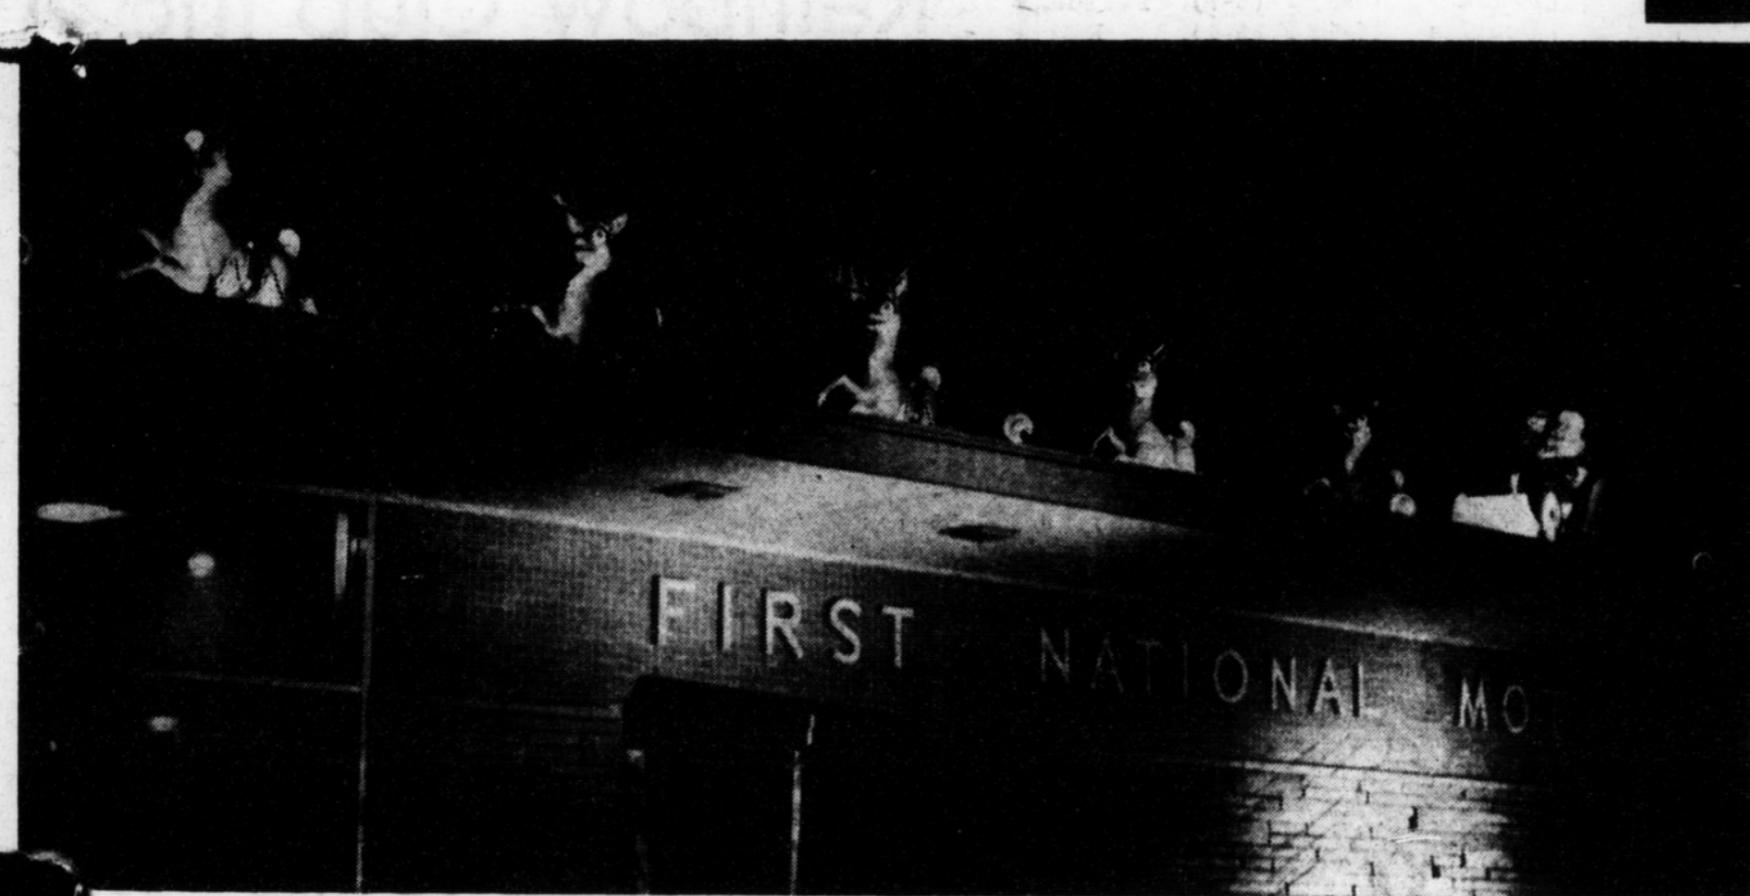

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS are fun—whether you're making them or just looking. Decorations run from the religious to the sublime. Take your pick, Manhattan has all kinds.

A tradition at the women's dorms is the decorating of room doors. This year at Van Zile, Sue Morgan, HEJ Soph; Linda Myers, ML; and Barbara Brown, DIM Soph, won first place in the decorations contest with the chimney shown in the picture. The coeds reach their room by crawling through the chimney.

Phi Kappa Taus got tired of the usual type of Christmas tree and built their own. Blue ribbon and gold ornaments make the "modern Christmas tree" very colorful.

Appealing to the commercial side of Christmas are the businesses. Santa and his reindeer, with Rudolph leading the way, have found their way to Manhattan via the rooftop of a downtown bank.

BUT THE REAL MEANING of Christmas is realized when one stands before the Nativity scene, the Methodist church's contribution to outside decorations. All seems quiet and serene as the bystander reenacts the true reason we celebrate Christmas day.

SANTA'S SLEIGH, led by his faithful reindeer, and the ever-present Rudolph, adorn the top of a local bank.

SOMETHING SPECIAL in the way of a tree is this offering by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. The modernistic Christmas decoration is made of tinsel and ribbon.

THE NATIVITY represents the true meaning of Christmas. This scene is recreated at the Methodist church in downtown Manhattan.

Cats Set for Doubleheaders

Kansas State and Kansas, who have yet to lose a game in two previous "Sunflower Doubleheaders," are expected to keep that record in tact this weekend when they host Brigham Young and San Francisco in the third annual doubleheader.

K-State plays Brigham Young in the opener at 7:35 p.m. tonight while KU will face San Francisco at 9:15 p.m. in the nightcap. The two teams will switch opponents tomorrow night when the games will be played in Ahearn field house.

"I don't think we can play any tougher teams than we have already faced this year, but both of these teams are solid clubs," K-State coach Tex Winter said. "Brigham Young beat us last year and they have three of their top five boys back including their top scorer."

As far as a lineup change is concerned, Winter said he would make some changes but his starting lineup was not definite.

"I plan to move Douglas to a forward position. He hasn't been doing the job I expected him to do at guard, and I think he will be more effective as a forward."

Bill Guthridge, senior letterman, will be elevated to the starting guard position to team with Sonny Ballard. Guthridge is averaging 4.4 points a game and Ballard 11.2. Guthridge was used as a starter for three games last year.

Coach Winter said he was pleased with Wednesday's practice and he labeled it the best of the year. "It was the first time that Price was able to go full strength and it's practices like this one that will get us back to winning," he said.

"I'm really not worried about the team coming around, I just think it'll just take a little longer than it did last year for our team to settle down," Winter said.

K-State will be facing a team that likes to use the fast break as an effective scoring punch. Brigham Young banks its hopes on the leadership of junior guard Gary Ernest, 6-0, who is the team's leading scorer.

Ernest was a big factor in BYU's upset victory over the Wildcats last year as he pumped in 28 points. He has been averaging 15 points a game this year.

For Kansas, meanwhile, coach Dick Harp plans to also make a lineup change. Harp has listed Jim Hoffman as a starter in place of Al Donaghue at forward.

"Jim's effort in the last two games has warranted a starting spot," Harp said.

The 6-3 senior is averaging 4.4 points a game for the first five games and 3.8 rebounds. Donaghue, who was expected to be one of KU's leaders, is averaging 9.2 points and 5.6 rebounds.

San Francisco, KU's opponent tonight, has had its troubles this year as last year's top scorer, Fred La Cour, was dismissed from the squad.

The Dons have been depending on 5-11 guard, Ron Cox, who teams with 5-11 Danny Drinan to set up plays. San Francisco boasts a trio of heights in the backline with Bill Gallagher, 6-5, Bob Ralls, 6-5, and Johnny Johnson, 6-7, doing most of the rebounding for the Dons.

1959 Big Eight Tournament Brackets

Tourney Play To Open Soon; Cats Shoot for Second Title

Kansas State will be shooting for its second straight Big Eight basketball tournament championship, December 26, when the Wildcats open against Iowa State.

Kansas is the only team in the conference to obtain the distinction of winning the tournament twice in a row. The Jayhawks, paced by Wilt Chamberlain, won the crown in 1956 and 1957.

The Wildcats will also attempt to take the lead in the number of victories by one team. Both K-State and KU have won the pre-season title four times. Nebraska and Colorado are the only teams in the conference that have not won the title at least once.

Chamberlain ranks first as the tournament's single tourney top scorer. He pumped in 106 points. Kansas' Clyde Lovellette is the tournament's leading scorer for a career. He tallied 222 points in three years at the tournament.

In the overall standings, KU is on top with 26 victories and 10 defeats. K-State follows Kansas with a 25-11 record.

Kansas State holds the record for the most points in a tournament for three games. The Wildcats scored 265 points during 1952. Other Wildcat records include: most free throws in one game—Bob Boozer, 15, and most free throws in one tournament—Boozer, 40.

Kentucky Hosts Tourney; Top Ranked Clubs Battle

College basketball's holiday tournament grind opens tonight with a dandy party at Lexington, Ky., that has attracted three of the nation's top-ranked teams.

The opening round pairings in the annual University of Kentucky invitational match third ranked West Virginia (6-0) against sixth-ranked St. Louis (5-1) and fifth-ranked North Carolina (3-0) against the host Wildcats (3-2).

Kentucky dropped out of the top 10 after losing two of its first four games and currently is ranked 13th among the major colleges. However, the Wildcats always are tough to handle in their own tournament, which they won last season for the fourth time in six years.

Led by Ned Jennings' 27 points, Kentucky scored a 77-72 overtime victory over ninth-ranked Kansas in a tournament tuneup Monday night. North Carolina has been inactive since last weekend when it whipped Kansas (60-49) and Kansas State (68-52) on successive nights.

The West Virginia-St. Louis opener is expected to develop into a scoring duel between all-American Jerry West of the Mountaineers and Bob Nordmann, the Billikens' 6-10, 270-pound center.

West Virginia, which lost to California in the title round of the N.C.A.A. tournament last season, hasn't been extended thus far in the new campaign, winning its first six games by margins ranging from 15 to 30 points.

Purses Are Take-off From Roman Pouch

By MAUREEN GOBEL

Back in the days of ancient Greece and Rome—when men had more money than they knew what to do with—a new fashion was introduced, the leather pouch. Today women have made a catch-all of that pouch, and men have discovered that the small billfold quite adequately holds their change!

According to historians in the handbag industry, purses were invented for the carrying of coins by men, but by the 17th century, women were exercising a monopoly over the handbag.

Today's moderns may believe that the oversized handbags of latest fashion are recent innovations, but the large tote-bags really got their start in the latter part of the 17th century with the "miser" purse. This style sometimes attained a length of two feet, and featured pointed ends.

The addition of a strap to the handbag came in the 1870s and '80s when long, trailing skirts required the use of one hand almost all the time.

The multi-million dollar handbag industry of today turns out a multitude of pocketbooks—ranging from expensive beaded and bejeweled purses to little fabric affairs, cheap but pretty.

Buying a handbag nowadays requires almost as much thought as the purchase of a new outfit—and indeed a new bag is usually added with such a purchase.

Choices of calf, goat and pig skin, cowhide, lamb and sheep skin, sealskin, buffalo, alligator, snake and lizard skins confront the buyer, so that a real test must be made to discover which is quality and which is not.

A guide is to see if the leather feels soft and supple, not stiff. Because different kinds of leather differ as to their softness, this comparison can be made only among handbags of the same leather. Good quality leathers have a suppleness lacking in an inferior grade. A final check is to see if the leather has a pleasant leathery odor.

Other materials include suede, featuring a fine, silky nap and rich, even color; fabrics, ranging from rayon faille to wool broadcloth; and plastic, with many practical aspects. A good plastic will not crack, a reason why they have somewhat supplanted patent leather. In

Know What You Want, Need When Buying a Winter Coat.

By MARCIA WATT

Bargains, bargains everywhere—as the prices of coats are reduced as the end of the year approaches, you'll want to know how to shop wisely so your purchase will be a true bargain for you.

"Sound shopping for a coat begins at home" said Professor Alpha Latzke, head of the department of clothing and textiles. "Know what you need and want and what you can do without."

A good quality coat that you can wear for several seasons will give greater satisfaction, take cleaning better, and look smarter than a lower quality coat. Simple lines will allow a coat to serve many purposes. A basic or neutral color will enable the coat to serve as a basis for many outfits and will be practical.

Miss Latzke had several suggestions to consider if the coat is needed for warmth. Look for a coat with sleeves that fit at the wrist, and collar that fits at the neckline. Choose one with generous overlap that buttons down the front to provide greater warmth.

"Consider the fabric carefully, since material of good quality that can take the wear is important in a coat," said Miss Latzke. Wool is the fiber most used because of its natural qualities that make it ideal for the purpose.

In high-grade coats, emphasis is on cut, line, and material. Little, if any, trim is needed.

Check inside of the coat, since many of the things that affect the quality of a coat are hidden. Miss Latzke pointed out. The lining of a good coat is both serviceable and good-looking. Select a coat with a lining that will not shrink, stretch, or rub off. A good quality satin may be better than crepe which loses its shape or taffeta which is apt to pull.

After looking at the outside and inside, find out what you can about the in-between. Most coats are now made with an open lower edge, so you can usually look and feel inside. If a coat is interlined properly, it is tacked securely in place to side seams, shoulder seams, and around the armholes. An interfacing in the front is desirable to prevent stretching.

Take plenty of time to examine the fit of a coat before you buy. Try the garment on over the same type of clothing you'll wear under it. See how the coat looks in action—as you walk, sit and reach.

KSU Jewish Students Celebrate Hanukkah

K-State Jewish students will start their eight-day celebration of Hanukkah on December 25 this year when other students celebrate the Christian Christmas.

"Hanukkah is a joyous holiday commemorating the victory of the Jews over the Greeks in 168 B.C. This was the first war in history to be fought for the right of religious freedom," said Stuart Rose, Ar 5, president of Hillel, the Jewish student organization on campus.

The history of Hanukkah's origin is recorded and is not a matter of speculation as are many of the other Jewish holidays. Hanukkah is the result of a rebellion by the Jews for their religious freedom. After the Greeks had forbidden the practice of Judaism, replaced the Jewish festivals with pagan observances and converted the Temple into a pagan sanctuary of the Greek god Zeus, the Jews led by Maccabee and his five sons began their battle for freedom of worship. Three factors helped bring victory to the outnumbered Jewish forces: 1. They were fighting on home ground; 2. Antiochus,

King of Syria and ruler over Palestine, because of pride refused to take the revolt seriously until it was too late; and 3. The Jews fought hard because they realized the alternative to victory was the disappearance of Judaism.

Hanukkah commemorates not the spirit of power, but the power of the spirit. In answer to the question: "What is Hanukkah?" a legend tells that when the Jews entered the temple to light the perpetual light after having driven out the enemy, they found only a small flask of oil containing just enough for one day's burning, but it miraculously lasted for eight days. This is the reason Hanukkah lasts for eight days and is marked by the burning of candles in the home; one more being lit each successive night of the holiday until all eight are burning. This explains why it is called the Feast of Lights. It is also known as the Feast of Dedication.

Latkes and potato pancakes are a favorite food of this season. Gifts are also given during Hanukkah.

A modern writer asks, "Where might we be today had the Maccabees lost their war and Judaism had disappeared in 168 B.C.? Christianity and Mohammedanism might not have been born centuries later!"

Students Have IV House Party

"Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship's Christmas holiday house party for international students at Bear Trap Ranch in the Rockies of Colorado will be December 20th to the 26th," said Bob Monroe, president of the local chapter of Inter-Varsity.

Bear Trap Ranch is one of four holiday house parties conducted for internationals by Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship of America during the holiday seasons. Internationals from colleges and universities throughout the middle section of the United States are drawn to Bear Trap. Approximately 100 internationals will gather there for the house party this Christmas, said Monroe.

Inter-Varsity has an outstanding program scheduled, he continued. Internationals will have the opportunity to visit the Pike National Forest, Colorado Springs and its scenic attractions, and the Garden of the Gods. Ice skating, tobogganing, skiing, and other winter recreation activities have always been enjoyed, stated Monroe.

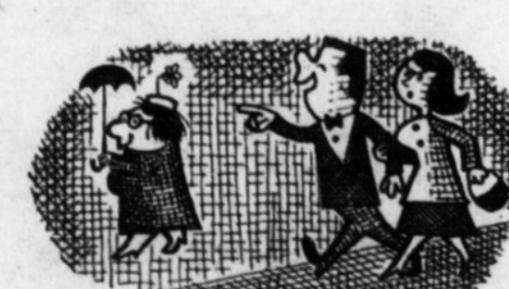

Paul Little, regional secretary of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and International Student Secretary, and Richard Wolff, of Lincoln, Neb., will be the speakers for the session. Mr. Wolff has learned seven languages and presently does the German and French broadcasts for the Good News Broadcasting Association.

Seng Hsun Chen, ME Gr, China; Fouad Habib, Bac Gr, Iraq; and John Thomas, ChE Soph, India, attended the Thanksgiving house party. Several international students are planning to attend the Christmas house party, stated Monroe. "If others are interested they are welcome to contact me concerning the trip," Monroe said.

LUCKY STRIKE presents Dear Dr. Frood:

Historic event! DR. FROOD REVEALS HIS ADDRESS

(See below)

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate continually steals my Luckies. What should I do?
Sinned Against

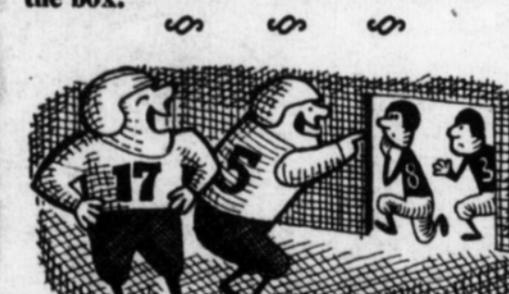

Dear Sinned Against: The most successful defense is the traditional African one. Mold a small wax image of your roommate. Then, at full moon, insert half a dozen common household pins into the hands of the image.

Dear Dr. Frood: If I were demented enough to want to write to you, how would I go about it?

No phone calls please. Thus far I've been unable to have a phone installed here in the box.

Dear Dr. Frood: Our football team has lost 8 games a year for the last 6 years. How can we improve our record without letting the old coach go?
Alumni Pres.

Dear Alumni Pres.:
Schedule fewer games.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am a 5'1" co-ed with a figure exactly like the Venus de Milo's. Would you say I should be in the movies?
Lovely

Dear Lovely:
I'll say anything you want me to.

Dear Dr. Frood: I told my fiancée we can't afford to get married until I finish college. She insists that two can live as cheaply as one. Is this true?
Dubious

Dear Dubious:
Yes. If they take turns eating.

DR. FROOD ON HARASSING HABITS OF ROOMMATES

Roommates resent these common faults in roommates: Staring at my girl's picture. Not staring at my girl's picture. Studying when I'm not. Having a homely sister. Having no sister at all. Only one thing is more annoying than having a roommate who always runs out of Luckies: Having a roommate who doesn't smoke Luckies.

COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE MORE LUCKIES THAN ANY OTHER REGULAR!

When it comes to choosing their regular smoke, college students head right for fine tobacco. Result: Lucky Strike tops every other regular sold. Lucky's taste beats all the rest because L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.

Over 400 K-State Students January Degree Candidates

The names of 414 K-State students who are candidates for degrees in January have been announced by E. M. Gerritt, director of admissions and registrar. Included in the list is the first Master of Arts candidate at K-State, since the awarding of B.A. and M. A. degrees was resumed by the University.

There are also 13 candidates for the Ph.D. degree, 41 for the Master of Science degree, 21 for the Bachelor of Arts degree and 338 for the Bachelor of Science degree.

Since the practice of having three commencements a year has been abolished at K-State, January degree candidates will have to wait until June to receive their diplomas.

Candidates for degrees:

Doctor of Philosophy — Roger Duane Bauer, Donald Paul Durand, Sisir Kamal Dutta, Abdel Rahman Elrefai, Russell E. John, John Luther Joy, Raimon Liepins, Frank Archer Moore, Robert Lee Noble, Steven G. Plovan, William Joseph Spencer, Yoshitaka Suyama, Peter E. Throckmorton;

Master of Arts — Sanum Superna Shantikumar;

KSU Receives New Atomic Equipment

The first items of equipment to be used for instructional purposes in life sciences for K-State's future nuclear science and engineering laboratory have been delivered to the campus.

This equipment, and more still to come, is being purchased with a $30,278 life sciences grant from the Atomic Energy Commission, explains Prof. Robert McFarland, director of nuclear energy laboratories.

K-State's central isotopes laboratory is already overcrowded. It will not be possible to use some of the equipment adequately until the new nuclear science laboratory is completed.

"We will have the nuclear laboratory fully equipped by the time the building is constructed," commented McFarland.

K-State has received a $44,453 grant from the AEC for equipment to be used for instruction concerning industrial applications as well as an additional $8,080 life sciences grant.

For two reasons, the AEC grants to K-State for the purchase of instructional equipment are among the most liberal that the commission has made.

K-State pioneered in teaching and research in the areas of radiation safety and isotope tracers. Now staff members in 13 departments are involved in isotopes research.

Another factor is the central laboratory idea which is now available for use by all departments. Because of this, the AEC-financed equipment can be more widely used than if items were purchased by departments for the use of only a few staff members.

This central laboratory policy, which was developed of economic necessity at K-State, enables the University to purchase a number of expensive items not usually found in university laboratories.

NEW EQUIPMENT — James F. Becker, Phy Sr, checks some of the new equipment received for instructional purposes in life sciences in K-State's proposed nuclear science laboratory.

Administrative Council Nixes Early K-State Senior Finals

The Administrative Council has decided unanimously that arrangements should be made with the housing office to accommodate graduating seniors rather than to change the examination schedule.

The Student Governing Association sent a letter to President McCain in December recommending that "senior final week be moved up one week so as to provide seniors in married housing ample time to receive grades before having to evacuate their housing." This concerns those whose graduation depends upon this semester's grades.

The housing office has agreed that students who are uncertain of graduating may make arrangements with the housing office to remain in University-operated housing up to the opening of the spring semester, or February 3.

"The system of early examinations for seniors has long been considered to be both unfair and a nuisance," stated Dean A. L. Pugsley. "It does not give the seniors the same examination taken by the other students and the papers are graded in different groups. Heretofore, it was needed for the fall semester because of commencement. With the abandonment of the midyear commencement this excuse no longer exists."

A student may obtain information from his dean's office February 3 concerning his fall record, since deficiency reports from the Registrar's office are due in deans' offices at 8 a.m.

"Ideally, we should move spring commencement a week later and abandon the early examination for seniors then also, said Dean Pugsley, "but practical considerations prevent doing so yet."

The Administrative Council decided on May 28, 1959 that mid-year graduates would take their final examinations during the regular examination period.

The second argument in favor of early senior finals presented in the SGA letter to the Administrative Council was that 13 ROTC cadets are to be commissioned January 29, the last day of their exams.

For these cadets to be commissioned, special arrangements must be made with the Registrar to certify that the cadets qualify for graduation. Dean Pugsley said that these special arrangements were made in November.

Lyle Clum, EE Sr, senior class president, stated in the letter to the Administrative Council that many seniors have already taken jobs that require them to report for work during the first week of February.

The SGA letter argued that publicity of this senior final program has been inadequate.

"If any student, through misunderstanding, is likely to incur severe personal hardship due to these new regulations I shall review his case and intercede in his behalf," Pugsley commented.

SC To Hear Funds Plea For Ice Rink

A report on the possibilities of constructing an ice skating rink on campus will be presented to Student Council members at tonight's meeting.

Jim Callen, NE Soph, sub-chairman of the Union Games committee, will present the report and ask the Council to provide the funds necessary to secure a polyethylene rink that can be set on the ground and covered with water.

Language Classes Open To Children

Another group of foreign language classes for elementary school children will be offered at K-State beginning January 9, according to Roman Verhaalen, head of the Department of Continuing Education.

These classes, offered for the first time this fall, proved so popular that it was necessary to establish two sections each for beginning classes in French, German and Spanish.

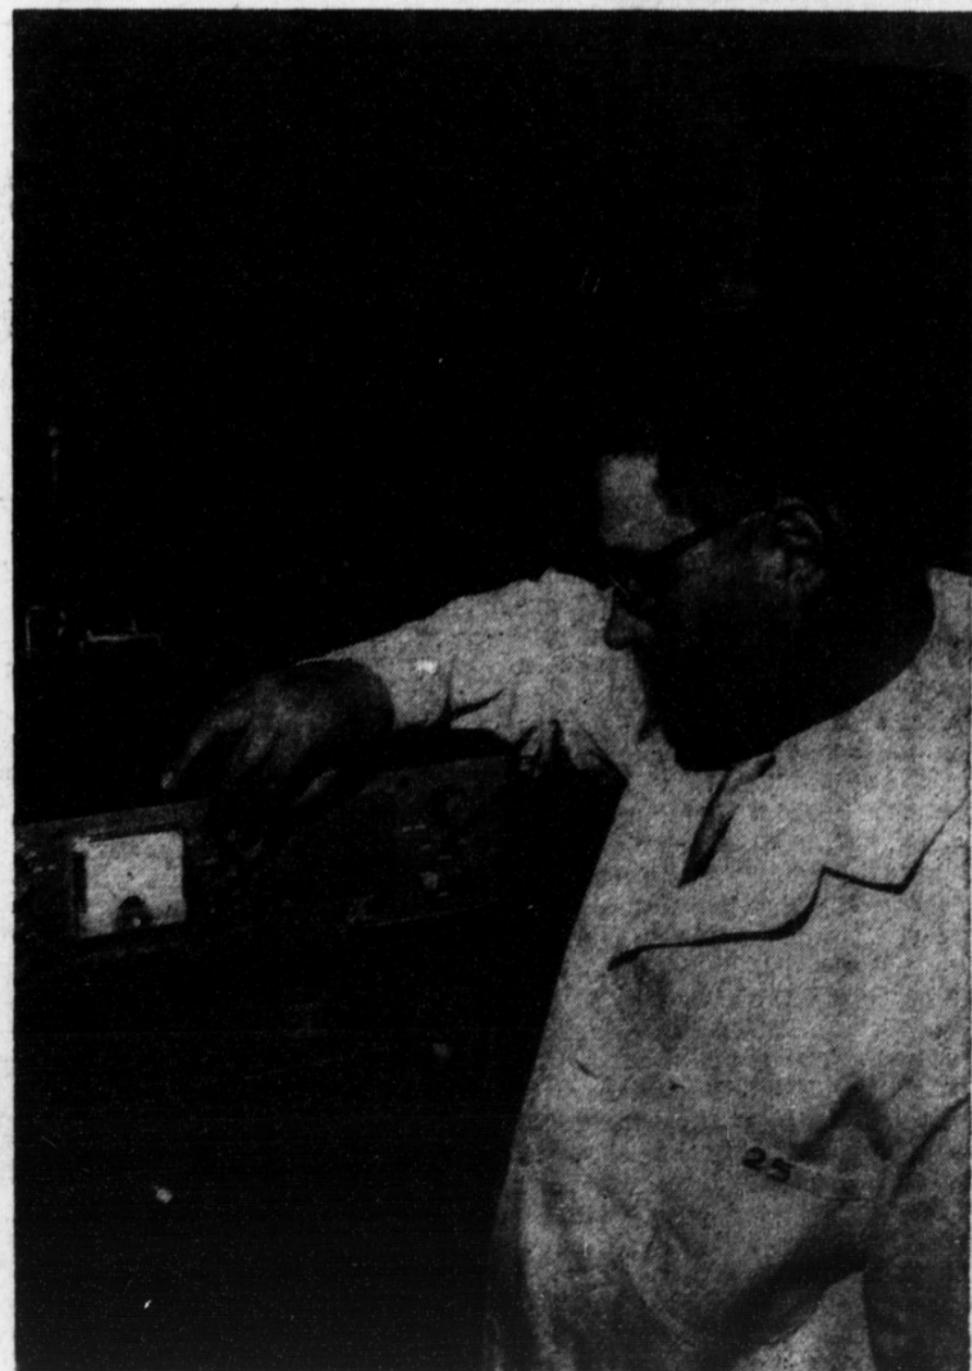

Verhaalen said both beginning and intermediate classes in the three languages will be offered again.

Enrollment fee for the foreign language classes is $5.

All classes will meet Saturday mornings from January 9 to March 12, except for intermediate Spanish, which will be offered from 4 to 5 p.m., Tuesdays, from January 12 to March 15.

Any elementary school age child may participate in the program. Registration is now being taken at the continuing education office, room 301 in Umberger hall.

Basic Desires of Human Beings Exemplified in KS Football Coach

PSYCHOLOGISTS tell us that man has certain basic wants—and that lacking the fulfillment of these wants, he cannot be happy. The similarity of these wants of humans in general with the wants of a football coach in particular—K-State's new coach Doug Weaver, for example—strikes us as being rather close.

THE DESIRE for Recognition—This can be expressed as the desire for approval, prestige, distinction, superiority, or positive self-feeling. We could eliminate distinction from the list—obviously a coach could have distinction without having prestige. Coach Weaver could easily fulfill this basic want by a .500 season or better. Moral victories not counting, that is.

The Desire for Affection or Intimacy—The desire of all football coaches, and Weaver should be no exception, is the affection of the alumni, and intimacy with the student body.

THE DESIRE FOR NEW Experience and Excitement—This is one reason Weaver took the job in the first place—to get from the position of assistant coach to head coach. And going from the Orange Bowl team of Missouri university to Kansas State is certainly a new experience, even should it not be particularly exciting.

Eating and Drinking—These are two of the most basic wants, to a coach especially, where their fulfillment may depend upon a win or a loss, or more specifically, the gaining of a crucial yard or the blocking of a punt.

THE ENJOYMENT of Good Health—Although Coach Weaver will probably be as concerned over his physical health as the next man, and probably more so over his mental health, the good health of the football players will probably concern him more than his own.

The Desire to Solve Problems and Satisfy Intellectual Curiosity—No one can deny the fact that Doug Weaver has a problem. As far as intellectual curiosity is concerned, he is probably thinking, "Is it possible to win at K-State?"

THE SATISFACTION of Exerting Effort, Overcoming Obstacles, and Engaging in Good Fight—There is obviously a lot of effort to be exerted, a lot of obstacles to be overcome, and if Coach Weaver wants to engage in a good fight, he might try rushing out onto the field in next year's K-State-Colorado game.—don veraska

Government in West Berlin Arrests 13 Suspects, Moves To Wipe Out Anti-Semitic Underground

Berlin—The West Berlin city government today arrested 13 suspected Neo-Nazis and decided to outlaw extreme nationalist groups in a move to wipe out an anti-Semitic underground.

The Berlin police action, toughest crackdown yet against a wave of anti-Semitic outbreaks in West Germany and other sections of Western Europe, came even as new incidents were reported.

The outbreaks marred West Germany's celebration of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's 84th birthday, the nearest thing West Germany has to a national day.

Police in Berlin raided the homes of suspected Nazis and confiscated photographs of Adolf Hitler, copies of his "Mein Kampf," anti-Jewish and pro-Nazi propaganda and military equipment of the type worn by the Hitler youth.

The arrested persons ranged in age from 18 to 26. They were members of two extreme right wing-nationalist youth organizations.

The West Berlin Executive Council, or Senate, said these organizations would be outlawed. The Senate also moved to ban the extreme right wing "German Reichs Party" whose members desecrated a Synagogue in Cologne.

The senate recommended expulsion from schools and universities of students who engage in Nazi or anti-Jewish activity.

West Berlin's campaign was announced at a press conference by Joachim Lipschitz, head of the city interior department.

Heinz Galinski, leader of West Berlin's Jewish Community, appeared with Lipschitz and praised the city's swift action to counter the anti-Jewish incidents. But he criticized the slowness of the West German federal government in Bonn.

As the West Berlin arrests were made, three more incidents were reported in the city. A swastika and a "Jews get out" sign were painted on a wall. A swastika flag was found in a playground. A five-mark coin was defaced with swastikas.

Lipschitz said the Executive Council at a meeting today decided to ban the "National Youth of Germany" and the "Federation of National Students." All the suspects belonged to either of the two groups.

He said the city government would ask the western Allies for permission to ban the German Reichs party as hostile to democratic order.

West Berlin citizens formed their own protest against the anti-Jewish incidents. Young socialist torchbearers mounted guard last night over the city's memorial for victims of Nazi tyranny and will maintain it through Friday.

In Rome, Italian police cracked down on a Neo-Fascist organization they said was responsible for a mounting wave of anti-Semitic threats in Italy. They arrested an undisclosed number of persons in a pre-dawn raid, one while he was painting a swastika on the door of a textile shop.

In Milan, Italy, a swastika flag was hung from the Victor Emmanuel Memorial. Swastikas were found painted on buildings in Rome, Parma and Genoa.

In Austria, officials of the Vienna Jewish community said they had received an anonymous letter threatening the only synagogue would be blown up this afternoon.

Other anti-Semitic incidents were reported in Finland, England and Holland.

Homosexuals Arrested

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Police said today that 29 persons have been arrested in a seven-week crackdown on homosexual activity at the University of Michigan.

Detective George Stauch said all of the arrests occurred in rest rooms in buildings owned by the U. of M. He said those arrested include an associate professor, several other University employees, 14 students and several Ann Arbor townspeople.

Stauch said those arrested did not appear to be part of an organized ring.

Steel Settlement Praised

Buffalo, N.Y.—United Steel-

workers' Union President David J. McDonald told 5,000 union members last night the new steel agreement contains provisions that practically insure there never will be another steel strike.

Addressing a rally originally planned to urge members to vote against acceptance of the steel industry's November 15 contract offer, McDonald said, "we've won all the way."

Over the Ivy Line Brigham Young Student Directory Adds Feature To Aid Date Seekers

THE STUDENT directory at Brigham Young university has an added feature which will help the student who uses the directory as a date book. The new directory clearly marks the name of each married student with an "M" after the listing. Some students want to know why an "E" wasn't put after those who are engaged?

THE "PLEA of the Love-Sick Farmer" was printed in the Michigan Journalist along with the picture of a gate. A farmer was having trouble keeping his pasture gate closed and keeping his stock from roaming the countryside. He put an end to someone's nightly ventures by printing on his gate "Shut the gate, lover boy, our heifer is harder to catch than the one you're chasing."

A SPLIT personality comes from college life suggests a report in the Michigan Journalist. "The average student displays a side of his personality at home that is never visible at school—and visa versa." Being torn between two communities, home and campus, could result in severe schizophrenic conditions, according to a New York doctor.

State Police Converge In Vicinity of Parsons

Parsons, Kan.—State and county police rushed reinforcements today to a field near here where two heavily-armed men were reported hiding.

The men were believed armed with an assortment of weapons seized from two Kansas City, Mo., reserve police officers last night.

They were identified as Carl H. (Jock) Chase of near Parsons and a youth identified only as Jay.

Police described Chase as "a young punk trying to go big time." He has a record of several arrests for offenses ranging from drunkenness to carrying a concealed weapon.

"At least 30 officers were at the scene, with more arriving, the Parsons police department reported. Bloodhounds were enroute from Joplin, Mo., and a small plane was ready for use with the coming of daylight.

Chase and Jay were believed to be the two youths who last night disarmed two reserve officers who stopped their car for a routine check as it pulled away from a filling station in Kansas City's south side.

A third youth, who chose to remain behind with the disarmed officers, identified his companions, who fled after taking a riot gun and other weapons from patrolman Al Neinke and Wayne Alto, who said Chase got the drop on them with a revolver.

Early today Neosho county sheriff Jerry Sloan attempted to halt a car on a country road near the home of Chase's parents. The occupants opened fire, riddling his car with bullets. But the sheriff escaped injury and radioed for help.

Wildcats Open League Race With Victory Over Colorado

The Wildcats looked like the champion basketball teams of past last night as K-State opened the Big Eight race with a 69-37 victory over the Colorado Buffaloes in Ahearn field house. K-State, now riding on the crest of a three-game winning streak, has a 6-5 record.

"I was really surprised that we defeated Colorado the way we did," Tex Winter, K-State head coach, said. "In all fairness to the Colorado team, I think they just had a cold night. I know they are a much better team than they showed because they finished third in the Big Eight Tourney."

K-State's defense was the most effective weapon against the Buffs. Colorado was forced into countless mistakes as the ball-hawking Wildcats stopped practically everything they shot. Sophomores Mike Wroblewski and Warren Brown were the big hustlers on defense during the first half.

"I thought our defense was as tough as it has been in a long time," Winter said. "We're not going to be a high scoring team like we have been in the past, so our defense will be a lot more important. We're going to have to be more of a conservative team."

The outcome of the game was never doubted after K-State took an early 10-2 lead with only five minutes elapsed. Wally Frank was the offensive spark in the early stages as he scored eight of K-State's 20 points in the opening minutes. He was the Wildcat's top scorer for the game with 15. Sonny Ballard followed with 14.

Winter fielded an all-sophomore team midway in the first half with Richard Ewy and Brown at guards, Pat McKenzie and Larry Comley at forwards and Wroblewski at center. The unit came in with the score 28-13, and retired at halftime with a 37-19 bulge.

K-State's rebounding fell off in the second half, mainly because of the efforts of Colorado's Maurice Gilmore, 6-5 forward. Gilmore was the game's leading rebounder with 11. The Wildcats, though, out-rebounded the Buffs, 54-42.

Senior forward Mickie Heinz was K-State's workhorse on the backboards. He pulled down nine while Cedric Price had seven.

"Heinz did real fine, especially on defense and rebounding. He fouled out but most of his fouls came while he was going for the ball. He didn't make any unnecessary fouls," Winter said.

Colorado's Russ Lind was the only problem K-State had to worry about. The sharp-shooting guard connected on seven of 15 field goal attempts and added one free throw for 15 points. Most of Lind's points came on long jump shots. Wayne Millies followed Lind in the scoring department with only five points.

Cyclones Edge Huskers; O-State Dumps Missouri

The Big Eight's newest basketball power—Iowa State—won its first conference basketball game last night, defeating Nebraska, 57-53, at Ames. Oklahoma State downed Missouri, 51-52, to complete last night's Big Eight schedule.

After building up a 16-point lead, 52-36, with only seven minutes left in the game, Iowa State let Nebraska's Al Maxey and Rex Swett get loose. The pair started a Cornhusker rally that fell only four points short.

Sophomore Vinnie Brewer paced Iowa State with 17 points while Larry Fie and Henry Whitney each scored 13. Maxey and Henschel Turner each scored 14 points for Nebraska.

At Stillwater, Oklahoma State's victory over Missouri marked the Tiger's fourth straight setback.

Missouri's Charles Henke was the game's leading scorer with 17 points.

"LITTLE STORIES WITH BIG MORALS"

First Little Story

Once upon a time a German exchange student from old Heidelberg came to an American university. He lived in the men's dormitory of the great American university. He was a fine, decent young man and all the other young men in the dormitory of the great American university tried very hard to make friends with him, but, unfortunately, he was so shy that he refused all their invitations to join their bull sessions. After a while his dormitory mates got tired of asking him and so the poor German exchange student, alas, spent every evening alone in his room.

One night while sitting all alone in his room, he smelled the most delicious aroma coming from the room next door. Conquering his shyness, he walked to the room next door and there he saw a bunch of his dormitory mates sitting around and discussing literature, art, culture, and like that. They were all smoking Marlboro cigarettes, which accounts for the delicious aroma smelled by the German exchange student.

Timidly, he entered the room. "Excuse me," he said, "but what is that marvelous smell I smell?"

"It's our good Marlboro cigarettes," cried the men, who were named Fun-loving Ned, Happy Harry, Jolly Jim, and Tol'able David.

So the German exchange student took a Marlboro and enjoyed those better makin's, that finer filter, that smooth, hearty flavor, and soon he was comfortable and easy and lost his shyness.

From that night forward, whenever he smelled the good smell of Marlboro cigarettes, he always went next door and joined the bull session.

MORAL: WHERE THERE'S SMOKE, THERE'S MEYER

Second Little Story

Once upon a time there was an Indian brave named Walter T. Muskrat who had a squaw named Margaret Giggling Water. Margaret was sort of a mess but she sure could make beaded moccasins. Every day she whipped up a brand-new pair of beaded moccasins for Walter, which were so gorgeous that all the Indian maidens on the reservation grew giddy with admiration.

Well, sir, Margaret got pretty tense about all the girls making eyes at Walter and one night they had a terrible quarrel. Walter flew into a rage and slapped her on the wrist, whereupon she started crying like all get-out and went home to her mother and never came back.

"Good riddance!" said Walter, but alas, he soon found out how wrong he was, for the Indian maidens were not really interested in him, only in his moccasins, and when he stopped showing up with a new pair every day they quickly gave him the yo-heave-ho. Today he is a broken man, sitting all alone in his tepee and muttering ancient Ute curses.

MORAL: DON'T FIGHT THE HAND THAT BEADS YOU

Third Little Story

Once there was a lion which was a very quiet lion. In fact, the only time it ever made a sound was when it had a toothache.

MORAL: WHEN IT PAINS, IT ROARS

© 1960 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro would like to point a moral too. Nothing ventured, nothing gained. Try a pack of Marlboros or Marlboro's sister cigarettes—Philip Morris and Alpine—and gain yourself a heap of pleasure.

Placement Center Seeks Information

Graduating seniors are requested to inform the placement center of their employment and location, said Dr. Chester Peters, director of the center.

This information has been secured in the past at commencement time, but since the graduation ceremony will not be held for seniors graduating this semester, cards have been sent to the various departments to be distributed to the students, Peters said.

The cards will furnish the center with information on opportunities, employment trends, salary levels, and placement of graduates.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"My talk with the Bell System interviewer is really paying off"

Today, less than five years since he graduated from Michigan State University, Donald J. Zigman is an Accounting Manager for Wisconsin Bell Telephone Company in Oshkosh—with seven supervisory and 93 clerical employees reporting to him. His group handles billing for 350,000 telephone customers and processes $1,500,000 in revenue each month.

Don has moved ahead fast—and steadily—but no more so than the Bell System interviewer told him he might.

"That guy made a real impression on me," says Don. "He didn't guarantee a bright future for me. He simply described the kind of varied job experience I'd get, outlined the on-the-job training I'd go through, and pointed out the advancement opportunities I'd have along the way. The only thing he promised me was that I would have 'maximum exposure for self-development.' He was 100 per cent right there. My training has been terrific—and I've had every chance to advance that I could possibly hope for."

After joining the company, Don spent eight months in the Plant Department learning the roots of the business. He got experience as a lineman, installer and repairman. He was transferred to Accounting in December, 1956, working in the Methods and Results section. Thirteen months later, he was Supervisor of that section—and, 14 months after that, he became Accounting Manager.

"How much farther I go now is entirely up to me," says Don. "One thing I know: the opportunities are here."

Don Zigman graduated with a B.A. degree in Economics and English. He's one of many young men who have found interesting careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Learn what opportunities you might have. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus—and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

'Supreme' Chorale To Perform Sunday

"There are supremely great choruses in England and Italy, but yours is second to none!" exclaimed Leopold Stokowski who directed the Roger Wagner Chorale at a concert at the Hollywood Bowl in 1956.

The Chorale, under the direction of founder-director Roger Wagner, will present a concert here Sunday afternoon at 2 as the second attraction of the 1959-1960 Manhattan Artist Series.

The Chorale was the only American singing group invited to England to participate in the coronation festivities of Queen Elizabeth. Wagner and the 24-voice ensemble he took to London appeared in the Royal Festival hall and then embarked on its first European tour. Highlights of the tour included concerts in Paris, Amsterdam, The Hague and broadcasts over BBC, Radio Paris and the Dutch Radio.

The group recently completed

KSU Grants Pass Total Of Million

Federal agencies have granted K-State more than a million dollars during the past year for research, educational programs and building assistance, according to Pres. James A. McCain.

Five different awards from the Atomic Energy commission added up to nearly a quarter of a million dollars alone. The largest single item was $150,000 which has been committed for the purchase of a Triga Mark II critical reactor. But there also was $44,453 for equipment to expand the instructional program in radioactive materials where this work could lead to industrial applications; $30,278 for instructional equipment for the life sciences area; $8,000 for a liquid scintillation spectrometer; and $12,500 for low energy investigations of radiation chemistry.

Another $233,530 has been received for educational institutes of various kinds, mostly under sponsorship of the National Science foundation. This past summer the University had an institute for high school teachers of mathematics which was supported with a $36,500 NSF grant, and grants have been awarded for two additional institutes for this coming year.

These are $88,700 for an institute for 75 high school teachers of mathematics and physical sciences, and $54,900 for an earth sciences institute for 45 junior and senior high school teachers. In addition there were grants of $16,330 for a summer research participation program for teachers of chemistry and physics; $7,100 for a service institute for secondary school teachers for mathematics; and $10,000 for an institute for counselors who work with state services for the blind.

a 12-week tour of Latin America under the sponsorship of the President's Special International Program for Cultural Presentations administered by the American National Theater and Academy.

The ensemble made its first public appearance in the City hall of Los Angeles early in 1946. Since then the group has given up to six performances each year in the Hollywood Bowl. In past years there have appeared in Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Orff's "Carmina Burana," Verdi's "Requiem," "Salute to Disney," "Rodgers and Hammerstein Night" and "Gershwin Night."

In the past, the Wagner chorale has ranged in size from 14 to 225 voices. The adaptability of the group has been an important factor in enabling the organization to perform in the concert hall, on television and on the sound tracks of nearly a dozen hit films.

The list of film credits garnered by the Chorale includes the background music for 20th Century-Fox's "Desiree" and "The Egyptian," Columbia's "Back from Eternity" and Goldwyn's "Day of Triumph."

Recording for Capitol, the group's records include the Mass for Pope Marcellus II by Palestrina, Bach's Cantatas No. 65 and No. 106, Villa-Lobos' "Quatuor" and "Nonetto," and "Songs of Stephen Foster," one of Capitol's all-time best-selling records.

Roger Wagner, director of the chorale bearing his name, was born in LePuy, France, 40 years ago. His father was an organist at the Cathedral at Dijon. When Wagner was seven years old the family came to the United States and settled in Los Angeles.

In 1947 the chorale became an official group. Under Wagner's guidance it soon achieved an international reputation in concert, radio, television and motion pictures.

The next attraction of the Manhattan Artist Series is Andres Segovia, Spanish guitarist, who will be at K-State February 25.

ATTRACTIVE proportional arrangement of a painting in the art lounge of the Student Union engages the eye of Jean Brock, EEd Fr. The art and craft work will be displayed until January 18.

Y-Orpheum Critiques Due This Afternoon

Y-Orpheum script critiques are due today by 5 p.m. in the activities center of the Student Union, according to Bud Annan, Y-Orpheum program director.

Y-Orpheum is an annual variety show presented by organized houses under the direction of the Student Union. This year's production will be March 25 and 26.

Representative Art Work Displayed by Instructors

Arts and craft work of eight faculty members in the Home Economics Art department is on display in the Student Union art lounge this week. The exhibit, to be shown through January 18, is a representation of the art taught by the instructors, according to Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the department.

The display includes oil paintings by Barbara Craigie, art instructor; Alice Geiger, assistant professor of art; and John O'Shea, art instructor; a charcoal drawing, pen and ink wash prints and an intaglio print by John Hannah. A weaving exhibit by Mrs. Joy Lind Noble was added today.

In connection with the faculty show, the case in front of the State room display pottery, enameled, and weaving by Miss Maria Morris, pottery by Angelo Garzio, and weaving by Miss Barfoot.

The annual exhibit offers the art faculty an opportunity to show their work, said Miss Barfoot. She described the paintings and craft work as "very good," adding that "they show particular interests of the different instructors."

Selection of Finalists Made For Memorial Speech Contest

Eight students were selected yesterday to compete in the finals of the 17th semi-annual Larry Woods Memorial Speech contest. The contest will be Tuesday evening, January 12, in the little theater of the Student Union.

The eight finalists are James Breneman, Ar 1; Colleen Ungerheuer, Mus Fr; Don Warren, BiS Fr; Rebecca Zook, FN Fr; Don Higgason, EE Fr; Richard Daniels, BA Fr; Kathy Reeves, HEA Soph; and Larry Laird, SED Fr.

The finalists were selected from a field of 42 preliminary contestants who had in turn been selected from more than 1,000 students currently enrolled in Oral Communication I. The judges in the preliminary contest were all members of the Speech department.

The five judges for the final contest next Tuesday evening are Mel Baughman, assistant alumni secretary; Bill Colvin, managing editor of the Manhattan Mercury; Dr. Samuel S. George, First Presbyterian church; William Lowe, O. D. Milligan Construction Co.; and Mrs. Ashley L. Monahan. Dr. Forest L. Whan, head of the Speech department, will preside.

After Larry E. Woods, a former speech major at Kansas State, lost his life in World War II, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Woods of Independence, Kansas, established a living memorial for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods gave Kansas State a sum of money, the income from which finances the semi-annual Larry Woods Memorial Speech Contest.

COLLEEN UNGERHEUER, Mus Fr, speaks in the Larry Woods speech contest last night.

KS Engineers Pick Open House Design

An abstract design for the Engineering Open House program cover and buttons was selected yesterday by members of the Open House committee.

Selected from several submitted by an architecture class, the design represents present-day engineering trends, said John Harri, ME Sr, manager of the Open House. The design will appear in black and an off-white color.

The committee met yesterday in the Union to further plans for the annual Open House, to be March 18 and 19. This year's theme, "Engineering Unlimited: 1960," concerns problems confronting today's engineers and the technical preparation which will lead to the solution of these problems, Harri said.

KS Faculty Should Initiate Steps To Correct Problem of Cheating

COMPLACENCY on the university level concerning cheating in the classroom is the topic of the lead article in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

In "American Disgrace: College Cheating," author Jerome Ellison quotes from a book, "Changing Values in College," by a Hazen Foundation committee headed by Philip E. Jacob of Pennsylvania university:

"The chinks in the moral armor of American students are most obvious in regard to cheating. . . . The practice is so widespread as to challenge the well-nigh universal claim of students that they value honesty as a moral virtue. Frequent cheating is admitted by 40 per cent or more at a large number of colleges, often with no apology or sense of wrongdoing."

FROM WHAT WE PERSONALLY have seen at K-State, this school is no exception to Professor Jacob's observation, although we couldn't make any estimates on the percentage practicing cheating. But we doubt if many could deny witnessing at least a certain percentage of cheating on college work.

And in at least two classrooms we were in where cheating was prevalent, we've seen the professor simply ignore cheating that was obvious to everyone but himself.

THIS STRIKES us as being rather paradoxical. Who can imagine a second or third or fourth grade teacher allowing any amount, let alone widespread cheating in his classroom. Yet in colleges, the seat of "higher learning," cheating is many times condoned.

K-State's Honor Code, which outlines standards for students, is obviously worthless unless it is enforced, and only the faculty can enforce it.

If reforms are to come about, they must be initiated by the faculty. For no "spontaneous" reforms will come from students who themselves cheat.

K-STATE'S FACULTY—through perhaps the Faculty Senate or the Faculty Committee on Academic Affairs—should take steps to correct a condition which has come about partly at least through its own failure. Not doing so would be simply to condone the practice of college cheating.—don veraska

Admitted Slayers of Clutters Are Due in Garden City Today

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Garden City—The legal machinery designed to get "quick justice" for the two admitted slayers of a prominent Western Kansas farmer and his family was put into gear today in this Great Plains wheat center.

The two ex-convicts—Perry Edward Smith, 31, Las Vegas, Nev., and Eugene Hickock, 28, Edgerton, Kan.—were to arrive here from Las Vegas after a two-day trip during which Smith joined Hickock in confessing to the mid-November slaughter of Herbert W. Clutter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, and their two children, Nancy, 16, and Kenyon, 15, at their $40,000 farm house.

Hickock admitted Sunday in Las Vegas that he and Smith entered the Clutter home at Holcomb, seven miles west of here, just after midnight on November 15 to find what they hoped was a safe full of money. When no cash was found, they gagged and bound the family and fired point-blank shotgun charges into their heads and slashed Clutter's throat.

Smith and Hickock were arrested in Las Vegas after weeks of intensive investigation linked them to the murders through a tip from an inmate of the Kansas state penitentiary who had served time with them there and told authorities that the crime was spawned behind the walls.

DeGaulle To Visit America

Washington—The White House today announced plans for a state visit by French President Charles DeGaulle to the United States beginning April 22.

DeGaulle originally had expected to visit Washington beginning April 19, but with the delay in the East-West summit meeting until mid-May, his visit will begin a few days later.

The French President will first visit in Canada, then go to Washington where he will remain until April 25.

After leaving Washington, DeGaulle will spend one day in New York City and three additional days in other American cities, the exact itinerary is to be announced later.

Plane Carrying 34 Crashes

Bolivia, N.C.—A National Airlines

plane carrying 34 persons from New York to Miami plunged into a swamp area near this little coastal town early today.

The state highway patrol reported that there was no sign of survivors. Several bodies were spotted. The wreckage did not burn. Residents of the Bolivia area reported hearing a loud explosion about 2 a.m. EST.

The dead included 29 passengers, mostly from the New York metropolitan area, and five crew members.

The four-engine DC-6B was a replacement for a jet Boeing 707 which was unable to make the flight from New York Idlewild airport because of mechanical difficulties. The ill-fated plane left New York at 11:50 p.m. EST and last reported in by radio at 2:27 a.m. EST. It was due in Miami at 4:36 a.m.

North Carolina highway patrolman J. C. Taylor told radio station WSB in Atlanta that the wreckage was scattered over 12 acres. He said the main part of the wreckage was found next to a rural dirt road.

The plane was reported missing after it missed two consecutive checkpoints—over the Atlantic east of Charlestown, S.C., and Jacksonville, Fla.

When the plane last reported in from near Wilmington, 25 miles northeast of Bolivia, it gave no sign of trouble. The pilot reported that he was flying at 18,000 feet in smooth weather with enough fuel aboard to last until 7 a.m.

Roosevelt Statue Smeared

Oslo—A statue of former U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt was found today smeared with the words, "Potsdam Jewish Peddler."

The smearing took place sometime yesterday, but was reported to the police today.

The statue was raised by the Norwegian people in commemoration of the late war leader, and was unveiled by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in 1950.

The words were in Norwegian ("Potsdam Joedisk Landhandler"), and the letters were about one foot high.

This was the third time such incidents have been reported here.

West Regains Eye; Mountaineers Win

By UPI

You take the West and Jerry West will take the rest.

The blond, crew cut all-American couldn't wait to get out of California last week—and for a good reason. He was held to only one field goal as West Virginia bowed to California, 65-45, in the final of the Los Angeles basketball classic.

The Mountaineers' only defeat of the season was still on West's mind last night when he took the floor against Furman at Morgantown, W.Va., and he scored only eight points in the first half.

Then, urged on by the partisan Mountaineer rooters, Jerry finally recovered his shooting eye in the second half and wound up with 20 points as third-ranked West Virginia romped to a 95-79 victory.

It was the Mountaineers' 55th straight Southern Conference triumph and their 11th win in 12 outings against all comers this season.

West Virginia led only by seven points, 42-35, at halftime. But West, who also contributed 22 of the Mountaineers' 59 rebounds, sparked his mates to a 17-point bulge early in the second half and Furman soon gave up the ghost.

In Southwest Conference openers, unbeaten Texas A&M whipped Baylor, 68-51, for its ninth straight victory; Texas edged Southern Methodist, 58-56; Arkansas turned back Texas Christian, 74-60, and Texas Tech walloped Rice, 71-64.

Kentucky pulled away from Vanderbilt in the second half to win their Southeastern Conference tilt, 76-59; Mike Graney's 22 points helped Notre Dame to a 76-51 victory over Butler, and Virginia downed North Carolina State, 53-48, for the first time since the Cavaliers entered the Atlantic Coast Conference 12

IM Playoffs Start Tonight

Eight basketball squads will square off in four independent intramural quarter-final contests tonight, with games starting at 6:45, 7:45 and 8:45, in the Ahearn gym.

Hi-Fi meets the High Flyers in the opener at 6:45 p.m., on the west court. Each team edged opponents in division play-offs before the holidays. Hi-Fi won a 26-23 contest over West Stadium and won the independent free-throw championship. A 23-22 win gave SH the top berth in its division this year.

At 7:45, the Rebels, last year's independent champs, will meet the Fat Daddies. Both of these unbeaten teams meet on the east court.

Road Runners meet the Speedsters in the second 7:45 contest. The Speedsters won their division championship in regular play; Road Runners trounced the Bluemont Blazers, 30-17, in their division play-offs.

High scoring Westminster Foundation will play Scholarship House at 8:45 p.m. Westminster finished its regular season unbeaten, with a 57-22 win over La Citadelle and won the independent free-throw championship. A 23-22 win gave SH the top berth in its division this year.

Leading scorers in tonight's games include Dave Masters, Fat Daddies; Ken Nakari, Rebels; Duane Shaw and Al Hamilton, Westminster; Louis Vallas, SH; and John Porter, High Flyers.

Winners of the first game tonight and the last game will meet Friday at 6:45 p.m. on the west court. Winners of the two 7:45 p.m. games will play at the same time on the east court, Friday. Finals will be played Tuesday in Ahearn field house, at 7 p.m.

K-State Alumni Forming Chapter in India

Kansas State university's newest alumni chapter is being organized in India, according to Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary.

Ford says the chapter is to be formally established when President McCain is in India this month for a review of the economic assistance program. Dean Arthur Weber, George Montgomery and Roy Donahue of the India staff met with a group of 11 Indians, all K-State alumni in November when Weber was in India.

Heading the new alumni association will be Theodore Chellappa, now assistant government horticulturist at Hyderabad.

This semester there are 48 Indian students enrolled at Kansas State. This is by far the largest group of students from a foreign country.

Phi Kappa Phi

Three Kansas State students have indicated an interest in applying for Phi Kappa Phi fellowships. Dr. Chester Peters, chairman of the Scholarship committee, has announced. Deadline for the application is January 15. Forms are available at the placement center.

Senior undergraduate members of the national scholastic honorary are eligible for the four or five fellowships of $2,500 each, to be used for the first year of graduate study.

"If they want to be considered, it is imperative that they submit their applications before the deadline."

A college professor warns: College cheating is an American disgrace!

Why is cheating an accepted practice in many of our colleges today? What can we do to stop this scandalous habit? In this week's Saturday Evening Post, a college professor reports:

- about the ingenious ways students cheat.
- how one college official admits "1 out of 3 students cheats rather regularly."
- why many professors know what's going on—but do nothing to stop it.

Be sure to read the explosive report on our "American Disgrace: College Cheating"—in this week's Post.

Are these gold bars worth two more years of study?*

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer . . .

ence. That's why employers often prefer men who served as commissioned officers. These men already have proven their capacity to shoulder executive responsibility.

2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.

NUMBER 65

Part Open For Blonde In KS Play

Director Dennis Denning of the Speech department is searching for a "dumb" but intelligent blonde or brunette K-State coed with acting ability to appear as Billie Dawn in the play "Born Yesterday," a three-act comedy to be presented March 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Tryouts for the play will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week in Holton hall, G 206, at 7 p.m. Denning stressed that new talent, perhaps unknown to the Drama department, try out for the play. Scripts are available in the Speech department office.

From the cast of 15 to be chosen, the right person to play the feminine lead of blonde and shapely Billie Dawn is creating a problem, the director declared. "We're conducting a talent search for the right player," he explained. Miss Dawn is a "dumb" (or uneducated) blonde, who raises from the status of chorus girl to socialite in Washington society, and on the side becomes educated into politics.

"Born Yesterday," written by Garson Kanin, ran four years on Broadway, becoming one of the longest running non-musical offerings on the American stage. Movie actress Judy Holiday and actor Paul Douglas played the lead roles for several years.

Five KS Students Win IFYE Honors

Five Kansas State students have been named International Farm Youth Exchange delegates for 1960. The five are Gary Lafferty, PEM Jr; Leonard Munger, EE Jr; Connie Clary, EEd Sr; Marilyn Hansen, HEX Jr; and Brenda Morgan, HT Jr.

Harlan Ross, Kingman county 4-H club agent and Richard Rankin, a senior at Kansas State College of Pittsburg have also been named as Kansas delegates.

Brenda Morgan, the only delegate to be assigned a host country to date, will go to Finland in April. The delegates spend six months with farm families in their host country.

IFYE is an exchange program between the United States and 50 countries which gives young people between the ages of 20 and 30 the opportunity to live and work with farm families.

Last year the four Kansas representatives were also K-Staters. Three of the IFYE's—Arnita Otte, EEd Sr; Ken Pierce, Gen Sr; and Paul Faidley, AEd Sr, have returned from overseas, while the fourth, Gelane Moritz, is still in the Philippines.

Fourteen persons applied for the IFYE delegation this year, Harlan Copeland, State IFYE project leader said. County 4-H councils must approve the applicant and then send the name to the state selection committee. The committee sends its recommendations to the National 4-H Foundation, which makes the final selections. Applicants must be single and have a rural background.

During 1960, according to the National 4-H Foundation, 108 youths from the United States and 130 persons from other countries are tentatively scheduled to participate in the program.

Eighteen KSU Coeds Named As Candidates for RP Queen

Eighteen coeds have been nominated by the sororities and dormitories as candidates for Royal Purple queen. The queen and her four attendants will be selected by band leader Woody Herman from pictures sent to him, Eldon Miller, TJ Sr and Royal Purple editor, said.

"The pictures will be sent to Woody Herman without any identification on them," Miller said. The queen will be crowned by Herman during intermission at the Royal Purple dance February 27.

Omega; Judy Bowers, EEd Jr, Clovia; Carol Stewart, MAI Soph, Delta Delta Delta; Charlene Cox, Eng Soph, Gamma Phi Beta;

Ann McCurley, His Soph, Kappa Delta; Mary Bobeck, Gen Soph, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Silvia Neal, EEd Jr, Pi Beta Phi; Pat Youngkin, EEd Soph, Waltheim; Carolyn Brauer, Gen Fr, and Jean Nickell, HEJ Fr, Southeast hall; Mary Ellen Malmberg, Ar 1, and Pat Isbell, Art Fr, Northwest hall; Sandra Greenegard, Eng Jr, and Carolee Weisser, Sp Sr, Van Zile hall.

Government Awards KS Additional NDEA Grants

Thirteen more National Defense Education act fellowships has been awarded to K-State under the government's graduate fellowship program. The fellowships will be effective next fall, said Harold Howe, dean of the Graduate school.

The NDEA fellows receive $2,000 for their first year, $2,200 the second year and $2,400 the third year of stay in the Graduate school. In addition, each fellow receives $400 for each dependent.

The fellowships include three in entomology and two each in theoretical physics, veterinary medicine, botany, mechanical engineering, and chemical engineering. Nominations for the fellowships are to be made by March 5.

K-State has eight NDEA fellows in their first year of the three-year graduate programs. These students are working for advanced degrees in mechanical engineering, veterinary medicine, theoretical physics, and zoology. Two fellows are studying in each of the fields.

The government's graduate fellowship program is designed to augment the nation's supply of college teachers and scholars, and assistance is given only for new or expanded programs. The federal government reimburses K-State up to $2,500 for each fellow for additional expenses in connection with the program.

Majority of KS Students Questioned Against Seniors Taking Early Exams

By Joan Faulconer

A MAJORITY of K-Staters questioned recently felt that graduating seniors should not be able to take examinations early. Nine of 15 questioned were against early finals. "Should graduating seniors be able to take their final examinations early?" was the question asked by the inquiring reporter.

GARFIELD SCHMIDT, Mth Gr—"No, because it is not necessary and it would cause a lot of confusion."

CAROL STILLEY, HE Jr—"If they have to take a second semester job they should be able to take tests early."

DOROTHY RODGERS, ME Sr—"Due to a lack of honest people it would be impossible to have tests ahead of time. If the majority of people in a class were seniors maybe the underclassmen could go ahead and take the test early with the graduating seniors."

MAUREEN McMILLAN, HE Jr—"Yes they should be able to take finals early. If they work hard for four years they should get something extra for it."

DIANE HUDDLESTON, EEd Fr—"I don't think they should be able to take finals early. They might give answers to the questions and give these students unfair advantage."

TOM FERGUESON, PEM Fr—"I am afraid there would be cheating if the graduating seniors took finals early."

LAUDA FALLIS, ML Fr—"I think they should be able to take finals early. They suffered through four years of school they should at least be able to get out a week early if they can."

HARRY McLAUGHLIN, Mth Gr—"Yes, because it would be more convenient for the graduating students."

MARY STAHM, SED Jr—"No, I don't think there is any real need to give finals to the graduating seniors early."

TIM GRACE, CE Jr—"Yes, after four or five years of hard work the least they could do is let them out one week early."

JIM LOMKER, AH Sr—"In the first place there should be graduation at semesters. If that were true the graduating seniors could have their finals early."

NORMAN HILDEBRAND, AED Jr—"No, why should they have the privilege of having final week early."

JOE ERICKSON, Mth Gr—"Definitely no."

BILL RILEY, PrV Soph—"Because of the time and trouble to the faculty and staff they should not have finals early. There aren't enough seniors to merit the extra work."

DAVE ADAMS, Mth Gr—"No, it adds extra work for already overworked faculty members."

President Pledges 'Full Energies' For Year of Peace, Prosperity

Washington—President Eisenhower solemnly pledged today to devote the "full energies" of his last year in the White House to promote peace in the world and unprecedented prosperity at home.

The President hopefully asked the Democratic-controlled Congress to stop "wrangling" with his administration and work together with him to achieve these goals.

He charted the goals for his last 12 months in office in a State of the Union message to a joint session of the House and Senate.

The message was largely a good news report, but laced with caution.

Eisenhower declared that Russia's recent behavior pointed to "the possible opening of a somewhat less strained period" of Soviet free world relationships which would depend on Moscow's deeds.

In his 7,200-word message, the President:

—Declared that "1960 promises to be the most prosperous year in our history," with the government winding up this fiscal year next June with a $200 million surplus despite lower revenues because of the steel strike.

—Promised a balanced budget for fiscal 1961 but said nothing about lowering taxes.

—Disclosed for the first time that this country's Atlas ballistic missile has been hitting within two miles of target on test after test over distances of more than 5,000 miles.

—Proposed no new labor legislation, but said he intends as a consequence of the long steel dispute "to encourage regular discussions between management and labor outside the bargaining table" to protect the public interest.

—Urged "every possible effort" by steel unions and management to avoid a steel price increase.

—Said farm law is woefully out-of-date, ineffective and expensive, and urged Congress to enact legislation that would curb costly surpluses and achieve higher net farm incomes.

—Urged civil rights legislation, including right to vote guarantees.

—Summoned the nation to an all-out battle against inflation.

—Called for congressional action on his request for school legislation "designed to stimulate classroom construction, not by substitution of federal dollars for state and local funds, but incentives to extend and encourage state and local efforts."

—Said there is an "immediate need" for all industrial countries of the free world to cooperate in holding to lift the "scourge of poverty from less fortunate nations."

Clutter Killers Arraigned

Garden City—Two Kansas ex-convicts who have confessed to "the most brutal crime in the state's history" will hear today the cold words of the formal charge of accusing them of massacring a prominent farmer and three members of his family.

What is expected to be a brief appearance for Richard Eugene Hickock 28, Edgerton, Kan., and Perry Edward Smith, 31, Las Vegas, Nev., was scheduled for 10 a.m. (CST) in the 31-year old limestone courthouse set in the center of this Great Plains wheat community.

Both men have told officers they fired point-blank shotgun charges at Herbert W. Clutter, 48, a former Eisenhower appointee to the Federal Farm Credit Board; his wife, Bonnie, 45, and their two children—Kenyon, 15, and Nancy, 16.

The family was cut down just after midnight on November 15, a Sunday, in their $40,000 farm house at Holcomb, seven miles west of Garden City. The motive was robbery, but its object—a safe thought to contain a large amount of money—did not exist.

Solons Choose Favorites

Washington—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) are favored by the voters of the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations according to a poll of 91 Senators and House members.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell was top man for the GOP Vice Presidential nomination and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for the same spot on the Democratic ticket.

The polling was conducted at a Women's National Press Club party last night saluting the new session of Congress and the new state of Hawaii.

The 91 Senators and Representatives present were asked to list the choice of their constituents "as of now." Ballots were turned in by 58 Democrats and 33 Republicans.

Quotes from the News

By UPI

New York—Charles Van Doren, who admitted lying to a grand jury about rigged quiz shows, on being excused when he was called to serve as a grand juror:

"While I regard myself qualified to serve as a grand juror, in view of the publicity which resulted from my selection as a grand juror, I now wish to be excused from serving."

Chicago—Paul Leonas complaining of the red tape which has kept a promise by Soviet Nikita Khrushchev to send his two children here from Lithuania from being effected:

"Relations between the two countries may deteriorate and I may never get my children back."

Washington—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, commenting on the absence of his rival Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) when Congress opened:

"Where's Kennedy? While we're down here, he's probably up stealing more Pennsylvanians."

Washington—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn celebrating his 78th birthday summed up:

"My life has been satisfactory to me entirely. I've attained everything I ever hoped I would."

Sooners Put on Probation

One man stood today between the University of Oklahoma's football team and a possible trip to the Orange Bowl next year.

The man is Arthur L. Wood, an Oklahoma City accountant and booster of the Sooners, whose alleged "recruiting fund" resulted in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's indefinite probation of Oklahoma yesterday.

That means Oklahoma, national football champion in three of the last nine years, will be ineligible to appear on N.C.A.A. television programs or in post-season bowl games for an indefinite period. The Sooners, who previously were placed on probation in 1955 for two years, have won the Big Eight championship the last 12 years.

They are favorites to win the title again this year and normally would win a trip to the Orange Bowl in Miami, Fla., next New Year's Day. But they will not be permitted to appear in any bowl game unless Wood makes a full disclosure of the operations of the fund under his administration from 1952 to 1954.

"I don't plan to cooperate at all, either with the University or the N.C.A.A.," Wood said bluntly. "I don't give a damn."

Wood blamed the whole business on Nebraska football coach Bill Jennings, who was an assistant coach at Oklahoma at the time.

Westminster Foundation edged Scholarship House, 33-32, in overtime last night, to move into the semi-final intramural basketball brackets with three other independent teams who won more decisive victories in last night's quarter-finals.

Last year's champs, the Rebels, could not match the Fat Daddies' height and rebounding, to lose, 45-30. The Fat Daddies led at halftime by a six point margin, and connected on freethrows to add to the second period score. Leon Smith hit eight of 10 free-throws plus six field goals to top Fat Daddies' scoring.

Hi Flyers led the Hi-Fi squad throughout their contest to win, 24-19. The game was loaded with fouls. Hi-Fi players chalked up 18 personals and the Hi Flyers had 11.

The Speedsters tried a comeback in the second period after being down 18-5 in the first half. Road Runners won, however, 37-34. Jim Unruh was the Roadrunners' best scorer with 12 points, all from the field.

In the evening's closest game, Westminster and Scholarship house, Duane Shaw was high man in the game for Westminster and tied SH's Louis Vallas for overall scoring honors. Each had 13 points.

Endowment Receives Grant of 500 Dollars

The K-State Endowment association has received a gift of $503.20 from Garvey Drilling company in Wichita to continue the Garvey scholarships in petroleum engineering, Kenneth M. Heywood, director of endowment and development announced yesterday.

Heywood said the scholarship was established in 1957 by the Garvey company to assist and encourage worthy and promising students who plan careers in petroleum engineering.

Scholarship Grant

The K-State Endowment association has received a $500 gift from Wilson and Company, engineers and architects, Salina, for the continuation of the Murray Wilson scholarship for 1960-61.

According to Kenneth M. Heywood, director of endowment and development, the scholarship was created in 1956 by employees of Wilson and Company. They established the award in honor of the boss, rather than to spend this amount of money for the traditional Christmas party of the firm.

The scholarship goes to a male student who is entering his sophomore year in the K-State School of Engineering and Architecture. He must be a Kansas resident, and is selected for academic achievement, good character and citizenship, and financial need. The scholarship recipients are chosen by the General Scholarship committee.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

BAFFLING BLOT

FAILS TO FAZE FROOD!

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: Every night for the past two weeks I've dreamt that I am being pursued by a beautiful girl in a bikini who wants one of my Luckies. Just as she catches me, I wake up. How can I prevent this? Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Go to bed a few minutes earlier. on on on

Dear Dr. Frood: I am the ugliest guy on campus. My face looks like 90 miles of bad road. When I go to a party someone always steals my date. I worry about this. Can you help me? Loveless

Dear Loveless: Take heart. Any girl who would go out with you isn't worth worrying about. on on on

Dear Dr. Frood: I think this ink blot looks just like rabbit ears. My friends say I'm nuts. What think? Bugs

Dear Bugs: It's your friends who are nuts. Those are clearly rabbit ears. And the long shape extending down is the rabbit's trunk.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have invited three girls to the dance this Saturday. How do I get out of this mess? Uptha Creek

Dear Mr. Creek: Tell two of them to dance with each other until you cut in. on on on

Dear Dr. Frood: I have been dating one girl but I am so good-looking and so popular that I have decided to spread myself around a little more. What should I do about this girl? Dashing

Dear Dashing: Tell her the good news. on on on

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate always wears my clothes. What should I do? Put Upon

Dear Put Upon: Cover yourself and stay indoors.

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

Dear Dr. Frood: My mother and my brother don't like my boy friend, but my father and my sister do. His father and two brothers don't like me, but his mother and his other brother do. What should I do? Miss Muddle

Dear Miss Muddle: Tell your father to talk to your mother and tell your sister to talk to your brother. Then tell your boy friend's mother to talk to his father and tell his brother to talk to his brothers. If that doesn't work, then talk to your mother and brother yourself. Maybe they know something you don't know.

PRESIDENT JAMES A. McCAIN and Whitley Austin, member of the Kansas Board of Regents, prepare to board a jet airliner in New York City for their trip to India, via Rome. McCain left K-State last week for the one-month trip.

ROTC Honorary Leader Will Be Selected from 15

Fifteen K-State women have been named as candidates for Honorary Commander of Pershing Rifles by their respective sororities and residence houses. The winner will be chosen by popular vote of members of Pershing Rifles.

Candidates are Jean Turner, HT Jr, Alpha Chi Omega; Kay Mox, Pth Soph; Alpha Delta Pi; Sandra Shilling, EED Jr, Alpha Xi Delta; Marthanee Jarvis, SED Jr, Chi Omega; Judy Kettler, HT Jr, Clovia; Barbara Howard, EED Jr, Delta Delta Delta; Jan Horsch, SED Jr, Gamma Phi Beta; Lois Sayre, HEA Jr, Kappa Delta;

The candidates and past Honorary Commander Patty Prentup, EED Soph, will attend a coffee Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in SU 207. The five finalists will be announced at that time, and they will attend the Company's meeting the following Monday evening.

At the meeting the winner will be announced and installed by Col. Carl F. Lyons, Army PMS&T. Col. Gordon K. Stallings, K-State professor of Air Science, will present her with a bouquet of roses.

W. Rudolph Will Manage Little Royal

Walt Rudolph, AH Sr, has been named general chairman of the 1950 Little American Royal livestock show to be April 2 in the Animal Industries arena.

Animals will be assigned to participating students next semester, said Clyde Mullen, assistant dean of agriculture. The students then prepare and train the livestock for showing and are judged on their showmanship abilities.

Serving with Rudolph are Richard Rosenhagen, DH Jr, vice-chairman; Jim Swiercinsky, DH Sr, secretary; and Hall Moxley, Ag Jr, treasurer.

Chairmen were named to 13 other committees which will meet every Wednesday afternoon at 5 to plan for the show.

Bach, Brahms Compositions Will Highlight Artist Series

Compositions by Bach, Brahms, Monteverdi and Mozart, and Vaughn Williams, Mass in G Minor will highlight the Roger Wagner Chorale appearance here Sunday. The concert will be in the Auditorium at 3 p.m., a half hour later than originally scheduled.

The first part of the program will consist of the "Ave Maria" by Vittoria; "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Sweelinck; "Vere Languores" by Vittoria; "Hear the Murmuring Waters" by Monteverdi; "Echo Song" by Di Lasso; "Chorus of the Phaeacians" by Monteverdi; Mozart's "Te Deum"; and Williams' "Mass in G Minor."

After intermission the 24-voice chorale will sing Brahms' "Eight Liebeslieder Waltzes, Opus 52" and Bach's Cantata No. 4. The Chorale is augmented by a chamber orchestra which travels with the group.

Wagner, founder-director of the singers, is recognized as America's youngest (he's 40) lay authority on Catholic music of the medieval and Renaissance periods. Born in LePuy, France, he was exposed to music at an early age by his father, organist at the Cathedral at Dijon.

The Chorale has sung in all the leading concert halls of North America and in many of the reading halls of Europe. It has appeared on radio and television and has supplied music for the sound tracks of some dozen movies. The group is now recording for Capitol.

The Chorale's appearance here is under the auspices of the Manhattan Artist Series. The two remaining attractions of the Series are Andres Segovia, Spanish guitarist, February 25 and the Dallas Symphony Orchestra March 4.

A coffee hour in the Union main lounge will follow the concert.

Former Zoology Head Dies Here Wednesday

Robert Kirkland Nabours, 84, who, through his pioneering work in genetics brought international fame both to himself and to K-State, died Wednesday at Riley County Memorial hospital.

Nabours had been a member of the K-State staff for 35 years, and had been head of the Department of Zoology for 31 years.

He was taken to the hospital December 26 after having been in ill health most of the fall.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Congregational church. The Rev. Julian Johnson will officiate. Interment will be in Sunset cemetery.

Nabours was born November 5, 1875, at Many, La. He attended rural schools, and began teaching in country schools at the age of 19. He attended Louisiana State Normal school for three years and was at the University of Chicago from 1902 until 1910. He received his bachelor of education in 1905 and his doctor of philosophy in zoology in 1911.

When Nabours joined the K-State staff in 1910, the areas of zoology and entomology were combined under one department. Separate departments were created in 1913, and he became professor of zoology and head of the department, a post he held until 1944.

Library Will Be Open Sunday Until 10:30 p.m.

The library will be open Sunday from 2:30 until 10:30 p.m. With final exams coming up this will give students more opportunity to use books in the library, or to use the library as a study place. All sections will be open to allow the use of the books in the library.

These same hours will be in effect January 17 and 24. "If students make use of the library and if necessary funds are acquired, the library may be opened every Sunday night," reports the Library committee.

Board Studies International Relations

Acting as a coordinating group, a board of 11 students meets each Monday in the Student Union to consider activities affecting international relations on campus.

The International Relations board, now starting its third year, is a standing committee of the Student Council. It is composed of representatives from several campus organizations, elected for a full year, said Chairman Virginia Baxter, Gvt Jr.

Three major projects have been completed by the Board this semester, including an attempt to place an international student on the Student Council. According to Miss Baxter, the Board's resolution to accept a foreign student was defeated, but when a vacancy appeared on the Council, the Board notified foreign students of the vacant position.

After several had applied, an International student from the graduate school was chosen. Other accomplishments included helping in promotion of the Arab-American Miss Scheherazade contest and arranging for international students to spend Thanksgiving in American homes.

Scheduled for second semester are an International Day and bus trips to various points in Kansas having historical and political significance of interest to foreign students.

The International Day, to be in the Union, will be similar to the Activities carnival held at the first of the school term. Booths will be set up throughout the Union, with some type of entertainment. A definite date has not been set, she said, but the Board is considering the event in connection with Brotherhood Week next semester.

Plans to provide bus trips for international students to historical and political spots of interest in the state are being made by the Political Science club, Mortar Board and the Cosmopolitan club.

Still in the planning stage is a "buddy" system for international-American students coming to Kansas State for study. A project of the Associated Women Students' service committee, the idea was suggested last year. Because of the "red tape" involved in the process of students coming to the United States, "there are still many problems to be settled," the chairman explained.

Several speakers, including foreign representatives, appear before the board at its meetings. Monday the group heard Max W. Milbourn, assistant to President McCain, explain what students can do to further the recent exchange program between Kansas State and Justus Liebig university at Giessen, Germany.

Milbourn suggested that K-State encourage clubs with specific goals to correspond with clubs at the German university to discover interests in common and perhaps gain ideas for programs.

The International Relations board is of a "different sort" today than it was three years ago, said Miss Baxter, who has served on the Board since it was started. The first year, members were selected from the student body by interviews, but "this gave us no way to accomplish projects," she said.

Later the method of choosing representatives from campus clubs was put into effect, making it possible to delegate to those organizations the proposed plans for completion. Membership has also increased, from the beginning five to the present 11 students.

One of the most important projects, Miss Baxter feels, cannot be measured in the usual manner. She referred to the many discussions held by the board on ways to achieve a better understanding between American and international students.

MAX MILBOURN, assistant to President McCain, confers with Joyce Rogers, Mth Jr, at a meeting of the International Relations board. The board considers activities affecting international relations on campus.

Russia To Launch Space Rocket In South Pacific within a Month

Compiled from UPI
By JAY CRABB

Moscow — A Soviet scientist said today the new space rocket to be tested in the central Pacific ocean would be especially important for flights to other planets in the solar system.

An announcement last night said Russian scientists will test fire a series of new and powerful rockets between January 15 and February 15 and asked foreign governments to keep ships and planes out of the designated test area.

The target area is in the general vicinity of the Marshal Islands, where the United States has an atomic testing ground.

Academician Anatoly Dorod-nitsin, writing in Komsomolskaya Pravda, said "the achievements of Soviet rocketry already enable extensive scientific experiments in space."

"It is perfectly clear, however, that an increase in the weight of Sputniks, for instance, will make it possible to considerably increase their instrumentation and thus carry out more detailed and comprehensive studies in the space around the earth," he said.

The new Soviet rocket, he said "will be especially important in the light of flights to other planets of the solar system."

"Here again," he added, "the problem of payloads is of paramount interest to scientists. And payloads depend on the power of the rocket's engines."

All Moscow newspapers carried the news of the projected Pacific tests on their front pages.

Prediction Accurate

Washington — Defense officials said today that it would be another year before the nation has large numbers of Atlas missiles, disclosed by President Eisenhower to be fantastically accurate.

Russia's declaration yesterday that it would begin a series of missile firings into the South Pacific January 15, meanwhile, suggested that the Soviet Union —like America—is working on more advanced rockets that will make present types obsolete within a few years.

Only three launching pads have been declared ready to fire the Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

Kennedy Enters Primary

Concord, N.H. — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) will be officially entered today in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary, scheduled for March 8.

This is the opening day for filling in the primary. Democrat and Republican candidates have until January 27 to get their names on the ballot.

Kennedy was not expected to be present. Last month he wrote State Democratic Committee Chairman J. Murray Devine asking that the committee act as his agent.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, it was reported, will be entered in the primary tomorrow by his supporters. The Nixon filing was scheduled for Saturday as a birthday present to the Vice President, who will be 47 tomorrow. Gov. Wesley Powell has asked Secretary of State Harry E. Jackson to hold his offices open to permit the filing.

Leaders of both parties have agreed that Nixon should poll many more votes than Kennedy in the primary. Registered GOP voters in this old Republican stronghold outnumbered Democrats by nearly 2 to 1.

With Mixed Emotions

K-Staters Desire Advice From 'Sage' Counselors

By Jerry Ratts

A FINE recommendation was recently made by a close associate to have the counseling center accept letters such as the ones written to many well-known "advice columnists," and then have the counseling center relay its answers and solutions to the Collegian, which in turn would publish them for the benefit of everyone.

Supposing this recommendation became an actuality, and the following hypothetical situations could arise. These may be viewed with mixed emotions.

BEBE LEE—Dear Center; I recently acquired a new football coach, and seek some wise tips to give him when he arrives. Do you have any ideas?

Dear Bebe—Tell not to shoot too high, for people sometimes get hurt when they hit the ground. Also Bebe, you'd be better off if you didn't give out so much valuable information.

DOUG WEAVER—Dear Counsel; I have been hired as the new football coach at Kansas State. What advice can you give me in order to improve the football situation at that school.

Dear Doug—First, call Bill Meek in Dallas, Texas. He should be able to give you a few pointers. Watch the alums. They may want to shower you with gifts, and undoubtedly go overboard in aiding you in recruiting new talent. It would be too bad if the NCAA would catch anything like this. Can you imagine being barred from competing in the Orange Bowl for one year.

HERBERT WUNDERLICH—Center; It seems I have the odd feeling certain segments of the students here at K-State don't like me. I know I have a difficult job to perform, but I thought perhaps you could aid me in improving my relationship with these students.

Herb—Your biggest problem is you are entirely too nice with the students. Instead of appreciating what you do for them, they think you are working against them. You'd also better start checking closer with Tribunal, for that may be getting out of hand and conducting secret meetings or something. This group and you have been agreeing on too many decisions. Get tough!

TEX WINTER—Dear Center of Counsel; We won our first conference basketball contest after a disappointing start this season, and now face a very dangerous road trip, meeting Missouri and Oklahoma State. I feel I need some help in order to defeat these two tough opponents. Can you give me any?

Dear Coach—Tell Sparky if he gives your boys a bad time in Columbia, you'll see to it that free cokes are given to all spectators when his team plays here, and each cup will have a picture of him and accompanying instructions.

Keep the team in top physical condition, or Hank Iba and his "run and shoot" brand of basketball may wear them down.

JOE COLLEGE—Advice Wanted; Final examinations are almost here, and I have three term papers, seven book reports, and five hour exams to get out of the way before I can start preparing for the big week. What should I do?

Joe—Keep your eye open for either the smartest or else the best cheater in each of your classes, and sit next to him. They say everybody else does it.

Caracas, Venezuela—A powerful bomb set off last night outside the offices of a firm importing U.S. cigarettes wounded two Venezuelans and caused considerable damage.

The bomb broke windows in the importing house, a service station and three other nearby buildings and damaged a car and a truck parked at the curb. The truck driver and an employee of the service station were wounded.

The blast was the latest of a number of terror bombings here.

Buenos Aires—The Socialist federation said last night the United States is partly to blame for the broadcasts of "canned" jazz which it charged were making Argentines insensitive to national needs.

The Socialists said the U.S. embassy is sponsoring at least 32 recorded jazz programs.

An embassy spokesman replied that the embassy sponsors no programs here. It does taped programs to stations that request them, the spokesman said, but none of them is a jazz show.

Santiago, Chile—President Jorge Alessandri's austerity minded government has asked Congress to approve a 15-month rent freeze here and impose fines up to $500 on violators.

The proposal, which would freeze rents at the levels prevailing in September, probably will win quick approval in the government-dominated Congress.

Hardin-Simmons U Coed Carries Blue Parakeet, Even to Classes

By Margaret Cooper

A LITTLE BLUE PARAKEET is seen with a coed at Hardin-Simmons University all the time—even on privileged dates. The parakeet leads a very abnormal bird's life but a normal H-SU life as he likes cokes, coffee, and popcorn. He contributes to his classes, too. His remark to a teacher coming into the class room and seeing him was, "And I haven't had a drink either!"

Maybe school is strictly for the birds.

"UNEDUCATED GUESTIMATES" from the Indiana Daily Student for days ahead reveal that—

"—1960 may be followed by 1961.

—The weather? There will be some here and there.

—The Russians will land the first man on the moon and make the announcement that the moon is not made of green cheese. It's Swiss.

—Switzerland will claim the moon for itself.

—Razor blade companies will see a vast potential consumer in the beatnik field and will direct a major portion of their advertising to this group."

A REPORTER for the Oklahoma Daily was relating his roommate's uneventful vacation. He says he did have one sharp date, but "in his home town that means she has the right number of head and arms."

"LIBRARY TO CLOSE" headlined an article in the Infidel, a newspaper which "emanates yearly from the lower recesses of the Holy Cross campus." The article informed students that the library would be sold to the United States government to be used as a granary for the surplus soy bean crop. The money from the sale of the building will be used to build a huge modern "Student Union complex." It will have three theaters, a 700-room hotel, a night club, an 18,000 seat auditorium for political conventions, and the largest pizzeria west of the Tiber—all open to the general public.

"The library was old-fashioned and extremely unprofitable," the Dean of Studies said.

The Infidel's motto: "It pays to be ignorant."

THE CHRISTMAS ISSUE of the Minnesota Daily was printed with aromatic ink smelling of Christmas pie. A letter to the editor congratulated him on the use of "smell-o-vision" and suggested it be used when the story on the onion blight, the fire, the university laundry, or the Union food service was covered.

HEARING A RUMOR that the world would come to an end January 4, the Indianapolis Times offered a one million dollar bet that it wouldn't—the winner could pick up his money January 5. Some Indiana university students aren't so sure the world didn't come to an end on the 4th—after all, classes began again.

Wildcats Travel To Missouri For TV Cage Tilt Saturday

Kansas State will be faced with a jinx tomorrow when the Wildcats travel to Missouri for a Big Eight basketball contest to be televised at 2:50 p.m.

So far this year, every conference team that has played away from home has lost. This happened to all three teams last week who hit the road for their first conference game. Nebraska, Missouri and Colorado all lost games away from home.

Following tomorrow's afternoon contest at Columbia, the Wildcats will journey to Stillwater for another league game with the Oklahoma State Cowboys Monday.

"If we can gain at least a split from these two tough games, I feel we will have to be ranked as a title contender in the conference," said the Wildcat coach. "If we should be able to win both, we would rate a strong chance to keep the championship."

The Wildcats take a mediocre 6-5 record into the two-game road swing. But they have won five of their last six games and Monday's 69-37 win over Colorado was the easiest of all.

"We looked good against Colorado," Winter said, "and particularly on defense. Sometimes our

Bob Boozer To Quit Cats

Bob Boozer, former Kansas State all-America player, said he plans to quit the Caterpillars of the National Industrial Basketball League and sign with the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association.

Boozer said he has definitely made up his mind about the move for next season, and may even switch earlier.

"I might even play with the Hawks this year. I'm just sorta rolling it over in my mind," he said.

"This is a pretty brutal league," he added. "If you're gonna play brutal, you might as well get paid for it."

Boozer, a 6-8, 220-pounder, said he talked to Hawk officials last week. The Hawks obtained draft rights to Boozer in a trade with the Cincinnati Royals two weeks ago.

Boozer said his proposed move was no secret.

"The people here know that I plan to join the Hawks next season. I haven't said anything about quitting this season because I haven't made up my mind."

Kansas State has limited 11 opponents to a 60-point average; held Oklahoma State to a meager 27 per cent of its shots; and limited Colorado to 26 per cent.

At Missouri the Wildcats will be facing a team that is suffering from a four-game losing streak. The Tigers had lost only to Minnesota in seven games ahead of the Big Eight Tournament, but lost three straight in tourney action to Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Nebraska. They dropped a 51-42 decision at Oklahoma State Monday. That leaves the Tigers with a record of 6-5.

However, the Tigers have yet to lose a game this year on their home court. They have defeated

Matmen Host Second Meet

Kansas State's wrestling team will host one of the nation's top teams tomorrow evening. The Wildcats will face Mankato State at 7:30 p.m. in Ahearn field house. The match will mark K-State's first dual of the season.

Four Wildcats won their weight division in a quadrangle, pre-season meet before vacation. Larry Wood won the 137-pound class, Dee Gard won the 147-pound class, Jerry Allen took the 177-pound class and Wayne Stanley won the 157-pound event.

Other entries include Don Darter, heavyweight, Darrel Huggins, 130 pounds, John Dooley, 128 pounds, and Larry Byers, 167 pounds.

Three KS Glee Clubs To Be Featured in Concert

More than 200 K-State students will participate in the Mid-Winter concert of the Women's Glee club and two sections of the Men's Glee club Thursday at 8 p.m. in the University auditorium.

The Women's Glee club will be under the direction of Jean Sloop and Morris D. Hayes will direct the men's groups.

Music will be presented from Bach, Dvorak and Shubert, as well as folk tunes and popular selections.

The Varsity Glee club opens the program with two selections from "The Tower of Babel" by Rubenstein. This will be followed by selections from the musicals "Where's Charlie?" and "New Moon."

The Women's Glee club will sing several folk songs, "I Gave My Love a Pretty Little Ring," an Irish song "Shule Agra," and will close with "Lullaby" and "Poor Old Jonathan Bing" from "Three Poems to Children" by David S. Cooper.

The Varsity Glee club will close the program with "Der Herr Segne Euch" from the Wedding Cantata, No. 146 by Bach, "The Maiden in the Wood by Dvorak, two folks songs, "The Streets of Laredo" and "Jack Was Every Inch a Sailor," and the final numbers, "The Halls of Ivy" and "The Fight Song."

Accompanists for the organizations are Manuel Pasquil, MGS Sr.; Leslie Dole, Eng Jr.; and Betty Jean King, Soc. Jr.

Air Force Promotion

James Ford, instructor in the K-State Air Science department, has been promoted to captain, effective January 1.

Captain Ford was graduated from advanced AFROTC at Coe college in June, 1953, and then entered pilot training, winning his silver wings in October, 1954. He was sent to Europe and served in Germany and France with the 317th Troop Carrier wing for three and one-half years, flying C-119, C-130 and C-47 aircraft. Captain Ford has been at K-State since June, 1958.

U.S. Expert on Deceleration Accepts KSU Speaking Date

Col. John Paul Stapp, who made the news recently for 29 experiments on rocket sleds at speeds up to 632 miles an hour, has announced that he will speak at K-State March 18 in conjunction with the 1960 Engineers Open House.

Colonel Stapp will speak at an all-school assembly the morning of the 18th. There was no speaker for the Open House last year.

The 36th Annual Open House is March 18-19.

From 1946-1958, Colonel Stapp, who has served in the Air Force as General Duty Medical officer, Industrial Medical officer, Flight Surgeon and Research Specialist in Aviation and Space Medicine, pioneered research on the effects of mechanical force on living tissues.

His rocket sled experiments—over 200 tests with human volunteers on swings and catapults, and hundreds of deceleration experiments on chimpanzees, hogs and black bears—provided data for aircraft and vehicle ground safety designs, for tolerance limits of trajectories of ejection seats and escape capsules, and data applicable to impact forces expected in space ballistic flight.

Effects of windblast were studied simultaneously with the tests. Colonel Stapp underwent decelerations averaging 25 times the force of gravity—25 g—and a peak deceleration of 40 g during a stop of 1.4 seconds from a velocity of 632 miles an hour in a 1954 rocket sled test.

Colonel Stapp also planned and directed high altitude balloon flights in June and August, 1957. In August, Col. David G. Simons attained an altitude of 102,000 feet during a flight.

Colonel Stapp graduated from Baylor university in 1931 with a B.A. degree. He received an

M.A. in Zoology and Chemistry in 1932, and a Ph.D. in Biophysics from Texas university in 1940, after he had completed a year of Medical School at Minnesota university. He received his M.D. in 1944.

He is presently Chief of the Aero Medical laboratory of Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio, where he directs research and development in aviation and space life-sciences.

Union Announces Program Director

K-State's newly appointed Union program director, Ed Barth, will assume his duties February 1, Loren Kottner, Union director has announced.

Barth, currently a program adviser for the University of Illinois Union, is replacing Oliver R. White, who resigned in September to become program director for the University of California, Berkeley.

A native of Kansas City, Mo., Barth has had four years part-time experience with the Kansas City Recreation department and worked on special assignment with the Youth Incorporated recreation program in Ruskin Heights following the 1957 tornado.

Barth received his A.B. in economics from William Jewell college in 1958 and for the past 18 months has been doing graduate work in recreation administration at the University of Illinois.

A near-capacity audience gave a royal reception to the Roger Wagner Chorale yesterday afternoon in the Auditorium. The group was the second attraction of the 1959-60 Manhattan Artist Series.

The two-hour program featured Bach's Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lag in Todesbanden (Christ Lay in death's dark prison)," Brahms' Eight Liebeslieder Waltzes and Haydn's Concerto in G Major, played by the chamber orchestra that accompanies the Chorale. The concerto was substituted for Vaughn Williams' Mass in G Minor.

The large audience called the Chorale back for three encores before the concert had to halt for the coffee hour in the Union following the performance.

The other numbers on the program were "Ave Maria," and "Vere Languores" by Vittoria, "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Sweelinck, "Hear the Murmur-

Men's Dorm Ahead, Says Gingrich

KSU Construction 'Right on Schedule'

"Construction of buildings on campus is developing right on schedule, and the Men's Residence hall is quite a bit ahead of schedule," stated R. F. Gingrich, administrator of the Physical Plant.

Buildings under construction at present are the additions to Kedzie and Eisenhower halls, a milling addition, the Men's Residence hall and its cafeteria, and the rebuilding of East Waters.

"We have the necessary funds to begin construction on a new nuclear engineering laboratory, but have not received the preliminary plans," said Gingrich.

Construction on the building, to be located south of the Military Science building and west of Burt hall, will probably begin this spring, he added.

Kedzie and Eisenhower additions will be completed in March. The new Kedzie wing will be used primarily for classrooms, office space and housing of press equipment. The Royal Purple and Collegian will still be headquartered in the old Kedzie hall. Most of the Eisenhower addition will be occupied by the English department, plus containing large classrooms and a large lecture hall.

The Kansas Legislature appropriates an average of $1 million to K-State's building fund. "This is inadequate in view of Kansas State's increasing enrollment," said Gingrich.

The Board of Regents has requested that $5 million be granted to K-State for an accelerated building program.

Near-Capacity Audience Enjoys Wagner Chorale

ing Waters" and "Chorus of the Phaeacians" by Monteverdi; "Echo Song" by Di Lasso; and Mozart's "Te Deum."

The final two attractions of this year's Artist Series will be Spanish Guitarist Andres Segovia February 25 and the Dallas Symphony Orchestra March 4.

Asked at the coffee hour following the program for his advice to aspiring musicians, Wagner gave four suggestions.

1. Have your talent evaluated by three or four experts, "not counting your family."

2. Study theory and harmony before you take voice lessons.

3. Be quick in reading music. Wagner's chorale reads a piece of music only three times before it records it.

4. Study an instrument—"most singers can't count."

KS Debate Team Is Third at Texas

The K-State debate squad finished third among 24 teams entered in the Golden Spread Forensic tourney at Amarillo, Texas, over the weekend. The tourney was sponsored by the Amarillo Bar association.

A senior women's debate team composed of Josette Maxwell, PrL Jr., and Mary Richardson, SEd Jr., received top honors in their division; while Virginia Baxter, Gvt Jr., placed second in senior women's oratory, for the best K-State showings.

IFYE's Experiences on Trip 'Well Worth Year of School'

Going to bed at night in a foreign country with a lizard clinging to the ceiling above isn't an experience many of us crave, but Marjorie Roeckers, HT Sr, not only survived the scare—she fell asleep while watching the small animal!"

Miss Roeckers related the incident as a part of her experiences during her seven-month visit to Brazil as a student on the International Farm Youth Exchange program last year. She now recalls her trip as one "well worth a year of school."

Leaving with two IFYE students from Nebraska and New Jersey in October of 1958, Miss Roeckers sailed for Brazil, the largest country in South America, and began her new life as a member of seven different families.

She lived on two coffee farms, and was required to do very little work, but followed the pattern established by her host family. The wealthy planters do no actual work, she explained, but have many servants for both house and field labor.

From the richer side of living, Miss Roeckers went to the poorer, and lived on a poultry farm, two farms of general nature, and a vineyard. Working as a member of those families, she shucked corn, helped clear a mountainside, planted corn both by oxen and by hand, and worked in the vineyard, spraying the vines.

Black beans and rice twice a day composed the diet of the home economics student during her visit in the rural communities. No beverages are served with the meals, she explained, but afterwards the families have coffee.

She noted a lack of fruits, vegetables and milk in the diets, coupled with little variety in preparation of what foods the Brazilians did have. Here she found an opportunity to help her host-mothers, demonstrating the uses of milk in the diet.

Dating habits in the larger cities are the same as in the U.S., said Miss Roeckers, but the communities of about 5,000 population and less observe quite different customs.

There, she recalled, the men walk one way through the park, and the women another, for several months. After this time, if a man either winks or smiles at a woman, and she returns the action, they start dating—chaperoned, of course. When they become engaged, they exchange gold bands which are worn on the right hand. On their wedding day, the rings are changed to the left hand.

A TROPHY and a high-heel shoe are a few of the souvenirs by which Marjorie Roeckers, HT Sr, remembers her trip as an IFYE delegate to Brazil last year.

Society Lacks Interest In Values of Education

THE DESTINY of our nation depends on the degree to which more people comprehend two central facts of our time:

—education is now the indispensable medium for survival and progress;

—a national commitment to education consists of infinitely more than remedies to problems of formal education, like bulging enrollments, inadequate teaching salaries, curriculum upheavals, and other apparent crises of the moment or the decade.

THIS IS A STATEMENT by Henry T. Herald, president of the Ford Foundation, in the Foundation's annual report.

The wave of concern about problems of education, says Herald, has been mounting for more than a decade. It could grow into a strong tide carrying American civilization to a new level of maturity, wisdom and vitality. Or it could diminish into a ripple of indifference and complacency, leading to a static society or worse.

.... it is incongruous that education should be regarded as a special problem on the American scene. It is, rather, the base from which all important problems are to be attacked.

The general failure to grasp this crucial distinction is evident in the nature of the inadequate commitment of American society to education."

THE ANSWER TO THIS PROBLEM, says Herald, is not strictly financial. "Reliance on massive financial assaults discourages the search for ways of using funds more wisely."

The Russian conquests in space had their positive value by putting education in the spotlight, he believes. "Yet it has colored the conception of true educational values and distorted the effort toward an educational renaissance.

This attitude of the public toward education seems limited to the preservation of the process and a modest repair of the institution. It narrows down for the most part to increased expenditures for teachers and buildings. There is inadequate interest in, and support for, serious efforts to challenge, explore, and, where necessary, remake the kind of education that has served American society for decades.

WHEN A BASIC COMMITMENT to education becomes ingrained in the ethos of a nation, society need no longer pay self-conscious homage to the value of education. Instead all its actions will habitually stem from and contribute to the enrichment of education."—don veraska

Pravda Demands Sweeping Reforms For Russian Propaganda Methods

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Moscow—The Soviet Union's Communist party called yesterday for major changes in propaganda at home and abroad to push the cause of Communism in an era of peaceful co-existence with the West.

A sweeping, 7,000-word resolution by the Central Committee of the Communist party criticized present propaganda methods as failing to reach all of the masses and of being guilty of disinterest and apathy.

The resolution, which filled two complete pages Sunday in Pravda, the official party newspaper, ordered Communist principles drummed into every segment of Soviet society from students to farmers. It was considered one of the most important documents published here in years.

Ringing instructions went out to party officials throughout the country on reforms on radio, television, newspapers, books and in schools to end the serious shortcomings in propaganda diffusion.

The Central committee was believed to have passed the resolution at a secret meeting after its publicly announced December 25 closing. It was seen as a significant prelude to an important meeting of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) January 15.

"Peaceful co-existence with countries of different social structures does not lessen the ideological struggle," the resolution said. "Our party will continue to conduct an irreconcilable struggle for Communist ideology."

Brigitte Has Firstborn

Paris—Brigitte Bardot gave birth today to a seven-pound, four ounce boy in an announcement so well publicized that crowds gathered outside her west end apartment to cheer.

The 25-year-old movie star who married 25-year-old matinee idol Jacques Charrer last June 18 named her firstborn Nicholas. The birth was reported to have been without difficulty and both mother and child are "doing fine."

Brigitte, whose scantily-clad movie romps made her a symbol of sex in France, is the highest-paid movie actress in French history. In a few years her figure and the few wisps of cloth which usually covered it rocketed her from obscurity to such fame she is known merely as "BB."

Committee of AWS Preparing Kansas State Survey on Cheating

Spurred by an article on cheating which appeared last summer in the magazine Mademoiselle, and another appearing more recently in the Saturday Evening Post, the standards committee of Associated Women's Students is preparing a survey on K-State students' opinions on, and observations of, cheating here on campus.

The survey is to be distributed February 10, in all living groups during their regular Wednesday evening meetings, according to Carolyn Moriconi, Eng Jr, chairman of the committee. Questions concerning the prevalence of cheating at K-State, the courses and tests easiest to cheat on, the estimated percentage of students who do cheat, and the number of classes in which the students have observed the dishonesty, will appear on the form.

Monday evening Miss Moriconi will appear before the Academic Affairs committee of the Faculty Senate with her committee's proposal. She will request that the committee present to the Senate the results of the survey, if it is apparent that the students feel an inferior testing program exists at K-State. "It is our hope that the Senate will help improve the program if it appears necessary," the chairman said. Miss Moriconi first introduced the problem of cheating at the AWS retreat in October, and it was adopted as a yearly project by the standards committee. At that time, she called attention to three types of exams which seem to encourage dishonesty in the classroom. They are objective tests composed of minor details, multiple choice exams causing students to gorge their minds on unrelated facts, and departmental exams where several teachers make up the test over material sometimes not completely covered in all recitation classes.

From the Mademoiselle article, "Who's Cheating Whom" by Nancy Lynch, Miss Moriconi listed four suggested solutions—starting an honor system, writing research papers instead of taking a final exam, relaxing the tension of final week by placing less emphasis on the last test, and providing seminars and programs discussing independent study and other problems. At K-State seminars are arranged for honor students, graduates and seniors.

Members of the committee have contacted the Counseling Center, Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils, the English Proficiency director and Tribunal, for help on the project. They will also speak to Student Council and the Dean of Students. "All have indicated they will be willing to help, but they have little information on cheating of their own," said Miss Moriconi.

Miss Moriconi summed up the situation in this way:

"To accomplish the goal of this project we will need a great deal of student help, for a survey on cheating at K-State would be absolutely worthless unless it is both representative and correct. We would like to find out if students feel that present cheating is due to improper testing methods and, if so, to inform the faculty of student opinion on this in hopes of future correction. However, it is quite evident that the major reason for cheating is a lack of moral integrity, not a defective educational system—this we cannot, of course, correct. It is up to the individual student to consider 'who's cheating whom'."

New York—Police said John Cornell, 24, sipped a few beers in a bar yesterday, then grabbed a butcher knife and forced the barmaid to hand over $128. The barmaid was his mother, Mrs. Catherine Cornell.

New Brunswick, N.J. — The bullet-ridden bodies of Istvan Szucs, 27, and Carol Olson, 17, were found in a car near here during the weekend with a note that read:

"The two of us agreed to do it together—to go on this road from which there is no turning back."

Police said Szucs, a Hungarian refugee, shot the girl and then killed himself because her parents objected to their romance.

Algiers, Algeria—Moslem reb-

K-State Beats NAIA Champs In Wrestling Match Saturday

Two Wildcat wrestlers pinned their opponents giving K-State 10 of its 18 points in Saturday's win over nationally ranked Mankato State.

Mankato, NAIA champs for the past two years, held K-State without a point in the two opening matches in Ahearn field house. Larry Word broke the ice for KSU with a draw in the 137-pound class with Ron Youngbauer. Dee Gard gave the Wildcats their first winning match in a 2-0 decision over his 147-pound opponent.

Wayne Stanley, 157-pound class, pinned Mankato's Sam Bengtson in 2:32, pushing KSU's score into a 10-10 tie. It was tied again in the next two matches, 13-13.

Betas, SAE Play Tonight

Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon meet in intramural basketball semi-finals tonight to determine the final entry in Tuesday's finals. Tip-off time is scheduled for 6:45 p.m.

One fraternity and two independent finalists were determined Friday—Sigma Chi, Westminster and the Fat Daddies. The Fat Daddies and Westminster meet tomorrow at 7 p.m., and Sigma Chi plays tonight's winner at 8 p.m., tomorrow in Ahearn field house.

Sigma Chi out-played Sigma Nu, Friday, for a 32-13 win. Joe Biggs was hot from the field with four baskets plus a free-throw through the first period.

Sigma Nu's big problem was to keep the ball. They lost it several times in the first half and fouled six times trying to get it back. Owen Sutter was their top man with six.

Westminster toppled the Hi Flyers with a 39-20 win in independent play. They led 14-8 at the half. Al Hamilton hit 10 points for WF to lead the game scoring. Larry Jones had nine for the Hi Flyers.

The Fat Daddies had a hard time keeping ahead of the speedy Road Runners in the other independent game, Friday. The Fat Daddies broke away from a narrow half-time lead, 16-14, to win, 37-29.

All Road Runner starters hit field goals in the first half and limited only two Fat Daddies to score from the field. The winner's Leon Smith helped break up a Road Runner press and was high scorer with 15 points.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Ken Murphy meets with Revenue Accounting people to discuss a new statistical formula. This will be used to proportion the billing time spent on interstate and intrastate Long Distance calls.

He's making math and telephones add up to a fine business career

During his senior year in college, math major Kendall T. Murphy had job interviews with several firms, but none of them appealed to him. "I wasn't interested in doing pure mathematics," he says. "I wanted to apply math and statistics to everyday business problems and have management responsibilities, too."

At a professor's suggestion, Ken talked with a Bell System representative and was "surprised to learn how many practical applications statistics had in telephone company operations." The thorough and varied training program and opportunities to advance as a member of management also impressed him.

Ken joined the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at Sacramento, California, in June, 1956. Two years of rotational training familiarized him with company equipment, services and commercial procedures. Then he was assigned to the Chief Statistician's Office in San Francisco.

Today, as a Staff Statistician, Ken is applying his math background to a variety of statistical studies dealing with rates and revenue, inventory and obsolescence of equipment, customer opinion, personnel administration, quality control and auditing.

"This is a big, fast-growing business," says Ken, "and I feel I'm helping it operate more efficiently every day. That's a mighty satisfying way to put my college education to work."

Ag Economics Will Sponsor Speech, Debate

K-State's Agricultural Economics department will sponsor a public speaking contest and a debate contest in early April to select a debate team, according to John Sjo, assistant professor in agricultural economics.

Winners of the local contest will go to Ames, Iowa in August for the national contest sponsored by the American Farm Economics association. Most of the trip expenses of participants will be paid.

The topic for debate, to be announced, will be on an agricultural policy problem. The student may choose his own topic in the area of agriculture for the speech, said Professor Sjo.

Last year's national contest was at Cornell university. Gary Rumsey, AE Gr, and Philip Warken, AE Sr, were on the debate team. David Cool, AE Gr, entered the public speaking contest.

The local contest is open to any K-State student. Students who are interested have been asked to enroll in Agricultural Economics problem 601. This course gives one hour credit for speech and two hours for debate.

John Carlin, Ag Soph, was elected president of the Collegiate 4-H club, for the coming semester, Thursday night at Nichols gym.

Other elected officers are: Clay Woolfolk, AE Jr, vice-president; Ruth Zweygart, Soph, secretary; Elaine Henderson, HE Soph, reporter; Rita Torkelson, DIM Sr, song leader; Carol Johanning, HE Fr, pianist; Robert Wilson, AE Sr, marshall.

Corresponding secretaries are: James Buchele, PRV Fr; Ronald Robb, AgE Fr; Barbara Sawyer, HEJ Soph; Vernon Schweer, AEd Soph; Marion Karr, FT Fr; Judith Blount, HEX Jr.

Chi Epsilon

Garry Chegwidden, CE Sr, was elected president of Chi Epsilon, chemical engineering honorary, at a meeting of the group Thursday in Seaton hall.

Serving with Chegwidden are Rudy Dirscherl, CE Sr, vice-president; Larry Bennington, CE Jr, secretary; and Jay Zimmerman, CE Jr, treasurer.

Chi Epsilon is expected to receive its charter early next semester, according to Larry Ro-hloff, CE Jr. The organization presently has 17 members.

Electrical Workers Scholarship

A $300 scholarship has been established at K-State by the Kansas State Association of Electrical Workers.

The award will be made annually, starting for the 1960-1961 school year, to a sophomore in electrical engineering. The scholarship recipient will be selected by the Engineering school's Scholarship committee, said M. A. Durland, dean of the School of Engineering.

Family and Child Development

Professional opportunities for family and child development majors will be discussed by Thelma McClure, group care supervisor for the Division of Social Welfare, Kansas State Board of Health on January 14, at 4 p.m. in Justin 148.

Miss McClure received her Master's degree from K-State and was a group teacher at the child development laboratory.

Chancery Club

John Anderson, Jr., the attorney general of Kansas, will speak during a meeting of the Chancery club tomorrow night at 7 in SU 203-204, said A. D. Miller, associate professor of history, government, and philosophy, club faculty adviser.

Anderson's speech topic will be "Enforcement of Law at the State Level."

Judge To Select Six Scripts For 1960 Y-Orpheum Show

Seven combined-entry and three single-entry scripts have been received by the Y-Orpheum committee for the Y-Orpheum show March 25 and 26. Six of the scripts will be selected for the production, with the finalists being announced February 8. The scripts are currently being read by Don Hermes, assistant professor of speech. The scripts, with Prof. Hermes' criticisms, will be returned to the houses for revisions before being sent to the judge who will select the finalists.

The three single entries are Tau Kappa Epsilon, "Pharaoh's Folly"; Alpha Kappa Lambda, "Zombie Jamboree"; and Phi Kappa Theta, "From Nothing Comes Nothing."

Combined entries are Alpha Delta Pi-Acacia, "The Inevitable"; Alpha Xi Delta-Pi Kappa Alpha, "Poot Hollar Line"; Delta Delta Delta-Sigma Alpha Epsilon, "Little Red School House"; Gamma Phi Beta-Delta Tau Delta, "Who Done Who Wrong?"

Kappa Delta-Beta Sigma Phi, "Happy New Year 2060"; Kappa Kappa Gamma-Sigma Chi, "The Sand Trap"; and Pi Beta Phi-Phi Delta Theta, "Insane Campaign."

"The number of scripts submitted this year is about the same as last year, with the exception that the number of combined entries has been reduced," Bud Annan, BA Sr, producer of the show, said.

"This year we have ruled that there must be at least two single entries. If the judges elect only one of the singles, then the show will consist entirely of combined entries."

Last year's winners were Phi Delta Theta-Pi Beta Phi in the double entry and Sigma Nu, the only single entry in the production. Last year marked the second consecutive year that Phi Delta Theta had won the first-place trophy.

Other members of the executive committee are Harry Leheu, Sp Sr, assistant producer; Jim Johnson, PrV Jr, director; Mary Ann Pearce, Sp Sr, secretary; and Dee Woodward, BA Sr, business manager. This year's Y-Orpheum theme is "Party Talk."

Trophies will be awarded to the skits that receive first and second place. Plaques will be awarded to all competing fraternities and sororities. In previous years only trophies have been given.

Salary increases at state colleges and universities gained prominence today as the Kansas Legislature opened its 1960 budget session. Gov. George Docking delivered his budget message to the legislators at 1 p.m.

In his budget recommendation, Docking included a three per cent salary raise for teachers at state colleges and universities and no increases for administrative personnel. The State Board of Regents has requested a seven per cent salary raise.

"If the Legislature grants only a three per cent salary raise to K-State, we will lose further ground and we won't be able to maintain a first-rate faculty," said Dan Beatty, K-State business manager.

"Kansas State's salaries and wages to faculty and employees are already 20 per cent behind those of all land-grant colleges in the North Central Association," Beatty said. He added that K-State ranks in the middle in comparison with salaries at the other Big Eight schools.

"The other schools can all increase their salaries during the next fiscal year in excess of three per cent.

"Heretofore K-State's salaries have been close enough to those of other schools in the Big Eight and the North Central Association to prevent them from recruiting from us," Beatty said. "When our salaries lag, those schools as well as others in the Southwest and on the West coast begin recruiting from K-State."

In the last budget session, the Board of Regents requested a 12 per cent increase in salaries for state colleges and universities and received a six per cent increase.

A. D. Weber, Dean of Agriculture and acting President during President McCain's absence, said that he is "hopeful and rather confident that the outcome of this session of the Legislature will further the best interests of K-State."

Senior Activity Cards Due Next Wednesday

Royal Purple senior activity forms must be returned to the Student Publications office, K103, by January 20, RP editor Eldon Miller, TJ Sr, announced today.

Seniors graduating at the end of this semester have a balance of $3.00 due if they wish to receive the Royal Purple this spring. An additional charge of $1.00 will be made if they want the yearbook mailed to them.

Eight Students Vie Tonight For Speech Contest Honors

Eight students will compete in the Larry Woods Memorial speech contest in the Union little theater. The 17th semi-annual contest will begin at 7:30.

The first place winner will be awarded $30; the contestants placing second and third will be awarded $20 and $10, respectively.

The eight finalists, selected from a field of 42 in the preliminaries last Tuesday, are James Breneman, Ar 1; Colleen Ungeheuer, Mus Fr; Don Warren, BiS Fr; Rebecca Zook, FN Fr; Don Higgason, EE Fr; Richard Daniels, BA Fr; Kathy Reeves, HEA Soph; and Larry Laird, SED Fr.

The contestants are limited in their selection of a speech only by the fact it must be extemporaneous and within the five- to seven-minute time limit.

The five judges for the contest are Mel Baughman, assistant alumni secretary; Bill Colvin, managing editor of the Manhattan Mercury; Dr. Samuel S. George, First Presbyterian church; William Lowe, O. D. Milligan Construction Co., and Mrs. Ashley L. Monahan.

After Larry E. Woods, a former speech major at K-State, lost his life in World War II, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Woods of Independence, Kansas, established a living memorial for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods gave a sum of money, the income from which finances the semi-annual Larry Woods Memorial speech contest.

Slacks, Bermudas Okayed by AWS For Exam Week

AWS last night refused to prohibit the wearing of slacks or bermudas by women during final week. The Council declined to either condemn or sanctify the wearing of casual attire, and will leave the decision to the individual.

A motion was made that slacks or bermudas be permitted during final weeks of future semesters also. The Council reserved the right to amend this motion at any time.

Closing hours during enrollment week have been extended to midnight Wednesday and Thursday, February 3 and 4. Regular closing hours will be in effect Friday and Saturday nights.

College Money Important Topic At Budget Session of Legislature

The Kansas Legislature began its 1960 Budget session today and money to colleges and universities and faculty was in the limelight.

In accord with the Kansas Constitution, the House and Senate were gavelled to order at noon. Lt. Gov. Joseph Henkle (D-Great Bend) did the rapping in the Senate, House Speaker Jess Taylor (R-Tribune) in the House.

The Legislature had an hour of preliminaries on schedule before going into joint session in the House Chambers at 1 p.m. to hear Gov. George Docking deliver his budget message.

Docking recommended a 3 per cent salary raise for teachers at state colleges and universities, instead of the 7 per cent requested by the State Board of Regents, and no increase at all for administrative personnel.

He suggested operating expenditures of $27.2 for state colleges from the General Revenue fund, compared with the $29.3 requested by the Regents.

He also asked for two changes in the Regents' building proposals at the colleges to allow all new construction to stay within the financing framework of the educational building fund .75-mill levy.

They were reduced from $450,000 to $275,000, the requested appropriation for the nuclear engineering building at the University of Kansas, and reduction from $225,000 to $140,000, the requested appropriation for the physical science building at Kansas State.

There will be no question of additional revenues in this year's budget session as there was last year. Kansas has about a $15 million surplus of revenues left over.

The Kansas City Star quoted one state legislator as saying, "The schools have a good case in trying to make it look as though this is money that rightfully should go to them for the tremendous influx of students they are facing. They may be right, for all I know."

Discussing the building program at K-State earlier this week, Physical Plant Superintendent R. F. Gingrich had said that the Legislature's appropriation to Kansas State was inadequate in view of the increasing enrollment.

Docking announced last fall that he would take a "tight budget" to the Legislature, and Republican leaders have said his spending recommendation will be examined closely to determine whether they will pay for efficient government.

Chinese Communist Jet MIG Pilot Defects To Nationalists, Rumored Killed in Crash

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Taipei, Formosa—Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-Tu said a Chinese Communist jet Mig pilot defected to the Nationalists today and landed with slight damage on the east coast of Formosa.

"At 9:10 a.m. one Communist Mig No. 0651 surrendered to us," Admiral Liu said.

"The plane landed on an emergency air strip near Ilan. We learned the plane took off at 8:15 a.m. from Lu Chiao in Chekiang province (on the mainland) and passed over Nanchisan, (a Red-held island 100 miles northeast of the Matsu.)

"The plane flew direct to Formosa and landed with slight damage."

Liu declined to disclose the fate of the pilot but other sources said he was killed in the crash.

Cuba Rejects U.S. Note

Havana—The Cuban government last night rejected a U.S. protest against seizure of North American holdings in Cuba and said a formal protest failed to deal with "a basic situation" of Cuba's new agrarian reform laws.

A statement by Acting Foreign Minister Marcelo Fernandez Font made it clear Cuba later would formally reject a State department note handed over yesterday by U.S. Ambassador Phillip W. Bonsal. However, Fernandez promised to study the note further.

In dealing with a similar American protest last June a spokesman first criticized the Washington note and the revolutionary government later rejected it officially. Yesterday's was the fourth U.S. protest note in a year.

"Upon receiving the (U.S.) note we had the opportunity to reiterate to his Excellency the firm position of the revolutionary government to speed up the working of the agrarian reform, applying the same measures of expropriation and compensation both to national and foreign citizens, submitting all doubtful cases to the proper Cuban courts," the Fernandez statement said.

China Claims Kidnapping

London—Communist China charged today that members of the U.S. Consulate-General kidnapped a Chinese diplomat in Bombay, India, in an incident that led to the beating of an American marine in November.

Peiping radio, in a New China news agency dispatch from Bombay, quoted the text of a statement issued by the Communist Chinese Consulate-General in Bombay giving its version of the incident. The Peiping broadcast was monitored here.

It said Chang Chien-Yu, a staff member of the Bombay Chinese Consulate, "was kidnapped by members of the U.S. Consulate-General in Bombay on November 26, 1959.

The Americans held Chang in the consulate by force "and threatened to kill him if he stuck to his refusal" to apply for "political asylum" in the United States, the statement said.

The Communist version was diametrically opposed to the U.S. version of the incident.

According to the U.S. version, Marine Sgt. Robert Armstrong, attached to the U.S. consulate in Bombay, was dragged into the Chinese Consulate by four Communists and was beaten and threatened when he attempted to recover a tape-recorded statement Chang made involuntarily requesting asylum.

The Chinese said Chang "dropped into the U.S. Consulate to seek information" a relative had asked him to obtain "about procedure for obtaining a visa for the United States.

Instead of the information, the Chinese said, Chang got "rosy accounts of the American way of life, the freedom prevailing in the United States and the efforts the United States is exerting for the cause of freedom."

"Hints were given to Chang that he should cooperate with the Americans. Sensing himself in a predicament, Chang . . . started to leave."

The statement said the Americans stopped him, took him into another room and threatened to kill him unless he applied for political asylum.

'Mother-in-Law' Treatment Offered To Red China by Oregon Emerald

By Margaret Cooper

COMMENTING on the free world's foreign policy, the Oregon Daily Emerald believes we should have established, at least a "mother-in-law relationship" with Red China—recognizing them every other day.

FOR THE mass of interested single women who are out chasing their men this Leap Year, the Indiana Daily Student is wondering if the need to increase the "chasing hours" might be an incentive to temporarily extend women's closing hours? The men at Indiana university can be thankful that some coeds received diamonds from their "Santas." Consequently there will be fewer long-handled umbrellas (for hooking purposes) to watch out for.

STUDENTS at the University of Kansas fear next semester to be a lonely one. The friends who provided the "fantastic football season parties have resigned from the university, upon request of the management, to seek employment." Things are tough all over.

THE NORTH Dakota Spectrum asked a few of the campus coeds what they thought of one armed drivers. One reply was:

"The same thing I think of black jellybeans — good but dangerous."

Another replied:

"Well—it depends on who he is and how many arms he has and where the extras are and . . . oh, skip it, everything I say is taken wrong."

AN OLD tradition at Iowa State university says that if two people drink together from the two spouts of the marble fountain—built because 1905 students decided they could not "live by bread alone"—they will be eternal friends. Also the stone benches on campus are wishing benches. Sit there for 15 minutes and your wish will come true.

IN REPLY to the question whether to ask a boy friend where he is from, the Hardin-Simmons university Brand advises:

"Never ask a man what state he's from. If he's from Texas, he'll tell you; and if he isn't, there's no sense embarrassing him."

IM Teams Battle for Titles

Chis, Alphs Decide Title

Sigma Alpha Epsilon sank a field goal in the final five seconds for a 29-28 win over Beta Theta Pi to earn the right to play Sigma Chi in the fraternity division intramural finals tonight at 8. Some 275 fans were on hand for the thriller.

Ed McConwell hit his only field goal of the evening in the closing seconds for the Sig Alphs to give them the close win. Although the Sig Alph squad managed to lead, 16-10 at the half, the Beta squad made a sustained come back to take lead by a single point with only five seconds left.

The Betas opened the evening scoring and held SAE scoreless for several minutes from the field.

Hank Pierce was high man for the Betas with nine. Scott Cochran topped the SAE team scorers with seven.

Beta scorers were George Phipps, 7; Hank Pierce, 9; Bob Jones, 1; Mike Scheter, 4; Rhea Serpan, 5; and Bill Laude, 2. Scoring for SAE were Cochran with 7; Jim Messer, 5; Steve French, 4; Rich Heiman, 3; Jack Whittier, 5; Gary Kershner, 2; and McConwell, 3.

Cats Survive O-State Rally

Kansas State managed to stave off a late rally by Oklahoma State last night and go ahead to win its third straight conference game of the year, 54-49, at Stillwater.

The victory gave the Wildcats a 3-0 record which is now tops in conference. Both Kansas and Iowa State were upset last night, being knocked out of the unbeaten ranks. Colorado whipped Kansas, 65-61, and Oklahoma romped Iowa State, 65-47. In the other Big Eight game last night, Missouri defeated Nebraska, 69-61.

K-State built up a 35-26 lead with ten minutes remaining in the game and it looked as if the Wildcats would be able to coast in. But a pair of free throws and a field goal put the Cowboys within reach of the league leaders.

Center Cedric Price, who was K-State's top scorer with 15 points, was on the bench because of foul trouble. He came in to halt the Oklahoma State drive, momentarily, but he later fouled out. Price was called in to stop the Cowpokes' center Eddie Bunch who was the spark of the late rally for Oklahoma State. He scored 12 points during the game, 11 of them in the second half.

K-State out-rebounded Oklahoma State, 43-38, with Mickie Heinz grabbing nine and Price seven. Bunch was high for the game with 12. Wally Frank had six.

Warren Brown, who scored seven points during the game, hit five of those during the final minutes to keep K-State ahead of the surging Cowboys.

Coach Tex Winter made one change in his starting lineup since Saturday's game at Missouri. Price replaced Mike Wroblewski at center for the only change.

The Wildcats will host Oklahoma Saturday and Iowa State Monday for the next conference action. Only Kansas State and Oklahoma remain undefeated in the Big Eight.

Justin Tour To Highlight Home Economics Days

Kansas homemakers who are members of home demonstration units will tour K-State's new home economics building, Justin Hall, during the annual Home Economics Days, February 2 and 3.

Three assemblies are planned for the two-day conference. Doretta Hoffman, dean of the School of Home Economics, will address the group on opportunities in home economics. A panel of homemakers will discuss early marriages. A home economist from India, Elizabeth Phillips, will be another assembly speaker.

K-State faculty members will present eight one-hour classes on various subjects including interior decoration, meat selection, history of costume, household insects, international relations and scientific advances that aid homemakers.

Frog Club

The annual Frog Club water show will be presented February 19 and 20, in the men's pool of Nichols gymnasium.

The theme, "That Wonderful Year" is derived from a feature of the Garry Moore show. Songs characteristic of the years between 1930 and 1945 will furnish the background music for the swimmers.

Mock Political Convention

The Platform committee of the Mock Political Convention will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Terry Bullock, PrL Jr., chairman of the committee, said that persons interested in the political aspects of atomic energy, economics and natural resources are invited to attend the Thursday night meeting.

Information on Weather

Found on 750,000 Cards

The K-State library of weather information totals about 750,000 IBM punch cards that are available for researchers the same as information in the University library, according to L. Dean Bark, climatologist for the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The cards contain high and low temperatures, rainfall, snowfall, evaporation, mean temperature, and other information for 24 well-distributed weather stations in Kansas. The station at Manhattan also has a daily record of the solar energy available and that information is to be entered on the punch cards in the future, says Bark.

The IBM cards permit one to do such things as determine how long a period of low temperatures has lasted, how long dry periods have lasted, ranges of precipitation, etc. With that information, possibilities also can be easily computed.

Bark currently is working on the probabilities of rainfall at the 24 stations for future publication as an Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin.

Thirteen Grad Fellowships To Be Available Next Fall

Kansas State has been awarded 13 additional National Defense Graduate fellowships, to become effective next fall, announced Harold Howe, dean of Graduate school, yesterday.

"The NDG Fellowship program is especially designed for graduating seniors," said Howe. The student must intend to enroll in a full-time course of study leading to the Ph.D. or similar degree. Students credited with more than one semester of graduate work are ineligible.

The total number of fellowships awarded to the nation's colleges and universities has increased from 1,000 in 1959 to 1,500 in 1960. Kansas State received eight fellowships last year.

A National Defense Graduate fellowship is normally a three-year award, providing a stipend to the individual of $2,000 for the first year, $2,200 for the second, and $2,400 for the third, plus an additional allowance of $400 a year for each dependent.

The purpose of the NDG Fellowship program is to assist graduate students, with preference given to those who are preparing themselves to teach in colleges and universities.

Application forms for the fellowships may be obtained from institutions which are offering approved programs. Applications should be sent to participating institutions immediately.

A list of colleges and universities which are offering the fellowships is posted on the bulletin board in Fairchild hall. Nominations for K-State's new NDG Fellowships are to be made by March 5.

Students should contact the proper departments of their chosen schools immediately," said Howe. "Competition may be strong, but many students who might apply have had more than one semester of graduate work, and the preference shown those who are interested in teaching will eliminate still more."

The Fellowship will provide funds for three years of study if the student maintains a satisfactory grade average.

Larry Laird Wins In Speech Contest

Larry Laird, SEd Fr, from Oberlin, was awarded the $30 prize for first place in the Larry Woods Memorial speech contest last night in the little theater of the Student Union.

Laird proposed a satellite for peace. "We have a choice before us. We can build a satellite that can destroy the world in two days or we can build a satellite for peace. I propose the latter.

"As we all know, a satellite needs a three stage rocket. The first part of my rocket will consist of faith—faith in ourselves and faith in our neighbors; the second stage will be charity and love of friends; the third part spiritualism. Prayer is one of the few ways—the only way I know—to achieve world peace."

Second place prize money of $20 was awarded to Richard Daniels, BA Fr from Ellsworth. Rebecca Zook, FN Fr, of Larned, was awarded third place.

Daniels took exception to Harvard's President Emeritus James Conant's advocacy of eliminating smaller schools. "The most valuable thing I received from my education was the personal attention of the teachers, something impossible in the large schools. If we are supposed, in the smaller schools, to receive inferior instruction, I wonder why we at Ellsworth had the top student in the state in Latin?"

K-Staters Get 2,236 Tickets In Year's Last Four Months

Students and staff members were issued 2,236 traffic tickets during the four-month period of September through December.

Darrell Russell, head of traffic and security office, said the most tickets, 649, were given for parking in reserved areas. Tickets were given to 379 persons who did not have identification or parking permits on their cars.

A common violation was parking in a prohibited area—387 tickets were given. Tickets were given to 185 persons who were parked overtime. The least violated rule was that of parking in a fire lane. Only seven tickets were given for this offense.

An average of 559 tickets were issued monthly. "More tickets are given at the beginning of the semester," said Russell. "Students often fail to register or put ID's on their car."

A total of 54 accidents were recorded on campus for 1959. Twenty-four of the accidents occurred this semester. "Icy street conditions are a common cause of accidents," Russell stated.

During the September through December period of 1958, 2,134 tickets were given.

It is increasingly expensive to violate traffic rules. Warnings are given for the first offense, a $2 fine results from the second offense, a $4 fine for the third offense, an $8 fine for the fourth offense, and a $16 fine for the fifth ticket and all succeeding tickets.

Poor Tests Not Cheating Cause; Attempt To Rationalize Practice

THE CURRENT FUROR over college cheating, which, oddly enough, seems to be generated mostly by students, and not by faculty or administration, is considered in a page-one story in the Daily Californian at California university in Berkeley.

Besides the usual methods of preventing classroom cheating, such as spacing students in the examination room, and keeping close watch on students, California professors have volunteered two other ways:

Purposely making the test so long that students have no time to cheat, and using the essay test.

WHICH BRINGS US right back to the observation we made before, that the only real way to stop cheating lies in the hands of the professors.

At the AWS retreat in October, announced Carolyn Moroconi, head of the AWS Standards committee, the three types of tests which "seem to encourage dishonesty in the classroom" were identified.

They are "objective tests composed of minor details, multiple choice exams causing students to gorge their minds on unrelated facts, and departmental exams where several teachers make up the test over material sometimes not completely covered in all recitation classes."

THE STANDARDS committee is planning a survey February 10 to determine prevalence of cheating at K-State, courses and tests easiest to cheat on, estimated percentage of students who cheat, and number of classes in which dishonesty has been observed.

A report on this survey could certainly be a valuable thing to faculty and administration.

We do hope, however, that any changes resulting from such a report do not simply involve changing from one type of test to another.

THIS SOLUTION would be the easy way out—and would be avoiding or detouring not curing, the real problem. Improper testing methods are not the cause of cheating, but merely an attempt to rationalize an apparently common practice.—don veraska

U.S. Government Orders Super Upper Stages For Use in High-Powered Saturn Space Vehicle

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Washington—The government today ordered an early start on ultra-powerful upper stages for the Saturn rocket designed for missions to the Moon and planets.

The upper stages will be powered by liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen, the most efficient rocket fuel yet developed. The Saturn, being built by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency (ABMA) at Huntsville, Ala., is an eight-engine booster capable of generating 1,500,000 pounds of thrust.

With two upper stages, it will tower 150 feet and will be able to carry giant payloads to the Moon or to Mars and Venus. Even more efficient later models are in the works.

Ground tests for the booster are scheduled for early this spring at Huntsville. The first flight test, with dummy upper stages, is scheduled for 1961-62. The first full-fledged space mission probably will be undertaken in 1964-65.

PHS Issues Warning

Washington—The U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) does not expect the current rash of influenza outbreaks around the country to mushroom to the size of the 1958 Asian Flu epidemic.

Nevertheless, Acting Surgeon General John D. Porterfield urged persons over 55, individuals with heart or lung diseases and pregnant women to ask their doctors whether they need Flu shots.

The Health Service advised persons who develop flu symptoms—fever, aches and sore throat—to go to bed and call their physicians. There is no specific treatment for the ailment, officials said.

Senate Debates Funds

Washington—A "clean elections" bill comes up in the Senate today with promise of a session-opening battle.

The scrap will come over amendments to make campaign spending controls apply to primaries and conventions. Senators from Southern states, where winning a primary often is tantamount to election, were expected to fight the amendments.

The bill would modernize reporting procedures on campaign spending and set higher limitations designed to meet the realistic costs of election campaigns. As approved by the Senate Rules committee, it does not apply to primaries, conventions and caucuses.

But Chairman Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.) of the Rules group announced he would offer amendments to make it embrace primaries and the other election procedures. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) served notice he would have a similar amendment.

DeGaulle Fires Pinay

Paris—President Charles DeGaulle has fired Antoine Pinay as finance minister but is trying to get him to take a lesser cabinet post and avert a grave political crisis, informed sources said today.

The sources said DeGaulle offered Pinay the job of minister of state in charge of "technical economic problems" and that Pinay would give him his answer when they met today for the second time in 24 hours.

Pinay, 68, who directed France's economic recovery during the past 19 months, was dismissed because of his opinion disagreement with Premier Michel Debre's projects for increased nationalization of industry and Pinay's opposition to DeGaulle's lukewarm attitude toward NATO.

Ike Okays Soviet Tests

Washington—President Eisenhower today conceded the right of the Soviet Union to use an area of the Central Pacific as a missile target range.

Eisenhower, at his first press conference since December 2,

Complete revision of farm legislation in 1960 is improbable, says John A. Schnittker, associate professor of agricultural economics at K-State, and a staff member of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisors last year.

In an article in the January issue of the Kansas Agricultural Situation, Schnittker pointed out that this session of Congress will be short because of the national conventions, and other problems, such as labor and defense, will be pressing. Many people have said Congress cannot bypass major farm law changes this year, he remarked, but other years in which fateful said it would be most unusual for the United States to protest against the Russian plan when this government had been doing precisely the same thing—firing missiles into pre-announced oceanic target areas.

Russia announced last week that it will test a powerful new space rocket in the Central Pacific west of Hawaii. It cautioned ships and planes to stay clear of the area from January 15 to February 15.

Complete Farm Legislation Revision Not Probable in 1960 Ks Prof Says decisions on farm programs seemed unavoidable have come and gone. The farm program seems sometimes to go on forever, he said.

Schnittker, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Kansas State and his doctorate from Iowa State University, recalled that farm surpluses were reduced twice in the past 20 years by the tragedy of war. Each time the stockpile of farm commodities which appeared to be such a liability became, instead, an asset.

The United States' output of wheat, corn, cotton and tobacco what by acreage allotments, has been held in check some Schnittker explained, "but we have never been serious about farm production control in the U.S." Since 1954, the acreages taken out of wheat, corn and cotton simply were planted to other crops.

What programs will be the center of the major farm policy issue in the current session of Congress, according to Schnittker. If the 1960 crop is as big as the 1959 crop, and if there is no international emergency demanding amounts of U.S. wheat, total stocks of wheat will be 1.5 billion bushels by the time a new wheat program could become effective with the 1961 program. Such a supply of wheat is not taken lightly by farmers, agriculture's sympathetic friends

Chuckles in the News

By UPI

New York—It took a bit of feminine deception to break up a $20,000-a-day numbers racket in a furniture store.

Every time officers tried to catch the gamblers in the act, lookout Ramon Negron, 45, gave warning of the raid. Then yesterday, plain clothes police-woman Narlene Van Dunk came by and dropped her grocery-laden shopping bags. As Negron helped her pick things up, detectives dashed in and caught the gamblers red-handed with 1,000 numbers slips.

Tokyo—The Tokyo Chamber of Commerce and Industry has received a request it recommend a top bacteriologist with an unusual additional vocation to a Brazilian farming company.

The company wants to hire a bacteriologist who also holds the third or higher rank in judo.

Greenwood, Calif.—Mrs. Henry Schroeder has found a novel way of churning butter.

She pours cream in her clothes washer, turns the dial to "wash" for 90 minutes, then to "drain" to take out the buttermilk and finally to "rinse" to prepare the machine for the next load of clothes.

Pendleton, Ind.—The sports staff of the Pendleton Reflector, regrettably turned down an invitation to a St. Louis wrestling match explaining, "Time does not permit us to attend functions outside our own neighborhood." The paper is published by inmates of the Indiana reformatory.

in Congress, or the public, the professor warned.

Wheat is not the only farm problem to be taken up by Congress. There are clear signs that Midwestern farm groups are deeply concerned over the current state of the feed-livestock economy, Schnittker declared. Direct price support and production control in that sector is difficult, as experience has shown.

To be discussed more this session, Schnittker believes, is an indirect approach of compulsory retirement of a specified portion of all cultivated land. "Such a program could be devised that would be acceptable to farmers. This would interfere as little as possible with operation of the farm directly," he pointed out. "Many farmers would prefer this to the more direct type of control, such as acreage allotments and market quotas."

The farm problem will also be an important issue in the Presidential elections next fall, said Schnittker. "Neither party stands to gain from the low price and income situation in agriculture in 1960. In the Midwest in recent elections, there has been much evidence of farmer discontent with Republican farm proposals. I would not be surprised to see this continued in this year's election," he declared.

NEW FOOTBALL COACH Doug Weaver unpacks some of his belongings as he prepares to fill the desk vacated by former coach Bus Mertes.

Weaver Named Speaker

K-State's new head coach, Doug Weaver, has been named feature speaker at the annual football banquet Friday in the Student Union.

The 29-year-old former Missouri assistant arrived in Manhattan Monday. He continued at Missouri as assistant through the Orange Bowl game at Miami.

"We feel the banquet will be an ideal occasion to present the new coach to K-State fans," said Bebe Lee, K-State director of athletics. "So we are altering the usual routine of the annual event by making our own coach the main speaker."

The banquet, starting at 6:30 p.m. in the K-State Union, also will honor members of the 1959 team. A "most inspirational player" elected by the squad, will be named at the event, and squad members will be introduced by Ed Dissinger, freshman coach.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Ted Warren, Manhattan businessman who is a former Wildcat fullback.

Students and faculty members are invited to attend. Tickets for the banquet will be available until Thursday noon at the ticket office in Ahearn gymnasium.

Sigma Chi, WF Win Titles

Two field goals, an hour apart, decided victories for both winners in the intramural basketball finals last night in Ahearn field house. Sigma Chi edged Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 34-33, and Westminster Foundation nipped the Fat Daddies, 38-37.

Joe Biggs paced Sigma Chi with a 10-point effort in the second half. The victors had a commanding lead midway through the final period before the Sig Alphas, on the strength of Jack Whittier's shooting, closed the gap. Gary Kershner hit a field goal for the Sig Alphas with only five seconds on the clock, but Sigma Chi held onto the ball for the victory.

Lee Atkins put Sigma Chi into the lead early in the game by scoring eight points in the first half. Bob Blackwelder also pumped in eight points during the game for the victors.

Scoring summary — Sigma Chi: Pat Waugh, 4; Atkins, 8; Biggs, 10; Blackwelder, 8; Gene Reinhardt, 2; Sid Jones, 1; and Rich Johnson, 1. Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Rich Heiman, 2; Scott Cochran, 2; Jim Messer, 8; Kershner, 4; Steve French, 2; Whittier, 9; and Ed McConwell, 6.

Duane Shaw canned a rebound shot with only three seconds left in the independent game to give

Big 'O' Faces Tough Test

Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team which is riding a 12-game winning streak, and Oscar Robertson face the first of two tough clashes this week when it opposes 6-10 Bob Nordmann and St. Louis tonight at the Cincinnati Gardens.

The nation's other two major unbeaten powers—Villanova and LaSalle—risk their marks during a doubleheader tonight in Philadelphia.

Villanova, 9-0, opposes Temple, 10-3, in the first game of the doubleheader and then LaSalle, 9-0, takes on Syracuse, 5-2. Both Villanova and LaSalle are favored to keep their records intact.

In last night's action, Southern Methodist ended Texas A&M's 10-game winning streak with a 66-64 victory.

Westminster Foundation its one-point victory over the Fat Daddies.

Westminster maintained a comfortable lead throughout most of the game and it wasn't until the final minutes that Leon Smith began pouring in points for the Fat Daddies. He ended the game with 21 points for the game's scoring honors. Smith scored nine field goals and three free throws.

Westminster overcame the Fat Daddies' height advantage to take control of the game. Al Hamilton was the rebounding ace for the victors.

The Fat Daddies were behind at halftime, and it wasn't until less than ten minutes remained in the game, that Smith pulled them back into the game.

Scoring summary: Westminster Foundation: Shaw, 10; Jack McCain, 12; Hamilton, 2; Leo Williams, 5; and Jim Vallas, 6. Fat Daddies: Bob McDonald, 3; Terry Waugh, 3; Roger Riggert, 2; Jerry Grace, 1; Smith, 21; and Dave Masters, 7.

HAIL TO THE DEAN!

Today let us examine that much maligned, widely misunderstood, grossly overworked, wholly dedicated campus figure—the dean.

The dean (from the Latin deanere—to expel) is not, as many think, primarily a disciplinary officer. He is counselor and guide, a haven and refuge for the troubled student. The dean (from the Greek deanos—to skewer) is characterized chiefly by sympathy, wisdom, patience, forbearance, and a fondness for homely pleasures like barn-raising, gruel, spelldowns, and Marlboro Cigarettes. The dean (from the German deangemacht—to poop a party) is fond of Marlboros for the same reason that all men of good will are fond of Marlboros—because Marlboro is an honest cigarette. Those better makings are honestly better, honestly aged to the peak of perfection, honestly blended for the best of all possible flavors. The filter honestly filters. Marlboro honestly comes in two different containers—a soft pack which is honestly soft, and a flip-top box which honestly flaps. You too will flip when next you try an honest Marlboro, which, one honestly hopes, will be soon.

But I digress. We were learning how a dean helps undergraduates. To illustrate, let us take a typical case from the files of Dean S..... of the University of Y..... (Oh, why be so mysterious? The dean's name is Sigafoos and the University is Yutah.)

Wise, kindly Dean Sigafoos was visited one day by a freshman named Walter Aguincourt who came to ask permission to marry one Emma Blenheim, his dormitory laundress. To the dean the marriage seemed ill-advised, for Walter was only 18 and Emma was 91. Walter agreed, but said he felt obligated to go through with it because Emma had invested her life savings in a transparent rain hood to protect her from the mist at Niagara Falls where they planned to spend their honeymoon. What use, asked Walter, would the poor woman have for a rain hood in Yutah? The wise, kindly dean pondered briefly and came up with an answer: let Walter punch holes in the back of Emma's steam iron; with steam billowing back at the old lady, she would find a rain hood very useful—possibly even essential.

Whimpering with gratitude, Walter kissed the dean's Phi Beta Kappa key and hastened away to follow his advice which, it pleases me to report, solved matters brilliantly.

Today Emma is a happy woman—singing lustily, wearing her rain hood, eating soft-center chocolates, and ironing clothes—twice as happy, to be candid, than if she had married Walter. . . . And Walter? He is happy too. Freed from his liaison with Emma, he married a girl much nearer his own age—Agnes Yucca, 72. Walter is now the proud father—stepfather, to be perfectly accurate—of three fine healthy boys from Agnes's first marriage—Everett, 38; Willem, 43; and Irving, 55—and when Walter puts the boys in Eton collars and takes them for a stroll in the park on Sunday afternoons, you may be sure there is not a dry eye in Yutah. . . . And Dean Sigafoos? He too is happy—happy to spend long, tiring days in his little office, giving counsel without stint and without complaint, doing his bit to set the young, uncertain feet of his charges on the path to a brighter tomorrow.

Concerts Scheduled By Glee Clubs, Band

K-State student music groups have scheduled two concerts for tomorrow and Sunday in the University auditorium.

More than 200 singers will perform Thursday at 8 p.m. when the K-State men's and women's glee clubs present a concert. The concert band will perform on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Morris D. Hayes, assistant professor of music, will direct both sections of the varsity glee club. One section will begin the program with two selections from "The Tower of Babel," by Rubenstein. This will be followed by "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and selections from "Where's Charlie," "State Fair," and "The New Moon."

In its first appearance under the direction of Jean Sloop, the women's glee club will sing several folk songs including "I Gave My Love a Pretty Little Ring," "Grandma Grunt," "Come, My Love," "Lullaby," and "Poor Old Jonathan Bing."

The second section of the men's glee club will close the program by singing a selection from Bach's "Wedding Cantata," Dvorak's "The Maiden in the Wood," Shubert's "Contradiction," "The Streets of Larado," "Jack Was Every Inch a Sailor," "Wait for the Wagon," "The Halls of Ivy," and "The Fight Song."

Sunday afternoon the 69-piece concert band directed by Jean Hedlund, assistant professor of music, will present selections including "Die Fledermaus Overture," by Strauss, "Psyche and Eros" by Franck, Livingston's "The March of the 111-Assorted Guards," Bach's "Sleepers Wake" and "We all Believe in One God," G. E. Jackson's "Call of the Rockies March," and "Mannin Veen" by Hayden Wood.

HONORS SEMINAR—Alwyn Berland, associate professor of English, discusses "The Russian Novel" with a group of students as part of the Honors Seminar program in the School of Arts and Sciences.

IFC To Determine Fate of Delta Chi

Interfraternity Council will vote February 8 on the status of Delta Chi, Dave Fiser, PrL Jr., president of IFC, has announced. The vote will be the final one of the year, Fiser said.

The Delta Chi petition to become a colony was denied last year. Reasons given were insufficient financial backing, present fraternities wished to strengthen their own groups, the new dorms would soon be ready, and Delta Chi nationally was not strong.

Fiser explained that, although this would be the final vote of this year, he thought perhaps the question could be brought up next year.

Delta Chi has established a living group off campus, and has taken pledges, although it cannot be called that since, theoretically, there is no chapter here. For the same reason, Fiser said, the group cannot initiate. However, the group has been participating in campus activities.

Officers for the following year were also elected. Those chosen were Fiser, Kappa Sigma, president; Lee Atkins, Ec-

Jr., Sigma Chi, vice president; Terry Bullock, MGS Sr., Delta Upsilon, secretary; Duane Sanders, MGS Sr., Delta Sigma Phi, treasurer; Dan Miller, ChE Soph., Phi Kappa Theta, corresponding secretary; and Jack Birkinsha, Ar 2, Alpha Kappa Lambda, scholarship chairman.

KS Dames Club Awards 'PHT' Degrees to Wives

Members of Dames club conferred 33 "PHT" (putting hubby through) degrees on wives whose husbands are graduating from the University in January. The degrees were presented at the regular meeting of the club last night in the little theater.

Herbert J. Wunderlich, dean of students, presented the PHT degrees and was special speaker for the occasion.

January Announcements May Now Be Ordered

January graduates may order announcements in K 101 beginning today. Announcements will be delivered approximately three weeks prior to commencement in June. Cash or checks for the full amount of the order must be paid at time of order. A charge of 50 cents will be made for those orders requiring mailing at delivery time.

Judgers To Enter Contest in Denver

Two K-State judging teams will compete in the National Western Livestock's collegiate judging contest in Denver this weekend. The junior livestock team will judge Friday and Saturday, while the wool team will compete with 11 other teams on Sunday. Nineteen other junior livestock teams are expected to attend the meet.

Don Good, associate professor of animal husbandry, is coaching the livestock team, while Carl Menzies, assistant professor in animal husbandry, is coach of the wool team.

"The team will judge carload lots Friday and twelve classes Saturday," said Professor Good. The team was second in the contest last year.

There will be five classes in the carlot contest—bulls, feeder calves, fat steers, market hogs and fat lambs. There will be two classes of quarter horses, four classes of beef cattle, three classes of hogs and three classes of sheep in the judging contest on Saturday.

Members of the wool team are Kenneth Herbster, AH Jr.; Wayne Bacon, Ag Jr.; Lewis Anderson, AH Jr.; Terry Silvius, Ag Soph.; and Lowell Slyter, AH Jr.

The team won the contest over 11 other colleges and universities last year and will judge six classes of wool and grade 10 fleeces.

PHT DEGREES—Margo Wilson, president of the Dames club, gives 'Putting Hubby Through' college diplomas to Connie Zwahl and Jeannene Shivers at their meeting last night in the Student Union.

Honor Seminars Will Be Available

Eight honor seminars will be offered second semester to students in the Arts and Sciences honors program, Brewster Rogerson, associate professor of English and head of the program, has announced.

The seminars, course and line numbers and instructors:

"The Russian Novel," English 399, Line No. 874) Alwyn Berland, associate professor of English;

"Freud and the Revisionists," (Psychology 399, line No. 1635), Jerry Phares, assistant professor of psychology;

"Two Chinese Philosophers: Confucius and Lao-Tze," (Philosophy 399, line No. 1164), Cecil Miller, professor of history, government and philosophy.

"Charles Dickens," (English 399, line No. 874), Earle Davis, professor and head of English;

"Light: Waves or Particles," (Physics 799, line No. 1618), Basil Curnutt, associate professor of physics;

"Money," (Economics 398, line No. 635) Haney Scott, instructor of economics and sociology;

"Musical Thinking," (Music 799, line No. 1391) Thomas Steuenberg, professor of music;

"The Idea of Liberalism," (History 399, line No. 1163) Philip Rice, professor and head of history, government and philosophy;

The seminars are open only to the members of the honors program, and no more than eight students can enroll in one group. Each carries one unit of credit.

Honor students may sign up for the seminar of their choice in Eisenhower 115, the honors program office, January 18, beginning at 12:45 p.m. The first eight to sign for a given seminar are authorized to include that seminar on their proof tickets and to pull a card for it during registration, Rogerson said.

Students enrolled in the seminars must complete some outside work, and usually take a final exam or write a research paper. One seminar instructor, Rogerson recalled, arranged a student forum which was then recorded and served as the final test.

"We generally regard the seminars as the unique feature and one of the most significant in the honors program," Rogerson said. "They allow students to work with people of their own ability, in small groups, on interesting subjects."

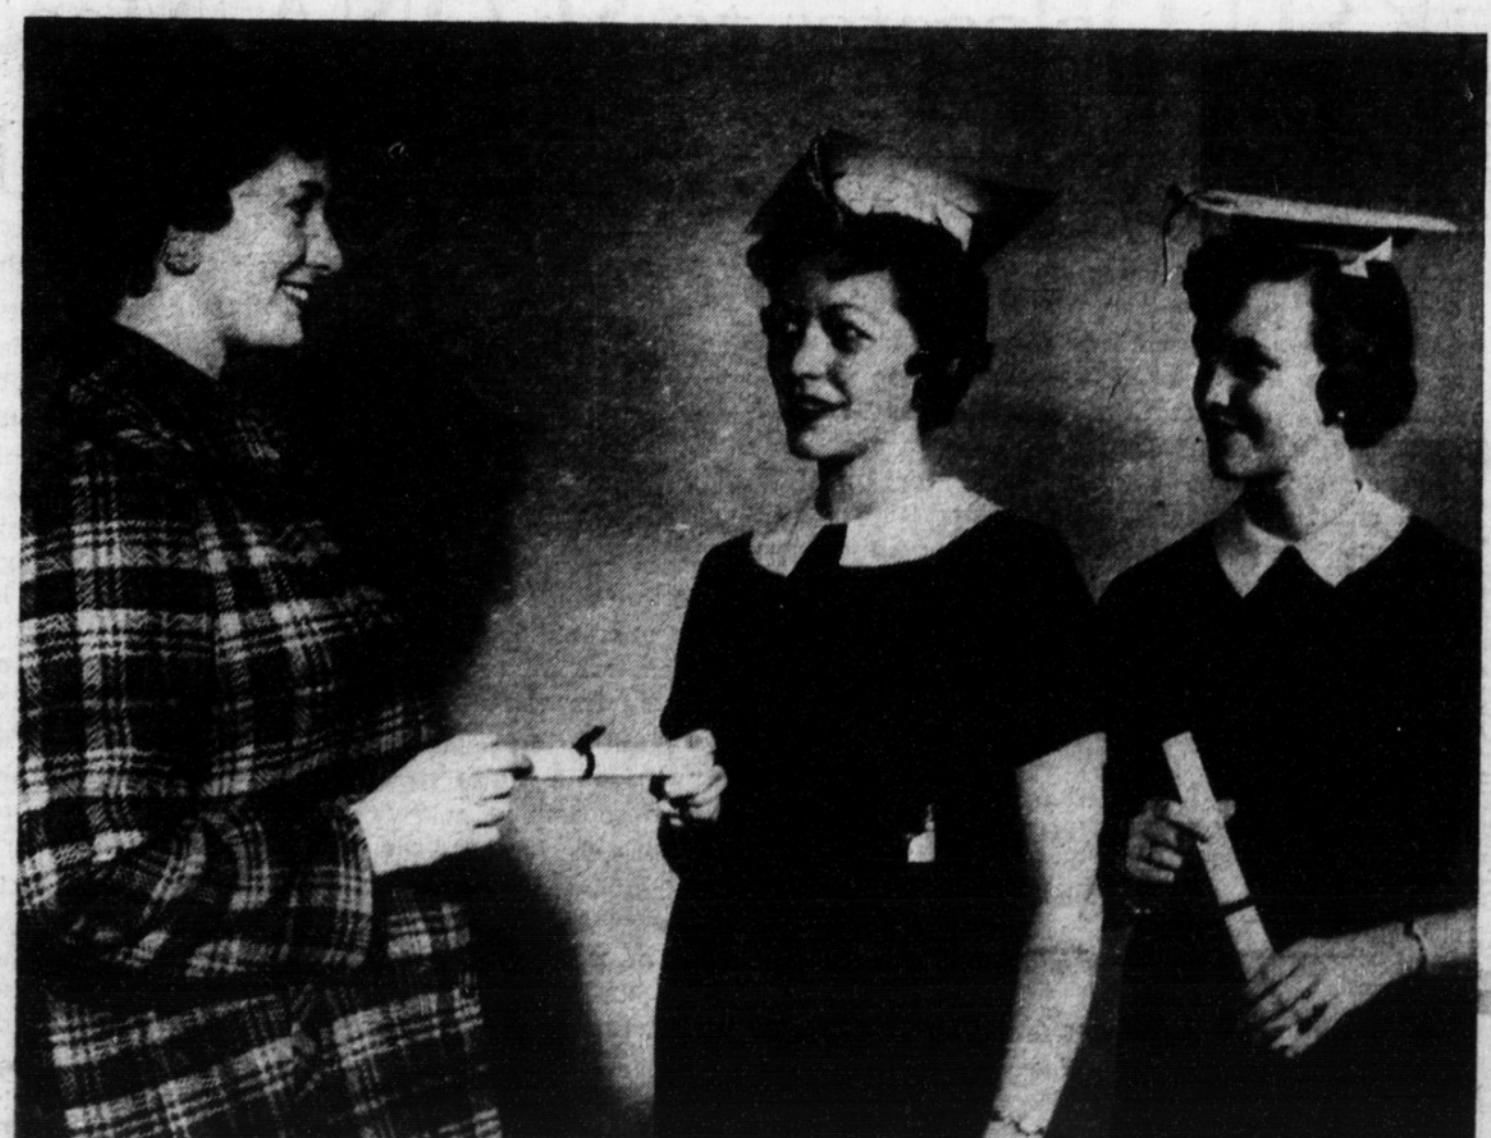

Popularity Growing For Night Courses

A gain in enrollment in courses offered through K-State's evening college and extension classes proves the courses are becoming more popular every year, Roman J. Verhaalen, head of continuing education, has announced.

Last year there were 2,014 persons enrolled in the classes, as compared with 1,627 the year before. This represents a gain of nearly 25 per cent, Verhaalen pointed out.

Three new courses are being offered this year—Geography of the Soviet Union, Psychological Measurements, and a non-credit course on income tax.

Formal registration for classes at Fort Riley closes January 15, while evening college enrollments close January 16. Late enrollments are accepted until the third meeting of each class. Persons interested may enroll at the K-State continuing education office.

Spokesmen from KU To Appear Before Ways, Means Committee

Topeka—Spokesmen from the University of Kansas were scheduled to appear before the Senate Ways and Means committee today to defend their proposed budget for fiscal 1961.

Gov. George Docking, in his budget message Tuesday, recommended cuts in the school budget. The representatives are expected to ask the governor to restore the amount that the State Board of Regents had recommended for the school.

Yesterday, spokesmen for Kansas State university asked the committee to restore $625,174 in appropriations which Docking did not include in his recommended budget of $8,000,031 for the general revenue fund.

Dr. Arthur D. (Dad) Weber, Dean of Agriculture and acting president of the school, did most of the talking for the K-State group from a letter he had written to Ways and Means Chairman August Lauterbach (R-Colby).

Weber asked for $75,471 in raises for Civil Service employees at the school. Docking had recommended $44,539.

Docking asked for 3 per cent faculty raises totaling $129,087 for faculty members and Weber asked that the original request of the school and Board of Regents, $534,707, be granted.

Kansas State is below the national average for faculty salaries by almost $600 a teacher," Weber said. "We were ahead of some neighboring institutions but they have increased their salaries so that we are no longer up with them."

He said those institutions were in Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Weber also asked for restoration of the full requested amount of $235,147 in new school projects which Docking cut to $62,105.

Earlier yesterday the Board of Regents asked the Ways and Means committee for restoration of deletions by Docking in its budget, especially in salaries where the agency recommended 7 per cent for faculty members at all institutions and the governor recommended 3 per cent.

KSU Delegates to SCONA Meet Work Towards One Major Goal

The K-State delegates to the fifth Student Conference on National Affairs at Texas A&M during December, came back from the annual meeting with a major goal: to stimulate in K-State students an interest in national-international affairs.

"We are available to speak to any organization, club, or living group," declared Gary Rumsey, AE Gr., "in the hopes of causing increased concern with the problems faced by the United States."

Carried on by the Memorial Student Center of Texas A&M, SCONA has a three-fold purpose: to conduct a series of informative and stimulating discussions on "The United States: Problems of World Leadership;" to provide an appreciation of the complexities of the foreign policy of the U.S. to an increasingly large representation of college students of the South and Southwest; and to help promote, by a serious exchange of ideas among students over a period of years, a generation of responsible leaders in national and international affairs.

The K-State delegates—Helen Anderson, Gvt Jr.; Josette Maxwell, PrL Jr.; Larry Foulke, NE Sr; and Rumsey—were chosen by a panel of staff members from the Department of History, Govern-

Joseph Hajda. In March they will speak to the Manhattan Rotary club, and during the coming semester, they have tentatively scheduled a series of six one-hour sessions dealing with world problems in conjunction with coffee hours in the Union.

In these meetings, the delegates will present ideas discussed at the conference, which was based on five topics this year: (1) Coping with crisis areas in the cold war; (2) Facing the challenge of the space age; (3) Expanding our economy in an unstable world; (4) Maintaining effective alliances within the U.N. framework, and (5) Educating for world leadership.

Rumsey described his trip to the conference as "without a doubt the most intellectual and stimulating student conference that I've attended, or known of. I'm sure the others feel the same."

You live in a realm of ideas for four days. This can be very beneficial in reorienting your thinking on national and international matters, in giving you an opportunity to challenge ideas of other students, and in having your own ideas challenged.

"Here at K-State we have a great wealth of information available on international problems in the form of our international students. Failure to recognize this and to take advantage of this opportunity to learn from them would only indicate student pacifism toward national and international problems."

Chuckles in the News

Memphis, Tenn.—Dr. Wernher Von Braun, top American missile expert, stating that Russia started rocket research earlier than this country and built larger rocket engines than were needed for military programs:

"That is why we may expect to hear a Slavic-accented voice coming from a space vehicle one of these days."

Madison, Wisc.—American history as reports in the New Soviet Encyclopedia, excerpts from which are to be published by the Wisconsin Historical society:

"Wilson's 14 points represented a capitalistic plot, the new deal was a sop thrown to the masses to keep them from revolting, the Marshall Plan was dollar imperialism in disguise . . ."

Chicago—Lar Daly, perennial unsuccessful candidate for Mayor of Chicago and state and national offices, disclosing that he wants to run in 17 Presidential primaries:

"I wrote letters to all the 16 states and to the District of Columbia, where Presidential primaries are held. I didn't get answers from some of them."

Soviet Union Has Powerful New Weapon; Will Slash Army within Next Two Years

Compiled from UPI

By JAY CRABB

Moscow—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today Russia had built up the greatest nuclear-rocket striking force in the world and that a "fantastic" and more formidable weapon was in the works.

Khrushchev said Russia now was so far ahead of the United States and the Western powers it will slash its armed forces by one-third — 1,200,000 men — within the next year or two.

He did not describe the new weapon but said he could announce that "the weapon we have today in the hatching stage is even more perfect, more formidable" than anything developed before.

"The weapon, which as they say is in the portfolio of our scientists and designers, is a fantastic weapon," he said. He said its power was so great as to be "incredible."

Khrushchev, speaking before the Supreme Soviet, already had boasted: "The Soviet army wields such means of warfare and such firepower as no other army has ever had."

Khrushchev said cutting convention troop strength would leave a 2,400,000 man force equipped with nuclear weapons and rockets so powerful they can obliterate any enemy.

He said Russia was "several years" ahead of the United States in rocketry and would strive to maintain the lead. He added Russia already has sufficient atomic and hydrogen bombs but will continue to make them until there is a world-wide ban.

KBI Finds Clutter Clues

Garden City—Agents of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation yesterday turned up the final pieces of evidence against ex-convicts Perry Edward Smith, 31, Las Vegas, Nev., and Richard Eugene Hickock, 28, Edgerton, Kan. They are charged with the slaughter of the Herbert W. Clutter family.

The officers, working behind a road grader, found the shotgun shells whose charges killed Clutter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, and their two teenaged children, Kenyon, 15, and Nancy, 16, on November 15 in their $40,000 farm house near Holcomb, Kan., seven miles west of here.

Also found were the rubber gloves worn by Hickock, the roll of tape used to gag the Clutter family, and several lengths of nylon cord similar to that used to bind them hand and foot.

Hickock and Smith, who are being held in the Finney county jail, have admitted entering Clutter's big farm house, robbing it, and then killing the prominent Western Kansas wheat farmer and his family "to wipe out witnesses."

U.S. May Join in Pact

Paris — Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon said today that, if Congress is willing, the United States would accept full membership in a new, trans-Atlantic aid-and-trade community.

Dillon made the announcement at a meeting of the 18-nation organization for European Economic Cooperation called to hear a report on plans for an economic alignment which would link the United States and Canada more closely with Europe.

The U.S. official proposed that the OEEC, originally set up to administer Marshall Plan aid, be "reconstituted . . . to meet the new challenges and new opportunities facing the free world."

"Subject to the approval of our Congress, the United States would be prepared to accept full and active membership in an appropriately reconstituted organization," Dillon said.

NASA Will Try Again

Washington — The National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA) will try again today to launch a shiny 100-foot sphere into space.

Adverse weather conditions forced scientists to postpone a launching attempt yesterday at Wallops Island, Va.

If weather permits, NASA planned to send up the sphere about 5:30 p.m. EST today. It could be visible, reflecting the setting sun, for hundreds of miles along the Eastern sea-

Parker Lynchers Free

Biloxi, Miss. — A Federal Grand Jury today refused to indict anyone in the lynching of negro Mack Charles Parker.

The Grand Jury reported at 11:40 a.m. EST to Judge Sidney Mize that it had "considered all evidence and was unable to arrive at any true bill."

The decision apparently means the slayers of the young negro will escape punishment and remain anonymous. State action in the case was virtually ruled out two months ago when a Pearl River county Grand Jury did not return any indictments in the case.

Curriculum in Physiotherapy Is Relatively New at K-State

Fifteen students will be enrolled in physical therapy next semester, according to Katherine Geyer, professor of physical education, and physical therapy advisor. There are now two at the Medical Center completing their senior year in physiotherapy.

"Possessing a great deal of patience is one of the most necessary assets for entering the field of physical therapy," commented Miss Geyer.

"You can not be too sym-pathic either, because you are often called upon to persuade some patient in pain to continue his treatments."

Physical therapy is a relatively new field at K-State. It was first offered in the fall of 1955, following talks with Kansas University physical therapy personnel in their School of Medicine.

Students majoring in physical therapy complete three years in the School of Arts and Sciences in the general curriculum, with emphasis in biological sciences.

The remaining hours are taken during 12 months of study in an off-campus certificate program, approved by the American Physical Therapy association. This includes a semester's work on the Kansas university campus, and the remaining time at the Medical Center, Kansas City.

A bachelor of arts degree is then conferred from Kansas State.

K-State graduates have entered veterans' and children's hospitals, and clinics. Salaries start at $3,800 and reach $5,500 or more.

This kind of work, now being explored at IBM, requires widely diverse talents and skills. People with backgrounds in business administration, liberal arts, engineering, mathematics and the sciences are making their valuable contributions. An observer might consider many of these people astonishingly young. But youth is no barrier at IBM, where advancement has always been based on performance.

Diversity of work and advancement based on performance are advantages a younger person will find important in selecting a career.

Sophisticated Look Appears In Today's Coed Hairstyles

By MARIA DIANA PHILLIPS

The newest hairstyles have the calm, sleek look of sophistication, according to the latest fashion magazines. Long or short, curled or straight, the hair is coiffed to the head as a hat. This tailored look requires faithful brush-work and a good hairspray.

A variety of styles can be fashioned from each of two basic cuts. Short hair is layered in hankerchief points all over the head; long hair is cut evenly at the desired length.

Today's version of the Italian wind-blown look is brushed back from the forehead with a slight uplift. Soft curls create fullness around the ears and at the temples and cheekbones. Curls brush the nape of the neck, but the all over impression is smoothness, designed to follow the shape of the head.

For the woman with a beautifully shaped head, fashion suggests a short cut brushed softly back from the crown with smooth finger waves in back. A slight fullness is created at the sides by an "S" shaped wave from the crown that ends in a soft curl encircling the ear. This style is ideal for naturally curly hair.

A change of pace hairdo may be created from the same cut by setting the side waves so they curl forward to brush the cheekbone and then away from the face to cover the ear.

A shorter version of the page boy is news for medium length hair. The waves are casual and, as in the shorter styles, cling to the shape of the head. A profile wave, a bouffant, or a more severe version of the pageboy that is more line than wave can be fashioned from one basic cut. Rollers or a single row of large pin curls create the smooth, close to the head look.

For the bouffant the curls are set in layers. The top row of curls is wound away from the face, and the bottom row is wound toward the face. Back hair may be set to turn either up or under. A slight permanent may be needed to give your hair enough "body" for this style.

Shoulder length or longer hair styles include a choice of the chignon, swirl, pillbox, or French roll. Hair of this length is not meant to be worn down. The weight of the hair will usually not hold curl. If you would like to wear your hair down in one of the smooth, shorter styles, why not cut it and have a hairpiece made? You can have "long" hair again for gala occasions.

A good idea with naturally curly hair, since it has a will of its own, is to follow the bent of the waves. Your style will be original and the set will stay in a lot longer.

Test your coiffure in the full-length mirror to put it in the proper perspective. Your hair is not only a part of your face but a part of your total appearance.

Only Two Major Quintets Remain on Unbeaten List

By UPI

And now there are two—Cincinnati and Villanova.

They stand alone as the nation's only major unbeaten college basketball teams after Syracuse's 91-84 double overtime upset last night ended LaSalle's nine-game winning streak. Texas A&M, which started the week as a fourth major unbeaten, was whipped Tuesday night by Southern Methodist.

But Cincinnati and Villanova—both of which have tough schedules this week—kept rolling with relative ease.

Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked team, led by only five points at halftime but roared to its 13th straight victory with a 79-57 conquest of 10th-ranked St. Louis. Oscar Robertson was held to 27 points, far below his 38.2 per game average, but poured in 19 during the second half when the Bearcats solved St. Louis' sticky slow-down game.

St. Louis still was only five points behind at 50-45 in the second half but then Robertson and Ralph Davis engineered a drive in which they scored 20 of Cincinnati's last 29 points. Davis shared Cincinnati's scoring honors with Robertson by scoring 19 points and Bob Nordmann, 6-10, 270-pound center, also tallied 19 for St. Louis.

Villanova stretched its winning streak to 10 games as John Driscoll and George Raveling controlled both backboards against the smaller Temple Owls in an 81-69 victory. Driscoll had 19 points and 24 rebounds and Raveling had 19 points and 13 rebounds. Hubie White, a Villanova sophomore, tossed in 20. There were four early ties in the game but then Villanova spurted to a 31-17 lead and Temple never drew even.

Syracuse (6-2) pulled out a sensational triumph over LaSalle in the nightcap to the Villanova-Temple game at Philadelphia on the strength of eight points by 5-10 senior Ed Goldberg in the second overtime period. LaSalle tallied the first three points of the final session to lead, 84-81.

Wrestlers Take Eastern Swing

Kansas State's wrestling team, undefeated in two meets this season, will face two teams on a road swing this weekend. The Wildcats meet Northern Illinois at De Kalb tomorrow and Northwestern at Evanston Saturday.

The K-State grapplers scored a surprise, 18-13, win over Mankato (Minn.) State here Saturday. Earlier they had won a four-team tourney at which they hosted Omaha U., South Dakota State and Northwest Missouri State.

Gym Squad To Ft. Hays

Kansas State's gymnastics team, boasting a 2-0 record, will travel to Hays tomorrow for a triangular meet with Fort Hays State and Colorado State university.

The Wildcats' most recent victory was a 71-40 win over Kansas university.

K-State defeated Colorado State last year, 58-54. Colorado will have its two top gymnasts back from last year's squad.

Coach Frank Thompson's squad is well balanced with a reserve of depth. Wildcat gymnasts captured six events from Kansas and earned a tie in the seventh event.

Captain Ivan Loomis and Mike Dziura are the top scorers for K-State so far this year. Loomis tops the list with 17 points and Dziura is second with 15. Both are all-around performers. David Spence and Bob Rector have scored 13 and 12 points, respectively. David Cudney has tallied eight.

K-State entries: Free exercise—Dziura, Cudney, Rector; Trampoline—Loomis, Don Krasko, Burt English; Horse—Spence, Cudney, Elson Pickinbaugh; Rings—Loomis, Dziura, Rector; Tumbling—Spence, Dziura, Loomis; Hi-bar—Rector, Loomis, Krasko; Parallel bars—Dziura, Rector, Spence.

NCAA Moves Toward Two Platoon Football

By UPI

Although some of its members continued to pine for a revival of the platoon system, college football's coaching fraternity today hailed the liberalized "wild card" substitution rule as "a step in the right direction."

Only Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame accused the N.C.A.A. Rules Committee of being "shortsighted" after it voted to permit a single player to enter a game at any time, even while the clock is running. Under the old rule, a single player could be substituted only during a time-out and provided he had not used up his allowed two entries per quarter.

"I personally feel that you are hurting the game by not allowing unlimited substitution," said Kuharich. "It is shortsighted of the Rules Committee not to make the move now. Eventually it has to come."

"The fans want it, the coaches want it, the players want it. Who is opposed to it is what I would like to know."

Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse indirectly answered the Irish coach by declaring that the new rule "will give coaches a flexibility that will help improve the game" and is "better than the stampede which would result if unlimited substitution were brought back."

"Two platoon football might be okay for some schools," the coach of the 1959 national champions added, "but we had too many personality problems with it. All the backs wanted to play offense and all the linemen defense. Under this rule, coaches will still be able to teach the boys to go both ways."

When the liberalized substitution rule was adopted Wednesday at Miami Beach, Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee, head of the 14-man N.C.A.A. committee, revealed that "if it works out well," the rule may be changed again to permit two or three players to enter a game under the same conditions.

Lou Little, former Columbia coach and chairman of the coaches Rules committee, shared this view.

"The new rule is something nearer to what the coaches asked for," Little said. "Within the next few years if the trend is for further liberalization, I'm sure the Rules Committee will . . . act accordingly."

Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin admitted they would have favored a return to platoon football but,

Dear Dr. Frood:

MARRYING FOR MONEY—IS FROOD IN FAVOR?

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: The other day I stopped at my boy friend's house unexpectedly and I found Lucky Strike butts with lipstick on them in the ash tray. What should I do?

Dear Observant: Go ahead and smoke them. A little lipstick won't hurt you.

This year's Big Eight basketball race may be a lot closer than last year's when Kansas State won all 14 of its games, but the caliber of basketball is not what it has been in the past.

This year's Big Eight winner may as well consider the end of the regular season as the end of the line for them, because it will have to face the Missouri Valley champions—probably Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson.

Only Iowa State and Kansas have been listed in the UPI's top twenty teams in the nation, and rightfully so. St. Louis, a team that will be fortunate to finish third in the Missouri Valley, defeated two of the Big Eight's top contenders—Kansas and Kansas State.

Big name players are also gone from the Big Eight this year, but there is an indication of plenty of promising sophomores at practically every school.

K-State has a number of sophomore prospects and starters and every other team boasts sophomores that may turn out to be national figures in a year or two. The Big Eight tournament's most valuable player was a sophomore from Iowa State—Vinnie Brewer.

As for the outcome of the conference race, it could be any of four teams with Kansas State heading the list after its successful weekend road trip. Kansas, Oklahoma and Iowa State would have to follow in that order. But the season is too young to establish any definite winner.

If any more teams are declared ineligible for next year's Orange Bowl, the Big Eight may as well send an intramural team to Miami. Oklahoma, just recently placed on probation for an indefinite length of time, and Missouri, the Big Eight's representative this year, are both ineligible to make the junket.

Bob Boozer, an all-American on K-State's Big Eight championship team last year, is having quite a year for the Peoria Caterpillars. He recently set a team scoring record by pumping in 40 points.

Boozer has said that he might quite the team and sign with the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball League in the pro ranks, but later reversed his decision, and said he wanted to play in the 1960 Olympics.

Here's a chuckle in the sports news: Cal Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, explaining why he turned down a $500,000 offer for third baseman and home run slugger Harmon Killebrew, said:

"You can't play money at third base."

Two Wildcats Sign Contracts With Pro Gridiron Teams

Two members of Kansas State's 1959 football team have signed contracts with two professional football teams.

John Stolte, a 256-pound tackle, signed a contract with the Los Angeles Chargers of the newly-formed American Football League, and J. B. Littlejohn, a fullback, signed with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Stolte had three different opportunities to play professional football. Besides being drafted by the Chargers, he was also a 1958 draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles. Stolte also had an opportunity to sign with a professional team in the Canadian League.

Stolte was selected on the all-Big Eight team last year as a tackle. He earned two letters at Kansas State after transferring here from Dayton university.

Littlejohn, after being named to the all-American junior college team while at Dodge City junior college during the 1956-57 seasons, came to Kansas State where he lettered two years.

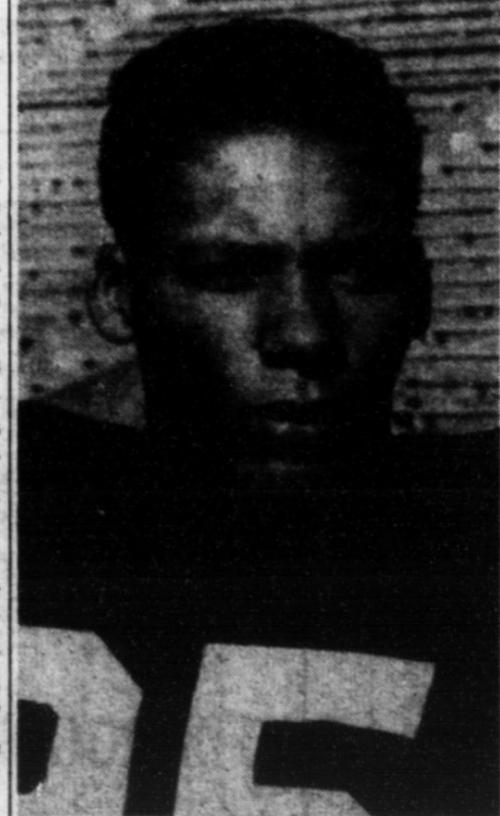

"I think both of these boys have a real good chance of making it in professional ball," Bus Mertes, former head coach for the Wildcats, said. "Both will probably be used on defense."

"I just recently talked to Frank Leahy who is now general manager of the Chargers, and they are real high on John as a prospect for their new club. John is quick for his size and because of his size, he will probably be groomed into a defensive tackle," Mertes added.

"Although J. B. was used as a linebacker here at Kansas State, I'm sure he will be switched to a defensive halfback spot in professional ball. He has all the makings for a good halfback. We just had to use him as a linebacker to fill a gap."

Both will report to their respective training camps sometime in June or July.

Brown Makes Comeback To Earn Starting Berth

By BARBARA BARGE

Warren Brown wasn't even able to make the traveling squad for Kansas State's first road trip of the 1959-60 basketball season, but you wouldn't know it by watching the Wildcats in action now.

Not only has he made the traveling team, but the 6-2 sophomore is one of K-State's starting guards.

After the Wildcat's poor showings at the start of the season, coach Tex Winter made several lineup changes, and Brown was installed as a starter in the Big Eight Tournament.

Brown was not tabbed by sports writers as a probable standout or even a prospect in their pre-season speculations, but he has proved practically everyone wrong.

"I didn't even make the trip to North Carolina, and I thought I was about through in college basketball. I wanted to play, but things didn't look very good for me," Brown said.

"He's not spectacular, but he does everything well. He's a fine all-around basketball player and he is well grounded in basic fundamentals," head coach Winter said.

"It became apparent during our trip east that we needed someone with ball-handling and playmaking ability to keep our club together," he said. "And this is exactly what Brown has added to our lineup."

Brown is listed as one of K-State's top defensive players. In the Wildcat's last home game, Brown contained Colorado's fine outside shooter, Russ Linn. He has been drawing tough defensive assignments ever since he broke into the starting lineup.

He is averaging four points a game for the nine that he has played in so far this year. Brown has hit 42 per cent of his field goal attempts and 60 per cent of his free throw attempts.

Brown credits the early season losses to a lack of "togetherness" in the playing of the team. "We used to make a lot of small mistakes which was the difference, but we have been playing together a lot better lately and it has paid off," Brown said.

He looks to the conference race with special regard for Oklahoma and Kansas, but said that any Big Eight team could win on its home court.

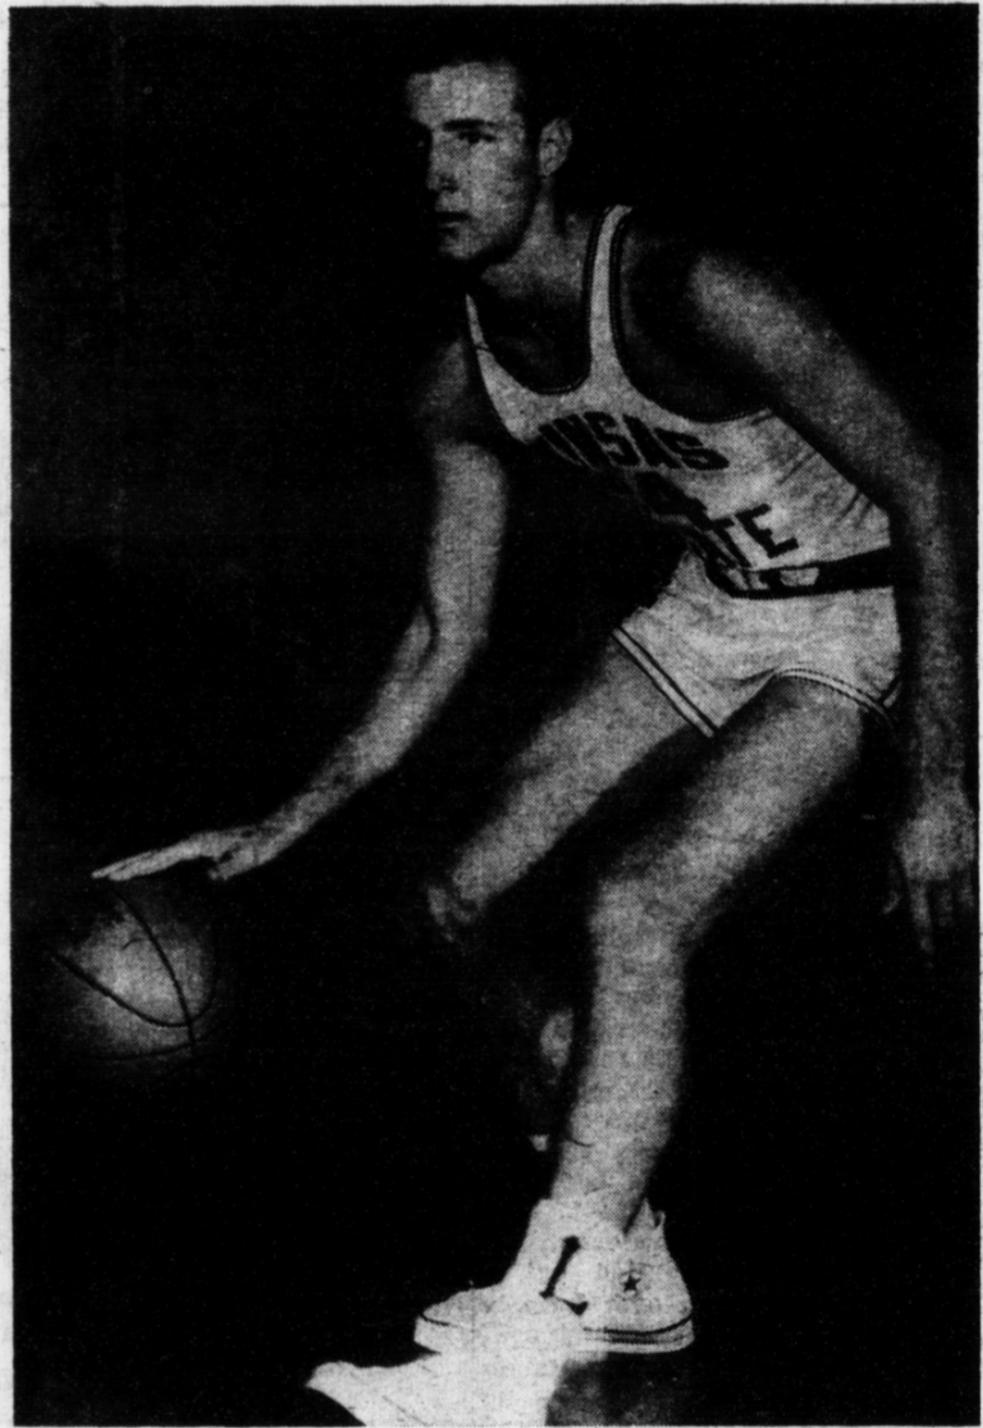

"Those teams that can win on the road will be the teams that will be in contention for the title. Those two wins over the weekend got us started, and we got them when we needed them. Oklahoma will be real tough Saturday, as they showed the other night against Iowa State," the sophomore guard said.

"But after watching KU in several games, you can see where they will be plenty of trouble. They have a real fine defensive club. I would rate Kansas as probably our toughest obstacle in winning the conference."

In high school at Lee's Summit, Mo., Brown was an honorable mention selection and was named to the Kansas City area all-star team. Lee's Summit compiled an 18-4 record during his senior year. He was also a wingback on the football team and received a football scholarship offer from Kansas university and several other schools.

Majoring in physical education, he plans to be a coach after graduation. "I never considered anything else. My father is a football and track coach in Kansas City; my sister teaches in St. Louis; my aunt is a school teacher; and my mother taught school before I was born. It kind of runs in the family," he explained.

WARREN BROWN, 6-2 sophomore, has been a pleasant surprise for K-State followers. He was inserted in the starting lineup during the Big Eight tournament and has been one of the reasons for the Wildcats' five-game winning streak.
